

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. You can search through the full text of this book on the web at <http://books.google.com/>

INDEX OF PLACES,

EXHIBITING A VIEW OF ALL THE PARISHES IN THE EAST AND NORTH RIDINGS OF YORKSHIRE, OF THE AINSTRY OF YORK, AND OF THE LIBERTY OF ST. PETER'S, WITH THE TOWNSHIPS IN THE RESPECTIVE PARISHES, AND THE POPULATION OF EACH ACCORDING TO THE OFFICIAL RETURNS OF THE 25TH OF MAY, 1831, TAKEN BY ORDER OF PARLIAMENT.

The first column contains the Folio where each Place is to be found in this Volume; the other three columns relate to the Population: first, the return of 1831; second, the total numbers in each Parish according to that return; and third, the returns of 1811, from which the Increase or Decrease during the last 10 years may be ascertained.

All the Towns, Villages, and Hamlets in the East and North Ridings and Ainsty will be found alphabetically arranged in their proper places, though only such as are Parishes or Townships are inserted in this Index.

(EAST RIDING.)

Those marked thus * are partly in the Liberty of St. Peter of York.

THE first volume of this publication was confined principally to matter relating to the West-Riding of Yorkshire; and the present volume, which completes the Topographical History and Directory of this large division of the kingdom, comprehends the CITY AND AINITY OF YORK, THE EAST RIDING, AND THE NORTH-RIDING of this County. The extent and jurisdiction of the Ainity are described with precision at page 136 of the present volume; it remains, therefore, only to take a general view of the distinguishing features of the East and North Ridings.

Buckrose, Dickering, Harthill, Holderness,	Howdenshire, Ouse & Derwent, and the Town and County of Hull.

Allerton, Birdforth, Buzner, Gilling East, Gilling West, Halikeld,	Hang East, Hang West, Langbargh, Pickering Lythe, Ryedale, and Whitby Strand.

The North-Riding is bounded on the north by the river Tees; on the east by the German ocean; on the south by the Ainity of York and the East and West-Ridings; and on the west by the county of Westmoreland. The boundaries of the East-Riding are, the Derwent to the north; the Ouse to the west; the Humber to the south; and the German ocean to the east.

In tracing the Roman roads of Yorkshire, the course of the great road, called Watling-street, running from south to north, has already been described,† and shown to extend from Bawtry, where it enters the county of York, to the Tees, where it crosses into the county of Durham.—Another military road, running east and west, from Manchester to York, has also been described. This road, proceeding still eastward, advanced to Malton, where it was divided into two branches, the first called Wade's causeway, leading to Dunsley Bay, the Dunus Sinus of Ptolemy; and the other to Scarborough and Fliey. The straight course of a Roman road may be traced over the high grounds of the Wolds, from York to Bridlington Bay, the Gabran-tovicorum Sinus Fortiosus, or Sabularis; a branch of this road has also been discovered, tending towards Hunmanby.—Another line may also be followed in a direction to Patrington, (Practorium) and the Spurn point, which appears to be the Ocellum Promontorium of Ptolemy, and where was once the noted seaport of Ravenspurn, now engulfed in the ocean.—From Lincoln a Roman road may be traced to the south bank of the Humber, near Wintringham, where are still seen vestiges of the station ad Abum. On the north bank Brough indicates the position of another ancient station, from which it is probable that a branch of road communicated with York. From this sketch it will appear that the military roads of the Romans converged in every direction, from the extremities of the province of Eboracum to York, their common centre, which, as will be seen from the subjoined history of that ancient city, was so long the head quarters of the Roman army.

The East-Riding of Yorkshire, although it displays a great variety of aspect, is far less conspicuously marked with the bold features of nature than the other parts of the county; but if it contains no scenery that can be called truly romantic, some parts of the Riding are beautifully picturesque, and afford very extensive and even magnificent prospects, especially when the sea or the Humber enters into view.—From its topographical appearance, this Riding may be considered as three different districts, the Wolds forming one of them, and the other two lying, one to the east and the other to the west, of that elevated region. The wolds consist of an assemblage of chalky hills, extending from the northern to the southern extremity of the East-Riding. The soil is commonly a free and rather light loam, with a mixture of chalky gravel, in some parts very shallow; it also contains a deeper and more kindly loam, and a light sandy mixture. On the Wolds very extensive improvements have taken place during the last forty years, and a district, which, in the middle of the last century, was a complete waste—fit only for the production and support of rabbits, by the encouragement given to agriculture between the years 1790 and 1815, has been brought into a state of prosperous cultivation. The eastern division, above referred to, extends from Filey to Spurn Head; in some parts of this extensive tract, particularly between Filey and Bridlington, the face of the country is much diversified, and throughout the whole district clay and loam are the predominant soils. The improvements in agriculture have here also been very extensive, and a judicious system of drainage has accomplished wonders. The third natural division of the East-Riding extends from the western foot of the Wolds to the boundaries of the North and West-Ridings; this tract of land is called Levels, and, as its name imports, it is every where flat and unpicturesque, but by no means unproductive.

In the North-Riding the face of the country is much more diversified. Along the coast, from Scarborough to Cleveland, it is hilly and bold, the cliff being generally from 60 to 150 feet high, and in some places, as at Stoupe Brow, seven miles from Whitby, it rises to the stupendous height of 893 feet. From the cliff the country rises in most places very rapidly, and a little further inland successive hills rising one above another, form the elevated tract of the Eastern Moorlands. The cultivated dales situated amongst these moors are pretty extensive, some of them containing from five to ten thousand acres, and Eskdale and Biledale much more. The level lands at the bottom of the valleys are seldom more than two or three hundred yards in breadth, but the land is generally cultivated to a considerable distance up the sides of the hills.—Most of the dales partake more or less of the following soils;—a black moor earth upon clay; a sandy soil, in some places inter-

mixed with stones; and a light loam upon a grit rock. In some instances, as in the neighbourhood of Hackness, there is on the side of the hills a stiff loam upon limestone, and a deep sandy loam upon a whinstone; and in the bottom a light loam upon gravel or freestone. The interior parts of the Eastern MOORLANDS present a bleak and dreary aspect, and little wood is to be seen, except in the dales or on the declivities of some of the more fertile of the hills. Passing into Cleveland, the country is lightly featured with hills, and the soil is generally clay; in some cases a clayey loam, and in others a fine red sandy soil. The vale of York, more in the interior, is not confined within any determinate boundaries, but is rather marked out by the face of the country.—This extensive vale has, from the river Tees, a general slope, though intercepted by some irregularities of surface, and some bold swells, as far as York, where it sinks into a perfect flat. The northern part of this tract has the Eastern MOORLANDS on one side, and the Western MOORLANDS on the other. The soil in that part of the vale of York which lies within the North-Riding is described by Mr. Tuke, in his survey, to be of different degrees of fertility, and to be very differently composed; generally it is a clayey loam, and few parts of the country can excel this celebrated vale in fertility.—The Western MOORLANDS differ greatly from those in the eastern part of the Riding. They are generally calcareous, and although their altitude is considerably higher, they are much more fertile than the eastern MOORLANDS, which consist mainly of gritstone and free-stone rock. Many of the dales which intersect the western MOORLANDS are extremely fertile; of these Wensleydale may be ranked as the first, both in extent and fertility. On the south several small dales open into the dale of Wensley. The soil of this master dale, on the banks of the river, is generally a rich loamy gravel, and on the sides of the hills a clayey loam upon a substratum of limestone. Swaledale is little inferior to Wensley in extent, though it falls far short of it in beauty, but by some it is esteemed more romantic, and by all it must be admired. In fertility it is pretty much upon a par with its neighbour. The smaller dales, which are very numerous, are in general similar to these in appearance and production. Even the mountains here, some of which are of considerable altitude, as will be seen from the Map of the East and North Ridings, seldom exhibit marks of unconquerable sterility, but are many of them covered to their summits with fine sweet grass, bent or rushes.*

* Tuke's Agricultural Survey.

The east MOORLANDS of the North-Riding form a peculiar feature in the country, being wholly detached from the mountains in the west. Some points of the east MOORLANDS rise nearly 900 feet above the level of the sea; but the most remarkable summit of the whole is Roseberry Topping, described at page 599 of this volume.—By its detached position and superior elevation, it commands in all directions a prospect at once extensive and interesting. The hill rests on a basis of alum rock, interspersed with iron-stone, and its pinnacled summit indicates to the surrounding country the approaching change in the weather, as expressed in the following metrical proverb:—

“When Roseberry Topping wears a cap,
“Let Cleveland then beware of a clap.”

Along the whole length of the North-Riding, from west to east, the country is bounded by the river Tees. This river, rising in the mountains of Westmoreland and Cumberland, pursues a very direct course into the German ocean, below Stockton, where it spreads out into the estuary of Redcar, three miles in breadth.—The Tees is navigable for ships of 60 tons burthen, up to Stockton, but the channel is serpentine and intricate, and the current rapid. A few inconsiderable streams from the western moorland into the river Tees, but the great body of the waters of Yorkshire flow in the opposite direction, and their course, from their rise to their termination in the Humber, is described in pages vii and viii of the first volume of this work. The Derwent rises in the eastern moors of the North-Riding, at about four miles from the sea, and after taking a southerly direction through the romantic valley of Mackness, runs in a line almost parallel with the coast, till it comes to the foot of the Wolds; it then takes a westerly direction, and having received the Rye, from Hambley, passes by the borough of Malton, to which it is navigable for vessels of twenty-five tons burthen. It is the boundary between the North and East-Ridings, from its junction with the small river Hertford, till it approaches Stamford-Briggs, where it enters the East-Riding, and falls into the Ouse, near the village of Baznby, about three miles and a half above Howden. In the east MOORLANDS of the North-Riding rises the Aike, which, after watering the dale to which it gives name, forms the inner harbour of Whitby, and is there lost in the German Ocean. The small river Hull traverses the East-Riding from north to south, visiting Driffield and Burwell in its course, and at its influx into the Humber contributes to form the secure harbour of Kingston, which, from this river, is generally called Hull.

The sea coast of the North and East-Ridings of Yorkshire is very extensive, and affords several secure harbours.—The harbours of Hull, Scarborough, Whitby, and Bridlington, are described under their appropriate heads in this volume, to which may be added the Bay of Filey and Robin Hood's Bay.

The Minerals of the North-Riding consist chiefly of the alum Mines, on the coast of Whitby, as mentioned at pages 416 and 474 of this volume, and the lead mines in Swaledale, and the neighbouring valleys, as described at page 554. About the middle of the last century copper of good quality was produced near Middleton Tyas, but the works have been for some years discontinued. Copper was also discovered, about five and twenty years ago, at Richmond, but it does not appear that the discovery has ever yet tended to any profitable result. The same observation applies to the iron-stone, which may be found in the east MOORLAND; though it should seem, from ancient records, that as early as the 13th century, iron was wrought and forged in Rosedale; Ayclan is the only place in the North-Riding where forges have been established in modern times, and even these have now totally disappeared, from the difficulty of procuring fuel. Various parts of this Riding produce coal, particularly the plain between Easingwold and Thirsk, and the west MOORLANDS; but the latter is of an inferior quality, and fit only for the burning of lime. Good free-stone for building, appears in many parts of the Riding; and stone-quarries are worked both in the neighbourhood of Scarborough and Whitby, from whence are drawn the massive blocks used in the construction of the piers at these ports. Lime-stone, and a species of marble, not inferior to that of Derbyshire, are found in the vale of the Greta, near Rokeby, and large blocks of red granite are seen on the surface, in certain parts of the west MOORLANDS.

In the East-Riding chalk is the principal mineral substance.—Near the coast it extends from Hesle, on the banks of the Humber, its southern extremity, to Reighton, ten miles south of Scarborough, its northern boundary. The chalk rocks always contain large quantities of water, which may be had by boring or sinking, even at a considerable distance from the hills. Many large springs break out along the eastern edge of the chalk, generally in the gravel which covers it. The river Hull is formed by the united waters of a number of these springs; and at Spring Head, from which the town of Hull is supplied with water, 240,000 gallons are raised daily; this water contains a small portion of carbonate of lime and iron, which is separated by exposure to the atmosphere in a course of three miles. The intermitting spring at Keldgate, near Cottingham, described at page 189 of this volume, rises upon the gravel, but it is not far distant from the chalk. In the gravel beds on the chalk are found the remains of large animals, some of them in a state of great perfection; vertebræ, eighteen feet in length, and from 8 to 10 inches in diameter, have been dug up in these beds, and teeth, measuring 8 or 10 inches in circumference, are frequently discovered here. At Hull, the gravel depository of the animal remains is about ninety feet from the surface, and the workmen employed in boring for water near the north bridge described their tools to have smelt as if they had been cutting fish, so that it is probable not only the bones but also the fleshy part of the animal remains. The coast, from Spurn to Bridlington, forms a section of all the beds above the chalk, and as it is not in the line of dip, two beds are generally seen at the same time. A bed of dark red clay commences at Kilnsea, containing round boulders*, mixed with pebbles, both of which are composed of Granite, Gneiss, Mica slate, Porphyry, Grauwacke, Quarts, Mountain Limestone, containing organic remains, all the sand-stones and coal-shales, coal, fuller's-earth, chalk, and flint. In this bed the chalk pebbles are in the greatest quantity. On the western side of Holderness, along the edge of the chalk hills, a very extensive tract of rich land has been formed, in the course of ages, called Warp Land, which consists of the clay and sand deposits of the Humber. The greatest breadth of this tract is from Hull to Hedon, a distance of nine miles, and its length, from Hull to Lowthorp, a distance of twenty miles. A narrow piece of newly-formed warp extends from Hedon to Spurn, including Suak Island, and is called the Marshes. How long this operation of land making has been proceeding in this quarter, human penetration and local records are alike incapable of determining, but that its date is of many centuries is obvious, as Drypool, which stands upon the present bank of the Humber, is mentioned in the Domesday survey, and a causeway, extending from Beverley to the newly-bullt town of Hull, at nearly its present level, existed in the time of Edward I. The depth of the warp at Hull is forty-eight feet; beneath it is a bed of moor land, consisting principally of peat earth, two feet in thickness. The warp land extends beyond Driffield, but it is there much shallower than at Hull, and its width does not exceed four miles. That this moor, now covered with warp, was formerly upon the surface, is shown by the nature of its composition, being evidently peat, which could not be formed in any other situation; and that it is extended across the Humber into Lincolnshire is proved by pieces of wood, exactly the same as those found in the moor, having been washed up at Hessele after a high wind.

The Wolds consist of one extensive mass of indurated chalk, the surface of which is very curious; broken by a vast number of deep dales and sudden depressions, most of them, if not all, taking a direction towards some general outlet to the east or the south-east of Yorkshire. It may be observed, however, as a peculiarity, that the whole of the extreme edge or margin of the Wolds, to the north and to the west, with one exception, continues in a regular and entire state along the surface, without any of those depressions which take place at a very little distance within. The depression that breaks through the margin is at Market Weighton, and a small canal, upon Foulton's plan might, at an easy expense, be directed from hence to the navigable river Hull, near Beverley, with great public advantage to this part of the country. In France and in America canals of this description are becoming very general, and prove highly advantageous. It is very probable that the Wolds have been the last deposit of all the great masses of simple and homogeneous matter in this part of the world. There are scattered all over this elevated tract nodules of pyrites, of a round form, composed of iron and sulphur, which the country people call bullets; there are also great quantities of loose fragments of sand-stones, which are perfectly foreign to the calcareous matter of which the Wolds are formed, and they have, doubtless, been brought here by the action of the sea, after the chalky stratum had been deposited and hardened, or they would have sunk into the pulp.

All along the eastern side of the Wolds from Bridlington to Beverley, and from thence to Hessele, by the Humber side, the sand-stone, and the chalk which rests upon it, dip and vanish under an extensive bed of alluvial soil, which forms the whole of Holderness. On the north and west the Wolds exhibit a bold and striking front, resembling a marine cliff, which is entirely surrounded by an extensive plain of alluvial deposit, spreading to the north, the west, and the south, and terminating in a circular form, with the following towns and villages upon its outskirts: Christhorp, Liberston, Cayton, Summer, Aytou, Brompton, Wycomb, Snaithon, Thornton, Pickering, and thence in a right line towards Hamilton Hill. Stretching westward it terminates at or near Knottingley, Monkfryston, Tadcaster, Wetherby, Knarebro', and Aldborough, at each of which places is found a bed of limestone, in a sloping direction, dipping under the alluvial deposit towards the Wolds. This limestone covers in an unconformable manner the extensive sand-stone and coal series of the West Riding. The sand stone, rising from under the Tadcaster bed of lime, extends to Bradford, at which place beautiful impressions of Euphorbium, Bamboo Cane, and other tropical productions are to be seen; and in the neighbourhood of Bradford an alum shale is found, which might probably be worked with advantage, both from the ample supply of coal, and the ready demand for the alum when manufactured. At a little distance from Knarebro', near the river side, and almost opposite to the mansion of Sir Thos. Slingsby, Bart. is a bed of Strontian earth, which is very rare, if not unique, in this kingdom.

The Manufactures of the North and East Ridings are upon a very circumscribed scale. The commerce of these divisions of the county is principally confined to the ports of Hull, Whitby, and Scarborough, and its nature and extent will be appreciated by a reference to the history of each of those places contained in this volume.

Yorkshire is rich in Antiquities; every division in the following pages will be found to abound with them, but they are too numerous to be recapitulated, except in the general indexes to these volumes, from which their description in the work may be referred to. The city of York in particular is a mass of antiquity, and the brief but comprehensive history of that venerable city, with its cathedral and other public buildings and institutions, will be read with a lively interest, and may be implicitly relied upon, being drawn from the best authorities.

It has already been observed* that the

† THE WEST RIDING CHARITABLE SOCIETY is a benevolent Institution of great utility, and has for its object the relief of the Widows, Orphans and distressed Families of the Clergy, within the Archdeaconry of York. For some time this Institution did not receive that support to which, by its merits, it is entitled, but latterly, from the zeal of its officers, public beneficence has flowed more freely into this channel, and during the last year the sum of £735 was distributed among 87 different families, of which sum £640 was appropriated to the Widows and Daughters of Clergymen. The Treasurer and Secretary for the City and Ainsty of York, and for the Deanery of Craven, is the Rev. Joseph Swaine, of Beeston, near Leeds; and for the Deaneries of Doncaster and Pontefract, the Rev. Samuel Sharp, of Wakefield.

Ecclesiastical affairs of this County are under the superintendance of the Archbishop of York, the Primate of England, and that they are chiefly administered by the Archdeacons. In Yorkshire there are four Archdeaconries, namely, York, East Riding, Cleveland, and Richmond; these are divided into sixteen Deaneries, which are thus arranged:—

ARCHDEACONRY OF YORK alias THE WEST RIDING.†

Deanery—City and Ainsty of York, Craven,
Doncaster, Pontefract.

ARCHDEACONRY OF EAST RIDING.

Deanery—Buckrose, Dickering, Harthill and Hull, Holderness.

ARCHDEACONRY OF CLEVELAND.

Deanery—Bulmer, Cleveland, Ryedale,
Ripon,
Ripon-cum-Masham, a peculiar jurisdiction.

ARCHDEACONRY OF RICHMOND.

Catterick, Richmond.

This archdeaconry extends into Lancashire, Cumberland, and Westmoreland.

The parishes of Yorkshire amount to 553, and the Townships and Chaperies, exclusive of the parishes, to no fewer than 1310.

At the period of the publication of the first volume of this work, the population returns of the whole county, up to the 26th of May, 1821, were not fully completed, but they are now printed, and in our possession. In the first volume were given the returns of all the places in the West Riding under the head of an "INDEX OF PLACES," and the returns for the Ainsty, the East Riding, and the North Riding are given with the same particularity in this volume, thereby completing the population returns of the whole county, distinguishing the parishes and the townships within each; and to render this return still more full and comprehensive, a summary of the population in all the wapentakes, liberties, and separate jurisdictions of Yorkshire, is here subjoined:—

HISTORY

OF THE

CITY OF YORK.

YORK or EBORACUM is situated at the confluence of the rivers Ouse and Foss, near the centre of Great Britain, and in one of the most rich and extensive vallies in England. It is the capital of the great county to which it gives name, the see of an Archbishop, who is primate and metropolitan of England, and the second city in rank in the kingdom. This city is placed at the point of Junction, though independent of them all, of the three Ridings or districts into which the shire is subdivided. Antiquarians, into whose researches and conjectures it is not the business of this history deeply to enter, hold that, it was built by Ebraucus, the son of Mempricius, a British king, the third from Brute, and called from its founders Caer-ebrauc, or the city of Ebraucus, in the year of the world, 2983, about the time when David reigned in Judæa, and Gad, Nathan, and Asaph prophesied in Israel. Of king Ebraucus, it is recorded, that he also built Acfud, supposed by some to be Aldborough, and by others Carlisle, and also Mount Agnea, the capital of Scotland; that he reigned sixty years, and by twenty wives had twenty sons and thirty daughters, and dying at York, was interred in a temple, dedicated to Diana, which he had erected, and of which the ancient church of St. Helen's, at the junction of Blakestreet and Davygate, now forms the remains. Another conjecture is, that a colony of Gauls having seated themselves in Spain and Portugal, were driven from thence by the Romans into mid-England, and took up their head station at York, to which they gave the name of Eboracum, from Eborâ, a town in Portugal, or Ebûra, in Andalusia; Leyland and Camden consider the name as derived from the situation of the city on the river Eure, to which the Romans might add the termination cæs, or the Saxons wic, a place of refuge: and if the point was clear, which it is not, that the Ouse was anciently called Euro, as low as York, it would go far towards settling the etymology of this ancient city. In Domesday book, York is called, Civitas Eborum, and Eurwic. Humphrey Lhuyd, the learned Welsh antiquarian, in mentioning the Brigantine towns that are in Ptolemy's Geography, says, Eboracum is well known to be the very same city that the Britons called Caer-Effroc, and is now contracted into York. Drake, the historian of York, in his Eboracum, gives several other conjectures upon this subject, which serve only to show how futile is the attempt to solve a difficulty involved in the obscurity of upwards of twenty centuries. After the death of Ebraucus, little but the names of their kings is mentioned by British historians, for thirty successions, except, that Geofry of Monmouth, says, that Elidurus having driven his brother Artogal from his throne, met one day, in hunting, his deposed sovereign in the woods, and as he had long secretly repented of the injustice he had done him, he took him home secretly and concealed him in his bed chamber; then feigning to be sick, he assembled all his nobles from various parts of the kingdom, whom he admitted into his chamber one by one, and cut off the heads of every one of them that would not promise again to submit to the rule of Artogal. The agreement for his restoration being ratified, Elidurus conducted his brother to York, where in the presence of the assembled people he took the crown from his own head and placed it upon his brother's. Artogal being thus restored to his kingdom reigned for ten years in peace and equity, when he died, and was buried at York, and was again succeeded by Elidurus.

Alcain a native of this city, who wrote near a thousand years ago, says, that York

was built by the Romans, and he has left his testimony on this subject in the following lines:—

altam,*

Fundavit primo—

Et decus imperii, terrorque hostilibus armis.

This city, first, by Roman hand was form'd,
With lofty towers, and high built walls
adorn'd;

It gave their leaders a secure repose;

Honour to th' empire, terror to their foes.

This was no doubt the traditional account in his day, and the resemblance which York bears to the form of ancient Rome gives countenance to the opinion: The plan of Rome left by Fabius, represents it in the form of a bow, of which the Tyber was the string, as the Ouse may be said not unaptly to be the bow-string of York. Both these rivers runs directly through the cities which they water, and have contributed to their ancient splendour and present consequence. Drake is of opinion, that York was first planted and fortified by Agricola, and it is certain that when the emperor Adrian came into this island, in the year 124, he took up his station at York. Adrian brought into Britain to aid in the conquest of Caledonia, the Sixth Roman Legion, styled Legio Sexta Fictrix; in the year 150 Eboracum was the most considerable Roman station; and Antoninus in his itinerary mentions it with the addition of "Legio VI. Victrix." Marcus Aurelius Lucius, a British king, is said to have been the first crowned head in the world that embraced christianity, and it is highly probable that this monarch was born in York, as it is recorded of his father, Coilus, that he lived, died and was buried here.* In the reign of Commodus, the Caledonians, encouraged by the lax discipline of the Roman soldiers, made a successful irruption into England, and after cutting in pieces the Roman army, ravaged the country, as far as York.† Marcellus Ulpian, aided by the Ninth Legion drove back the Caledonians within their own borders, and thus for a short time rescued the country from the terrible visitation of the northern invaders, but as the sword had placed the Romans in Britain, nothing but force could sustain them there.

Tradition now gives place to genuine history.‡ The Roman power began to totter in their widely extended colonies. The banished Britons had become so bold as to advance to York, and under Fulgenius to undertake the siege of that city. Virius Lupus, the Proprætor in Britain, feeling his perilous situation wrote to the emperor Severus, "in forming him of the insurrection and inroad of the Barbarians (as the native inhabitants were called) to beg that he might have either a greater force, or that the emperor would come over in person." Severus chose the latter; attended by his two sons, Caracalla and Geta, and by a numerous army, he arrived in Britain, in 207, and fixed his station at York. The invader on his arrival retired to the north, and took up their stand in their fortresses beyond Adrian's Wall, extending from Newcastle to Carlisle. This did not satisfy the emperor: Though suffering under the combined influence of age and infirmity, and obliged to be carried in a horse litter, he marched from York against the Caledonians, penetrated to the extremity of the island, and subdued this hitherto fierce and unconquered nation. His next care was to build a stone wall about 80 miles in length, and of great strength, in the place where his predecessor Adrian had thrown up ramparts of earth; and thus the conquest seemed complete, but according to Dion it was not purchased without the loss of fifty thousand men. Severus having left his son Caracalla in the north, to superintend and facilitate the building of the wall, returned to York, where he struck coin, on which he designated himself, Britannicus Maximus, as conqueror of the island. For more than three years he lived and held his imperial court in the Prætorial palace of this city, § frequently giving judgment in judicial cases; and a rescript of his is still preserved in the Roman code, issued by the emperor, and dated from this city, on the 3d of the nones of May, in the consulate of Fustinus and Rufus, corresponding to the year 211, relating to the recovery of the right of possession of servants, or rather of slaves. At this period York shone forth with military splendour. The concourse of tributary kings, says Drake, of foreign ambassadors, and Roman nobles which crowned the courts of the sovereigns of the world, when the Roman empire was in its prime, elevated Eboracum to the height of sublimity and grandeur. Before the time of Severus, a temple dedicated to Bellona, the goddess of war, was erected at York, and it is probable that its site, was without Bootham bar, near the place on which the Abbey of St. Mary's now stands. On the return of Severus from his northern conquest, he sought a temple to sacrifice to the gods who had crowned him with success, when he was led by an ignorant soothsayer to the temple of Bellona; this was looked upon as the presage to the emperor's death, and might in that superstitious age hasten the event. Before the death of Severus, but when his end was drawing nigh, the Caledonians again took up arms and attacked the Roman garrisons on the borders. The revival of this spirit of revolt threw the emperor into a fury, and he sent out his legions to put every man, woman, and child amongst the insurgents to the sword. These orders were given at York, and their character has been expressed in two Greek verses, which may be rendered thus—

§ The ground on which the imperial palace is supposed to have stood extends from Christ's church, to Aldwark, comprehending the site of all the houses, and gardens, on the east side of Goodramgate, and of St. Andrewgate.

"Let none escape you; spread the slaughter wide;

"Let not the womb the unborn infant hide
"From slaughter's cruel hand."

Before this bloody purpose could be fully executed, death overtook the emperor himself. His last words to his sons whom he left joint emperors, displayed the policy of a military tyrant, they were these—"I leave you, Antonines (a term of affection) a firm and steady government, if you will follow my steps and prove what you ought to be; but weak and tottering if otherwise. Do every thing that conduces to each others good; cherish the soldiery; and then you may despise the rest of mankind. A disturbed and every where distracted republic I found it, but to you I leave it firm and quiet—even the Britons. I have been all—and yet I am now no better for it." Then turning to the urn which was to hold his ashes he said—"Thou shalt hold what the whole world could not contain!" He then breathed his last.* His funeral obsequies were celebrated at a short distance from the city; his body was brought out in military array by the soldiers habited in his general's costume, and laid on a magnificent pile, erected for the purpose. His sons applied the lighted torch, and his remains being reduced to ashes, were placed in a porphyry urn to be carried to Rome. On their arrival in the imperial city they were deposited in the monument of the Antonines, and the extraordinary ceremony of deification was conferred upon the deceased emperor by the senate and the people who valued military renown as the perfection of imperial virtue. That the memory of this great captain might survive in Britain, his grateful army with infinite labour raised three large hills or tumuli in the place where his funeral rites were performed, near the city of York, and which to this day bear the name of Severus's Hills. This is the opinion of Mr. Drake, but other historians maintain that the hills are natural elevations in the face of the country, and merely received their name from the funeral obsequies having been here performed.

On the death of Severus his two sons jointly assumed the imperial purple, but Caracalla, the elder, murdered his brother Geta in his mother's arms, and put to death at least 20,000 persons of both sexes, under the vague charge that they were "the friends of Geta." After disgracing Eboracum, with these and other abominable crimes, this monster returned to Rome, and afterwards repaired to Syria, where he was assassinated at the instigation of Opilius Macrinus, by Martialis, a desperate soldier, who had been refused the rank of centurion. During the century of repose which succeeded the departure of Caracalla, the Roman soldiers greatly improved the country by cutting down woods, draining marshes, and forming those noble roads and streets which to this day are called Roman.† It is worthy of remark, that Eboracum is the principal city in all their itinera or routes, and it is the only point from whence antiquaries can with certainty fix any Roman station in the North of England. In the next century Carausius himself, a Briton, landed in this island and procured himself to be proclaimed emperor at York. Under his usurpation, Britain, destined in a future age to obtain the empire of the sea, already assumed its natural and respectable station as a maritime power. Carausius fell by the hands of, and was succeeded by, Alectus, who reigned until the Roman emperor Constantius, surnamed Chlorus, landed in Britain, by whom Alectus was slain, and the province reduced to its former obedience. Of Carausius and Alectus it is observed, that they were both of plebeian origin, and that Alectus who had been a smith was slain by a sword of his own fabrication.

Constantius, who had many years before visited this island in the capacity of Roman Proprætor, when Aurelian was emperor, had married a British princess named Helena, the issue of which marriage was Constantine, surnamed the Great, born at York, in the year 272.‡ Constantius afterwards assumed the purple, and his last expedition into Britain was in the year 305. Two years after his arrival, the emperor was seized with a mortal disease, and his son Constantine, who had been left at Rome in the hands of his colleagues Dioclesian and Galerius, as a pledge of his father's fidelity, abruptly quitted the imperial capital and repaired to York, to receive the commands of his dying parent. The sight of his eldest and best-loved son so revived the emperor, that raising himself in bed, and embracing him closely, he gave thanks to the gods for this unexpected favour, and said he could now die in peace, as he could leave his yet unaccomplished actions to be performed by him. Then gently lying down, he disposed of his affairs to his own mind, and taking leave of his children of both sexes, who, says Eusebius, like a choir stood and encompassed him, he expired, having previously delivered over to the hands of his eldest son, the imperial dominion.

Immediately upon the death of Constantius, his son and successor Constantine, was invested with the purple robe in his father's own place. The inauguration of this great monarch, in the city where he drew his first breath, serves to shed an additional lustre on Eboracum, and has procured for this ancient city the name of Altera Roma. The British soldiers in the pay of Rome saluted their illustrious countryman, emperor at York, and presented him with a tyfa, or golden globe as a symbol of his sovereignty over the island of Britain. This emblem he highly-prized, and upon his conversion to Christianity, he placed a cross upon it and had it carried before him in all his processions. Since the time of Constantine, the tufa has become the usual sign of majesty, and is considered a part of the royal regalia. According to the Latin authors, Britain remained in peace during the long reign of Constantine, though the country was by no means free from the irruptions of the Picts and Scots. The emperor not only left York, but he afterwards quitted Italy and removed the seat of empire from Rome to Byzantium or Constantinople. The faith of the emperor had undergone a change, and in the year 312, according to Eusebius, he forsok the dark and barbarous superstitions of Paganism and embraced the Christian faith; on the same authority it is recorded, that the conversion of Constantine, is to be ascribed to the miraculous sign of a cross which was displayed in the heavens, while he meditated and prepared the Italian expedition. Before this extraordinary change took place he was a worshipper of the sun, and his filial piety had increased the council of Olympus, by the solemn apotheosis or deification of his father, Constantius.

Soon after the conquest of Italy, in 312 the emperor made a solemn and authentic declaration of his sentiments by the celebrated edict of Milan, which restored peace to the catholic church, and promulgated a truly christian principle of religious liberty leaving every man to follow that religion which his own conscience dictated, and signing for this universal toleration these weighty reasons—first, that in this way the peace and happiness of the people were consulted; and second, that by such a conduct, the Deity, whose seat is heaven, would be best propitiated. Britain did not witness this change, though the native imperial tentate of York was the greater actor in the scene.

From the departure of Constantine, the ancient residence of "the Lords of the Universe" began to decline, and the materials of British history, subsequent to that period, are so scanty, that little more is known than a naked fact, that the Romans, after an occupation of four hundred years, quitted the island. During the greatest part of the period of occupation, the sixth legion of the Roman army, and sometimes the ninth, (the latter of which merged into the former) resided at York. This legion consisted of six to seven thousand troops, of which about one-tenth part was horse, and the remainder foot soldiers. The antiquities indicative of the long residence of the Romans here, are less numerous than might have been supposed, if we did not take into the consideration, that fire, sword, ignorance, and superstition, have all contributed their assistance to the devouring hand of time, to erase the monuments which the imperial power had served to erect. It may seem strange, that we have not to show any temples, amphitheatres or palaces, which edifices must have made Eboracum shine with distinguished lustre; but the wonder will not be when in the following pages of this history we trace such horrid destruction of every thing both sacred and profane. To our Christian ancestors we owe much of this destruction; their holy zeal rendered them anxious to eradicate every vestige of paganism, and the Roman altars and votive monuments were naturally enough consigned to destruction under their Gothic hands. Still however, there are many Roman remains to be found here, and great quantities of coins, signets, fibulae, urns and sarcophagi have been dug up and recovered through a period of fifteen centuries. The coins are all of the emperors, from Augustus to Gratian, and the catalogue of them as well as many other Roman antiquities found in this city, is preserved in the Appendix to Drake's Eboracum. The antiquaries, Camden, Burton, Thoresby, Drake, and others, have searched out and described some of the most remarkable of them. Nearly two centuries ago, a theca or repository for urns of a Roman family, was dug up here, but it was so little regarded at York, that in time it found its way to Hull, where it served as a trough for watering horses at a public inn! The inscription was partly obliterated, but it amounted to this—That Marcus Verecundus Diogenes, a native of Bury, in Gascoigny, overseer of the highways of the colony of York, died there; who, while living, made this monument for himself. In digging the foundation for a house on Bishop-hill the elder, in the year 1638, a small, but elegant urn, with figures in basso relievo, of sacrificing instruments, &c. on the sides* was found, which was presented to Charles I. when at York, by Sir Ferdinando Fairfax. The altar bears a heathen inscription, which may be thus translated—To the great and mighty Jupiter, and to all gods and goddesses, household and peculiar, Publius Aelius Marcianus, prefect of Cohort, for the preservation of his own health and that of his family, dedicated this altar to the great preserver.

The most remarkable sepulchral monument that has, in these latter ages, been discovered at York, is that of the standard bearer of the Ninth Roman Legion, dug up in the year 1688, in Trinity Gardens, near Micklegate, and described by our northern antiquary, the venerable Thoresby, in his Ducatus Leodiensis. The stone is about six feet high, and two feet in breadth, rising to the top with an angle: near the bottom of the stone is the inscription L. DVCCIVS. LVOFRVFFJ. NVS. VIEN SIGNFLEG VIII. NN XXIIIX. HSE. above which stands the figure of a Roman soldier, with the ensign of a cohort or manipulus in his right hand, and a corn meter in his left. This ancient relic was happily rescued by Bryan Fairfax, Esq. from demolition, by the workmen who had broken it in the middle, and were preparing to make use of it for two throughs, as they are called, to bind together a stone wall which they were erecting. By Mr. Fairfax's direction it was walled upright with the inscription and effigies in front, and was afterwards removed to Ribston, near Wetherby, by Sir Henry Goodrick, who first placed it in his own garden, and subsequently removed it to the more appropriate situation of the chapel yard.†

A part of a wall is yet standing in York, which is undoubtedly of Roman erection, and which probably served as an interior fortification to the city. It is the south wall of the Mint-yard, formerly the hospital of St. Laurence. This erection consists of a multangular tower, which leads to Bootham-bar, and a wall which ran the length of Coney or Coming-street, and Castlegate to the Foss. The outside, to the river, is faced with small sarum quadratum, of about four inches thick, and laid in rows like our modern brick work, but the length of the stones is irregular; from the foundation twenty courses of these small stones are laid, and after these five courses of bricks, which are succeeded by other twenty-two courses of stones, on which five more courses of Roman bricks are laid, beyond which the wall is imperfect and cap'd with modern building. The Roman bricks are about seventeen inches long, eleven inches broad, and two and a half inches thick, and the cement is so hard as to be almost imperishable. The tower is the same on the inside as the out, and has a communication with Bootham-bar, under the valium or rampart that hides it in that way.—In the year 1716, a curious and antique bust, five inches high by four in breadth, representing the head of a beautiful female, was found in digging the ruins near St. Mary's Abbey, and is supposed to represent the head of Lucretia, the Roman Matron, whose wrongs expelled the Tarquins. The last specimen of antiquity mentioned by Drake, under this head of the history of York, is a noble Roman arch of the Tuscan order, standing in a principal gate of the city, facing the great road to the Metropolis, by way of Calcaria or Tadcaster. This arch, which is the chief in Micklegate-bar, is a triplet, and supports a massy pile of Gothic turrets. In Clifton-fields out of Bootham-bar, about three hundred yards from the city, several sarcophagi or stone coffins, and a great quantity of urns of different colours and sizes have been found. Campus Martius, anciently without the city of Rome, was the place where the funeral piles were lighted to consume the deceased Romans, and the presumption is, that Clifton-fields formed the Campus Martius of Eboracum. Almost all the memorials of the Romans which have presented themselves in this city, have been found by digging: Few of them have been found above ground, and it may be justly said, that modern York stands upon ancient Eboracum.

For a description of the Roman remains found previous to the year 1700, we are indebted to the indefatigable and elaborate historian of York; and for the descri-

tion of those discovered during the last and the preceding century, as well as for much other interesting information, we have to offer our acknowledgments to Mr. William Hargrove's modernised edition of the Eboracum. From this latter source, we derive the following information relating to the Roman antiquities found in York since Mr. Drake's time:—In 1734, a small figure of a household god (Saturn) was found by a person digging a cellar in Walmgate; the composition of which the image is formed is a mixture of metal, and the workmanship exhibits all the elegance of a Roman mould. Into whose hands this relic has fallen is not known. Six years afterwards two curious Roman urns were dug up near the Mount without Micklegate-bar, one of them of glass coated with a silver-coloured substance called electrum, the other of lead, which falling into the hand of an ignorant plumber, was consigned to the melting-pot. A pedestal of grit with a short Roman inscription, was also found the same year, near Micklegate bar.

A Roman sepulchre, of singular form, was found in the year 1768, by some labourers who were preparing a piece of ground for a garden, near the city walls west of Micklegate-bar, and is described with the elaborate precision of an admirer of ancient Romans, by Dr. William White, in the transactions of the Antiquarian Society. The sepulchre was formed of Roman tiles, built up in the form of a roof, and making a triangle with the ground below. On the top was a covering of semi-circular tiles, of small diameter, so close as to prevent the least particle of earth from falling into the cavity, and each end of the dormitory was closed with a tile on which was inscribed L. V. IX. HIS. being doubtless the burying-place of a soldier of the Legio nona Hispanica. Two years afterwards, part of the foundation of a temple of Roman brick-work was discovered two feet below the surface, in Friars' Gardens, near Toft-green, beneath which was a flat grit stone with a Roman inscription, indicating that this was a temple, sacred to the Egyptian god SEBAPIS, and was erected at the cost of Claudius Heronymianus, lieutenant of the Sixth Conquering Legion. In the same year was found on the banks of the Ouse, about a mile and a half east from the city, a number of ancient remains, consisting of pieces of patera (goblets) and urns, a stratum of oyster shells, with a number of bones of cattle strewn in various directions, collectively favouring the opinion that a Roman temple had stood here, and that these were the remains of idolatrous sacrifices offered in the dark ages of pagan idolatry. A massive brass flaggon was also turned up by the plough, in a field near Yerk, weighing 17 lb. 4 oz. and calculated to contain five ~~and~~ pints. This vessel stood on three legs, and the top of the lid exhibited a head or face apparently connected with the Heathen Mythology.

A small Roman votive altar of stone, six inches high and six inches in breadth at the base, bearing a Roman inscription somewhat impaired by time, but from which it appears that this relic was dedicated by a soldier of the Sixth Legion, to the mother of the Emperor Antonius Pius, was found in Micklegate, by the workmen, while digging a drain in the middle of the street, and after remaining for some years in the possession of Mrs. Mildred Bourchier, is now deposited in the Minster Library. Several other Roman remains were found with this altar, about eight or ten feet below the surface; and the workmen met with two or three firm pavements of pebbles one below another, beneath which were several fragments of beautiful red glazed patera adorned with figures of gods, birds, and vines, and one of them inscribed IANVS; there were also several small altars, and an earthen lamp with some Roman coins of Constantine the Great.

The following remains have been found in the present century, and for ages yet to come the inexhaustible mines of antiquarian wealth, on which the city of York stands, will doubtless yield their contributions to the cabinets of the curious. In June, 1808, the workmen, while digging for the foundations of the New Goal, near the site of the Old Bastille Hill, found about one hundred silver pennies of William the Devaserator in good preservation, though it is probable that they have lain in the ground nearly eight centuries. According to Leland, a castle anciently stood on this site. The most venerable sepulchral remains which have been presented to the antiquary for many years, were discovered in September, 1804, by the workmen while digging a large drain in the Minster-yard, from south to west of the cathedral. After passing through a stratum of human bones under which were two coffins, hollowed out of the solid stone, the workmen came to eleven or twelve coffins, each formed of stone (apparently brought from the quarries of Malton) loosely placed together, without cement or fastening. Each of these coffins was covered with a rough flag four inches thick, under which skeletons were found laid on the bare earth, the coffins being without bottoms. The situation being wet, some of the coffins contained a quantity of clear water, through which the skeletons appeared entire, but when the water was removed and the bodies exposed to the air, they crumbled into dust. The singular form of these coffins, the rough manner in which they were constructed; and their depth in the earth, prove their great antiquity, and confirm the belief that they are vestiges not merely of Roman or Saxon times, but that they contain remains of our Aboriginal ancestors. On Monday, the 17th of August, 1807, while the workmen were preparing the foundations for a building near Barnstow's Hospital, in the suburbs of York, a Roman vault presented itself about four feet from the surface, which was eight feet long by five feet wide, and six feet high, built of stone and arched over with Roman brick. A coffin of rag stone grit, about seven feet long, occupies nearly the whole of the vault, and in the coffin is a human skeleton entire, with the teeth complete, supposed to be the remains of a Roman lady, consigned to the mansions of the dead fourteen centuries ago. Near the skull, which is remarkably small, was found a lacrimatory, in which vessels the ancients deposited the tears they shed for their departed friends. The workmen also found at the same time, not far from the vault, a large red coloured urn, in which were ashes, and the partially burnt bones of a human body. The whole collection is preserved for the inspection of the curious, and may be seen in the place where they have lain undisturbed, while upwards of forty generations of men have passed over the stage of human existence. In a field without Bootham bar, two Roman stone coffins were dug up in March, 1818, each containing a skeleton entire, with the teeth, the most imperishable part of man when dead, and the most liable to decay when living, entire. These coffins are now deposited in the cathedral amongst other sepulchral antiquities, as objects of interest to the curious. In May in the same year, two stone coffins seven feet in length, and three feet wide, cut out of a solid block of stone which was left six inches thick, were dug up in a gravel pit near Fulford church, in each of which was a human skeleton, and a small quantity of a white substance resembling lime saturated with grease. These remains are now in the possession of R. Simpson, Esq. of Bootham. Several conjectures have been formed as to the identity of the occupants of these massive encasements, and as one of them had evidently undergone desecration, from his skull having been found on the breast, it was erroneously imagined that this was Archbishop Serapeus, the ardent reformer of the fifteenth century, who was treacherously seized by the Earl of Westmoreland, and afterwards beheaded. At Adalborough, the sites of ancient Isaurium, numerous specimens of tessellated pavements have often been found, but it was not till the year 1814, that any remains of this kind were ever discovered at York. In the month of March in that year, a beautiful specimen of this Mosaic work was discovered adjoining the rampart within Micklegate bar, which has been cleared and enclosed, and is, along with a number of other Roman remains, preserved for the inspection of the curious.

The decline of the Roman power obliged them to abandon their distant conquests, and in the reign of Theodosius the younger, the empire sunk so fast, that Britain, and of course York, the city of the Brigantines, as it was called, was no longer a residence for the "lords of the universe." Rome and York both declined together, and to them might be applied the reflection of the old poet, on the fall of Carthage:

Unhappy men! to mourn our lives' short date,
When cities, realms, and empires share our fate.

During the period between the evacuation of Britain by the Romans, and the conquest of this island by the Normans, the city of York partook largely in the vicissitudes to which the country was exposed. The Picts and the Scots, the Saxons and the Danes, each in succession, erected their standards before its gates, and obtained possession of the city. The general history of Northumbria, during these early ages, is already sketched in this work, under the head of YORKSHIRE; and it will suffice here, to remark of this epoch, that York, though shorn of that splendour which imperial Rome conferred, still maintained a distinguished rank as a metropolitan city, and as the centre of commercial attraction. The celebrated instructor of Charlemagne, who wrote in the ninth century, thus speaks of York:—

"Quo variis populis et regnis undique lecti, Spe lucri venunt quærentes divite terra, Divitias, sedem sibi met lucrumque laræ-que."

"Hither for gain from various foreign parts
Come trading people, seeking opulence,
And a secure abode in wealthy land."

At this period, York was the seat not only of trade, but of letters; she was, indeed, the Athens of that dark age, and the library collected by Archbishop Egbert, and placed in the cathedral, ranked amongst the first in Christendom. Alein, in one of his letters to his royal pupil, Charlemagne, requests that scholars may be sent from France, to copy the works deposited here, "that the garden of letters may not be shut up in York; but that some of its fruits may be placed in the paradise of Tours."* William, of Malmesbury, speaking of this library, says, "it is the noblest repository and cabinet of arts and sciences in the whole world."

Among the most celebrated of the British monarchs before the conquest, was King Arthur. This monarch expelled the Saxons from York, and almost from the Island, in the year 520, by the sanguinary battle of Baden Hills, in which 90,000 of the enemy were slain. Arthur, after the defeat of the Saxons, undertook an expedition into Scotland, with a determination to destroy that ancient seat of enmity from one end to the other. From this purpose he was dissuaded by the Bishops. The Scots had just received the gospel, and it was represented to the King, by his spiritual guides, in the true spirit of that religion which he professed, that Christians ought not to spill the blood of Christians—a maxim, that has unfortunately for the world, not been sufficiently inculcated in modern times. Arthur, after his expedition to Scotland, returned to York, where he convened an assembly of the clergy and people, to heal the divisions, and to regulate the affairs of the church. At this time, this great monarch, and his clergy, with the nobility, and the soldiers, kept their Christmas in York. This was the first festival of the kind ever celebrated in Britain, and from which, all those ever since held have taken their model. "The latter end of December," says the historian,† "was spent in mirth, jollity, drinking, and the vices that are too often their consequences, so that the representations of the old heathenish feasts, dedicated to Saturn, were here again revived. Gifts were sent mutually from one to another, frequent invitations passed between friends, and domestic offenders were not punished. All this was to celebrate the nativity of Christ, then, as they say, born." Arthur, after all his glory, had the misfortune to be slain in a rebellion of his own subjects, and by the hands of his own nephew. From his death, violent dissensions arose among the British princes, and the Saxons again so completely prevailed, as to gain an entire conquest over the whole kingdom. Those Britons, who would not submit to pass under the Saxon yoke, sought shelter in the Cambrian mountains, where their posterity, according to Welsh history, have ever since maintained their station.

It does not belong to this work to trace the events of the Heptarchy, of which period it has been observed, with some justice, that if "the old wives' tales and friars' dreams" be expunged, this volume of history will be reduced to a page. But it is proper to record, that in the year 867, the Danes, who had long envied the happiness of their neighbours, the Saxons, in the possession of the greatest and the wealthiest island in Europe, fitted up a mighty fleet, and entered the Humber in the spring, with a strong invading army, under the command of Hinguar and Hubba. Their first operation was against York, where a sanguinary battle was fought in the midst of the city, and the two Saxon kings, Osbert and Ella, being slain in the engagement, the city fell into the hands of the Danish invaders. In the conflict, York was reduced to a heap of ruins, by the enraged barbarians, who spared neither palace nor cottage, age, or sex. "Matrons and virgins," says Hoveden, "were ravished at pleasure. The husband and wife either dead or dying, were tossed together. The infant snatched from its mother's breast was carried to the threshold, and there left butchered at its parents' door, to make the general cry more hideous." For some ages the struggle was maintained in England between the Saxons and the Danes, but in the year 1010 the power of the former was extinguished. The Danes, under Sweyn, their sovereign, advanced into Northumbria, with a powerful army, and pitched their tents on the banks of the Ouse. To this place, Ethelred, the Anglo-Saxon monarch, with an army strengthened by a number of Scots, marched to give them battle. The engagement, which took place near York, was bloody and well contested. Ethelred fought to retain, and Sweyn to obtain a kingdom. Victory at length declared for the Danes, and Ethelred, with a few of his followers, seizing a boat, passed over the Ouse, and fled into Normandy, leaving his crown and his kingdom to the conqueror. The Danish viceroys, or Comites Northumbriæ, took up their residence at York, while their sovereigns not unfrequently made this city the royal residence. The death of Sweyn, who breathed his last at Gainsborough, took place in the year 1014, and he was succeeded by his son, Canute, the most powerful monarch of his time. The reproof given by this King to his fawning courtiers, is so just and impressive, that its memory has survived through eight centuries. Some of these flatterers breaking out in expressions of admiration of his power and grandeur, exclaimed, that to him every thing was possible. Upon which, Canute ordered his chair to be placed upon the sea-shore, while the tide was rising; as the waters approached, he commanded them with a voice of authority to retire, and to obey the lord of the ocean. For some time he feigned to sit in expectation of their submission, but the sea still advanced towards him, and began to wash him with its billows; on which he turned to his courtiers, and said, "Behold how feeble and impotent is man. Power resideth in one Being alone, in whose hands are the elements of nature, and who alone can say to the ocean—These far shall thou go and no farther, and who can level with his nod the most towering piles of pride and ambition."

On the death of Canute, in 1036, Harold, his second son, surnamed Harefoot, succeeded to his British dominions; this monarch was succeeded by Hardicanute, a licentious tyrant, who died two years after his accession, at the nuptials of a Danish lord. Edward, the Confessor, though not the hereditary descendant, was raised to the throne by the voice of the people, to the exclusion of Sweyn, the Danish claimant, and was the last of the Saxon line who ruled in England. Harold, the son of Godwin, succeeded Edward, but was opposed by his brother Tosti, at whose instance, Harfager, the King of Norway, undertook the invasion of this kingdom, with a numerous and well appointed army, embarked on board a kind of Norwegian armada. This mighty armament entered the Humber, in the autumn of 1066, and the ships sailed up the Ouse, as far as Riccall, within ten miles of York; where they were moored. Having landed their forces, the invaders marched to York, which city they took by storm, after a desperate conflict, fought at Faldford, on the eve of St. Matthew, with Mowcar, the governor, and Edwin, Earl of Chester. Harold no sooner heard of the arrival of the Norwegians, than he marched to York, at the head of a powerful army. On his approach, the invaders quitted the city, and took up a strong position to the East of York, having the Derwent in front, the Ouse to the right, and their navy on the left. Harold, disregarding the advantageous position of the enemy, determined to cross the wooden bridge which passed over the river, and to attack them in their trenches. His army was put in motion early in the morning, but an impediment, as the historians say, was interposed by a champion, in the Norwegian army, who placing himself on the bridge, kept by his own individual prowess the whole British army at bay for three hours! This hero being at length slain by a dart, the English army passed the bridge, and attacking the enemy in their trenches, sword in hand, victory declared on the side of Harold. The King of Norway and Tosti were both slain; and their army, which consisted of sixty thousand men, suffered so complete an overthrow, that though from five to six hundred vessels were necessary to bring them to England, twenty vessels were sufficient to carry back the miserable remains that survived the slaughter. This battle, which commenced at sun rise, and did not terminate till three o'clock in the afternoon, was fought at Stamford Bridge,* on the 23d of September, 1066. The spoil taken by the victors was immense, and it is represented, that the gold alone which the Norwegians left behind them, was as much as twelve men could carry on their shoulders.† Harold's triumph was of short duration. Returning to York, on the night of the battle, he gave orders for solemn feasts and rejoicings to begin the next day. Scarcely had these demonstrations of public joy commenced, when a messenger arrived from the South, and announced to Harold, as he sat in state, at a magnificent entertainment, that Duke William of Normandy, had landed with a mighty army, at Pevensey, in Sussex. The recently acquired victory of Harold, though great and honourable, proved in the main prejudicial to his interests, and may be regarded as the immediate cause of his ruin. He had lost many of his bravest officers and soldiers in the action; and he had disgusted the survivors, by refusing to distribute among them the Norwegian spoils. On receiving the intelligence of the arrival of William, the King marched at the head of his army, through London, to Sussex, in order to expel the invaders. Here the sanguinary battle of Hastings was fought, only nine days after the battle of Stamford Bridge, and here Harold lost both his kingdom and his life.

During the heptarchy, York was reduced from the capital of a kingdom, to the capital of an aerdium. In this state it remained till the reign of Edward, the Confessor, in whose time it suffered a still greater revolution: for though it is the generally received opinion, that Alfred first divided England into counties, shires, or shirevealds, towards the close of the ninth century, and appointed a chief officer to govern them, called a Schire-reeve, or Sheriff, yet it does not appear that this change took place in the north, earlier than the middle of the eleventh century, when the ancient kingdom of Northumbria, which extended from the Humber to the Tweed, and from the German ocean to the Irish sea, was split into shires under the designation of Burewicksceire, Richmundesceire, Loncastresceire, Caplande, since called the Bishoprick of Durham, Westmerlonde & Cumbrelonde,

No sooner was William the Conqueror, established on the English throne, than he showed that his policy was to root out the ancient nobility, and to degrade the native inhabitants of the humbler classes, to the situation of miserable slaves. In the North, where the spirit of liberty and independence has always been cherished, the tyrant was determined to rivet his chains. For this purpose, Robert, the Norman, was sent down to Durham, with a guard of 700 men; but the inhabitants rose upon the governor, and exterminated both him and his guard. William once more drew his conquering sword, which he was not soon inclined to sheathe. He marched into York, at the head of a powerful army, and the city with its two castles, were speedily garrisoned with Norman soldiers. The Saxon nobles in this city had manifested a disposition to shake off the Norman yoke, and on the arrival of William, they fled into Scotland, where they were joined by Malcolm, the Scottish king. The Danes soon after united in the confederacy, and arrived in the Humber with a powerful army, under the command of Osbern, brother to the Danish king. Their first operation was against York, which they carried on the 19th of September, 1069, sword in hand, in the midst of flames, enkindled by the Normans, to prevent the suburbs from being made useful to the besiegers. In this fire, the invaluable library of the cathedral was, to the irreparable injury of learning, totally destroyed. William no sooner heard that the garrison of York had been taken by his enemies, and that three thousand of his troops had been put to the sword, than he hastened, at the head of a powerful army, into the North: and on his march thither was often heard to swear, "by God's splendour," which was his favourite oath, that he "would not leave a soul of them alive." On his arrival in Yorkshire, he had the address to corrupt Osbern, the Danish general, and to induce him to quit the country with his army, leaving his allies to the vengeance of the ruthless tyrant. For six months the siege of York was prosecuted with all the means which the Conqueror could command. During this time, Walthoef the governor, and his troops displayed prodigies of valour and constancy; but at length famine began to rage in the city with so much violence that the garrison was obliged to capitulate. At first the Conqueror affected to display some degree of forbearance, but it was only the better to secure his victims; a pretence was soon found to dispatch the gallant Walthoef, by the hand of the executioner; and, it is said, that he was the first nobleman ever beheaded in England. Upon the ancient kingdom of Northumbria, the Norman looked as the nest of rebellion. Under this impression, and in order to gratify his own blood-thirsty nature; he razed the city of York to the ground, and with it fell all the principal nobility and gentry in the North, and a large portion of the inhabitants. The garrison, which consisted of English and Scotch troops, notwithstanding the articles of capitulation, all perished, "and this noble city," says William, of Malmesbury, himself a Norman, "was wasted by famine, fire, and sword to the very roots." Nor did the tyrant stop here: he laid the whole country waste, from the Humber to the Tweed, and rendered it so complete a scene of desolation, that for nine years neither the plough nor the spade was put into the ground; and such was the wretched state of the inhabitants who escaped the sword, that they were forced to eat dogs and cats, horses, and even human flesh, to preserve their miserable existence. This account is confirmed by Roger Hoveden, and Simeon of Durham, as well as by the concurrent testimony of all the historians of those times, and from that day to this, York has never regained its ancient splendour. Before the Norman conquest the city of London was inferior to York, and the author of the Polychronicon writes, that before it was burnt by William, York seemed as fair as the city of Rome, and was justly enough, by William Harrison, styled, Altera Roma. According to Leland, the suburbs at this time extended to the towns a mile round the city.

Conscious of the detestation in which he was held, William entertained a perpetual jealousy of the English people. In the wantonness of power he obliged them every night to extinguish their fires and candles, at the ring of a bell, called "The Curfew." He also caused a survey to be made of all the lands in the kingdom, which were unregistered in the Domesday book, many of the estates of the nobles in Yorkshire, as in other parts of the kingdom, he wrested from their rightful owners and bestowed upon his rapacious followers.

For half a century the history of York is almost a blank, but in the reign of Stephen, in the year 1137, it appears once more to have reared its head, when it was again destroyed by an accidental fire, which burnt down the cathedral, the abbey of St. Mary's, with thirty-nine parish churches in the city, and Trinity church in the suburbs. At this awful juncture, David, king of Scotland entered England, at the head of a powerful army, and ravaged and laid waste the country to the very gates of the city of York. Roused into energy by these accumulated disasters, Thurstan, the archbishop, who acted as Stephen's viceroy in the north, summoned the neighbouring barons, and exhorted them to repel the enemy. Enraged to see their country desolated by the invaders, they each of them in their district collected a considerable force, which assembled at Northallerton, and totally defeated the Scotch in the famous Battle of the Standard.*

For seven centuries York had exhibited a series of sanguinary wars, and repeated desolations; from this period it enjoyed, for some ages, the blessings of peace, and again rose to wealth and importance. In less than fifty years after the terrible conflagration in the reign of Stephen, Henry II. under pretence of raising money for the holy wars, imposed upon his subjects a contribution of one-tenth of their moveables, and demanded from the city of York, one-half of the sum that he required from London. At that period York was eminent for trade, and in the 27th year of the reign of Edward III. the staple trade of wool, which had before been at Bruges, in Flanders, was fixed in this city. Many of the merchants of York were members of "the corporation of the staple," established at Calais, and the woollen manufacture flourished in York so late as the reign of Henry VIII. In that reign an act was passed regarding one branch of the manufacture, the preamble of which sets forth, that "Whereas the city of York being one of the ancientest and greatest cities within the realm of England, before this time hath mainteyned and upholden by divers and sundry handicrafts there used, and most principally by making and weaving coverlets and coverings for beds, and thereby a great number of the inhabitants and people of the said city and suburbs thereof, and other places within the city of York, have been daily set on work in spinning, dying, carding, and weaving of the said coverlets," &c.

* See Northallerton.

This trade continued to prevail for some ages afterwards, but in the year 1736, when the author of the Eboracum published his book, York was no longer a manufacturing city, nor has the staple trade, which has made the West-Riding its principal seat, ever returned to this ancient capital.

In the ages following the Norman conquest, York was often visited by the kings of England. Henry II. held the first parliament ever mentioned in history by that name, in this city, in the year 1160, in which Malcolm, king of Scotland, appeared, and did homage for the territories which he held of the English crown. Eleven years afterwards, the same king called another parliament, or convention of the bishops and barons at York, to which he summoned William the successor of Malcolm, to do homage for the kingdom of Scotland; on which occasion the Scotch king deposited on the altar of St. Peter, in the cathedral church, his breast plate, spear, and saddle, in memorial of his subjection.

At the commencement of the reign of Richard I. York became the scene of a horrible persecution and massacre, which will be ever memorable in the annals of this city. The prejudices of the age had stigmatized the lenders of money on interest with the odious name of usurers, and the crusades to the holy land to rescue Jerusalem from the hands of the Saracens, had enflamed the zeal of the nation against every body of men not bearing the name of christian. The Jews were a people first introduced into England, by William the Conqueror, and in York, where a number of them settled soon after the conquest, they might be viewed with some portion of that horror which the bloody deeds of the tyrant so naturally excited. These accumulated causes of hostility engendered in the minds of the people an implacable hatred towards them, and the claims which they had upon the estates of those to whom they had lent money aggravated the public hostility. To obtain popular favour, the king, who was crowned with great pomp at Westminster, strictly enjoined and commanded that no Jew whatever should appear at his coronation. Notwithstanding this order two of the principal Jews in York, of the names of Benedict and Jocenus went from hence to London, with a pompous retinue in order to meet their brethren, and to present presents to the king, as a peace-offering, at his coronation. On the day of the ceremonial, many of the Jews mixed in the crowd, and the populace, with a savage ferocity, commenced a general massacre upon them in London, plundered their property, burnt down their houses, and destroyed numbers of their wives and children. The king issued forthwith a proclamation to stop these proceedings, but the example of the metropolis spread into various parts of the country, and similar scenes, though on a smaller scale, were transacted at Norwich, Lynn, Stamford, and York. Benedict and Jocenus, the York Jews, were attacked on their way to the coronation, and Benedict being grievously bruised and wounded, was dragged into a church, where he was forced to renounce Judaism, and to submit to the ceremony of baptism. This conversion, the heroic Israelite, with the seal of a Daniel, steadily disclaimed, and when brought the next day into the presence of the king, and asked whether he was a christian or no, he answered, no! he was a Jew, and should die in that faith. To the honour of the king he was restored to his friends, but to the reproach of his brutal assailants he died shortly after of his bruises. Jocenus returned to York, where a still more awful fate awaited him. Either by accident or design, the city of York took fire, in the midst of a boisterous night, and the flames spread in all directions. This calamity was seized upon to renew the persecution against the Jews, and while the citizens were engaged in extinguishing the flames, the house of Benedict was violently entered by the lawless rabble, who murdered the wife and children of the deceased Jew, and applied to their own use all the property on which they could lay their rapacious hands. Jocenus, alarmed for his own safety, sought refuge in the castle, to which he removed his family and effects, and his example was followed by nearly all the other Jews in the city. The governor of the castle having some business without its walls, left it for a short time in the hands of the Jews, who, under an apprehension that he might have joined in the conspiracy with their enemies, refused to re-admit him on his return. The high sheriff, a man more under the guidance of his passions than of his judgment, enraged by this indignity, issued his writ of posse comitatus to raise the county to besiege and take the castle. And now, says Hemingford, the canon of Gisburgh, was shown the zeal of a Christian populace. An innumerable company of armed men, as well from the city as from other parts of the county, rose simultaneously, and begirt the fortress. The high sheriff began to repent of his inconsiderate order, and the wiser and better sort of the citizens stood aloof from a flood that might soon overwhelm themselves. A great many of the clergy, however, joined the besiegers, and a certain fanatical friar, clad in a white vesture, was every where seen crying out—"the enemies of Christ must be destroyed." This zealot was amongst the first to suffer the destruction he announced, for in his endeavour to fix the battering engines against the walls, a large stone fell upon his head, and dashed out his brains. Driven to extremities, the Jews held a council, and offered, as Hovedest says, a mighty sum of money to be allowed to escape with their lives, but this offer was rejected. On which, as M. Paris observes, a certain foreign rabbin, or doctor of their law, stood up amongst them and said,— "Men of Israel, our creator has commanded that we should at any time be ready to die for our law; when he gave us life he enjoined that with our own hands, and of our own accord, we should devoutly restore it to him again, rather than submit to the cruelty of our enemies." This invitation to imitate the example of the followers of Josephus, in the cave of Jotapata, was embraced by many of the Jews, but others chose rather to try the victors' clemency. Before the self-devoted victims began to execute the sentence upon each other, they set fire to the castle, and committed all their property to the flames, to prevent it from falling into the hands of their enemies. The rabbin then directed that the husbands should cut the throats of their own wives and children, and Jocenus began the execution first, by applying the knife to the throats of Avine, his wife, and his five children! The example was speedily followed by the other masters of families, and afterwards, as a mark of peculiar honour, the Rabbin cut the throat of Jocenus himself! The last of the victims, was the self-devoted adviser of the deed, who probably was the only actual suicide. At dawn the next morning, the survivors announced the horrid catastrophe which had befallen their brethren, to the besiegers, casting the dead bodies of the victims over the wall, to convince them of the reality of their story. At the same time they supplicated for mercy, with an assurance, that if it was granted to them, they would all become Christians. The merciless Barbarians pretending to compassionate their sufferings, obtained admission into the castle. No sooner was this effected, than they flew upon the poor Jews, and slew every one of them, though to the last they cried out for baptism. With their hands reeking with blood, the murderers hastened to the cathedral, where the bonds, which the Christians had given to the Jews, (money lenders) were deposited. These documents they took out of the chests, and committed to the flames, thus freeing themselves and others from their obligations. This massacre happened at York, on the 11th of March, 1189; and it is estimated, that no fewer than from fifteen hundred to two thousand Jews in York, fell victims to the sanguinary persecution. When the news of these deeds of blood reached the king, who had embarked for the holy land, he sent orders to his chancellor and regent, the Bishop of Ely, to go down into Yorkshire, and execute strict justice upon the offenders; but the regent ill discharged the trust confided to him, for he contented himself by the imposition of a few mulets and fines upon the inhabitants, and not a single individual was executed, though the crime might have been brought home to numbers, not only amongst the citizens, but also amongst persons of the military and ecclesiastical orders. Notwithstanding the horrors of this sanguinary persecution, a new colony of Jews settled in York in the same reign, and remained in this city till the time of Edward I. and Jubbergate and Jewberry, probably both derive their names from having been the favourite seats of their residence.

In the reign of King John, a convention was held at York between the English and Scotch kings and their nobles, in which an existing difference was settled by an agreement that the two sons of the former should marry the two daughters of the latter. In the last year of the troublous reign of king John, the northern barons laid siege to York, but retreated from before its walls, on receiving one thousand marks from its inhabitants.

The marriage of the daughter of Henry III. king of England, to Alexander, the third son of the king of Scotland, took place in the cathedral church of this city amidst very splendid festivities in the year 1230.

In 1296, another parliament sat at York, when the English barons attended, and the king's confirmation of Magna Charta, and also Charta de Forresta, was read to them. During this reign of Edward I. the courts of justice were removed from London to York, where they remained for several months, till the king's return after the famous battle of Falkirk. York, then ranked amongst the English ports, but Hull had already begun to rise into fame as a maritime town, and soon absorbed a large share of the commerce which was formerly confined to this city.

In this reign the flame broke out, which for nearly a century involved England and Scotland in that general conflagration, with the vents of which every reader of English history is familiar. The Scots marched into England in great force, and having laid the country waste to the gates of York, retired. The archbishop fired with indignation, raised an army of priests, monks, and others, to the amount of ten thousand men, with which he pursued the spoilers, and overtook them at Myton-upon-Swale, in the neighbourhood of Boroughbridge, where he attacked them with more fury than skill, and where he suffered a signal defeat.*

The reign of Edward III. which shines with so much lustre in the annals of England, constitutes a splendid period in the history of York. In the year 1327, the first year of his reign; that monarch ordered his whole army to rendezvous in this city, in order to oppose Robert Bruce, king of Scotland, who, with an army of twenty thousand horse was ravaging the northern part of the kingdom. While Edward lay at York preparing for this expedition, there came to his aid John Lord Beaumont, of Hainault, one of the bravest knights of the age, accompanied with other gallant knights and gentlemen, who, with his retinue composed a band of five hundred, or according to Knightson, of two thousand men. Most of these foreigners were lodged in the suburbs; but to Lord John himself the king assigned the abbey of White Monks in the city. The king with the queen's mother, lodged in the monastery belonging to the Friars Minor, which must have been an extensive and stately building, since each of them kept a separate court, and that of the king was very magnificent. For six weeks, Edward had his court at York, with an army of sixty thousand men, which, notwithstanding its numbers, was well supplied with provisions, of which the citizens felt no lack. The foreigners too had reason to be satisfied with their entertainment, but jealousies arose between them and the English, which were not terminated without bloodshed. On Trinity Sunday, the king gave a magnificent entertainment at the monastery. To his usual retinue of five hundred knights, he added sixty more; and the queen's mother had in her suite sixty ladies of the highest rank and greatest beauty in England. At night was given a splendid ball, but while the courtiers were in the midst of their amusement "a strange and hideous noise interrupted them and alarmed the whole court." A contest had arisen between the foreign auxiliaries and a body of English archers, who lodged with them in the suburbs; and hostilities being once begun abetted successively came in on both sides, till near three thousand of the archers were collected. Many of the Hainaulters were slain, and the rest were obliged to retire and fortify themselves in their quarters. During the quarrel, part of the city took fire, and it was with equal dif-

sculy that the king was able to subdue the flames and to restrain the fiery spirits with which he had to contend. The foreigners breathed nothing but vengeance, and on the night following, headed by their officers, they fell upon the Lincolnshire and Northamptonshire archers, and slew about three hundred of them. This rash act induced about six thousand of the English to combine, and to take the desperate resolution to sacrifice every soul of the Hainaulters to the names of their countrymen. By the firmness and wise precautions of the king, this catastrophe was arrested and the tranquillity of the city was ultimately restored. During these transactions ambassadors arrived in York from Scotland to treat for peace, but after some weeks the negotiations broke off, and the king with all his barons marched at the head of his whole army against the Scots, in all the martial pomp of those chivalrous times. It is not the province of this history to follow Edward through his campaigns; suffice it to say, that after a keen pursuit the Scotch army was at last overtaken and couped up by the English in Stanhope-park, from which they were suffered to escape by the treachery of Lord Mortimer, at the moment when they were ready to surrender from the cravings of famine. Edward, chagrined at the loss of his prey, when it seemed within his grasp, returned to York and afterwards to London, having previously dismissed Lord John of Hainault, to the Continent, bounteously rewarded for his services. The next year Lord John, returned with his niece Philippa, the most celebrated beauty of the age, and with a great retinue conducted her to York, where the court then was, in order to her marriage with the king in this city. On the Sunday before the eve of St. Paul's conversion in the year 1329, the marriage was publicly solemnized in the cathedral, by the archbishop. Upon these happy nuptials, says Froissart, the whole kingdom teemed with joy, and the court at York expressed these feelings in a more than ordinary manner; for three weeks the feasting were continued without intermission, there were nothing but jousts and tournaments in the day time, and maskings, revels, and interludes with songs and dances in the night. The Hainault soldiery, actuated by a licentious and revengeful spirit, took advantage of this carnival to treat the inhabitants with outrage and violence, and to such an excess did they carry their misconduct, that they ravished several of the wives, daughters, and maid servants of the inhabitants, and set fire to the suburbs of the city, by which a whole parish was nearly destroyed. The citizens scandalized by those proceedings, challenged the Hainaulters to battle; this challenge was accepted, and the battle was fought in a street called Watling-gate, with such desperate fury that five hundred and twenty-seven of the foreigners were slain or drowned in the Ouse, and two hundred and forty-two fell of the English. During the wars in France, in which Edward and his renowned son, the Black Prince, gained the memorable victories of Crecy and Poitiers, and rendered captive the French king, David Bruce, the competitor of John Baliol, king of Scotland, undertook to invade England, which was then left to the sole government of the queen. Bruce penetrated to the gates of York, and burnt part of the suburbs, having laid waste the country through which he passed with fire and sword. Philippa, the queen regent, then at York, having collected a powerful army, repulsed the invaders, and pursued them to Neville's cross, in the county of Durham, where, on the 17th of October, 1347, she gained a signal victory, having slain fifteen thousand of the Scots, and taken Bruce prisoner. The victorious queen having rescued her country from the hands of these cruel invaders, returned to York, and subsequently presented king David to her husband and sovereign.

The unfortunate reign of Richard II. was extremely favourable to the citizens of York. That monarch visited the city several times, and granted the citizens many charters, immunities, and privileges. On his visit to York, in the year 1389, to adjust a dispute between the archbishop and the dean and chapter, the king took his sword from his side, and gave it to be borne before William de Selby, who was then dignified with the title of Lord Mayor, which is retained to the present day by the first magistrate of this city.* In this reign Edmund

Langley, the fifth son of Edward III. was created the first Duke of York. A contagious distemper, of the nature of a plague, raged with great violence throughout England, of which malady there died, in the city of York alone, in the years 1390 and 1391, twelve thousand souls. In the nineteenth year of the king's reign two sheriffs were appointed instead of three bailiffs, and the city of York was created into a county of itself.

The inhabitants of York were not unmindful of these benefactions and royal concessions, and they took the first opportunity to manifest their gratitude to Richard, even after the deposition and murder in Pontefract castle. Henry Percy, Earl of Northumberland, having lost his brother and son in the battle of Shrewsbury, Richard Scroop, Archbishop of York, whose brother the king (Henry IV.) had beheaded, and Thomas Mowbray, Earl Marshal of England, whose father died in exile, united with Lords Falconberg, Bardolf, Hastings, and others, in a conspiracy to depose the occupier of Richard's throne. The archbishop's impatience precipitated the disclosure of the plot. Scroop framed several articles of impeachment against the King, which he caused to be fixed upon the doors of the churches in his own diocese, and sent them in the form of a circular into other counties in the Kingdom, inviting the people to take up arms to reform abuses. To strengthen this call he preached a sermon to three congregations assembling for religious worship in the cathedral, and roused 20,000 men suddenly to arms, who joined his standard at York, on which was painted the five wounds of our Saviour.— To subdue this rebellion Henry sent an army of 30,000 men into Yorkshire, under the command of the Earl of Westmoreland and the Prince John, on the arrival of the king's forces at York, they found the archbishop encamped out of the gates of the city, on the forest of Galtres, so advantageously, that it was not judged advisable to attack them. The wily Earl, affecting to favour the views of the insurgents, solicited an interview with the archbishop, who took with him the Earl Marshal. Having got them into his toils, and plied them well with wine, he arrested them on the spot for high treason, and their lives paid the forfeit of their precipitancy and misplaced confidence. In 1406 the Earl of Northumberland again appeared in arms, and was defeated and slain on Bramham Moor, by Sir Thomas Rokesby, High-sheriff of Yorkshire. Henry soon after came to York, and completed his revenge by the execution of several of the insurgent citizens, and the confiscation of their estates.

Henry VI., the hero of Agincourt, being engaged during the principal part of his reign in the wars with France, made only one visit to York, when he and his queen went to perform their devotions at the venerable shrine of St. John of Beverley.

During the civil wars between the rival houses of York and Lancaster, this city was the rendezvous of armies, and the theatre on which was displayed the memorials of royal vengeance. After the battle of Wakefield, in which Richard, Duke of York met his fate,* the head of that nobleman was placed upon Micklegate bar, as were also the heads of a number of his followers. The sanguinary battle of Towton changed the fortune of the two roses,† and the victorious Edward IV. caused the head of his father and of his adherents to be taken from Micklegate bar, and the heads of the Lancastrian nobles, Devon and Kims, to take their places.

When Edward departed this life, his brother Richard was at York, and had a funeral requiem performed in the cathedral of that city for the repose of his soul.— After Richard III. had usurped the sovereign power, and had been crowned in London, he came to York, where the ceremony of his coronation was performed a second time, in the cathedral, by Archbishop Rotherham. Tournaments, masques, and other diversions, together with the most luxurious feasting followed the coronation, and by their immense costs exhausted the public treasury.‡ Richard distinguished the city of York by various marks of royal munificence; and the citizens showed their gratitude by a steady adherence to his interests.

After the battle of Bosworth field had placed the crown on the head of Henry VII. the people of Yorkshire and Durham refused to pay a land-tax imposed for the purpose of defraying the expenses of the army. The Earl of Northumberland was the reputed adviser of this measure, which rendered him so unpopular, that the populace assailed his house, and slew the Earl, with many of his servants. The sword being thus drawn, they threw away the scabbard, and chose for their leader Sir John Egremont, a man greatly disaffected to the house of Lancaster, and John a Chambre, a man of humble birth, but possessed of a vast share of popular in-success. Thomas Earl of Surrey being sent against the insurgents, he defeated their principal band, and made John a Chambre with several of his followers prisoners. The rest of the malcontents fled to York, and afterwards dispersed, while Sir John Egremont found an asylum in Flanders, under the protection of Margaret Duchess of Burgundy. John a Chambre, less fortunate, was brought to trial, and executed at York, with great solemnity, upon a high gallows, with a number of his adherents suspended around him.

From this period the annals of York contain scarcely any important transaction, till the year 1536, the 27th of Henry VIII. when the suppression of the monasteries and the progress of the reformation excited a great sensation in the northern counties.—The suppression of the religious houses, inflicted a terrible blow on the grandeur of York. In the reign of Henry V. this city contained, besides the cathedral, 41 parish churches; 17 chapels, 16 hospitals, and 9 religious houses; including the noble abbey of St. Mary, without Bootham Bar. No sooner, says Drake, was the word given, than down fell the monasteries, priories, chapels, and hospitals in this city, and with them, for company, I suppose, 18 parish churches, the materials and revenues of all being converted to secular uses. The lazzars, sick and old people were turned out of hospitals, and priests and nuns out of religious houses, to starve or beg their bread. The natural consequence of such sweeping and indiscriminate reforms was to excite a spirit of rebellion, and in Yorkshire a formidable insurrection was raised by Robert Aske, a gentleman of considerable fortune, who possessed great influence in the country. The other chief persons concerned were Sir Robert Constable, Sir John Bulmer, Sir Thomas Percy, Sir Stephen Hammon, Nicholas Tompest, and William Lumley, Esqrs. Their enterprise they called "the pilgrimage of grace, and they swore that they were moved by no other motive than their love to God, their care of the king's person and issue, their desire to purify the nobility, to drive base-born persons from about the king, to restore the church, and to suppress heresy. Allured by these fair pretensions, about 40,000 men, from the counties of York, Durham, and Lancaster, flocked to their standard, and their zeal, no less than their numbers inspired the court with apprehensions. When the army was put in motion, a number of priests marched at their head in the habits of their order, carrying crosses in their hands; in their banners woven a chalice, and the five wounds of Christ: and they wore on their sleeve an emblem of the five wounds with the name of Jesus wrought in the middle. The rebels succeeded in taking both Hull and York, and laid siege to Pontefract Castle, in which the Archbishop and Lord Darcy, at the head of a body of the King's troops had thrown themselves. The castle speedily surrendered, and the prelate and nobleman joined the insurrection. The Duke of Norfolk, at the head of a small army of 5000 men, was sent against the rebels, and the king issued a proclamation, in which he told them that they ought no more to pretend to give a judgment with regard to government, than a blind man with regard to colours:—"and we," he added, "with our whole council, think it right strange that ye who are but brutes and inexperienced folks, do take upon you to appoint us, who be meet or not for our council." The Duke of Norfolk encamped near Doncaster, where he entered into a negotiation with the rebels, which was protracted till the Pilgrims of Grace, reduced almost to a state of famine, and dispirited by the sudden rising of the Dow, at two different times, when they meditated an attack, began to disperse, and suffered their leaders to be taken prisoners. Some of them, with the abbots of Fountains, Jervaux, and Rivalx, were executed at Tyburn; Sir Robert Constable was hanged in chains over Beverley gate, at Hull; Lord Darcy was beheaded on Tower Hill; and Aske, the leader of the insurrection, was suspended from a tower, probably Clifford's Tower, at York. In August 1541, Henry VIII. in order to tranquilize the minds of his subjects, made a tour into the north: On his arrival at Barnsdale, in the West-Riding of this county, he was met by two hundred gentlemen in velvet coats and suitable accoutrements, with four thousand tall yeomen and three hundred clergymen, who, on their knees, made submission to his Majesty, and presented him with £600. From thence the king repaired to York, where he spent 12 days, and returned to London by way of Hull, crossing the Humber, into Lincolnshire. Five years after this visit Henry died, leaving behind him the terrible character that throughout his reign he neither spared man in his anger nor woman in his lust.—The first printing press was erected in York in his reign by Rugo Goes, the son of an ingenious printer at Antwerp. The site of this infant establishment was in the Munster-yard, near St. William's college, where the royal printing press was afterwards placed in 1642, while Charles I. was at York.

In the reign of Edward VI., on the 18th of April, 1551, began that terrible distemper, called the Sweating Sickness. This disease, which first manifested itself in sudden chilliness, was succeeded by a violent sweat, which brought on sleep, and terminated in death, spread throughout the kingdom, and produced a great mortality in York.

Yorkshire, during the reign of Mary, resumed the bloody, enjoyed repose, and it does not appear, that this ancient city was the scene of any of her persecutions.

The long and splendid reign of Elizabeth affords few materials for the historian of York. In her reign, a rebellion broke out in the North, headed by Thomas Percy, Earl of Northumberland, and Charles Nevil, Earl of Westmoreland, the object of which was to restore the Roman Catholic religion. The failure of this enterprise involved many of the conspirators in ruin; and on Good Friday, the 27th of March, 1570, Simon Digby, of Aikew, and John Falkehorpe, of Iscebeck, Esqrs. with Robert Pennyman, of Stokesley, and Thomas Bishop, of Pocklington, gentlemen, were drawn from the Castle of York, to Knavesmire, and there "hanged, headed, and quartered." To strike terror into the inhabitants, their heads with four of their quarters, were placed on the four principal gates of the city, and the other quarters were set up in different other parts of the country. The Earl of Westmoreland found means to escape out of the country, but Northumberland was taken, and being attainted by Parliament, was beheaded, August 22, 1572, on a scaffold, erected in the Pavement, at York, and his head set on a high pole on Micklegate-bar. This was the last open attempt made to restore the Roman Catholic religion in this kingdom.

James I. visited York, in the year 1603, on his way from Scotland to London, and was received by the Lord Mayor and citizens, with great magnificence and splendid demonstrations of loyalty. In the year 1617, this monarch, with his nobles and knights, both English and Scotch, again passed through York, in his way to Scotland, and met with a reception equally cordial. During his residence, this sagacious prince, the Solomon of the North, touched about 70 persons afflicted with the King's Evil.— In the second year of his reign, York was once more visited by a plague, of which 3512 persons died. To prevent the spread of the contagion, stone crosses were erected in various parts of the vicinity of York, where the country people, without coming into the city, met the citizens, and sold them provisions. Several of these memorials of the last plague, which ever prevailed here, remain to this day. In 1607, there was a frost of such severity and continuance, that the Ouse became almost a solid body of ice, and a horse race was run on the river, from the Tower, at the end of Marygate, under the great arch of the bridge, to the cruce, at Skeldergate postern. Seven years afterwards, there was so heavy a fall of snow, during a frost of about seven weeks, that when it was dissolved by a thaw, the waters of the Ouse so much inundated North-street and Skeldergate, that the inhabitants were obliged to quit their habitations, and to seek safety in more elevated situations.

The contests between the prerogatives of the Crown, and the privileges of Parliament, in the reign of Charles I. shook York to its centre; and it is a little remarkable, that the same county which afforded the scene of action for the battle which decided the fate of the house of Lancaster, on the field of Towton, should have witnessed the overthrow of the house of Stuart, on the field of Marston. Eight years after Charles had mounted the British throne, and before evil advisers had enrolled him with his Parliament and people, he visited the city of York, on his way from Scotland to London, and received a loyal and cordial welcome. Six years afterwards, on the 20th of March, 1639, the Scots having broken out into open rebellion, the King came down to York, on an expedition against the insurgents. During the king's residence in York, he kept the festival, called "Monday Thursday," in the Cathedral; when the Bishop of Ely washed the feet of thirty-nine poor aged men, in warm water, and dried them with a linen cloth. Afterwards, the Bishop of Winchester washed them over again in white wine, and dried, and kissed them. This part of the ceremony being over, the king gave to each of them several articles of apparel, a purse of money, and a quantity of wine and provisions. To add to the royal condescension, his Majesty on the day following, being Good Friday, touched two hundred persons, in the Minster, for the King's Evil; but with what success, the historian very discreetly chooses not to disclose. Having spent a month in York, his Majesty and his nobles, at the head of the army marched towards Scotland. On his approach the Scotch laid down their arms, and swore allegiance; but the very next year, when the king had disbanded his army, Lesley, Earl of Leven, and the Marquis of Montrose, entered England, at the head of a Scotch army. To arrest the progress of the invaders, the King left London, and came to York, where he convened a great council of all the Peers of England, to meet and attend his Majesty there. This proceeding naturally spread an alarm through the country that the king intended to lay aside one of the three estates of Parliament, and to govern the nation without a House of Commons.—

Petitions poured in upon his Majesty, beseeching him to call a parliament, and the gentry of Yorkshire pressed this measure upon him with much earnestness. On the 24th of September, 1640, the great assembly of Peers met in the Deanery, at York, the hall of which was richly hung with tapestry, and the king's chair of state was placed upon the half-pace of the stairs, at the upper end of the hall, from whence his Majesty delivered a speech, in which he announced his intention to call a parliament in the course of the present year; his majesty asked council, at the same time, of the Peers in what way to treat a petition for a redress of grievances which he had received from the Scotch invaders, and how his army should be kept on foot and maintained until the supplies from Parliament might be had for that purpose. While the sitting of the Peers continued, which was from the 24th of September till the 18th of October, commissions were employed in negotiating a peace with the Scotch, at Ripon; but these negotiations produced merely a cessation of hostilities, till the meeting of Parliament. The accumulated evils of thirty years of mis-government, had now brought the kingdom to the verge of a great revolution. The long Parliament assembled on the 3rd of November, 1640; and their two first acts were to vote down the council court of York, and to impeach Strafford and Laud, the King's chief advisers. The government, which in the hands of Charles had assumed the character of an absolute monarchy, soon became democratical, to a degree incompatible with the spirit of the constitution. Lieutenants and Deputy Lieutenants of counties, who had exercised powers for the national defence, not authorized by statute, were declared delinquents. Sheriffs who had been employed to assess ship money, and the Jurors and Officers of the Customs, who had been employed in levying tonnage and poundage, as well as the holders of monopolies by patents, were brought under the same vague charge, and the latter were expelled from the House of Commons. The Judges, who had given their votes against Hampden, in the trial of ship money, were accused before the Peers, and in a few weeks such a revolution was produced in the government, by the House of Commons, seconded by the Peers, that the kingly power which had been almost omnipotent, was in danger of being reduced to insignificance. These measures naturally placed the Parliament at issue with the King, and the differences between the conflicting authorities continued to increase during the years 1640 and 1641, till an open rupture became unavoidable. In the early part of 1642, the King, with his son Charles, Prince of Wales, the Duke of York, and several noblemen left London: and on the 18th of March arrived at York: where he was received by the nobility and gentry of the North, with suitable demonstrations of loyalty. His Majesty's first care, on his arrival in Yorkshire, was to secure the vast magazines in the fortress of Hull, consisting of all the arms and ammunition of the forces levied against the Scots; with this view he repaired to that port in person, and required Sir John Hotham, the governor, who had received his commission from the Parliament to deliver up the possession. Sir John, perceiving that matters were drawing to a crisis, shut the gates, and refused to admit the King, though he requested leave to enter with twelve persons only. Charles, being thus repulsed, slept that night at Beverley, and the next day returned to York, having previously declared Hotham a traitor. Civil war seemed now inevitable. The armies which had been raised for the service of Ireland were openly enlisted by the Parliament for their own purposes, and the command of them was given to the Earl of Essex. The Queen, on the other hand, departed the kingdom, and sold the crown jewels, in Holland, to purchase a cargo of arms and ammunition. The King still remained at York, where he employed himself with great activity in rousing his adherents to arms. His unhappy predilection for arbitrary power, had raised him a host of enemies, while his moral virtues, which adorned his station, had procured him a great body of zealous supporters. Negotiations still proceeded, and Parliament presented for his acceptance, nineteen propositions, in which the privileges of Parliament so far out-weighed the prerogatives of the Crown that they were deemed wholly inadmissible:—"Should I grant these demands," said the King in reply, "I may be waited on base-headed; I may have my hand kissed; the title of Majesty may be conferred on me; and the King's authority signified by both Houses, may still be the style of your commands; I may have swords and maces carried before me; and please myself with the signs of a crown and sceptre: but as to true and real power; I should remain but the outside, but the pleasure, but the sign of a King." Charles accordingly resolved to support his authority by arms. His towns, he said, were taken from him; his ships, his arms, his money; but there still remained to him a good cause, and the hearts of his loyal subjects, which, with God's blessing, he doubted not, would recover all the rest. Having constituted the Earl of Cumberland supreme commander of his forces, and appointed Sir Thomas Glenham governor of York; his Majesty, after a residence of five months in this city, took his departure for the South, and erected his royal standard at Nottingham, on the 25th of August.

Sir Thomas Fairfax, of Denton, and Captain Hotham, son of the governor of Hull, at the head of a body of forces in the service of Parliament, advanced from the West, so far towards York, as to fortify Tadcaster and Wetherby, and twice repulsed Sir Thomas Glenham, in two vigorous assaults which he made on their forces, in the latter of these places. The success of the parliamentarians induced the loyal party in Yorkshire to solicit succour from the Earl of Newcastle, who had raised a considerable force in the North. The Earl immediately marched to their assistance, and on the 28th of November arrived at York, with 6000 men and 10 pieces of artillery. The Earl of Cumberland then resigned his commission to the Earl of Newcastle, who, after having staid only three days in York, to refresh his troops, marched out with 4000 men and 7 pieces of cannon, to attack the enemy at Tadcaster. At the same time, the Earl sent his Lieutenant-general, the Earl of Newport, with 2000 men to attack Wetherby. In both these expeditions, the royalists were successful, and the King's affairs in this quarter began to wear a more promising aspect. At the beginning of the year 1643, Leeds, Wakefield, Skipton, and Knaresbro', were all in the hands of the loyalists; and Bradford, which had stood a siege, surrendered to them after the battle of Adwalton. On the 23d of February the Queen landed at Bridlington Quay, with 38 pieces of cannon, and 10,000 stand of small arms. The Lord-general, as the Earl of Newcastle was called, on receiving intelligence of her arrival, set out from York, and conveyed her Majesty, with the military stores to this city, where she remained three months. For this service he was created a Marquis. Early in the following year, Sir Thomas Fairfax, having gained a considerable victory over the royalist force near Selby, was joined by the Scotch general, the Earl of Lovell; and these two commanders, with their united forces, commenced the blockade of York, on the 16th of April. The parliamentary army not being sufficiently numerous to invest the city, the Northern side remained open; and the Earl of Newcastle, having between four and five thousand cavalry in the place, could, by means of a bridge over the Ouse, transport them to either side of the river, and attack any corps that he might see divided from the rest. The Earl of Manchester, however, soon after arrived with his troops, consisting of 6000 foot and 3000 horse, provided with 12 field pieces, took a position near Bootham bar, towards Clifton, and thus completely invested the city. The siege of York was now vigorously prosecuted by the three parliamentary generals, Fairfax, Lovell, and Manchester, with an army of from twenty to thirty thousand men; several batteries were opened against the place, and particularly one on a hill, near Walmgate bar, from whence four pieces of cannon played incessantly on the tower, castle, and city, while the garrison and armed inhabitants, from their different platforms, kept up a heavy fire on the works of the besiegers. The siege was pressed forward with great spirit, and with various success, till the 30th of June, in the evening of which day, the besiegers, to their surprise and consternation, received information that Prince Rupert, with an army of twenty thousand men, was advancing to the relief of the city, and would that night take up his quarters at Knaresbro' and Boroughbridge. The parliamentary general, having called a council of war, resolved to raise the siege. Accordingly, on the 1st of July, they drew off from their entrenchments before the city, and marched to Hessaymoor, 6 miles West of York. His Royal Highness, aware of this movement, caused only a body of horse to face the enemy, at Skipbridge, and interposing the Ouse between him and the adverse army, safely joined his forces to those of the Marquis of Newcastle. His arrival in York produced the most unfeigned demonstrations of joy, and a council of war was immediately called, in which the Marquis of Newcastle, having received intelligence that dissensions prevailed amongst the parliamentary generals, who were about to separate, and expecting at the same time a further reinforcement of 6000 men, under Colonel Clavering, gave it as his decided opinion, that it was unnecessary and inexpedient at the present moment to hazard an engagement. To this reasoning, Prince Rupert, whose martial ardour was not sufficiently tempered with prudence, insisted upon the propriety of an immediate attack, and strengthened his reasons by asserting, that he had positive orders from the King to bring the enemy to action. Fairfax, and the other generals of the parliamentary army, were divided in their opinions. "The English," says Fairfax, in his Memoirs, "were for fighting; the Scots for retreating, to gain, as they alleged, both time and place of more advantage. This being resolved on, we marched away for Tadcaster, which made the royalists advance the faster. Lieutenant-general Cromwell, Lealy, and myself, were appointed to bring up the rear. We sent word to the Generals that it was necessary to make a stand, or else, the enemy having this advantage; might put us in some disorder; but by the advantage of the ground we were on, we hoped to make it good, till they came back to us, which they did. The place was Marston fields,* which afterwards gave name to this battle." "This action," says Hume, fought on the 2nd of July, 1644, "was obstinately disputed between the most numerous armies that were ever engaged during the course of these wars; nor were the forces on each side much different in number. Fifty thousand British troops were led to mutual slaughter; and the victory seemed long undecided between them. Prince Rupert, who commanded the right wing of the royalists, was opposed to Cromwell, who conducted the choice troops of the parliament, insured to danger under that determined leader, animated by zeal, and confirmed by the most rigid discipline. After a short combat, the cavalry of the royalists gave way; and such of the infantry as stood near them were likewise borne down, and put to flight. Newcastle's regiment alone, resolute to conquer or to perish, obstinately kept their ground, and maintained by their dead bodies the same order in which they had at first been ranged. In the other wing, Sir Thomas Fairfax and Colonel Lambert, with some troops, broke through the royalists; and transported by the ardour of pursuit, soon reached their victorious friends, engaged also in the pursuit of the enemy. But after that tempest was passed, Lucas, who commanded the royalists in this wing, restoring order to his broken forces, made a furious attack on the parliamentary cavalry, threw them into disorder, pushed them upon their own infantry, and put the whole wing to route. When ready to seize on their carriages and baggage, he perceived Cromwell, who was now returned from the pursuit of the other wing. Both sides were not a little surprised to perceive that they must renew the combat; for that victory which each of them thought they had already obtained. The front of the battle was now exactly counter-changed; and each army occupied the ground which had been possessed by the enemy at the beginning of the day. This second battle was equally furious and desperate with the first; but after the utmost efforts of courage by both parties, victory wholly turned to the side of the parliament. The Prince's train of artillery was taken, and the whole royalist army pushed off the field of battle." This battle sealed the fate of the royal cause. The day after the battle, the brave Marquis of Newcastle resolved to quit the kingdom; and Prince Rupert drew his army from the city of York and marched into Lancashire.

In this state of desertion, Sir Thomas Glemham, the governor, was reduced to the painful necessity of surrendering the city; which he did, thirteen days after the battle of Marston Moor, on the most honourable terms. The siege of York had continued nearly thirteen weeks, during which the city had sustained twenty-two assaults; and between four and five thousand of the enemy had perished before its walls. On the surrender, the parliamentary generals entered the city in solemn procession, and went directly to the Cathedral, where a psalm was sung, and the following day was observed as a day of general thanksgiving. York, being thus subjected to the parliament, Lord Ferdinando Fairfax was made its governor; and he, and his son, the General, surnamed the hero of the commonwealth, received commissions to reduce all the garrisons in this county, that still held out for the King—a commission which, in a short time, they effected. After the whole kingdom was brought under subjection to the parliament, York was dismantled of its garrison, with the exception of Clifford's tower, of which the Lord Mayor was appointed governor, and continued to hold that commission for several years.

York has little share in the annals of the Protectorate. Cromwell does not appear to have been ever in this city, except at the time of its capture after the battle of Marston Moor; and another time on his way into Scotland, when the royal arms were displaced to substitute those of the existing government; when he partook of the Lord Mayor's hospitality at a public dinner, and the day following he pursued his journey northward. One of the assises at York during the Commonwealth, was rendered remarkable by the attendance of that extrac-diary instance of human longevity, Henry Jenkins. The case was heard in the year 1667, and was between the vicar of Catterick and Willmott and Peter Mawbank, wherein the witness deposed that the tithes of wool, lamb, &c. had been paid, to his knowledge, one hundred and twenty years or more! Jenkins had appeared at York two years before, to prove the existence of an ancient road to a mill for one hundred and twenty years. He remembered the dissolution of the monasteries, and said that great lamentation was made on that occasion. In early life he was bethel to Lord Conyers, of Horsley castle, and was often at Fountain's Abbey during the residence of the last abbot, who, he said, frequently visited his lord, and drank a hearty glass with him. He was seen at Ellerton-upon-Swale, in this county, before parish registers were in use; but Bishop Lyttleton communicated to the Society of Antiquaries, on the 11th of December, 1766, a paper copied from an old household book of Sir Richard Graham, Bart. of Norton Conyers, the writing of which says, that upon his going to live at Bolton, Jenkins was said to be about one hundred and fifty years old, that he had often examined him in his sister's kitchen, where he came to beg alms, and found facts and chronicles agree in his account. He was then one hundred and sixty-two or one hundred and sixty-three years of age; and said that he went to Northallerton, with a horse load of arrows for the battle of Flodden field, with which a bigger boy went forward to the army, under the Earl of Surrey, King Henry being at that time at Tourney, and he believed himself then eleven or twelve years old. This was in 1513, and four or five people of the same parish, said to be one hundred years old or near it, declared Jenkins to have been an old man ever since they knew him. He died in December, 1670, at the place of his birth, aged one hundred and sixty-nine years, where a monument is erected to his memory, the epitaph of which was composed by Dr. Thomas Chapman, master of Magdalen College, Cambridge.* Jenkins was contemporary with Thomas Parr, the patriarchal Shropshireman, of whom it is recorded that he was born in 1463, and lived in the reign of ten kings and queens; that the general habits of his life were temperate and frugal, that he was able, even at the age of one hundred and thirty to do husbandry work; and that at the age of one hundred and five, he did penance in Alderbury church, for lying with Katherine Milton, and getting her with child;† that he died in 1638, aged one hundred and sixty-two years.

dred and fifty-two years and nine months; and that his remains rest among the eminent dead in Westminster Abbey.

The county of York was well disposed to promote the restoration, and General Monk, on his arrival here in 1659, found the public disposition so favourable to the royal cause, that he was for some time in a state of suspense, whether he should not proclaim the king in this city. A secret correspondence had for some time been maintained between the General and Lord Fairfax, who had imbibed the same principles, and on the 11th of May, 1660, Charles II. was proclaimed with great solemnity at York. On the 6th of August, 1668, the Duke and Duchess of York visited this city, and were received with every demonstration of loyalty and affection; but in the year 1679, when the bill of exclusion was brought forward in parliament, the Duke in passing through York on his way to Edinburgh, was received here with much less cordiality. This defect of ceremony drew on the magistrates the resentment of the court; they received a severe reprimand from the secretary of state, and the city being afterwards considered disaffected, its charter was in the year 1684 suspended. This year the notorious Jefferys attended at York as one of the Judges of Assize.

On the death of Charles II. his brother James, Duke of York, succeeded to the throne; and on the petition of the citizens restored their charter, which was received with the greatest solemnity, and nothing was omitted to display their joy on the occasion. The inhabitants of York continued to show their gratitude and loyalty to this infatuated monarch, till the moment of his abdication, after which, this city followed the example of the rest of the kingdom, by recognizing the Prince of Orange as sovereign of the kingdom, under the title of William III.

From this period to the rebellion in 1745, the annals of York are not marked by any extraordinary transactions; but at that momentous crisis, the city, as well as the county, gave the most unequivocal proofs of its loyalty and attachment to the reigning dynasty, and to the reformed religion. On the 23d of July, 1746, his Royal Highness the Duke of Cumberland, on his return to London from the defeat of the rebels at Culloden, visited York, and was received with the honours due to his illustrious rank and eminent services. In 1787, the new regulations for levying the militia produced a spirit of insubordination in Yorkshire, and a vast body of farmers, labourers, and artisans, from upwards of thirty parishes, assembled at York, and demolished two houses, without Monk bar, in one of which the deputy-lieutenants were expected to assemble, to receive the constable's returns. Since the reign of Charles I. York, which was in former times the residence of Emperors and Kings, has not been visited by any English sovereign; though it has often been honoured with the presence of different branches of the royal family.

In our own times, the present sovereign of these realms, while Prince of Wales, visited the city of York, accompanied by his royal brother who derives his title from this ancient metropolis. On Monday, the 24th of August, 1789, in the race week, their Royal Highnesses arrived on the race ground, in their carriage, and alighted at some distance from the Grand Stand, whence they rode about on horseback, to gratify public curiosity by a sight of their persons. When the day's sport was over, they repaired to the carriage of Earl Fitzwilliam, whose guests they were, and entered the city amidst the congratulations of the populace. The following day, the corporation presented the Heir-apparent with the freedom of the city in an elegant gold box; and on Thursday, in the race week, he dined at the Mansion-House, in company with a large assemblage of the nobility and gentry of the county. On the following Saturday, the Prince of Wales and the Duke of York proceeded to Castle Howard, having previously ordered Lieutenant Colonel St. Leger to pay into the hands of Walter Fawkes, Esq. High-Sheriff of the county, two hundred guineas, for the relief of debtors in the castle. In 1791, Charles James Fox visited York at the races, a grand dinner was given him and many noblemen and gentlemen at the Mansion-House, and he was presented with the freedom of the city in a gold box, accompanied by a copy of a resolution passed by the corporation, in which he was complimented on "the constant and beneficial exertions of his abilities in support of the British Constitution, upon the true principles of the glorious revolution; of the rights of every degree of citizens; of the peace, liberty, and happiness of mankind." In November, 1795, Prince William Frederick of Gloucester, on his return from Scarborough to the South, spent some time in York, and was presented with the freedom of the city, in a gold box. In 1805, the Right Hon. John Earl St. Vincent, whose courage and talents as a naval commander are so well known, honoured this city with a visit, and received its freedom, in a box of "heart of oak."

On the 26th of August, 1822, while his Royal brother and Sovereign, George

IVth, was in Scotland, his Royal Highness the Duke of Sussex honoured this city with a visit, and partook of the hospitalities of the Corporation, at the Mansion-house, where a public dinner was given to his Royal Highness, on which occasion the freedom of the city was presented to him in a gold box, accompanied by an address expressive of the admiration of that "splendid career of useful beneficence and spirited patriotism which gave a brilliant lustre to his exalted birth."

The city of York, as it now stands, is nearly two miles and three quarters in circuit. There are no existing records to show when the walls were built. They were, no doubt, in existence in the time of the Saxons and Danes, as well as during the Roman government; and they were re-edified, if not actually re-built in the reign of Edward I., to protect the city against Scotch invaders, who penetrated to its gates. After the siege of York, in 1644, the walls stood in great need of repairs, and the three following years were employed in that necessary duty. The corroding hand of time has ever since been at work, and they are now falling rapidly into decay. In several places the delightful promenade formed by them is already interrupted, and if the hand of reparation does not alter for the better, what time changes for the worse, it is not difficult to foresee what will be the end.

The entrance into the city is by four principal gates or bars, and five posterns, or smaller entrances; the gates are, MICKLE-GATE-BAR, to the South-West, adorned with lofty turrets, finely embattled; over the Roman arch, already described, hangs a large shield, bearing the arms of England and France; and on each side, one of less size, decorated with the city arms: this is at the entrance from Tadcaster. BOOTHAM-BAR, to the North-West, on the road leading to Edinburgh, is an ancient structure, built almost wholly of grit; but though the materials are Roman, the architecture is Gothic. MONK-BAR, to the North-East, on the entrance from Malton and Scarborough, is a stately gate, bearing the arms of France quartered with those of England, on the battlements. And WALMGATE-BAR, on the South-East, leading to Beverley and Hull; the foundations of this bar are formed of large blocks of grit, but the arches are modern, having undergone a thorough repair, in 1648, after the gate had been almost demolished by the siege.

The Posterns are, North-street-postern, Skeldergate - postern, Castlegate - postern, Fishergate-postern, Laxerthorp-postern, and Longwalk - postern. There are also six bridges, the New Ouse bridge, built under the direction of Mr Peter Atkinson, architect. The first stone of this bridge was laid with considerable pomp, on the 10th of December, 1810, and the work was completed in March, 1820; The Right Hon. George Peacock, filling at both these periods the office of Lord Mayor. The old bridge, after having existed for six centuries, was then removed, and gave place to this handsome modern erection. A new bridge, over the Foss, leading into Walmgate, cotemporary with the new Ouse bridge, and built by the same architect, at the expense of the corporation, serves to mark the public spirit of the present age. The other bridges, which are all over the Foss, at different points, claim no particular observation,

This city is divided into four districts, which take their names from the four gates, and are called Micklegate-ward, Bootham-ward, Monkgate-ward, and Walmgate-ward. Micklegate-ward, in the South West part of the city, is inclosed on one side by the city walls, and on the other, by the river Ouse. It contains six parishes, namely, Bishop-hill, the elder and younger; Trinity; St. Martin's; St. Johns; and All Saints'. Bootham-ward occupies the North West angle of the city, and has in its district, the parishes of Belfrey's; St. Helen's; and St. Martin's. Monk-ward is the North East part, and comprises Trinity; St. Cuthbert's; St. Saviour's; Christ's; and St. Sampson's. Walmgate-ward is on the North East, and contains seven parishes, namely, St. Margaret's; St. Dennis; St. George; Crux; All Hallow's; St. Mary's; and St. Michael's. These four divisions comprise the whole city, within the walls, except the close of the cathedral.

York, the archiepiscopal see, like most other ancient cities, is remarkable for the number of its sacred edifices, and in enumerating and describing the churches of York, in which religious services are still performed, the CATHEDRAL, that "Chief of houses, as the rose of flowers," claims the precedence.

It has always been observed,* that on the introduction of Christianity into this kingdom, about the year 625, Edwin, King of Northumbria, himself a convert from Paganism, elevated Paulinus, a Roman missionary, to the dignity of first archbishop of York. The residence of this King was York, but at so low an ebb was religion, that there was not found a temple within his metropolis suitable for the performance of the ceremony of baptism. A small oratory of wood, was in consequence erected for the occasion, on the site of the present cathedral, which was dedicated, as is the present edifice, to St. Peter, and on Easter Day, in the year 627, the King, with his two sons, Osfrid and Edfrid, along with a number of the nobles, were solemnly baptised in this primitive erection. The ceremony over, says Bede, the prelate took care to acquaint the King, that since he had become a Christian, he ought to build a House of prayer, more suitable to the divinity he now adored; and by the bishop's direction, he began to build a magnificent fabric of stone, in the midst of which was inclosed the oratory already erected. Under the influence of that zeal which inspired the Royal convert, the building proceeded with great spirit; but scarcely were the walls ready to receive the roof, when the King was slain in battle, and Paulinus was obliged to quit the country. For some years the church lay neglected, but in 633, Oswald, a successor of Edwin, undertook to complete the building, which he had no sooner finished, than he was killed by Penda, the Pagan king of Mercia, and the newly-erected structure was almost destroyed. In this ruinous condition it was found by archbishop Wilfred, the munificent patron of Ripon,† who, about the year 674, repaired the walls, fixed on the roof, and restored it to its former grandeur. "And now, by the hand of providence," says Drake, "the church stood unflourished under the successive beneficence of its spiritual governors, for near 400 years, during which period it received the valuable donation of archbishop Egbert's library; upon which Alcuin, the Gamaliel of his age, who had drank freely at this spring of erudition, has bestowed so high an eulogium.‡ In the year 1069, as has been already seen, the native inhabitants, aided by the Danes, in their attempt to throw off the yoke of the conqueror, set fire to the suburbs, which spreading to the city, communicated to the cathedral, and involved them all in one common ruin. William, on entering the city, seized upon the revenues of the church; but he soon after elevated Thomas, his chaplain and treasurer, to the Archbishopric, and by him the cathedral was restored to its former splendour. In 1136, a casual fire again burnt down this edifice, along with St. Mary's Abbey, and thirty-nine parish churches. For four and thirty years the cathedral lay in ruins; but, in the year, 1171, during the episcopacy of Roger, archbishop of this province, the choir with its vaults were re-built, and the South part of the cross isle of the church, was added in the time of Walter Grey.

† Vol. I. p. 247. ‡ Vol. II. p. 13.

Roger's successor, in the early part of the reign of Edward I. John le Romain, father of the archbishop, began and finished the North transepts, with a handsome steeple in the midst; and John, his son, with his own hand, laid the foundation of the nave, from the west and eastward, on the 7th of April, 1291, invoking the grace of the Holy Ghost. The materials for this part of the cathedral were contributed by Robert de Vavasour, from his quarry near Tadcaster; and by Robert de Percy, Lord of Boulton, from his Woods at that place. William de Melton was the next founder, in 1290, and with the aid of indulgences of relaxation, sold to "the charitable," he finished the west end with the steeples, as it remains at this day. But the great benefactor of the cathedral was archbishop John Thoresby; this prelate conceiving that the choir, built by Roger, did not correspond with the west end of the church lately erected, and that there was no place in this church of York "where our Lady's mass, the glorious mother of God, could decently be celebrated," himself contributed one thousand eight hundred and ten pounds, towards building a new choir, and consummating this fabric. All the machinery for raising public contributions by the church was also put in motion: indulgences of relaxation were granted to the liberal; letters mandatory were addressed to the clergy, enjoining them; under pain of the greater excommunication, to suffer their collectors to gather the alms of the charitable, and the old hall and chambers of the archbishop's manor of Shireburn were demolished to provide stone and materials for the erection of the new choir, the first stone of which was laid by the archbishop, on the 90th of July, 1361. The wages of workmen about this time were three-pence a day to a master mason or carpenter, and three-half-pence to their "knaves," as their journeymen were then called; * A pound's worth of silver then was a pound weight, which is equal to four pounds of our present money, and one penny then would purchase as much corn as twenty-pence now, bringing the artisan's wages to the rate of 2s. 6d. a day, or 1s. a week. The contribution of the archbishop was of course most munificent, and amounted to not less a sum in our money than 36,000*l*.

In addition to the means already mentioned for raising the supplies, a bull apostolical was issued by Pope Urban VI. and a kind of income tax of five per cent. was imposed on ecclesiastical benefices for three years, for the necessary repairs and re-edification. By these means a vast sum was collected; which being augmented by a munificent donation from Archbishop Skirlaw, the choir was finished, and the structure completed by the taking down of the old lantern steeple, and the erection of a new one in its stead, A. D. 1370. Thus within the space of less than 200 years, reckoning from the period in which the south transept was begun by Walter de Grey, the superb cathedral of York was completed in the forms and dimensions in which it appears at this day, exhibiting a splendid monument of the plety of former times, and an interesting combination of Gothic architecture through five successive ages. Of all the different parts of this magnificent structure the chapter house is the only one of which the date is totally unknown. No records now extant give any account of the time of its erection; but from the style of architecture, Drake conjectures that it is to be ascribed to Walter de Grey.—The pavement of the cathedral is of recent date; anciently it consisted of the grave-stones of bishops and other ecclesiastics, but in the year 1636, the old pavement was removed, under the direction of the Earl of Burlington, when several curious rings of ruby and saphire, set in gold, belonging to those whose mortal remains had mixed with their parent dust, were discovered, and are now shewn in the vestry. The stone for the new pavement was given by Sir Edward Gagecigne, of Parlington, from his quarry at Huddlestone, and the marble was obtained by sawing the old grave-stones into dies suitable for the purpose of this mosaic work.—The expense of the workmanship, which amounted to £2500, was defrayed by a subscription raised for the purpose, among the nobility, clergy, and gentry of the city and county of York. The archbishops of York, since the introduction of Christianity, in the time of the Heptarchy, to the present period, amount to eighty three in number, and their names in numerical order, with the dates when each of them entered upon the see, is subjoined:—

The Archbishop of York is Primate of England, and to him attaches the honour of crowning the Queen. According to Dr. Heylin, the archbishopric of York is the most ancient metropolitan See in England, having been so constituted in the reign of King Lucius, in the year 180. As has been already seen, this see was, on the conversion of the Saxon Edwin, elevated to its former honour, when Paulinus was made archbishop, and then each metropolitan had twelve suffragan bishops; at present York only retains Durham, Carlisle, Chester, and Sodor and Man, though formerly its archbishop was metropolitan of Scotland. Warm and repeated contentions have existed for ecclesiastical supremacy between this See and Canterbury, which all terminated in this, that the Archbishop of York styles himself "Primate of England; and He of Canterbury, "Primate of all England; and the former has still precedency of all

Dukes who are not of the royal blood, and of all great officers of state, the Lord Chancellor alone excepted.* The yearly tithes of the Archbishop of York, as returned in the survey made by the commissioners appointed by the Crown, in the reign of Henry VIII. on the eve of the reformation, were valued at £161, and the value of the living, as stated in the King's books, of the same date, at £1610. In Northumberland, the Archbishop of York has the power of a Palatine. The Right Reverend Father in God, the Hon. Edward Venables Vernon, L.L.D. is the present archbishop, and was translated to the archiepiscopal See from the bishopric of Carlisle, in 1806.

The Cathedral of York is one of the largest sacred structures in England, as the following comparative table, copied from Hargrove's History of York, will serve to demonstrate, and its magnificence corresponds with its magnitude:—

In surveying the EXTERIOR of the Cathedral, one of the first feelings that forces itself upon the mind of the visitor is, regret that so stately an edifice should be inclosed within so circumscribed an area. Advancing from the South by the usual approach, the best situation for a general view of this structure is between the foot road, or passage into the Minster yard, and the Deanery, nearly opposite to the South transept. Over the clock, which is above the spacious flight of stone steps, is a large Gothic window of painted glass, and still higher, a circular window of exquisite masonry and richly variegated glass; in imitation of the Marygold flower, sometimes called St. Catharine's wheel. The summit is crowned with neat and elegant turrets. In this transept are seen a number of narrow and acutely pointed arches, with slender pillars, crowned with plain or slightly ornamented capitals. The windows are comparatively small, and their ornaments exhibit a marked difference from those which are seen in other parts of the building. Between this part and the western towers arise six small pinnacles, originally intended for buttresses to the tower part of the nave. In the niches are ancient statues, supposed to represent Christ, the four Evangelists, and Archbishop St. William. The South side of the choir presents an appearance peculiarly striking; the massy columns finely decorated with a variety of figures, and terminating in richly ornamented pinnacles, the windows large and displaying a beautiful tracery, a small transept of the tower with its superb light, and the screen work before the three furthest windows of the upper tier, all concur to render this part of the structure strikingly beautiful and magnificent.

The Western or principal front, with its two towers or steeples, excels those parts already described; human skill could scarcely have produced any thing more complete in this style of architecture. This front has been cloistered for statuary, but many of the niches are divested of the valuable productions with which they were formerly adorned. The top of each of the towers is surmounted with eight pinnacles, and in the south tower is a peal of ten bells, unequalled, it is said, by any in the kingdom. At this front there are three entrances, the centre of which is by massy folding doors. Over the principal door-way is the figure of William de Melton, and on each side the figures of Vavasour and Percy, the benefactors of the church. The expulsion of Adam and Eve from Paradise is pourtrayed upon the arch in fine tracery, and the liberality and taste of the present Archbishop; and the Dean and Chapter, are contributing to repair the depredations which time and fanatical zeal have inflicted upon the statuary and the other ornaments.

The Eastern or choir end, begun by Archbishop Thoresby, is more modern than those parts already described, and displays a more florid style of architecture, crowned with niches and airy pinnacles. Over one of the finest windows in the world is seen the statue of the venerable founder of the choir, mitred and robed, sitting in his archiepiscopal chair, and holding in his left hand a representation of the church, while his right seems to point at the window. At the basis of the window are the heads of Christ and his apostles, with that of a King, supposed to be Edward III. In the niches of the buttresses again appear the statues of Vavasour and Percy. The great tower, or lantern steeple, is supported in the inside by four large and massy columns, forming four arches, and is finished in a style very much superior, though not inappropriate to that of the towers in the western front.

The Northern side of the Cathedral is not less superb than its Southern front. The transept and nave present a spectacle highly interesting to the eye of curiosity and taste. Here also may be observed the exterior form and style of architecture of the Chapter-House, of which the wondrous buttresses and other decorations seem to indicate the age of its completion to have been nearly the same as that of the building of the choir; such is their appearance by day. - By moon-light, the effect here, as on all large masses of architecture, is truly sublime; a kind of optical delusion of the most impressive kind takes place, and the towers and pinnacles of the Cathedral "acquire a degree of lightness so superior to that which is shown under the meridian sun, that they no longer appear of human construction."<sup>o</sup>

The INTERIOR of the Cathedral corresponds in every particular with the magnificence of the exterior. The cross aisle displays a most superb specimen of the style of architecture which prevailed in the latter part of the reign of Henry III. The circular arch, that at that time was not entirely laid aside, still appears in the upper part, inclosing others of the pointed form. The pillars which support the larger arches are of an angular shape, encompassed by slender columns, a little detached; and the rich leafy capitals of all the columns unite to form a foliated wreath round the head of the pillar. The windows are long, narrow, and pointed, consisting of one light, or divided into several by unramified mullions, and variously decorated on the sides by slender free-stone, or marble shafts. Between the upper arches appear the quatre-feuille and cinque-feuille ornaments, afterwards transferred to the windows, and there forming the first steps towards the beautiful tracery which is displayed in the nave and choir. The windows in the South end are arranged in three tiers; the uppermost composed of two concentric circles of small arches, is admired as a fine piece of masonry, and has a noble appearance; the first window of the second tier exhibits a representation of Archbishop St. William; the second consists of two lights, one of which is decorated with the portrait of St. Peter, and the other with that of St. Paul, each with his proper insignia. In the next window appears Archbishop Wilfred. The four figures of Abraham, Solomon, Moses, and Peter, that occupy the windows on the lowermost tier, are of modern workmanship, and form an honourable memorial of the skill and liberality of Peckitt, a native artist. In the corner, on the left of the south entrance, is a small door, which leads by 273 winding stone steps to the top of the lantern steeple. Few persons in health and strength visit the Cathedral, without at some time enjoying the prospect which this eminence commands, from which the surrounding country, lying stretched as on a map, presents the eye with a field of observation at once rich, extensive, and gratifying.

The North transept displays the same style of architecture as the South. The windows are here disposed in two tiers; the lowest of which consists of five noble lights, each about 50 feet high, and 5 in breadth. These lights are designated by the name of the "Five Sisters," from a tradition, not very well supported, that five maiden sisters were at the expense of their erection. The rich stained glass represents embroidery, and there is a small border of stained glass round the edge. The baptismal font of the Cathedral, formed of dark shell variegated marble, stands in the western aisle.

Architecture perhaps never produced, nor can imagination easily conceive a vista of greater magnificence and beauty, than that which is seen at the western entrance of the Cathedral. The best point of observation is under the central tower, or lantern steeple. Here may at once be seen the statuary screen, the several painted windows, and the lengthened aisles and lofty columns. The screen which separates the nave from the choir, rising only just high enough to form a support for the organ, does not intercept the view of the eastern end of the church with its columns, its arches, and its superb window. Tracery of the richest kind appears in the windows, especially in that which occupies a large portion of the western front, and when illuminated by the rays of the declining sun, exhibits a grandeur surpassing the power of description. The figures of the first eight archbishops decorate the lowermost compartments, and above are represented eight saints. The escutcheons of Edward II. and the Saxon Prince, Ulphus, are placed under this window; and the upper windows, though less sumptuously decorated, are elegantly adorned with imagery and escutcheons. Under these runs an open gallery, in which, exactly over the pointed arches, formerly stood images of the tutelary saints of the several nations of Christendom; but most of them have been displaced, except the figure of St. George, and his combatant, the grim visaged dragon.

The screen which separates the nave from the service choir is a curious and elaborate piece of workmanship, the history of which is not precisely known. The style of decoration refers it to the age of Henry VI. whose statue, tradition reports, once filled the place next to his predecessor. After his death, it is said, Henry, whose misfortunes the people commiserated, became an object of adoration, and his statue was therefore ordered to be removed; but it is more probable, that it was his successor, Edward IV. who, being then the sun of the political firmament, became the object of adoration, and that to him the homage of courtly devotion was offered, by removing the statue of his rival. For some ages the place remained unoccupied, but on the visit of James I. to York, he was complimented by being placed in the empty cell. Another conjecture is, that this screen originally belonged to the Abbey of St. Mary, at the manor, and that King James I. presented it to the Cathedral, in compliment to whom the Dean and Chapter placed his statue in the niche which was formerly occupied by the unfortunate Henry. In the course of the judicious repairs which this screen has undergone, the statue of James has been transferred to Ripon Minster, and a well executed figure of Henry VI. by Mr. Michael Taylor, a sculptor of considerable eminence in York, is placed in the station originally enjoyed by that monarch.

The organ is now placed over the entrance into the choir, which was its original situation. At the instance of Charles I. who contributed £1000 for the erection of an organ, and for other purposes, it was placed opposite the bishop's throne, to afford a more complete view of the east window from the body of the nave; but in the year of the revolution it was removed back to its ancient situation which it now occupies, and by its solemn peals, swelling through the lofty arches, gives to the devout mind some faint conception of the celestial choir.

In the architecture of the choir a variation from that of the nave is perceptible. The roof displays more tracery; an elegant kind of festoon work descends from the capitals of the pillars from which the vaulting springs; through every part is seen a great profusion of ornaments; and the whole exhibits a near approach to the highly florid style which prevailed before the end of the 15th century. The ancient wood work of the choir yet remains. It is carved with pinnacles of different heights, and pedestals, whereon, probably, once were images of wood for greater decoration; if so, they have disappeared. Behind these are galleries, and regular pews; and under the front of them are the stalls for the canons and other ecclesiastical officers, beginning with the Dean's stall to the right, and the Precentor's to the left. The Cathedra, or throne of the archbishop, is situated at the end of the prebendal stalls, on the south side, and the pulpit is placed opposite. On the left of the throne the Lord Mayor and Aldermen have their seats, and the Judges of assize sit opposite them, near the pulpit. In the middle of the area there is a small pillar of brass, supported by four lions, on the top of which is an eagle of the same metal, standing upon a globe, and which, with expanded wings, receives the service Bible for the lessons.

The ascent from the nave through the choir to the high altar is by a flight of fifteen steps. Here a stone screen of excellent Gothic architecture, about forty-nine feet long by twenty-eight feet high, presents itself. This screen was formerly obscured by a wooden screen and gallery, which were swept away in the year 1726, by order of Dean Finch, by whose direction the screen, which had before been covered with tapestry, was glazed with plate glass protected by copper bars. Under the altar is a vault, commonly called the Crypt, with an entrance from the north and south aisles by iron grated doors. While exploring this ancient subterraneous chantry we survey part of the old minster, and are carried back to the time of King Edwin, the first royal Northumbrian convert to Christianity. The windows of the choir shed their richly varied light through the numerous figures of kings, prelates, and saints. Those of the small transepts are remarkable for their height and elegance, reaching almost to the roof and divided into the hundred and eight compartments, each of which depicts a portion of scripture history. But the eastern window is the masterpiece, and perhaps stands unrivalled for magnitude, beauty, and magnificence. This window is nearly the full breadth and height of the middle choir, and is seventy-five feet high and thirty-five wide. The upper part exhibits a piece of simple and beautiful tracery. Below are one hundred and seventeen compartments occupied with representations of the Supreme Being, of monarchs, priests, and saints, and of most of the principal events in the scripture records. The glazing of this window was commenced in the year 1406, at the cost of the dean and chapter, by John Thornton, of Coventry, who, in consideration of his superior skill and application, was to receive the weekly sum of four shillings, with the further payment of one hundred shillings a year, for his labour, which was completed in less than three years! To the south of this magnificent window is exhibited in painted glass the annunciation; or, the meeting of Mary and Elizabeth, from the design of Sebastian del Piombos in figure as large as life. This window was originally brought from the church of St. Rouen, in Normandy, and was presented to the dean and chapter of York in the year 1804, by the Earl of Carlisle, whose arms, garter, coronet, and crest, fill up the compartments, above and below, and perpetuate the remembrance of the noble donor's munificence.

The present religious services performed in the Cathedral, are the morning prayers daily at seven o'clock, in the vestry, in which the ecclesiastical courts are held. The cathedral service is performed in the choir at ten o'clock in the forenoon, when an anthem is sung, unless there be a sermon or fitting. The evening prayers are performed every day in the week, at three o'clock in the afternoon in winter, and four o'clock in summer, in which an anthem is performed. On Sunday the service commences at ten o'clock in the morning, when a sermon is preached, and at four in the afternoon, when an anthem is sung. On Wednesdays and Fridays in Advent and Lent, and during the whole of Passion week, the choral service and singing are intermitted both morning and evening.

The chapter-house is a magnificent structure. Its form is an octagon of sixty-three feet in diameter, and, reckoning to the centre knot in the roof, sixty-seven feet six inches in height. This vast space is not interrupted by a single pillar, the roof being wholly supported by a single pin geometrically placed in the centre. The stalls for the canons, forty-four in number, ranged along the sides, are highly finished in stone, and curiously wrought canopies are supported by small and elegant columns of Petworth marble. Over these runs a narrow gallery, which extends quite round the building. The capitals of the columns have a great variety of carved fancies upon them, with ludicrous, and not always chaste conceits, of the witty artists of the thirteenth century. The entrance from the north transept is in the form of a mason's square. Every other side of the octagon is adorned with a window rich in tracery and figured glass, rising from the part first above the stalls, and reaching to the roof. Of this edifice, particularly of the chapter-house, Æneus Sylvanus, afterwards Pius II. said—"It is famous all over the world for its magnificence and workmanship, but especially for a fine lightsome chapel, with shining walls and small thin-waisted pillars quite round;" and an old monkish verse, with a free translation of which this history of the Cathedral is introduced, bestows upon it this encomium:—

"Ut Rosa flos forum
"Sic est domus ista domorum."

The vestries, which are situated on the south side of the choir, contain several curiosities, which are shown and explained by the vergers; but the most important of these relics is a large ancient horn, presented by Prince Ulfhus, and bearing the following inscription, in capital letters:—

CORNU HOC, ULPHUS, IN OCCIDENTALI PARTE
DEIRE PRINCEPS UNACUM OMNIBUS TERRIS ET REDDITIBUS SUIS OLIM DONAVIT.
AMISSUM VEL ABREPTUM
HENRI. DOM. FAIRFAX DEMUM RESTITUIT,
DEC. ET CAPIT. DE NOVO ORNAVIT
A. D. MDCLXXV.

By this horn, which is made of an elephant's tooth, curiously carved, and was originally mounted with gold, the church of York holds several lands of great value, a little to the eastward of the city, which are called "Terræ Ulfhi." About the time of the reformation this antique vessel disappeared, till soon after the restoration. A large and elegant bowl, originally presented by Archbishop Scroope, in 1398, to the company of Cordwainers of this city is preserved here. In the middle of the bowl is the Cordwainers' arms, richly embossed—it is edged with silver double gilt, and stands upon three silver feet; round the rim, in the old English character, is the following inscription:—

Richardes Arche beschope Scrope grant unto all those that drinkis of this cape I Alti davis to pardon.
Robert Cobson beschope mesnt grant in same forme aforesaide I

Strensall.

On the dissolution of the Cordwainers' Company, in the year 1806, this cup was presented by the fraternity to Mr. Sheriff Hornby, of York, as a mark of their esteem, and he soon afterwards generously presented it to the Cathedral to swell the number of the curiosities. There is also shown here a state canopy of gold tissue, given by the city in honour of James I. on his first visit to York. Three silver chalices and several ancient rings found in the graves of the archbishops are exhibited; together with a wooden head, found near the grave of Archbishop Rotherham, who, having died of the plague, was interred here in effigy. There is also a superb pastoral staff of silver, about seven feet long, with the figure of the Virgin and the infant placed under the crook. This staff was given by Catharine, of Portugal, queen dowager of England, to her confessor, when he was nominated to be catholic archbishop of York; by James II. in 1689; and it is said, that when he marched in procession to the minster, the Earl of Darnley wrested it from him, and deposited it in the hands of the dean or chapter, in whose possession it has ever since remained. An antique chair, as old as the cathedral, and in which several of the kings of England have been crowned, is still preserved here, and placed within the altar rails, when the archbishop officiates, for his use. These, with some less important relics, form the curiosities at present exhibited in the vestries.

Adjoining to the council room is the ancient treasury, which, before the reformation, contained wealth of inestimable value. At that period all its wealth was seized and converted to secular uses. The library was formerly in a room adjoining the western side of the south transept, but it is now removed to a building which was anciently a chapel belonging to the archiepiscopal palace, situated at a small distance from the north-west corner of the cathedral, and having undergone a complete repair, under the judicious direction of the very reverend the Dean, exhibits a fine specimen of the early age of Anglo-Norman architecture. The destruction of the ancient library by repeated fires left this cathedral without so important an appendage, till the early part of the seventeenth century, when Mrs. Matthews, relict of the right reverend the archbishop of that name, presented her husband's valuable collection of books, consisting of upwards of three thousand volumes. To these has since been added a small, but select collection, bequeathed by the will of Mrs. Rothergill, relict of the Reverend

The number of persons of rank and distinction, whose mortal remains are deposited in this ancient temple, is very considerable. The head of Edwin, the first christian king of Northumberland, was interred in the cathedral at York, and his body in the monastery at Whitby. History also records, amongst the persons interred here, the names of Eadbert and Eanbald, kings of Northumberland; Swein, king of Denmark; Toati, brother of king Harold; William de Hatfield, second son of Edward III.; Thomas Mowbray, Duke of Norfolk, and Sir J. Lamplugh, both beheaded for their loyalty to the house of York; and a very large proportion of the archbishops, who have presided over this See, from the introduction of Christianity into this province to the present day. Amongst the monuments still in existence to the memory of illustrious laymen, is chiefly to be noticed that of Charles Howard, Earl of Carlisle, privy councillor to Charles II. The sepulchral monument of the Earl of Stafford, who died in 1695, and that of the honourable Thomas Watson Wentworth, third son of Edward Lord Rockingham. Amongst those of modern days, that which public esteem and affection have erected to the memory of that distinguished friend of his country and of mankind, Sir George Savile, claims the regard of all those who can appreciate extensive benevolence and distinguished patriotism.

The court is held in the cathedral. Office, Minister yard—open from nine in the morning to five in the evening.

Formerly the Archbishop had a palace close to the cathedral, on the north side of that edifice, erected by Archbishop Thomas I. but it was dismantled by Archbishop Young, whose cupidity was tempted to make this spoliation by the lead which covered the roof.

The chapel of St. Sepulchre formerly stood not far from the site of the archiepiscopal palace. This chapel was built and amply endowed by Roger, Archbishop of York, and had, at the reformation, a revenue amounting to £192. 16s. 6d. After the edifice had ceased to answer the purpose originally intended, part of it was converted into a public house, and from an opening at the end of a dungeon, with which the chapel was provided, the publican named his house "The Hole in the Wall." In the year 1816, the public house became ruinous, and was taken down, when, on removing the materials, the workmen came to a subterraneous prison, some feet below the surface of the earth, which had no doubt been used, in the dark ages of cruelty and superstition, as a dungeon, for the purpose of imprisoning ecclesiastical delinquents. In the following year a rude piece of Saxon sculpture, cut upon a stone, which, it is conjectured, formed the base of the arch over the doorway leading into this dungeon, was found, which portrays a man in the agonies of death, surrounded by demons, who are tormenting his body, and seizing his departing spirit. This singular relic is deposited in the Minster library.

Not far from the dungeon is the prison and the "Hall of Pless," for the Liberty of St. Peter. The prison, kept by Thomas Harrison, is used for offenders within the liberty, and there is a small court room in the upper story, where causes in common law arising within this jurisdiction are tried. The Liberty of St. Peter comprehends all those parts of the city and county of York which belong to the church of St. Peter, and an enumeration of which will be found in the population returns prefixed to this volume. Henry John Dickens, Esq. barrister-at-law, is the steward, and Christopher Newstead, Gentleman, of York, is the Clerk of the Peace and Under Steward for this liberty, of which Mr. John Brook is the Chief Bailiff, and Thomas Harrison the Constable. The jurisdiction is separate and exclusive, and it has its own Magistrates, Steward, Bailiff, Coroners, and Constables. Amongst its privileges, the inhabitants, men, and tenants of this liberty, are exempt from the payment of all manner of tolls throughout England, Ireland, and Wales, on the production of a certificate, which the under-steward is always ready to supply. Four general quarter sessions are held for this liberty, at the sessions-house, in the Minster-yard, on the Saturday in each week appointed by statute for holding the general quarter sessions, to inquire into "all manner of felonies, poisonings, enchantments, sorceries, arts magic, trespasss, &c." And a court is held in the hall every three weeks, where pleas in actions of debt, trespass, replevin, &c. to any amount whatever, arising within the liberty, are heard. There is also a court leet and view of frank-pledge for the whole liberty, held twice a year, namely, on Wednesday in Easter week, and the first Wednesday after new Michaelmas day.

The Register Office; or the Archbishop's Prerogative Court, as it is sometimes called, is held in an old building at the east end of the cathedral, in which the registration of wills and the granting of licenses for the general diocese of York take place. The Dean and Chapter have also a distinct office, in which secular business is transacted for the inhabitants of the Liberty of St. Peter's.

The Deanery house of this cathedral is situated in the Minster-yard, and was erected in the year 1090. At the reformation the yearly tithes were valued at 30*l.* 17*s.* 0*d.* and the living, which is in the gift of the king, at 307*l.* 10*s.* 7*d.* The present dean is the Right Reverend William Cockburn, M.A. who was created dean in 1823. The deanery has the rectories of Pocklington, Plektering, and Killham, of which the dean is patron and ordinary; he likewise presents to Thornton, Eborston, Ellerburne, Barnby-Moor, Givendale, and Hayton vicarages.—He appoints also the residentiaries, but must choose them out of the prebendaries, and the first prebendary he sees after a vacancy, has a right to claim the residentiaryship.—The dean and the four residentiaries constitute the chapter; and the value of a residentiaryship is estimated, in Bacon's Liber Regis, at 20*q.* per annum.

There are yet considerable remains of an ancient building erected here to the honour of St. William, Archbishop of York, called "St. William's college," for the parson and chantry priest of the college to reside in, it being deemed contrary to the honour and decency of the church for them to live in houses of laymen and women, as heretofore. Belfrey's church is situated in the Minster-yard, but as it will be enumerated amongst the churches where service is still performed, it is unnecessary to dwell upon it here. Besides this church there were formerly two other parish churches within the Cathedral close, namely,

" St. Mary ad Valvas," and " St. John del Pike." The first of these edifices was removed in the year 1365, and the latter in 1385.

The Beddern was a college of vicars choral, belonging to the cathedral; and the choral was first ordained in 1252. Though standing in Goodramgate, and consequently not within the close of St. Peter's, it is always classed with that district, on account of its original connexion. The vicars choral were formerly 36, agreeing in number with the prebendal stalls in the cathedral, and besides attending to their duty in the choir, one officiated for each canon, receiving for their services the annual sum of forty shillings each. The chantries and obits, from which the vicars choral derived their chief support, being dissolved, their number is greatly diminished, and in the vicissitude of human events, the Beddern, once the seat of imperial grandeur, and subsequently of ecclesiastical pride, is now the abode of poverty, and a scene of dilapidation. The Beddern chapel, which was founded in 1348, is no longer used for the general services of the sanctuary, but is confined to the christening of children and the churching of women.— These several appendages formerly surrounded the cathedral, and were detached from the city by walls, closed in by four large pair of gates, which were shut every night. Those gates, of which there are still some remains, were placed, the first to open into Petergate, opposite Little Blake-street; the second into Petergate, opposite Stonegate; the third at the end of College-street, opposite the Beddern; and the fourth into Ugglesford.— The circumference of the Cathedral close, with its district, is nearly three quarters of a mile, and when in its meridian glory, it formed a little ecclesiastical world of its own.

In addition to the Cathedral, there are in York twenty-three other churches, in which divine service is stately performed.* They are—

The Church of ALL HALLOWS,* commonly called ALL SAINTS, a discharged rectory, in the gift of the crown, valued in the king's books at 5*l.* 16*s.* 10*d.*‡ and stated in Bacon's Liber Regis to be of the clear yearly value of 66*l.* 3*s.* 9*d.*‡ The Rev. Wm. Flower is the present incumbent. The church stands

\* In the churches marked thus\* there is only divine service on the Sunday morning, which commences at  $\frac{1}{2}$  past 10 o'clock; thus † in the afternoon, at  $\frac{1}{2}$  past 2 o'clock; thus ‡ both morning and afternoon, at  $\frac{1}{2}$  past 10 and  $\frac{1}{2}$  past 2.

partly in High Ousegate, but principally in the Pavement. It is a very ancient structure, and, according to Drake, is built on the ruins of Eboracum. The body of the church and part of the steeple exhibit a very antique appearance; but the edifice is chiefly remarkable for a more modern erection of exquisite Gothic workmanship, on the old steeple. This tower is finished lantern-wise, and tradition says, that anciently a large lamp hung in it, which was lighted in the night time, as a mark for travellers to aim at, in their way to York, over the immense forest of Galtres. There is still the hook or pulley on which the lamp hung in the steeple, and iron bars cross the windows, in which the glass might be fixed. This lantern, it is conjectured, was built in the fifteenth century, and there are here several old monuments cotemporary with the supposed erection of the tower. Part of the present burial ground was formerly used as a herb and fish market, but in 1782-3, the churchyard was enlarged, and the chancel being then taken down, the ground on which it stood was applied to enlarge the market-place. At the same time the whole fabric underwent a thorough repair.

ALL-SAINTS, North-street; an ancient rectory, valued in the king's books at 4*l.* 7*s.* 11*d.* and in Bacon's Liber Regis at 44*l.* 17*s.* 2*d.* The present rector is the Rev. Wm. Lee Pickard, M.A. and the king is the patron. The service is on alternate Sundays, both morning and afternoon. In early times this rectory belonged to the priory of St. Trinity, in Micklegate, to which it was granted by the Conqueror, and confirmed by the bull of Pope Alexander II. The principal object in this church worthy of the stranger's attention, is the ancient painted glass in the windows, and a mutilated piece of Roman monumental sepulchre in the south wall.

St. CRUX, or Holy Cross,† in the Shambles, is a rectory in the gift of the king, valued in the king's books at 6*l.* 16*s.* 8*d.* and in Bacon's Liber Regis 78*l.* 6*s.* 9*d.* The Rev. John Overton, M.A. is the present incumbent. The year 1424, is the supposed date of this church, which was given by Nigell Fossard, lord of Doncaster, to St. Mary's Abbey. The steeple is of brick, ornamented with a small dome, and, like the steeple at Chesterfield, seems to have lost its perpendicular line.

St. CUTHBERT'S Church‡ is a rectory, and stands near the postern at the end of Peaseholm-green; the living is valued in the king's books at 5*l.* 10*s.* 10*d.* and in Bacon's Liber Regis at 88*l.* 2*s.* 6*d.*; the king is the patron, and the Rev. Thomas Henry Yorke, M.A. is the rector. There is an annual distribution of 2*l.* 10*s.* to the poor, made at this church on Martinmas Day, in virtue of a bequest made by Sir Martin Bosen, a native of York, but Lord Mayor of London, in 1346. Many ancient remains have been found in digging here, and amongst others a sepulchral tile inscribed Læo. II. HINR.

St. DENNIS, in Walmgate; this church is a rectory, of which the Rev. James Serjeantson, M.A. is the incumbent, and the king the patron. In the king's books it is valued at 4*l.* 0*s.* 10*d.* and in Bacon's Liber Regis at 31*l.* 17*s.* Divine service is performed once a fortnight, at half-past two o'clock in the afternoon. Tradition represents this church to have been originally a Jewish Synagogue or Tabernacle, but the tradition seems to rest on no sufficient authority. In the year 1798, in consequence of an injury suffered by the foundations, the west end of this edifice was taken down, and the site of the church thereby considerably reduced. At the same time, the neat and lofty spire which was perforated by a shot during the last siege of York, was taken down, and a square tower, not in good taste, substituted. The ancient porch was then also removed, but the carved door-way remains, and would grace a more entire and handsome edifice.

St. HELEN'S Church;* is the Square bearing that name, was formerly a rectory, appropriated to the nursery of Molesey, but in the reign of Henry V. it was ordained a vicarage; the value of this living in the king's books is 4*l.* 5*s.* 5*d.*; in Bacon's Liber Regis, it is valued at 44*l.* 4*s.* 6*d.*; the Rev. John Auster, clerk, is the vicar. Tradition says, that upon the site of this church there anciently stood an heathen temple dedicated to Diana. In the year 1743, the church-yard belonging to this church was appropriated to the public use, and a plot of land in Davygate, appropriated to the interment of the dead instead of it. In 1700, the York Tavern was erected on part of this land. Prior to these alterations, the area bore the opprobrious name of Cuckold's Corner, but after the improvement, it became St. Helen's Square, by which name it is now called. Near the entrance to the church is a large Saxon Font, in which it is conjectured that adults were formerly baptized by immersion.

The Church of St. JOHN the Evangelist,† near Ouse-bridge, appertains to the dean and chapter of York, and though mentioned in the Liber Regis, has no value affixed to the living. The Rev. James Richardson, M.A. is the curate. In this church are interred the remains of Sir Richard Yorke, of York, Knight, mayor of the staple at Calais, and Lord Mayor of York, in 1409, and 1432. The steeple was blown down by a high wind in 1553, and has never been rebuilt. In consequence of the recent improvements near Ouse-bridge, the burying-ground has been materially contracted, and the street made more spacious in front of the church.

The Church of St. LAWRENCE, in Walmgate, was anciently a rectory, but is now a vicarage, of which the dean and chapter of York are the patrons. It is valued in the king's books at 5*l.* 10*s.*, and in Bacon's Liber Regis at 13*l.* 4*s.* 10*d.* The Rev. Wm. Wright Layng, A.B. is the vicar, and divine service, which is performed once a day on alternate Sundays, commences at half-past ten in the morning. At the siege of York this church was nearly destroyed, and it remained in ruins till 1680, when it was repaired partially; but in the year 1817 it was thoroughly repaired and enlarged.

St. MARGARET'S Church,* on the north side of Walmgate, is a rectory, in the gift of the king, valued in the books at 4*l.* 9*s.* 9*d.* and in Bacon's Liber Regis at 27*l.* 8*s.* 5*d.* The living is enjoyed by the Rev. John Overton, A.M. In 1673, the steeple of this church fell down and injured the roof, which, owing to the then poverty of the parish, was not repaired till twelve years afterwards. The porch of St. Margaret's exhibits an extraordinary specimen of Saxon sculpture and architecture, and is said to have been brought from the dissolved hospital of St. Nicholas, without the neighbouring bar. It comprises four united circular arches (ornamented with figures) below and within each other. The arches are supported by a light round column. The top of the porch is crowned with a small stone cross, and the effect is altogether antique and interesting.

St. MARTIN'S Church,* Micklegate, is a rectory, vested in trustees, valued in the king's books at 5*l.* 10*s.* 3*d.* and in Bacon's Liber Regis at 46*l.* 4*s.* 6*d.* The Rev. Montagu John Wynyard is the rector. The painted glass in the windows of this church is very beautiful, and in the wall of the church yard there are several curious pieces of defaced Roman sculpture.

The Church of St. MARTIN, the Bishop,‡ in Coney-street, is an ancient edifice, noticed in Domesday-book. The living is a vicarage, valued in the king's books at 4*l.* and estimated in Bacon's Liber Regis at the clear yearly value of 21*l.* 10*s.* 9*d.* The patrons are the dean and chapter of York, and the Rev. William Bulmer, M.A. vicar, is the present incumbent. The appearance of the exterior of the church is improved by a tower steeple, and it is rendered remarkable by a clock which projects into the street.

also a prayer meeting at 6 o'clock on Sunday morning, and at five in summer and 6 in winter on the Tuesday and Friday mornings. The other chapel is of still more recent date; it was built in the year 1816, in Albion-street, and is, from its situation, called Albion Chapel, and the services are at half past ten in the morning, 6 in the evening on Sundays, at 7 o'clock on Thursday evenings. This building is about half the size of the other Methodist chapel. They are both supplied with preachers from the conference in connexion with the late Reverend John Wesley.

The Calvinistic Chapel, in Grape-lane, is now occupied by the Primitive Methodists, their Sunday service is at half-past 10 in the morning: prayers at 6 in the morning and 8 in the evening: Monday and Friday services at half-past 7 in the evening: Saturday evening prayers at 8 in the evening.

The Independents, though formerly scarcely known in York, have of late become a numerous body, and will, probably, under the ministry of the zealous and eloquent young preacher, lately called to preside over them, still further increase. Their chapel, which is eligibly situated in Lendal, and thence called "Lendal Chapel," was built in the year, 1814, at a cost of 3000*l.* and will accommodate a congregation of 1000 persons. The Rev. James Parsons is the minister; and the Sabbath services, of which there are three, commence at half past ten in the morning, half-past two in the afternoon, and half-past 6 o'clock in the evening. There is also a lecture on Thursday, and a prayer meeting on Monday, each of which services commences at 7 o'clock in the evening.

The Sandemanians, a sect of seceders from the Scotch church, founded by the Rev. John Glass, have a chapel in Grape-lane, with a small burial ground annexed. Owing to the smallness of their numbers, they have no stated pastor, but this congregation assembles for divine service every Sabbath morning at half-past 10, and again in the afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The religious community, so long the lords of the ascendant, both in this city and in this country, but now ranked as dissenters, occupy, in place of the stately Cathedral, a neat brick-built chapel, of modern erection, in Little Blake street. The Rev. Benedict Rayment is the pastor of this congregation. The morning services commence in the chapel on Sundays and Holidays, at 10 o'clock in the morning, and the evening service at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, except in the two mid-winter months of December and January, when the evening service begins an hour earlier. Every Sunday morning a musical high mass, accompanied by a sweet and full toned organ, (recently built at an expense of 500*l.*) is celebrated here; and in Lent and Advent public lectures are given in the evening, every Sunday, Tuesday, and Thursday, which commence at 7 o'clock.

In the suburbs of the city, without Micklegate Bar, is a large and handsome brick building, called "The Nunsery," which has been used since the year 1686, as a boarding school for ladies of the Roman Catholic persuasion. The assistants in this seminary having quitted the world, and devoted themselves entirely to the instruction of youth, are popularly denominated nuns; each of them constantly wears a large black veil; and exhibits other tokens of monastic peculiarity. At present the establishment consists of sixty young ladies, some of whom sent from a considerable distance, for the purpose of education, more than twenty nuns, and about twelve lay-sisters, with officiating clergyman, (the Rev. James Newham,) and four domestic servants. Mrs. E. Coysey is the Rev. Mother Superior of the convent. On the premises is a small chapel, in which the prayers are read every morning at eight o'clock, and on the Sabbath day also, at two o'clock in the afternoon. These services are open to the public. Over the general entrance is a gallery, in which several of the nuns take their station to accompany the organ during divine service, and the effect of the music may not inaptly styled seraphic.

There are in York 30 churches and chapels, and ten monasteries and religious houses which have gone to decay. Three of the decayed churches have been already mentioned in the history of the cathedral and appendages; the others are St. Bridget, St. Nicholas, in Micklegate; St. Clement without Skeldergate Postern; St. George near Micklegate; St. Peter the Little, Peter-lane; St. Clement's, nearly opposite Merchant's Hall; St. George, near New-lane; St. Andrew, in Fishergate; St. Felix in the Willows, at the upper part of Le Close; those ancient edifices were all in the ward of Walmgate. In Monk-ward the decayed churches are St. Mary's, Layerthorpe, and St. Maurice, Monk-gate. In Book-ward, St. Andrew, St. Stephen, and John the Baptist, in Hungate; St. William near Blake-street. In the suburbs there are St. George's chapel, St. George's close; St. Helen's and the church of All Saints, in Fishergate postern; St. Edward and Michael, Watlingate; St. Giles, in Gildergate; and the chapel of St. Mary Magdalene, near the boundary stone of the city.

The monasteries and religious houses, were the abbey of St. Mary, situated behind the Manor-house; the monastery of the Begging Friars, anciently a Roman temple erected to the heathen god Serapis, situated in Friar's gardens; the convent of black or Dominican Friars, near Micklegate bar; the monastery of the Friars Minor, on the banks of the Ouse, formerly the occasional residence of the kings of England; the monastery of the Friars Carmelites, which in the days of its glory, occupied a principal part of the ground from Whippenwharfmgate to the river Foss; and the monastery of the Crouched Friars, at the corner of Barker-hill. In Beggargate-lease stood the nunnery of St. Clement, founded by Henry I., in 1145, for the nuns of the Benedictine order; in Stone-wall-close, the priory of St. Andrews, founded in 1202, by Hugh Murdāc, six twelve canons of the order of Sempringham; the priory of St. Nicholas, Watlingate, a royal foundation, established under the patronage of the kings of England, for a select number of both sexes; and the priory of St. Trinity, in Trinity gardens, Micklegate.

The greater part of these edifices have totally disappeared; but the ruin of St. Mary's Abbey, formerly one of the glories of York, and still, remains a monument of departed splendour. This once noble and magnificent monastery, is situated on the North side of the city, and the land gently slopes from without Bootham bar to the Ouse. The site is a fine spot of ground, nearly square, and comprehends a circuit of 1280 yards. In the Abbey wall were two principal gates, one to the East, opening into Bootham, near the gate of the city, and the other into Marygate. A spacious piece of rich ground to the North of this street, running down to the river, was used by the monks for their fat cattle, and called Akmry-garth. According to Ingulphus, there was a monastery here before the conquest, in which Siward, the valiant Earl of Northumberland was interred. And tradition has placed upon this site, the temple of Bellona, from which the Emperor Severus received the preage of his death. The monastery was then dedicated to St. Olave, and its name was not changed to that of St. Mary, till the time of William Rufus, who was one of its distinguished patrons. In the year 1270, this Abbey was totally destroyed by fire, but under the direction of Simon de Warwick, the then Abbot, who laid the first stone of the new erection, it again raised its head, and in two and twenty years the identical fabric, of which we this day see the venerable remains, was completed: From this time the munificence and piety of princes and nobles, enriched the Abbey of St. Mary, and on the dissolution of the religious houses, in the reign of Henry VIII. its annual revenue, according to Speed, amounted to £2065. 1s. 5qd. The privileges of this monastery were as remarkable as its opulence. The abbot had the honour to be mitred, and enjoyed a seat in parliament, with the title of Lord Abbot. Our eighth Henry, whose cupidty was a great deal less equivocal than his love of reformation, seized upon the revenues of the dismantled monastery, and ordered a palace to be built out of its ruins, which was called the King's Manor. This palace, however, sunk into decay, and though James I. gave orders to have it repaired, and rendered fit for a royal residence, it has, in some degree, shared the fate of the Abbey, and the whole is now in the possession of the Grantham family. Time and depredation have reduced even the walls of this venerable fabric within narrow limits; at present, the greatest part of the inclosure is a pasture; the rest is leased for gardens; and such parts of the palace as are habitable, are let in humble tenements; at which, the mitred lord abbots, in the plenitude of their power, would have cast a glance of disdain. The Manor-house is occupied as a boarding school for young ladies, for which purpose it is well adapted. Sufficient yet remains of the ruins of the Abbey, to carry the mind back to other times, and to indicate the labours and the resting place of Stephen de Whitby, whose supposed tomb-stone, thus inscribed, is seen in a small court, now a stable yard, at the East end of the cloisters: HIC: JACET: STEPANO: AB. B: ISPN. It has long been a matter of surprise and regret, that a ruin, so picturesque, and in a situation so inviting, should be disfigured with the unsightly nuisances which incumber this ancient Abbey; and it is much to be wished, that either the noble proprietor of the venerable domain, or the corporation of York, with his Lordship's permission, would so far act the part of public benefactors, as to render this an attractive scene, as it is so capable of being made, both to the inhabitants themselves, and to every man of taste and lover of antiquity that visits this ancient city

"Great in ruin, noble in decay,"

The Red Tower, another of the ancient buildings of York, is so called from being built of brick; it is situated not far from Walmgate bar, on the South bank of the Foss, and when York was a commercial city, commanded the Foss island. This ancient edifice, the antiquity of which cannot be precisely fixed, is supposed to be nearly coeval with the period of the residence of the Romans in this country. The manufacture of brimstone in the interior of this building has aggravated the dilapidations of time, and its present appearance conveys but a very imperfect idea of the stately square structure, through the loop holes of which the engines of war were pointed to protect the navy of the port of York from hostile attack.

Behind Trinity Gardens, in the South East corner of the city, is an ancient mound, the origin of which is not known. In ancient deeds and histories it is called, vetus ballium, or Old Bayle, signifying a place of security, and probably forms the platform, as Leland and Camden suppose, of an ancient ruined castle. The mound is ornamented with a small plantation of trees, and exactly corresponds with that on which Clifford's tower is erected, on the opposite side of the river. This point commands a fine view of York, and of the rich country by which it is surrounded.

Adjoining to the wall of the Castle yard, at the South West extremity of Castle-gate, stands a round tower, built by William the Conqueror, as a keep to the Castle, and called Clifford's Tower, a name derived from the Lords, who were anciently its wardens, and which family probably from that circumstance, claims the right of carrying the sword before the king in York. In Leland's time it was "all in ruins," and in that state it continued till the contests between Charles I. and his parliament, when it was repaired and strengthened with fortifications and a draw-bridge, a deep moat being supplied from the waters of the Foss. After the surrender of the city to the parliamentary generals, Thomas Dickinson, the Lord Mayor, a zealous supporter of the popular cause, was made governor of this tower. But in the year 1663, Sir John Steresby was appointed governor by Charles II., and in the following year, on the festival of St. George, about ten o'clock at night, the magazine took fire, and reduced the tower to a ruin, in which state it remains to this day. The cause of the fire was never correctly ascertained, but the destruction is supposed to have been intentional, and to have proceeded from that jealousy of military control, which English citizens so justly entertain, and which the presence of a fortress, commanding the city, was so well calculated to excite. At that time a popular toast in York was, "the demolition of the Inniice-pic," and the garrison, apparently aware of the approaching catastrophe, all escaped unhurt. At the entrance into the keep is a square tower, the wall of which is ten feet thick; and near to it is a draw-well of excellent water, nearly twenty yards deep. The sides of the gigantic mount on which the building stands are planted with trees and shrubs, and the moat which formerly surrounded it is now so completely filled up, that the entire space, comprising about three acres, forms a beautiful garden and pleasure grounds. The property is held with other lands near the city, by grant from James I. to Babington and Duffield; the present owner is Samuel Wilks Wank, Esq. of Camblesford, near Selby, and it is occupied by Lady Grant.

York is celebrated for the number and variety of its benevolent institutions, which may be enumerated under the following heads:—HOSPITALS—ASYLUMS—SCHOOLS, and other charities.

The Hospital of St. Anthony, was founded from three to four centuries ago, by Sir John Langton, Knt. some time Mayor of York, for the brethren of St. Anthony. After the dissolution of the religious house, it fell into the hands of a fraternity, consisting of a master and eight keepers, who gave a feast every three years, probably out of the remaining revenues of the old hospital; but in 1696, this feast was discontinued, and the fellowship dissolved. The legendary story of St. Anthony, of Padua, and his pig, says Drake, is represented in one of the windows of the church of the Saviour. The brethren of this monastic house used to go a begging in the city and elsewhere, and were generally well rewarded for St. Anthony's sake. But if they were not relieved every time with a full alms, they grumbled, said their prayers backwards, and told the people that St. Anthony would plague them for it. There is an inflammatory cutaneous disease, called St. Anthony's fire: this the brethren made the people believe the Saint would inflict upon them if they disobliged him, or would cure them if, they merited a cure. In this they had such an ascendancy here, and the patron of the hospital was held in such esteem, that when any person's sow pigged, one was set apart, and fed as fat as they could wish it, to give to the brethren of St. Anthony, that they might not be tormented by this fiery disease; and hence came the proverb—As fat as an Anthony pig. In 1646, the whole of the building in which the brethren met was re-edified, and it is now appropriated chiefly for the use of the county school.

Agar's Hospital is situated near the county hospital, and is occupied by six poor aged widows, each of whom receives

l. 18s. 4d. half yearly towards their maintenance, paid by the feoffees of Mr. Alderman Agar, the founder, out of land which now forms part of the estate of Lord Middleton.

Of Barstow's Hospital, in the suburbs of York, little is known with certainty, except that it consists of six miserable cottages, appropriated to persons of both sexes, who each receive about forty shillings a-year. The donation, it is said, was given about a hundred years ago, and the donors are supposed to have been two maiden sisters, of the name of Barstow.

The Spital, (a contraction for hospital of St. Catharine, is situated near the Mount, at the entrance to the city. This was anciently a house of entertainment for poor travellers, or pilgrims, who could not afford to pay for lodgings in the town. Buildings of this kind were usually placed, extramuros, on the side of the highway, and this was a Xenodochium of that kind. In Drake's time it was kept up, and repaired at the city's expense, as a habitation for poor widows, though it was then hardly deserving of the name of a charity; but we collect from Hargrove's History, that by the successive donations of various benefactors within the last century, it now affords residence for four ancient widows, each of whom derives an income from the charity, amounting to 18*l.* 3*s.* per annum.

Colton's Hospital, is situated in Tanner row, and derives its name from the founders, Dr. Colton, and Mary his wife by whom it was provided, in the year 1717, for the occupation of "eight poor women." At present, the funds which are produced from lands at Cawood and Thorp Willoughby, yield to each of the eight inmates about six pounds a-year.

Ingham's Hospital was founded by Sir Arthur Ingham, a senior Alderman of York, in the year 1640, and endowed with five pounds a-year for each of the ten poor women, its inmates, who have also a new gown every two years. The endowment also provides, twenty nobles for "an honest able man to read prayers in the chapel," payable out of certain lands at Sheriff Hutton. The buildings forming this hospital are situated in Bootham, and consist of ten cottages, of two rooms each, with a chapel in the centre. The badge of these widows is, a silver cock gill, the crest of the Irvin family, of Tansley Newsam, of which family Sir Arthur was the founder. The patronage of this hospital is now in the Dowager Marchioness of Hertford, the eldest daughter of the late Lord Irvin, and one of the lineal descendants of Sir Arthur.

St. Leonard's Hospital is an ancient foundation, which existed before the conquest, and when in the meridian of its usefulness, supported thirteen brethren, four secular priests, eight sisters, thirty choristers, two schoolmasters, twenty-six bead men, and six servitors; but by the consent of the brotherhood, it was surrendered in the 31st year of Henry VIII. and the revenue, amounting to 36*l.* 1*l.* 1*d.* placed at the disposal of the king.

The Spital of St. Loy, like that of St. Catherine, was built for the accommodation of poor travellers and pilgrims, in Catholic times; it stood on the East side of the Monk bridge, but not a vestige of it now remains.

Maison Dieu was founded in White Friar's lane, Layerthorpe, by Edward IV. whence it is natural to infer, that there must anciently have been here a monastery of White Friars also, from which the name has arisen. But on this subject, we can only conjecture; as there are no remains of either building, and even the name of the lane itself is now no longer retained.

Mason's Hospital, in Colliergate, was founded by a widow of that name, in 1732, for the use of six poor widows, who have an annual income from the original benefactress of one pound a-year, and from the benevolent Countess of Conyngham, of fifty shillings, producing to each of them yearly, three pounds ten shillings.

Middleton's Hospital, in Skeldergate, is a monument of the piety and benevolence of Dame Ann Middleton, who bestowed by will two thousand pounds for its erection and endowment. In this hospital, twenty widows of poor freemen in York, have dwellings, with an income of five pounds sixteen shillings a-year each; three pounds sixteen shillings of which is derived from the funds of the original benefactress, and two pounds from an augmentation bequeathed by Thomas Norfolk, gent. A full length effigy of Dame Middleton is placed in a niche, over the front entrance, with an inscription, partly obliterated, enumerating her charities.

A little beyond Bootham row, and nearly opposite to Marygate, is an alms-house that few ladies in the early part of life would claim as their inheritance, called "The Old Maids' Hospital." The founder of this institution was Mrs. Mary Wandesford, of the city of York, spinster, who by will dated the 4th of Nov. 1725, bequeathed an estate at Brumpton-upon-Swale, near Richmond, with a mortgage of 1200*l.* and 1200*l.* South-Sea stock in trust, "for the use and benefit of ten poor gentlewomen, who were never married," members of the established church.

“ who shall retire from the hurry and noise of the world into a house of protestant retirement, with 10*l.* per annum to a reader. Since this time the funds of the Old Maids' Hospital, have been considerably augmented by other bequests, and each of the inmates now receives 16*l.* 17*s.* 4*d.* annually, which Mr. Hargrove, from whom we quote, and who has displayed a very laudable zeal in investigating the affairs of the charities of York, intimates should be still further increased from the improved value of land within a period of nearly a hundred years. The Maiden Testator, does not in her will fix at what time of life ladies may become candidates for this charity, but the Court of Chancery, by a decree of the date of 1739, has fixed the age at fifty years. The present steward of this establishment is Mr. John Mills, with a salary of 6*l.* a-year, and the Rev. W. Bulmer, with a stipend of 15*l.* annually, is the reader or chaplain. Every Wednesday and Friday morning at eleven o'clock, duty is performed in the chapel.

Without Micklegate bar, at the principal entrance to the city on the left, is an antique stone building, called St. Thomas' Hospital, erected for the fraternity of Corpus Christi, incorporated by letters patent, the 6th of November, in the 37th of Henry VI. This hospital was originally instituted for a master and six priests, who were bound to keep a solemn procession every year, on the Friday after Corpus Christi day, and the day after to have a solemn mass or dirge, to pray for the prosperity of brothers and sisters living, and for the souls departed; and further to keep yearly ten poor folks, having every of them towards their living 3*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.* a-year, with a further provision that they should find eight beds for poor people being strangers. In addition to this hospitality, the fraternity found entertainment of another kind for the citizens, and once in every year, namely, on the Thursday after Trinity Sunday, they performed the play of Corpus Christi, in aid of which, every trade in the city was obliged to furnish a pageant. At that time the building was far more extensive than at present; but in the time of Henry VIII. it felt the shock of all othersimilar institutions, and in 1683, it was inhabited only by ten poor widows, to whom mendicacy afforded the means of subsistence. In 1787, the hospital underwent considerable alterations and improvements, and the number of inmates were increased to twelve. In the year 1791, Mr. Luntley, a glover in Blake-street, left by will 1000*l.* to this institution, the interest of which, yields nearly four guineas per annum to each of the inhabitants, and Lady Conyngnam, augmented their in-

Near Merchants' Hall, in Fosgate, stands an ancient Spital, called Trinity Hospital, founded in 1373, by John de Rawcliff, and endowed with lands worth 10*l.* a-year for the sustentation of a priest or master, and for the brethren and sisters of the same. The priest was to pray for the founder, and for the king, as well as for all christian souls, and to pay weekly to thirteen poor folks and to two poor scholars resident in the hospital; four-pence in silver each. In the 3rd of Edward VI. this hospital was dissolved, and the land was given to the king; but the hospital and chapel were kept standing, and the Merchants' Company of this city perpetuated the charity by their liberality, and at present ten poor persons—five of each sex, live in the house, and receive a stipend of 5*l.* each per annum.

The Hospital of Sir Robert Watter, Knight, twice Lord Mayor of York, is situated in Neutgate-lane. Sir Robert, by his will proved June 15, 1612, appointed that a hospital should be erected out of his houses in “ Nowtgate, which should be for the perpetual maintenance of ten persons; to consist of a governor or reader with 3*l.* per annum, and certain brothers and sisters, to each of whom 2*l.* per annum, was to be allowed out of the lordship of Cundale. From some cause not explained, this charity has been suffered to deteriorate: the number of dwellings is only seven, and instead of ten there are only seven inmates; the reader, probably from the smallness of the stipend, does not exist, and only 14*l.* is paid to the institution, instead of twenty guineas annually.

In St. Dennis Church-lane, stands an alms-house, founded, as is supposed, by the Company of Cordwainers, and intended as an asylum for poor aged and decayed persons of that craft. This building had anciently a cupola and bell, which was tolled on the death of any of its members, and from the religious services performed in the hospital, it obtained the name of “ The Maison Dieu —or the House of God. The Cordwainers' Company, after existing for several centuries, certainly not less than four, was dissolved in the year 1806, parliament having in that year repealed the act, on which they grounded their right to regulate the markets and their trade in general. On the dissolution of the Company, the entire patronage of the Maison Dieu, with the archives of the fraternity were transferred to Mr. Hornby, of York, one of the principal members, and by the liberality of that gentleman, the hospital, which had sunk into a state of dilapidation, was taken down and re-built at his own cost.

This hospital now consists of four comfortable dwellings, appropriated to the use of as many decayed shoe-makers, who pay to their benefactor an annual acknowledgment of one penny. This establishment presents a favourable field for the exercise of benevolence, and we venture to recommend that some charitable persons should endow it with a small portion of land, from the rents whereof the successive inmates of the Maison Dieu, who are now nearly destitute of income, may through all time have the evening of their days brightened by a humble competency.

The law of Mortmain has wisely kept the endowment of hospitals and religious houses within very moderate limits; and in more modern times the legislature has instituted a security against death-bed charitable bequests, by providing that no lands or tenements shall be given for, or charged with, any charitable use whatsoever, unless by deed indented, executed in the presence of two witnesses twelve calendar months before the death of the donor, and enrolled in the Court of Chancery within six months after its execution, and unless such gift be made to take effect immediately, and be without power of revocation.

Winterskelf's Hospital, nearly opposite St. Margaret's Church, in Walmgate, was founded by Perceval Winterskelf, gentleman, early in the last century, and forms accommodation for six poor aged persons, who enjoy a revenue of from 7*l.* to 8*l.* a year.

The ladies of York have contributed essentially to swell the number of the public charities of this city, and their benevolence has in several instances embraced more than one institution. In addition to the names of pious memory already enumerated, Mrs. Wright, Dame Hewley, Mrs. Wilson, and Lady Conyngham's, remain to be mentioned:—

Mrs. Jane Wright, of the city of London, widow, left by will, in 1675, 1000*l.* in money, with the residue of her property, amounting to about 450*l.* more, to be devoted to the purpose of placing out as apprentices, as many poor boys and girls, who are natives and inhabitants of "the parish of Goodramgate, near the Minster, in the city of York, being the parish, as she says, in which I was born," as the minister, churchwardens, and vestry-men of the said parish may think proper—the residue of the income, if any, to be applied to the relief of poor widows and housekeepers in the parish, and to the assistance of the apprentices at the expiration of their apprenticeships, in commencing business. The trustees very judiciously expend the sum which they realized, in the purchase of a house in Goodramgate, and lands in Rufforth and Water Poppleton, which now together yield for the purpose of the charity 363*l.* a year, and which sum is distributed half-yearly, according to the will of the testatrix. By a decision of the Court of Chancery, two-thirds of this ample income is distributed in the parish of St. Trinity, and one-third in the parish of St. John del Pyke.

Lady Hewley's charities comprehend an hospital and a liberal annual contribution towards "teaching the children of the poor to read and write." The hospital is a neat brick building, situated in Tanner Row, in which ten poor women, of the Unitarian persuasion, find a comfortable asylum.* Originally, the annual stipend was only 6*l.* each, but from the nature of the property, under the provident management of the trustees, it is now swelled to 15*l.* a year, which is paid in monthly instalments by the Rev. Charles Wellbeloved. In 1796, "Dane Sarah Hewley," as she is styled, paid into the Exchequer 1000*l.* thereby purchasing an annuity of 68*l.* 10*s.* for ninety-nine years, to be applied to the purpose of teaching the children of the poor to read and write." For thirteen years; namely, between 1799 and 1793, the payment of the annuities was suspended for want of new trustees to fill the places of those who were deceased; but, by the seal and public spirit of Robert Driffield, Esq. the payment of the annuity was resumed, and the arrears refunded, the effect of which has been, that the capital stock is swelled to 1650*l.* four per cents. and that fund is rendered permanent, which would have expired in the year 1897. The annual income from this stock is now devoted, in compliance with the will of the testatrix, to the support of free schools, in York and its vicinity, at the discretion of the trustees, John Rawden, Esq., the Rev. Charles Wellbeloved, and George Palmer, Esq.

Wilson's Hospital, situated at Fossbridge, was founded in 1717, by Mrs. Dorothy Wilson, spinster, for the reception of ten poor women, each of whom has a room to herself, and for their maintenance the donor left certain lands at Skilpwith and Nun-Monkton, from which each of them receives 15*l.* per annum. The same lands were also * Dane Hewley, (whose maiden name was Wolridge) when a spinster, was a ward in chancery, and tradition says, we believe truly, that she eloped with Mr., afterwards Sir John Hewley, upon a matrimonial expedition, she riding before and he behind, on the same horse, thinking thereby to protect her intended husband from the censures of the Lord Chancellor, by alleging, that she ran away with him, and met us with her!

made subject to the following payments :— Twenty pounds per annum to a schoolmaster for teaching twenty boys, and reading prayers twice a day to them, and to the hospitalers. The boys are also to be provided with new clothes annually, and 6s. a year appropriated to placing three of them out as apprentices. The yearly sum of 2l. each is applied to three blind people; and the same sum to a schoolmistress for teaching six children in the parish of Dennis to read. Owing to the increased value of the estate, the allowance to the inmates of the hospital has advanced from 6l. 10s. to 15l. per annum each: the schoolmaster's salary has advanced from 20l. to 30l. and the schoolmistress's stipend is doubled. The property is vested in seven trustees, none of whom are to be aldermen of the city! The hospital has been twice taken down and re-built, the first time in 1765, and the latter in 1812, and it now forms a neat brick building of modern appearance, very convenient to the inmates, and rather ornamental than otherwise, to the part of the town in which it stands.

Amongst the most munificent of the benefactors to the city of York, may be placed the Right Honourable Ellen Countess Dowager Conyngham, who, by will dated 13th of August, 1814, bequeathed the sum of 8000l. in 3 per cents. consolidated Bank Annuities, for the purpose of paying certain annuities to her servants out of the dividends, but as the said annuitants died, to be paid in annuities of 20l. each, to poor indigent and distressed widows of poor deceased clergymen of, or who reside in the county of York. The same lady bequeathed the sum of 6666l. 13s. 4d. of 3 per cent. reduced Bank Annuities, the dividends therefrom to be distributed to ten poor clergymen, who should respectively be in the possession of only one living, under the yearly value of 100l. which living is to be situated in the county of York: the archbishop, dean, and recorder for the time being, to elect both to this and the foregoing charity. The executors to her ladyship, are also ordered to transfer 2000l. of 3 per cent. consolidated Bank Annuities, and to distribute the annual dividends thereof in annuities of 10l. each, to six poor indigent widows or unmarried women, being fifty years of age or upwards, residing in York, and not respectively possessed of 50l. a year, to be elected by the trustees. Her ladyship also left 3000l. of 3 per cent. Old South Sea Annuities, to appropriate the dividends thus—To St. Thomas' Hospital, near Micklegate bar, twenty-five pounds; to St. Catherine's, ten pounds; to Middleton's, forty pounds; and to Mason's, fifteen pounds. From all which it appears, that this lady applied to charitable purposes nearly 20,000l. stock, to be distributed either in York, or by persons in high situations, resident in or connected with this city.

Mr. John Allen having acquired a moderate competency by his profession as a dancing-master, in this city, bequeathed by will, dated January 9, 1747, the following benefactions to its public charities :—

To the York County Hospital.....300l.

Coat Girls' School.....300l.

To the Minister of St. Michael le

To light the Minister with candles sooner than hitherto.....200l.

And a sum for the erection or endowment of a hospital, which amounts to about 1400l. a year, from which fund twelve poor old men receive each 12s. annually, towards their support and house rent.

The hospitals in this city, for affording medical aid to the indigent, are—The County Hospital, the Dispensary, the Lunatic Asylum, and the Retreat.

The County Hospital is situated in Monkgate, and owes its origin to the benevolent Lady Hastings, who, in the year 1746, bequeathed a legacy of 500l. for the relief of the diseased poor in the county of York; which fund being augmented by other contributions, the present edifice was soon after erected. Every person who is a benefactor of 20l. or a subscriber of two guineas annually, is a governor of this institution, and intitled to recommend one out or one in-patient at a time; a subscriber of three guineas annually may recommend one out and one in-patient at a time; and an annual subscription of a guinea intitles the subscriber to recommend one out-patient, and no more. Since the commencement of this establishment, on the 4th of April, 1740, to May 1st, 1823, 45,650 patients have been admitted, of whom 31,313 have been discharged cured, and 9,320 relieved. It is much to be lamented, that owing to the inadequacy of the funds, one of the large wards of this excellent institution has been entirely closed for some years, a circumstance the more to be regretted, since, with the exception of the Hull Infirmary, this is the only charity of the kind for the North and East Ridings, and for the county of the city of York.—The Cow-pox inoculation is performed here gratuitously every Tuesday and Saturday mornings, from ten to eleven o'clock; and two fever wards have lately been erected in the garden of the hospital, by a separate fund raised for the purpose. The officers of the County Hospital are—William Gray, Esq. treasurer; Dr. Lawson and Dr. Wake, physicians; Mr. James Atkinson and Mr. George Champney, surgeons; the Rev. James Richardson, chaplain; Mr. Hewley Graham, steward and secretary; and Mr. Ward, apothecary. The house is visited by two gentlemen among the contributors resident in York, and, by a late regulation, the female wards are visited by ladies.

The Dispensary is a small building, situated in St. Andrewgate, of the same nature as the County Hospital, though unconnected with it. Its objects are to dispense gratuitously advice, medicine, and surgical assistance, to those who are unable to pay for them. This establishment, which was opened on the 28th of March, 1788, has continued to flourish through a period of four and thirty years, and has, out of 42,488 patients, effected cures upon 29,851 of them.* The expense of this establishment last year amounted to 433*l.* and the number of patients admitted and remaining on the books was 2064, exclusive of 648 children inoculated without cost for the Cow-pox.† The officers are Dr. Beckwith, Dr. Wake, and Dr. Goldie, physicians; Mr. Atkinson, Mr. Drake; and Mr. E. Wallis, surgeons; Mr. Allen, treasurer; and Mr. Wilson, apothecary.

The Lunatic Asylum, out of Bootham Bar, was built by general subscription, in 1774, from a plan prepared by Mr. Alderman Carr, and the building, as an edifice, is worthy of the architect. The original object of this institution was to provide an asylum for pauper lunatics, or such as belonged to indigent families. The plan subsequently underwent a change, and it was then determined to admit opulent patients, upon the plea that the profits from the payments of the rich would contribute to the support of the poor. This change led to enormous abuse, continued through a long series of years, and it required the benevolent interference of Mr. S. Tuke, and the intrepid and persevering scrutiny of Godfrey Higgins, Esq. to clean this Augean stable, and to restore the institution to its original benevolent purpose. These salutary reforms were commenced in 1813. While the investigations were proceeding, one wing of the asylum was discovered to be on fire, and * Medical and chirological attendance are given every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, at eleven o'clock, and medicines dispensed gratis to all proper objects, recommended by an annual subscriber of half-a-guinea or upwards, or by a donor of ten guineas or upwards. Patients incapable of attending in person are visited at their own houses.

before the flames could be extinguished, damage was done to the building and property amounting to 2,392*l.* and four patients perished in the conflagration! This disastrous event took place on the 29th of December, 1813, and served to shut out from all mortal eyes proofs of mal-administration, at which the imagination shudders. The investigation, however, continued to be prosecuted, and it terminated in the dismissal of all the servants of the house, and the resignation of Dr. Best, the physician.— From this time the whole system underwent a complete renovation: the treatment of kindness succeeded to that of coercion, and the consequence has been, that the establishment has ever since been rising in public estimation. Considerable additions have been since made to the building, an extensive new erection for females only was opened towards the end of the year 1817.— The present officers of this institution are, Dr. Wake, physician; Mr. William Allen, † superintendent; Mrs. Birkett, matron; and twenty keepers. There are in the house an average of about 130 lunatics, consisting chiefly of those who neither receive nor require any aid from the funds of the institution. The buildings and offices of this noble asylum occupy about three acres of ground, and there are also attached to it about two acres of garden ground. The charge for pauper patients is 8*s.* per week, and the payments of the other patients are partly regulated by their circumstances. The intention of the founders of this asylum was to confine its benefits to the county of York, but that regulation is now sometimes relaxed.

There is, at the distance of about a mile from York, near the delightful village of Healdington, an establishment called the "Retreat, for persons afflicted with disorders of the mind," founded in the year 1796, by the Society of Friends, popularly called Quakers. This establishment owes its origin to the severe treatment and death of a quaker lunatic patient in another asylum, and adds another to the multitude of instances, which are daily occurring, where good arises out of evil. The venerable William Tuke was the projector of "the Retreat," and his efforts were seconded and essentially aided by Mr. Lindley Murray, the distinguished English Grammarian of the present age. The structure consists of a centre and four wings, to which was added, in the year 1819; a new building, called, "the Lodge," for the accommodation of patients of the higher class of either sex.—The quantity of ground appropriated to this institution is twelve acres, and both the exterior appearance and the internal management are such as to discard every appearance of gloom and melancholy. The concurrent testimony of all those who have visited this institution, for the purpose of acquainting themselves with its economy and management, confirm the opinion, that it is one of the best regulated establishments in Europe, either for the recovery of the insane, or for their comfort where they are in an incurable state. "The Retreat," including "the Lodge," is capable of accommodating, and generally contains, about sixty patients, of which about two-fifths are men, and three-fifths women. This institution receives all classes of patients, and the lowest sum paid for board, washing, and medical assistance, is 4s. a week; the next class pay 8s. and the gradation is continued according to the circumstances of the patient, till, in some instances, it amounts to several guineas a week. Great stress is laid here upon the benefit of the early removal of the patients to the asylum after the first decisive symptoms of insanity have appeared, and, as an inducement to the friends of the patients to pursue this course, an abatement of 4s. a week is made in the payment for the first year, for such patients as are sent within six months after the first appearance of the disorder.—This institution, since its first establishment, has been attended with an expense of 12,000*l.* to the religious community with whom it originated. Its benefits are extended on the recommendation of "a quarterly meeting, donor, or annuitant," to Quakers, and to those who are not strictly members of this society, Dr. Belcombe, a physician eminent in his profession, at York, presides over the medical department, and Mr. G. Jepson is the superintendent. Neither the physician, nor any other officer or servant of this institution receives any fee, but all have fixed salaries for their services. The general management is in a Court of Directors; and visitors, both male and female, are appointed to inspect the institution. Some years ago there was a branch of this establishment formed in a building adjoining Walmgate Bar, called "the Appendage," in which there were, during the last year, ten patients, seven of whom were females.

‡ The spirit which actuates this gentleman may be discovered from a work, recently written by him, entitled, "Lectures on the Temper and Spirit of the Christian Religion."

* Persons wishing to become more intimately acquainted with the economy and management of this establishment, may consult with advantage, Mr. S. Tuke's "Description of the Retreat," published in 1813.

The Free Schools and Charity Schools, like the hospitals of York, are numerous:—

The Free Grammar School within the Close of the Cathedral, was erected by Robert Holgate, D. D. Archbishop of York, in 1546, and endowed with 12*l.* a year for a master, to attend daily, "to read and teach grammar, and other good authors and works, generally to all scholars thither resorting to learn the same." This is a chartered school under the designation of "the Free School of Robert Holgate;" the Archbishop is patron, and the Rev. George Graham, A. B. is the present master.

The free grammar school in that part of the city, called, "Le Housseyer," is the remains of a large hospital, founded by Robert de Pykering, Dean of York, in 1330. On its suppression, the hospital, with all its possessions, was annexed to the Dean and Chapter of York, who, by a grant from Philip and Mary, founded a grammar school, and perpetually endowed the master with the lands; in addition to which Robert Dallison, Chanter of the cathedral church of Lincoln, granted to the Dean and Chapter of York an annuity of four pounds, issuing out of the manor of Hartesholm, in the county of Lincoln, which was appropriated to this school. The appointment of the master is in the Dean and Chapter of York; by whom the number of scholars is regulated, and that number seldom exceeds 23.—The present master is the Rev. J. Grayson. The dilapidated church of St. Andrew's has undergone strange mutations—it has been now a house of prayer, then a den of thieves; and at present part of it is used as a stable, and the other part as the free grammar school.

Three Free Schools of a minor description were erected and slenderly endowed by the late Mr. John Dodsworth, an ironmonger, in York, the first of them near the church of St. Lawrence, in Walmgate, erected in 1798, for teaching twenty poor boys to read and write, of the parishes of St. Lawrence with St. Nicholas, St. Peter-le-Willows, St. Margaret, and St. Dennis, to be chosen in equal numbers by the parishioners, in vestry assembled; the second of Mr. Dodsworth's schools is on Bishophill, for twenty poor children, from the six parishes on that side of the river, in proportion to their size; this school was opened on the first of January, 1804; and they have each an endowment of 10*l.* a year, bequeathed by the founder. The other school, which is in Friar Walls, is also for 20 children. The present masters of Dodsworth's Schools are, Walmgate-bar, George Brotherton; Friar Walls, James Smithies; Bishophill, John Forth.

Amongst the noblest of the York charities may be placed the Blue Coat Boys and the Grey Coat Girls Schools. On the 14th of June, 1705, a school was opened in St. Anthony's Hall, for forty boys, to be clothed, fed, and taught. The out-fit was made at the cost of the Corporation, and the fund for defraying the annual expenses arose out of voluntary subscriptions, which amounted, at the first opening of the school, to £180 per annum. That income has since been increased in more than a ten-fold degree, and it appears, from a joint report of the two schools, published in 1832, that the expenses of these establishments, from the 10th of October, 1830, to the 10th of October, 1831, amounted to £3000 15s. 3d. which sum was furnished by annual subscriptions, amounting to 476*l.*; permanent annual receipts, from interest of money and rents of estates, 1422*l.*; children's labour, 148*l.*; and an annual collection at St. Belfrey's church, 71*l.* The boys, which now amount to sixty in number, are taught to weave as well as to read, write, and cast accounts; and the girls, of whom there are forty-four, are taught to read, write, cast accounts, spin, wash, and knit, and are, under the matron's directions, qualified for good useful servants. The increase in the number of scholars took place in 1830, in consequence of a noble legacy of 4000*l.* bequeathed by Thomas Wilkinson, Esq. of Highborne, late an alderman of the city. The ample funds of this charity, which, as has been already stated, was designed originally for boys only, induced the benefactors to extend the benefit of the institution to the children of the other sex, and their school house was at first in Marygate, till the year 1784, a building was erected for the purpose, in Monk-gate, which is still occupied in that way.—Children are not admitted into either of these schools till they have attained their ninth year, and when they are of a proper age, the boys are put out apprentices for seven years, to sea, husbandry, manufacturing trades, or handicraft businesses, at the discretion of the committee—1007 boys have been bound apprentices since the establishment of the charity. The girls are placed out to household service, under the regulations of that school, and 311 girls have received the benefit of the institution since its first establishment in 1775. Annual subscribers of 10*s.* and benefactors of 10*l.* become trustees. The gentlemen have the direction of the boys, and the ladies the direction of the girls, and by each of them, in their respective schools, visitors are nominated to superintend the same. Mr.

Robert Davies is treasurer, steward, and secretary of both schools; Mr. Thomas Crosby and his wife are master and mistress of the boys; Mrs. Milner is matron, Mrs. Catherine Collier sewing, knitting, writing, and reading mistress; and Mr. John Peckitt secretary to the girls' school.

Haughton's Charities entitle the donor to a distinguished rank amongst the benefactors of this city. Mr. William Haughton, the founder of the charity school which bears his name, was originally a dancing master in York, but had removed to London, where he died in the year 1773, bequeathing 1300*l.* for educating twenty poor children of the parish of St. Crux, in York, to read and write English, with an addition of 200*l.*, payable on the demise of certain annuitants. A school house has been erected near the church of St. Crux, and the Rev. John Overton is the present master, with a stipend of 200*l.* derived from this institution. Mr. Haughton also left the interest of 500*l.* to be devoted to paying the rents of poor widows in the parish of St. Crux; and he bequeathed for forty tradesmen, or other persons, ten in each ward, by way of loan without interest, 1000*l.* but which sum was reduced to 232*l.* 6*s.* in litigation to establish the will of the testator.

The Spinning School, at York, is an establishment set on foot by two excellent ladies—the late Mrs. Cappe and Mrs. Gray, in 1783. In this school sixty girls are instructed in reading, knitting, and sewing; for though it was originally intended to employ the children in spinning worsted, that design was abandoned soon after the night school was given up, and a day school established in its place. The school, which is situate in St. Andrewgate, consists of two divisions—one half the children being taught to read and knit in the junior school, on the ground floor, and the other half taught to read and sew on the second story. The children of this school are principally clothed at the cost of their benefactors, who, in addition to gratuitous learning, supply them with milk to breakfast. The present mistress of the sewing school is Mary Gladdin, and of the knitting school Hannah Robinson. Connected with this establishment, and with the Girls Grey Coat School, there is a Female Society, principally consisting of honorary and benefitted members, established in 1786, for the relief, in sickness, of those who have been educated at these schools. There is also a private fund formed by the contributions of the ladies, for the further relief of the benefitted members of the Female Friendly Society and others; and an annuity fund, for affording annuities of forty shillings a year, for life, to such benefitted members as have attained the age of fifty-five years. The number of members of the York Benefit Society amount to about 300, of which about one-third are honorary and two-thirds benefitted members. Upon the subject of these institutions, and upon female charities in general, both for children and adults, Mrs. Capper's "observations on Charity Schools and Female Benefit Societies," published in 1805, may be consulted with much advantage.

The Central Diocesan Society, at York, established on the 13th of March, 1813, under the patronage of the Archbishop, for promoting the education of the poor in the principles of the Church of England, have two schools in this city, one in a spacious apartment under the Banqueting Room, at the Manor, containing 465 boys, and another in Merchant Taylor's Hall, containing 250 girls. It appears from the last annual report that there are at present, in connexion with this Diocesan Society, 131 schools, and that they have undertaken 15,377 children of both sexes, of whom 8011 are boys and 6466 girls. Mr. Samuel Danby is the master of the boys' school at York, for which duty he receives one hundred guineas a year; and Mrs. Ann Dauby of the girls' school, with a stipend of forty pounds a year.

A school, partly on the Lancasterian plan of education, was established in Newgate, in 1813, and removed into St. Saviourgate in 1816, where 120 girls, of all religious denominations, are instructed in reading, writing, and accounts, at the charge of one penny a week. The deficiency in the funds is made up by annual subscriptions and donations, to which the Society of Friends are the principal contributors.—Treasurer, Mrs. Hannah Calton; mistress, Hannah Wilkinson.

At the Catholic School, in Castlegate, of which Mr. Thomas Bolland is master, sixty boys are educated gratuitously in reading, writing, and arithmetic; and particular regard is had to instruct them in their religious and moral duties.

The York Sunday Schools, belonging to the Established Church, were begun in the year 1786, and are under the direction of a committee, consisting of the clergy and several laymen. At present there are in these schools between six and seven hundred children. The school-room for the boys is situate at the Merchants' Hall, Fossgate, on Bishophill, and in Bootham; and those for girls on Bishophill, in Coppergate, Bootham, Walmgate, and Beiders. Several ladies take an active part in the conducting of these schools. Ninety bibles, the gift of Lord Wharton's trustees, are annually distributed amongst the scholars.—Every scholar to be entitled to one of these bibles has to say by heart the Church catechism, and the 1st, 15th, 25th, 35th, 101st, 113th, and 145th psalms, and to be well acquainted with the principles of the Christian religion. In these schools the National system of education has been lately adopted with considerable success.—There is a Sunday school for boys, belonging to the parish of All Saints, North-street, under the direction of the worthy rector, the Rev. W. L. Pickard, but it is quite unconnected with the Sunday school committee. The Sunday school committee also superintend the schools established by the late John Dodsworth, Esq. and also the concerns of the Charitable Society.

The Methodist Sunday Schools in York contain 600 scholars, of whom 333 are girls, and 268 are boys; of this number 220 girls and 210 boys receive instruction at the schools in Fossgate, of which there are two; and 113 girls and 58 boys are taught in the chapel in Albion-street. The Primitive Methodists have a small Sunday school in Grape-lane, consisting of twenty-five boys and the same number of girls.

In the Sunday School of Lendal Chapel held in a spacious room in the basement story of that edifice, 330 Sunday school scholars receive instruction from twenty-five teachers.

The York Emanuel is an institution without any building attached to it, established in the years 1781-2, for the benefit of ministers of all denominations, and the wives, widows, and children of ministers in any part of the kingdom, labouring under the misfortune of blindness or idiocy, who appear to the governors to be proper objects.—The term blindness is construed liberally, and such a deprivation of sight as disables the candidates from performing the usual duties of life, renders him or her eligible; idiocy is such a deprivation of reason as is not deemed lunacy. Persons applying for relief transmit a statement of their case in writing to the secretary, (Richard Townend, Esq.) previous to the general meeting, held in York half-yearly, on the second Thursday in April and October, authenticated by one justice of the peace and two neighbouring ministers. The annuities granted fluctuate between fifteen and fifty pounds.—This institution owes its origin to the distressed situation of a clergyman of the name of Daniel Hall, of Leven, in the East-Riding, who, at the age of sixty-five, was obliged to perform the duties of three curcies for ninety pounds per annum, and who, in a declining state of health, had no other means of supporting a wife and ten children, five of whom were blind. To provide an annuity of fifteen or twenty pounds a year for each of those blind children, a subscription was set on foot, and the appeal made to the benevolent on their behalf produced a sum of £4000. With the surplus which this subscription afforded the York Emanuel originated, and at the period of the publication of the last report, the fund for its maintenance was swelled by the contributions of the benevolent to £10,000 stock in the three per cent. consolidated annuities.

The other charitable institutions of York are:—The Charitable Society for the relief of the distressed actually resident in York; and the Benevolent Society, for the relief of strangers in casual distress, both which societies visit those they relieve. The Lying-in Society; the Bible Society; the Church Missionary Society; the Religious Tract Society; the Hibernian Society; and the Society for the Conversion of the Jews. The Clothing Society; the Faithful Female Servant Society; and the Society for the Suppression of Vice and Immorality, the main object of which is to co-operate with the Hull Penitentiary, and to send unfortunate females who wish to relinquish their vicious courses, to that asylum. There is also a Vagrant Office, in Little Shambles, by which vagrancy is checked and the distressed traveller relieved. Formerly there was in this city a Society called the Humane Society, for the recovery of drowned persons, &c. on the plan of the Royal Humane Society in London. The York institution now no longer exists, but as the directions of those establishments for relieving the apparently dead, cannot be too generally promulgated, they are here subjoined:—

DIRECTIONS.

WHAT THOU DOST—DO QUICKLY.

On the alarm of any person being DROWNED, SUFFOCATED, &c., send to the nearest RECEIVING-HOUSE; and also, if it can be done, send another person for medical assistance.

The RECEIVING-HOUSE will instantly prepare the couch, light a fire in the room, and provide two or three gallons of boiling water.

The BODY, in the mean-time, must be conveyed gently to the Receiving-House, wrapt in a blanket, coat, or other warm covering, with the head raised.

Not more than four or five persons, besides the medical assistants, to be allowed, on any account, to enter the room where the body is placed.

When the body is in the room, strip and dry it; clean the mouth and nostrils; lay it on the couch, in cold weather near the fire, and cover it with a warm blanket; and gently rub it with warm flannels.—In summer, expose the body to the rays of the sun; and in hot close weather, air should be freely admitted.

YOUNG CHILDREN to be put between two persons, in a warm bed.

If MEDICAL ASSISTANTS do not speedily arrive, then let the body, if DROWNED, be gently rubbed with flannel sprinkled with spirits or flour of mustard, and a heated warming-pan, covered, may be lightly moved over the back and spine.

TO RESTORE BREATHING.—Press or pinch the mouth or nostrils exactly close, for the space of half a minute, or a minute, then let them free; but if no perceptible sign of life appears, then introduce the pipe of a bellows (when no apparatus is at hand) into one nostril; the other, and the mouth being closed, blow into or inflate the lungs, till the breast be a little raised; the mouth and nostrils must then be let free.—Repeat this process till life appears.

TOBACCO-SMOKE, or the SMOKE of MYRRH or FRANKINCENSE, is to be thrown gently into the fundament, with a proper instrument, or the bowl of a pipe covered, so as to defend the mouth of the assistant.

The BREAST to be fomented with hot spirits—hot bricks or tiles, covered, &c. to be applied to the soles of the feet, and palms of the hands.

If no signs of life appear, the body is to be put into the warm bath.

IN CASES OF INTENSE COLD.

Rub the body with snow, ice, or cold water.—Restore warmth by slow degrees; and, after some time, if there be no appearance of life, the above means for restoring the drowned must be employed.

HANGING. A FEW OUNCES of BLOOD may be taken from the jugular vein, or the arm;—Cupping glasses may be applied to the head and neck;—Leeches also to the temples. The other methods of treatment, the same as recommended for the apparently drowned.

SUFFOCATION, BY NOXIOUS VAPOURS or LIGHTNING. COLD WATER to be repeatedly thrown upon the face, &c., drying the body at intervals.—If THE BODY FEELS COLD, employ gradual warmth, and the above process for restoring the drowned.

INTOXICATION. The BODY is to be laid on a bed, with the head a little raised; the neck-cloth, &c. removed. Obtain immediately MEDICAL ASSISTANCE, as the modes of treatment must be varied according to the circumstances of the patient.

GENERAL OBSERVATIONS. ON SIGNS OF RETURNING LIFE, a tea-spoonful of warm water may be given; and, if swallowing be returned, warm wine or diluted brandy.

The patients must be put into a warm bed, and, if disposed to sleep, they will generally awake perfectly restored.

The MEANS above recommended, are to be used for THREE or FOUR HOURS. It is an absurd and vulgar opinion to suppose persons irrecoverable, because LIFE does not soon make its appearance.

Benevolent persons, by immediately pursuing and persevering in the above directions, have restored many lives.

At the same time, it is proper always to recommend the attendance of the Faculty, as their professional knowledge will induce them to direct and vary the above means of restoring life, according to accidental circumstances.

The commercial and trading establishments of York are numerous, amongst which the Banks naturally take the precedence: There are here three banking establishments exclusive of the Savings' Bank, namely, Messrs. Raper, Swann, Clough, Swann, Bland, and Raper, Coney-street, who draw on Sir R. C. Glyn, Bart. Mills, Halifax, Glyn and Co. No. 19, Birch-lane, London.

Messrs. Wilson, Tweedy, and Wilson, High Ousegate, who draw on Sir William Curtis, Bart. Roberts, and Curtis, 15, Lombard street, London.

Messrs. Wentworth, Chaloner, Rishworth, and Co. Low Ousegate, who draw on Messrs. Wentworth, and Co. No. 25, Threadneedle street, London.

All the York Banks open at nine, and close at four o'clock.

The Savings' Bank, established in 1816, in New street, is in a flourishing situation, and has investments to the amount of 70,923*l.* 0*s.* 1*d.* made by 1854 depositors, consisting chiefly of servants and labouring persons.—Mr. Francis Carbutt is the secretary, and the hours of business are from 12 to 1 on Tuesdays, and from 11 to 1 on Saturdays.

There are four newspapers published in York:—

The Courant, published in Coney street, on Tuesday, by Mr. Henry Cobb.—This is the senior paper in York, and being established in 1720, is of course upwards of a century old. Its present politics are favourable to the Whig principles.

The Chronicle, published on Thursday, in Coppergate, by Mr. Wm. Blanchard, was established by Mr. Christopher Etherington, on the 18th of December, 1772. The politics of this paper are Tory, but not used.

The Herald, published in the Parliament, on Saturday, by Messrs. Hargrove, Gawthorp, and Hargrove. This paper was established on the 1st of January, 1790, by Messrs. Wilson, Spence, and Mawman, was afterwards published by Mr. Alexander Bartholoman, (who had been many years the overseer of their printing office,) and has always been decidedly a Whig publication.

The Yorkshire Gazette, published in the Minster yard, on Saturday, by Messrs. Wolstenholme and Co. This paper was established on the 24th of April, 1811, and is a decided Tory publication.

Pick's Racing Calendar was begun in 1786, and has been yearly continued to the present time. Mr. Thomas Sotheman, bookseller, is the proprietor and publisher. It also produces annually, in March, the Tory Companion.

A new Racing Calendar was commenced in 1821, by Mr. Robert Johnson, and will continue to be issued from his press, generally early in March.

In this city there are nominally three market days, namely, Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday, but the principal market is on Saturday. There is also a market for Swine, held every Wednesday, near Fosbridge.

The merchants of the staple have long since ceased to reside in York, the trade in wool in this city was for some ages discontinued; but on the 6th of May, in the year 1708, the wool market was revived, and there is now a wool fair, as it is called, held in Peaseholme green, every Thursday, from Lady-day to Michaelmas, which is well attended, and at which the growers from the North and from the East, meet the consumers from the West to sell their fleeces. There is also a leather fair, held in the street, on the first Wednesday in March, June, September, and December, which though so recently established as 1816, has become a mart of considerable consequence.

These flourishing branches of trade serve to compensate for the declension of business at the "Butter Stand" in Micklegate. Formerly great quantities of this article was brought to York, and after being weighed here by officers appointed for the purpose, was purchased by contractors, and shipped to London. Thirty years ago 80,000 firkins of butter were annually received at this office; now the quantity does not exceed one-sixth part of that amount.

The Fairs held in this city are numerous: In Peaseholme green there is a Lincæ Fair on the Saturdays before Michaelmas Day, Martinmas Day, Christmas Day, Lady Day, St. Peter's Day, and Lammas Day, (all old style) as well as on Whit Monday. The lincæ or flax is brought from the neighbourhood for sale, and the fair, which commences about nine o'clock in the morning, is over by eleven.—The three great Cattle and Horse fairs of York are held on the grounds out of Bootham Bar, called the Horse Fair, on Whit Monday, St. Peter's Day, and Lammas Day.—Besides these, there are several minor fairs, for horses, horned cattle, &c. held in Walmgate, Fossgate, the Pavement, and Petergate.

The Merchant Tailors' Company assemble quarterly in their hall, in Aldwark, to transact their business; but the concerns of the fraternity not requiring much room, they have very laudably awarded a considerable part of their premises to the use of charitable institutions. The master of this guild is Mr. Wm. Whitehead; and the wardens are Messrs. H. Stephenson, J. Wade, George Knowles, and John Hollins; the searchers are Messrs. John Nicholson and Geo. Vause.

The MERCHANTS' COMPANY of York, for the encouragement of trade, is of considerable antiquity, and has outlived the commerce of the city. Their hall is situated in Fossgate; and the old stone archway by which it is entered is surmounted by the arms of the Merchants of the Staple. The officers are chosen triennially, and consist at present of Mr. J. Hodgson, governor; Mr. Seth Agar, deputy-governor; Messrs. C. J. Hanson and H. Stead, wardens; and Mr. Thomas Ward, secretary. On the ground floor of the hall there is a chapel, and a hospital called "Trinity Hospital," endowed by the Company, in which five aged men and five aged women live, and are allowed each 5*l.* annually.

The offices for the distribution of stamps for the West and North Ridings are held in this city; that for the West-Riding in Petergate, of which Wm. Gray, Esq. is distributor; and the North-Riding office is in New street, of which Wm. Hale, Esq. is distributor. The East-Riding stamp office is at Hull.

The Post-Office is in Lendal, near the Mansion-house and the York Tavern, close to St. Helen's square. William Okfield, Esq. is the post-master; and a comprehensive scale, communicating a considerable body of information relating to that establishment, will be found at page 107, in the present volume; after which will also be found copious details relating to the carriers and coaches to and from this city.

The commerce and traffic carried on upon and through the medium of the Ouse, though now much less than in remote times, is still very considerable. Regular trading vessels between London and York, of the burden of from 110 to 180 tons, navigate its waters, and vessels of about half that burden are constantly passing between Hull and this city, from which goods are conveyed by water into the interior of the county, as far as Boroughbridge and Ripon. There is also a packet boat from Newton-on-Ouse, and another from Selby and Cawood, which arrive and return every Saturday, as well as a steam-packet from thence to Golebeu'.—York is amply supplied with coal, brought up the Ouse in barges from Flockton, Flinch Moor, and Silkstone, all in the West-Riding; and the inhabitants are supplied with water by the Water Works Company, from the works in Lendal, of which Mr. Ramsley is the managing clerk, under the direction of a committee. On the Foss there is a navigable communication from the junction of that river with the Ouse, to the parish of Stillington, in the North-Riding.

The Hawkers' and Pedlars' Office is situated in the Mint-yard, and is kept by Mr. George Burnell. From this office Licences are issued yearly, on the 1st of August.

The Excise-Office is in Spurlingate, and is open from 8 o'clock in the morning to 5 o'clock in the afternoon. Thos. Hall, Esq. of Bishop-hill, is the collector; Mr. Wm. Simpson, of Fowler's court, Spurlingate, is clerk; and Mr. Thos. Bushby, of Spurrtergate, the supervisor. There are also attached to this establishment eight officers of division, and three for the different rides, exclusive of two permit writers & an office keeper.

The manufactories of York are neither numerous nor upon a large scale; there are, however, some establishments of this nature which claim attention.—The white and red lead manufactory of Messrs. Charles Liddell and Co. in Newgate-lane, is an extensive concern in that line, and the process attracts a good deal of notice in York. The glass manufactory of Messrs. Prince and Frost, in the Suburbs near Fishergate Bar, was established in 1797, and is chiefly employed in the fabrication of Flint glass, vessels and glass phials. The wholesale book concern of Messrs. Wilson and Sons, in High Ousegate, ranks among the first establishments of the kind out of the metropolis. This city has also manufactories of carpets, linen, stuffs, flax, cordage, agricultural implements, combs, gloves, paper hangings, articles in chemistry, musical instruments, and jewellery, and the art sculpture is practised with considerable cess. In this, as in the other principal cities of England, there is an incorporated Goldsmiths' Company, which is authorised and directed by Act of Parliament to elect two wardens yearly, and to appoint an assay master or assayer. The Assay Office in York is situated in Feasgate, and the assay days are Tuesday and Friday in every week. Mr. William Greaves North is the present assayer. The persons forming the Goldsmiths' Company are those who have served a regular apprenticeship to the trade, are free of, and inhabitants of the city, and by them all elections and appointments relating to their corporation are made.

The population of York, within the last ten years, has increased about seventeen per cent. upon the population of 1811; in that year the return was 19,999, it is now 22,529, as appears from the following

* That part within the City or Suburbs.

The places of public amusement, and relaxation in this city are the theatre, assembly rooms, the concert rooms, the race course, the cock pit, and the bowling green; with the public baths, walks, and rooms, and other places of less importance.

The Theatre Royal is conveniently situated in the spacious opening at the upper part of Blake street. The present building was erected by Mr. Joseph Baker, in 1770, in the early part of the theatrical career of Tate Wilkinson, Esq. who, in 1769, became manager, under a patent from the Crown. This edifice has just undergone very considerable improvements; the square front, the interior is changed for the semi-circle, and instead of the row of boxes there are now two entire tiers, with very handsome lobbies; but the most material of the alterations consists in the improved entrance, formerly it was through a narrow tortuous passage, where the visitants to the box pit, and gallery, indiscriminately pressed together—now, on the contrary, the entrance to the gallery is through the Midway, and a spacious hall in front receives the frequenters of the boxes and pit upon their first entrance into the theatre, but they immediately separate; the former, turning to the left, ascend two capacious flights of stone steps, and the latter proceed straight forward through the hall of entrance to the pit. The whole of this part of the building is fire proof. Upon attaining the summit of the first lobby on the left, an elegant saloon presents itself, where confectionaries and other refreshments may be had by the company. The house is lighted with wax, supported by handsome glass chandeliers, and the embellishments in the panells round the theatre, which are in basso relievo, reflect great credit upon Mr. Rhodes, of Leeds, the artist, by their chaste and classical effect. The cost of these improvements has been defrayed out of a fund raised for the purpose by voluntary contributions, towards which Mr. Mansel, the present spirited manager, was a large contributor, the corporation subscribing 200*l.*; and the city of York can now boast of as beautiful a theatre as any in the kingdom. The theatrical season here is from the beginning of March to the latter end of May, and during the assize and race weeks. The house is calculated, at the ordinary prices of 4*s.* boxes, 2*s.* pit, and 1*s.* gallery, to hold 2000. It is only justice to the York stage to add, that it has had the honour to furnish more talent for the metropolitan boards than any other provincial establishment in these islands.

The Assembly Rooms are in Blake street, near the theatre. The edifice formed by this suite of gay apartments was erected by subscription, in shares of £100 and 50*l.* each, in the year 1730, from a design by the celebrated Lord Burlington. The vestibule, or entrance room, is 33 feet long by 21 wide, and 31 feet high. The grand assembly room is an antique Egyptian hall, 112 feet long, 40 feet broad, and 40 feet high. This room consists of two orders, the lower part exhibiting forty-four columns, with rich capitals, on which the wall above is carried up, and an elegant cornice completes the Corinthian order; the upper part is the composite, decorated with festoons, in imitation of acorns and oak leaves, surmounted with a beautiful cornice, embellished with curious ornaments. From the ceiling are suspended thirteen lustres of crown glass, each holding eighteen wax candles. On the right is the lesser assembly room, measuring 66 feet by 22, the ceiling of which is adorned with beautiful antique fret-work. In the assize and race weeks these rooms are open for concerts and assemblies, and at other times frequently display an assemblage of fashion and splendour, which serve to revive the recollection of the days when our Edwards and Henries held their courts in this our ancient city. During the winter there are five subscription concerts in these rooms, which usually commence in January; and four benefit concerts, with a separate subscription for quadrille dances and card parties, called "the York Winter Assemblies." The managers of the concerts are, Dr. Camidge and Mr. P. Knapton.

The Yorkshire Amateur Concerts, established at Sheffield, in 1808, for the gratification of a musical taste and the promotion of social intercourse amongst the lovers of harmony in this county, is held at York triennially. The performance which is annual in succession at Sheffield, Leeds, and York, continues for two days, and affords one of the richest musical treats that is to be enjoyed in any part of the kingdom.

Next to New Market, York Races bear the first rank upon the English turf—and if in England, then in the world. In Camden's time horse racing was a favourite amusement in the surrounding forest of Galtres, and as a folden bell, which was tied on the forehead of the winning horse, was the prize, hence the phrase arose of "bearing away the bell." In latter times Clifton's Ings were the scene of generous strife, but in the year 1709, Knavemire, so called from being the swampy pasture of the poor householders' cattle, has been used for this purpose.* In 1713, the King's gold cup, for which one hundred guineas has since been substituted, * Knave, the Anglo-Saxon term for a man of low condition. On the last day of the August Meeting, in 1804, a four mile race was run upon this course, which will be long memorable in the annals of the turf. The match was between Mrs. Thornton, backed by the Colonel, and Mr. Flint; and the attractive novelty of the scene was so great, that 50,000 spectators were that day drawn to Knavemire. In the early part of the contest the fair jockey rode with great spirit and dexterity, but while running the third mile her horse, Vingarillo, broke down, and she of course lost the race. York has long been famous for its attachment to racing, both equestrian and pedestrian. In the winter of 1773, Powell, the pedestrian, undertook for a considerable wager, to go from London to York and back again in six days. On Monday, the 29th of November, he commenced his task, early in the morning, and at half-past two o'clock in the afternoon of Wednesday, he arrived in York, attended by a vast concourse of spectators. After an hour and a half's repose, he again resumed his labour, and arrived at Hick's Hall, London, at half past six o'clock on Saturday night, amidst the congratulations of 500 horsemen, and an innumerable multitude of pedestrians, who had gone out to Barnet to meet him. Fuller, in his "Worthies," mentions an equestrian feat of a Yorkshireman, not less extraordinary. John Lepton, Esq. of York, a gentleman in the service of James I. for a considerable wager, undertook to ride, on horseback, three times from London to York, and three times from York to London, in six days, being a journey of nearly two hundred miles each in six successive days. On Monday, the 20th of May, 1606, he commenced his journey, from Aldersgate, and arrived in York before it was dark at night. The next day he travelled from York to London; and this he did successively every day in the week, "to the greater praise of his strength in acting," says our author, than "to his discretion in undertaking the task." William Nevison, the notorious highwayman, whom Charles II. used to call Swift Nick, after committing a robbery near London, about sun rise, rode his mare to York in the course of the day, and appeared upon the Bowling Green in that city, before sun-set. From this latter circumstance, when brought to trial for the offence, he established an alibi, to the satisfaction of the Jury, though he was in reality guilty—and thus was indebted for his life rather to the fleetness of his horse than to the integrity of his conduct. But a career of flagitious crime generally terminates in ignominious punishment. Nevison, though he escaped this time, was afterwards brought to trial for another robbery, of which he was found guilty, and executed for the offence.

was procured for these races, and has ever since been run for on the first day of the August meeting. The course is at a distance of about a mile from York, to the left of the London road, and the accommodation both for the company and the racers is of the first order. The meetings are in May and August, in each successive year. Mr. Robert Rhodes is the clerk of the course, and Mr. Parkinson the steward of the Grand Stand. "The Stand" and the "Round House," were both built by subscription, and are open to subscribers, and non-subscribers are admitted to them during each meeting on paying a guinea.

The salubrious recreation of the Bath may be taken in York at any period of the year. Near the New Walk there is a very eligibly situated cold bath, with two convenient dressing rooms, one for ladies and the other for gentlemen; and at Lendal Tower, adjoining to the water works, there is a suite of baths, hot, tepid, and cold.

The prisons in York are the Castle, the New Gaol, the new House of Correction, and St. Peter's prison. The Castle is situated at the end of Castlegate, near the confluence of the Foss and the Ouse. Formerly the waters of the Foss were drawn in a deep moat round the Castle, and in the early part of the last century, this prison was inaccessible, except by two draw-bridges; but the moat is now entirely filled up, and the access is by folding doors, and a porter's lodge, from Castlegate. According to Drake, there was a castle in York before the time of William I. at the place called "the Old Bayle;" but that fortress has now disappeared, and the present Castle was, as our historian conjectures, built on a Roman tower, by the Conqueror, and made of unusual strength to keep the citizens and the Northumbrians in awe of their tyrant. For some ages after the conquest this was the constant residence of the High Sheriff of the county in succession, as the Mansion-house is now the residence of each successive Lord Mayor: it was likewise the storehouse for the king's magazines, and the treasury for such part of his revenue as was kept in the North. It was then a fortress, in which however, the Assizes were held; but towards the end of the seventeenth century, it was converted into a prison, to which purpose it has been ever since appropriated. Though the Assizes for the three Ridings are held here, the Castle is not within any of them, nor is it in the jurisdiction of the city; it is extra parochial, though it is assessed, and bears charges with the parish of St. Mary, Castlegate. The extent of the city's liberties are within twenty-nine yards of the Castle gate, and the boundary is marked by the city arms, of five lions, cut in stone, and placed in the wall on each side of the street.* The Castle, with its appendages, occupies about four acres of ground; the walls are 1100 yards round, and within the walls, in front of the Castle, is an area, called the Castle yard, of the size of about an acre, in which the county meetings for the election of knights of the shire, and other public business, are held.

The buildings, which form three sides of a square, consist of the County Gaol, in front, the Record Office, &c. to the East; and the County Hall, to the West of the Castle yard; the wall to the North, which, with the lodge, completes the square, is built at the foot of the mound, formed by the ruins of Clifford's tower. The Cowfay Gaol occupies the site on which the towers of the Castle anciently stood. These towers having sunk into a ruinous state during a lapse of six centuries, they were taken down in the year 1701, and the present structure was raised in their stead. The funds for this public work were obtained by a tax of three-pence in the pound on all lands, &c. within the County; and, at the time of its erection, it was considered an edifice "so noble and complete, as to exceed all others of the kind in Britain, perhaps in Europe." This building consists of two wings, divided by the felons' court yard. The right wing is a gallery for Abbots, ascended by a large double series of steps, and contains twenty-two rooms, sixteen feet square, and nearly twelve feet high, with apartments for the use of the governor; which office is at present, and has been for many years filled, much to the public satisfaction, by Mr. Wm. Staveley.† In a room at the entrance to this wing, is a large closet or recess, occupied by the under gaoler, Wilson, in which the curiosities of the Castle, quaintly called "the King's plate," consisting of the deadly weapons, and heavy chains of the most notorious offenders, are deposited and exhibited. In the left wing of this building is a chapel, used for divine service, and ascended by steps, corresponding to those on the right. The Rev. William Flower, jun. is the present Chaplain, and the Rev. James Richardson, is the Lecturer. The felons' cells in the rear of the court yard, are in general about seven feet square, and eight feet high. The building on the East side of the Castle yard contains apartments for the Clerk of Assize, the county record, an indictment office, hospital rooms, (attended by Mr. George Champney, the surgeon,) and cells for the female prisoners; it was erected in the year 1780, and considerably enlarged three years afterwards. The whole length of this building is 150 feet, and its front is adorned with an elegant colonnade, with four Ionic pillars, corresponding to the County-hall.—The County-hall, or Basilica, on the West side of the area, was built in 1763, at the charge of the County, John Ramsden, of Byrom, Esq. being then High Sheriff. In 1777, it was rebuilt in a more modern style of architecture, with a portico entrance of six Ionic columns, thirty feet high, surmounted by an elegant statue of Justice, and other emblematic devices. The length of this building is 150 feet, and its breadth 44 feet. Here the business of the various courts is transacted through the year, and the Lent and Lammas Assizes are held in the crown court to the left, and the visi prius court to the right of the entrance. Near the Grand Jury room, in the rear of the building, with an aspect to the Ouse, is the New Drop, used for the execution of criminals. Formerly, the last and most awful sentence of the law was executed on a gallows, out of Micklegate bar, at a place called Tyburn, about a mile from the city; but, in 1809, the present platform was erected, and on the 29th of August, in that year, the first execution in this situation took place. Since that time, to August, 1822, seventy-three malefactors have been executed here, making an average sacrifice in this county alone, of nearly four lives a year to the criminal laws. The county of York is in that judicial division of the kingdom, called the Northern Circuit; and the High Sheriff for the County, for the year 1823, is Walter Fawkes, Esq. of Farnley Hall.

* The city arms were formerly argent, with only a cross gules. The five Lions were afterwards added by William the Conqueror, in honour of the five brave magistrates, Clifford, Hougate, Talbot, Leascliff, and Errington, who so valiantly defended the city against the arms, in 1070, until obliged to surrender through famine.

† This is considered a situation of great trust and responsibility, and the Governor has a salary of £700. a year, besides the prison fees, which amount to a considerable sum annually.

The New Gaol, for the City and Ainsty of York, is a handsome and commodious stone building, of modern erection, begun in the year 1802, and completed in 1807. This structure occupies part of the site of the ancient castle, called "the Old Bayle," near Skeldergate postern. The outer wall, which is of brick, incloses about three quarters of a square mile, in the centre of which stands the prison, with a neat court yard in front, adorned with a cupola and vase, which are seen in various parts of the city and its neighbourhood. The building consists of three stories, part of which is occupied by felons, and the second and third by debtors. The office of governor is filled by Mr. George Rylah, who has a salary of 150*l.* a-year, exclusive of gaol fees; his apartments form an outshot building behind the prison, in the attic story of which is a chapel, in which the Rev. William Flower, sen. the Chaplain, preaches a sermon every alternate Sunday, and reads prayers every Thursday evening to the prisoners. Mr. George Champney discharges the duties of surgeon to this prison. The executions here are happily very rare; during the last fifteen years there have been no more than two, and when they take place, a scaffold is erected without the wall, next to the Old Bayle hill.

The Gaol for the imprisonment and correction of "lesser criminals," was formerly a part of St. Anthony's hall, on Peaseholme green; but in the year 1814, a structure was completed on Toft-green, under the direction of Mr. Peter Atkinson, architect, and city steward, which may rank amongst the best constructed prisons in the kingdom. The expense attendant upon the erection of this prison, like that for the building of the city gaol, was defrayed by a joint assessment on the City and on the Ainsty, for the use of both of which it is intended, the former contributing three-fifths, and the latter two-fifths. The governor is Mr. John King; the Rev. Wm. Flower, sen. is the Chaplain, and performs service once every alternate Sunday, and reads prayers every Tuesday evening. This establishment, which admits of the classification of prisoners, may serve as a model to those who may be engaged in the erection or management of prisons.

The Courts of Justice in York are the Castle, for the County, (as has been already explained); Guild-hall for the City; and the Court of Pleas, for the Liberty of St. Peter's. The Ecclesiastical Court is held in the Minster-yard, and the list of its officers will be found appended to that of the Cathedral Clergy.

The government of the City of York, like the government of the kingdom of Great Britain, is in three estates—the Lord Mayor, as Sovereign; the Aldermen and body of twenty-four, as a house of Lords; and the Common-council, corresponding in some degree to the House of Commons. The members and officers of the Corporation, for the year 1823, are:—

and Mr. John Richardson, of Collingate, York.

The Mayor of York, by ancient prescription, assumes the title of Lord, which peculiar honour, as we have already seen, was conferred on this Chief Magistrate, by Richard II. in 1389. The same sovereign, in 1388, presented Robert Scroope, the then Lord Mayor, with a large gilt mace, to be borne before him, and a cup of maintenance to the sword-bearer. The Lord Mayor is the King's Lieutenant in his absence; he takes the chair in the presence of the Judge of Assize, who sits on his right hand: at the Sessions he is supreme; and no act or law for the government of the city can be valid without his presence. This officer is annually chosen on the 15th of January, and on the 3d of February, the Lord Mayor elect, as he is called during the interval, enters upon his office. If the Lord Mayor be married, his wife is dignified with the title of Lady Mayoress, and in addressing her, the term "My Lady," is applied. In Drake's time, though the husband parted with both honour and title at the time he was divested of office, yet by the courtesy of York, in favour of the fair sex, her ladyship still enjoyed her title, by no other right perhaps, but that of an old rhyming proverb, which says—
"He is a lord for a year and a day,
"But she is a lady for ever and for ay."

This courtesy towards the Lady Mayoress has, however, now ceased; and at the expiration of her husband's year of office, the term My Lady is dropped, unless she was previously entitled to it by marriage, or in her own right.

The residence of the Lord Mayor is the Mansion-house, a stately edifice, built in the year 1756, and which stands at the north end of Coney street, near Lendal, and occupies the site of the ancient chapel of the Guild of St. Christopher. The revenue of the Lord Mayor was formerly derived chiefly from the toll of corn coming to the market, but that toll in 1784, was liberally relinquished by the corporation, and this mansion is the scene of his hospitalities. The stateroom, where the chief magistrate gives his entertainments, is 49 feet 6 inches in length, and 27 feet 9 inches in breadth, and is lighted in front by a double tier of windows. There are here eight valuable portraits in excellent preservation: of his present Majesty, presented by him to the Corporation; King William III.; George II.; the late Marquis of Rockingham; Sir John Lister Kaye, M. P. and Lord Mayor, in 1787; Lord Bingley, M. P. and Lord Mayor in 1787; (when George Lane Fox, Esq.); Sir Wm. M. Milner, M. P. and Lord Mayor in 1797 and 1798; Lord Dundas, Lord Mayor in 1811, (when the Hon. Lawrence Dundas, M. P.) and in 1831, when Lord Dundas, and the only English Peer ever Lord Mayor of York. It is worthy of remark, that York had the honour to set the Corporation of London the example of erecting a Mansion House for their Lord Mayor.

The Guild-hall is situated behind the Mansion-house, and was built in the year 1446. In this fine Gothic Hall, which is ninety-six feet long, by forty-three feet wide, the Assizes for the city are held, and it is then formed into two courts, the Crown Court at the end of the Hall, and the Nisi Prius Court near the entrance. The elections for members of parliament are also held here, and it may be proper in this place to mention, that the city of York is at present represented in parliament by Marmaduke Wyvill and Robert Chaloner, Esqrs. who, like the corporation of the city they represent, are both of the whig party. Three times a week, namely, on Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday, the Lord Mayor, and at least one alderman, sit at the Guild-hall, for the administration of justice; and the business of the Quarter Sessions for the city is also transacted in this place. At the end of this hall are several rooms for the grand and petit juries, one of which is called the Inner Room, in which the County Court, for the recovery of debts in the County, not exceeding Five Pounds, consolidated with the Sheriff's Turn Court, and the Court of Common Pleas, is held weekly, usually on the Tuesday.

The Council Chambers is a building of modern erection, adjoining the Guild-hall. When the old Council Chambers of the city upon Ouse-Bridge were taken down in 1810, these chambers were built adjoining: the Inner Room, & the Lower House, namely, the Coun-mon Council, hold their deliberations in one of them, while the Upper House, consisting of the Lord Mayor, Recorder, City Council, Aldermen, Sheriffs, and the Gentlemen of the Twenty-four assembly in the Upper Chamber.

Amongst its other public institutions York enjoys the advantage of an excellent Subscription Library, containing about ten thousand volumes in the various branches of science and literature. This institution was commenced in the year 1794, but it was not till the year 1811, that the present Library Room, which is very eligibly situated in St. Helen's Square, was built. The number of members at present amounts to four hundred and seventy-seven; the mode of admission is by ballot, and the terms are ten guineas entrance, and an annual subscription of twenty-six shillings, paid in advance. Mr. Joseph Shepherd is the Librarian. There are in York some other Libraries, Subscription and Circulating, the principal of which is, the Select Subscription Library, in Lady Peckett's yard, Pavement.

On the ground floor, under the York Subscription Library, in St. Helen's Square, there is a Subscription News Room, handsomely fitted up, and furnished with the London and country newspapers. Subscribers are admitted by ballot, and the members of the room have each the privilege of introducing a friend, not resident in York, for one month, on registering his name in a book kept for that purpose. The annual subscription is one guinea, and the admission fee ten shillings and sixpence. There are also two other Subscription News Rooms, one at the York Tavern, and the other, called the York Club Room, at Etridge's Hotel.

The Cavalry Barracks, erected in 1796, are situated at a distance of about a mile S. W. of the city, on the Fulford road. The cost of these erections, with the twelve acres of ground appropriated to the purpose, has been little short of 30,000*l.* and the accommodation they afford is for three field officers, five captains, nine subalterns, four quarter-masters, two hundred and forty non-commissioned officers and privates, and 266 horses. The parade ground is very extensive, and in front of the range appropriated to the officers is a large grass plot, for the accommodation of the numerous and fashionable company who frequently attend to hear the fine martial band which plays upon the parade. Mr. Anthony Lefroy is the barrack master.

York has produced several characters eminent in history, and a still larger number eminent in the ages in which they lived. Amongst the former of these may be mentioned CONSTANTINE THE GREAT, the first

Christian Emperor; FLACCUS ALBANUS, the pupil of Bede and the mentor of Charlemagne; and WALTHEROF, Earl of Northumberland, and son of the gallant Siward. Amongst the latter we find the names of ROBERT FLOWER, the hermit of Knaresborough, usually called St. Robert, born in 1190; JOHN LE ROMAINE, the thirty-eighth Archbishop of York, and the natural son of John Romaine, a priest and treasurer of the cathedral; JOHN WALDBY, and ROBERT his brother, two eminent scholars, who flourished about the middle of the fourteenth century, the former of whom was the forty-seventh archbishop of this province; JOHN ERGHOM, a friar Eremitic; and JOHN BATE, a friar Carmelite; both profound expositors of the holy scriptures, and authors of celebrity in the fifteenth century; VALENTINE FREES and his WIFE, rendered memorable by having, according to Fox, died for religion at the stake in the year 1531, and of whom Fuller says, that they were, according to his recollection, the only man and his wife ever thus married together in martyrdom; EDWARD FREES, the brother of Valentine, born also at York, who, for having heretically painted some passages of scripture on the borders of several pieces of cloth, was committed to prison by John Stoaksley, Lord Bishop of London, and there, according to Fox, was fed with manchet made of sawdust, and kept in prison till the flesh of his wrists grew over his irons, his reason having in the mean time so far forsaken him that when brought for examination before his persecutor, he said, "My Lord is a good man!" GEORGE TANKERFIELD, another martyr, was born in York; Sir Thomas Widdrington says he was a cook in London, and was, by Bishop Bonner, antichrist's great cook, roasted and burnt to death.—THOMAS MORTON, the son of a mercer in York, born in the Pavement, in the year 1564, rose by his merit successively to the bishopricks of Chester, Lichfield, and Coventry, and lastly to Durham: when he was a parish priest, and rector of Marston, the plague raged in York with so much fury that a number of infected persons were sent out of the city to Hob-Moor, where tents were erected for their accommodation, on which occasion this intrepid disciple of his divine master visited them daily, and administered alike to their spiritual wants and to their temporal necessities.* HENRY SWINBURNE,

* The writer of this prelate's life says, that he was school fellow, at York, with Guy Faux, the famous popish incendiary, who is said to have been born at Bishopthorp, and educated in this city.

an eminent doctor of civil law, was born at York about the middle of the sixteenth century, and educated at the Free Grammar School in this city. As his contemporary and countryman, Gilpin, was called the apostle of the north, so Swinburne was styled the northern advocate—the one being famous for his learning in divinity, and the other in the civil law. SIR THOMAS HERBERT, son of Mr. Thomas Herbert, merchant and alderman of York, was born in this city in 1606, and educated here till he was admitted a commoner of Jesus College, Oxford, in 1621. Having completed his studies, he travelled for some years through Africa and Asia, under the patronage of William Earl of Pembroke, his kinsman.—On his return home he waited on the Earl, and was invited to dine with him the next day, but the Earl dying suddenly that very night his hopes of preferment from that quarter were blasted, and he again left England to visit various parts of Europe.—Upon finishing his travels he settled in his native country, and in the time of the civil wars adhered to the cause of the Parliament. By the persuasion of Philip Earl of Pembroke, he became one of the commissioners to treat with the King's officers for the surrender of Oxford to the Parliamentary army. Subsequently he was put upon the King as one of his martial servants, along with others; in the place of several of his own servants; while in this situation he became a convert to the royal cause, and continued with his Majesty till he was brought to the block. Charles II. immediately upon the restoration, rewarded his faithful services to his father in the two last years of his life by creating him a baronet in 1660, which honour he enjoyed for upwards of twenty years, and died at his house in York on the first of March, 1681.—CHRISTOPHER CARTWRIGHT, a profound scholar, styled Vir eruditissimus, was born at York, and is known to the learned world for his Annotations on Genesis and Exodus. JOHN EARLE was born at York in 1681, and admitted of Merton College, Oxford, in 1699. His younger sons, says Antony Wood, his biographer, were adorned with oratory, poetry, and witty fancies, and his elder with quaint preaching and subtle disputes. He rose successively from the Deanery of Westminster to the Bishoprick of Worcester, and ultimately to that of London; and dying at Oxford, in 1665, was buried near the high altar in Merton College Church, in that city. MARMADUKE FOTHERGILL, born in 1652, in the house called Pevey's Inn, in the parish of St. Dyon's, Walmgate, was a divine of great learning and piety, and in ecclesiastical antiquity stood almost unrivalled. By his last will he left a fine collection of books as a library to the parish of Shipwath, of which he had been minister, on condition that the parishioners should build a proper room for them at their own cost; but this charge they parsimoniously refused to incur, and the library was, by his widow, presented to the Dean and Chapter of York, to swell the Minister collection. FRANCIS DRAKE, the venerable and learned historian of York, was the son of the Rev. Francis Drake, rector of Hemsworth and vicar of Pembroct. Though not born in this city, he settled here in early life, and practised as a surgeon with considerable reputation.—Having married Mary, the youngest daughter of John Woodyeare, Esq. of Crook-hill, he devoted himself principally to his literary pursuits, and in the year 1736 published his Eboracum, a work which will serve to confer immortality on the history and antiquities of that city, and which will, in its turn, hand down his name to the latest posterity.

In this brief but faithful history of ancient and modern York, the contrast between the imperial city—the residence of Emperors and of Kings, and the decayed capital of a northern county, forces itself strongly upon the mind, and serves to exhibit the vicissitudes to which the affairs of places, as well as of persons, are subject.—But York—though shorn of some of its brightest beams—though three times reared to the ground by invaders,* in various periods—and though deprived of its commerce by Hull, and of its manufactures by Leeds, in more modern times, is still an interesting and venerable city, of which it may be said, in the lines of Sir Thomas Widdington:—

York's not so great as Old York was of yore,
Yet York it is, though wasted to the core:
It's not that York which Ebrank built of old;
Nor yet that York which was of Roman mould;
York was the third time burnt, and what you see

In consequence of recent alterations, the London, Hull, Whitby, Scarborough and Liverpool Mails arrive here so as to admit of a delivery, at the window, of letters and newspapers (brought by those mails) in the evening, as soon as possible after the departure of the mail to the North, which delivery continues until ten o'clock, at which hour the Receiving Box is closed for all parts of the kingdom, but letters are taken in at the window until eleven, by payment of one penny each. It is, however, necessary that all letters intended to be forwarded by the Edinbro' and Shields mails, or the Boroughbridge and Wetherby posts of the same night, should be put into the office before seven o'clock. The office opens every morning at eight o'clock for the delivery of letters, and the letter carriers are dispatched into the city at nine.

AINSTY OF YORK.

THE AINSTY OR COUNTY OF THE CITY OF YORK, is a district to the West of York, under the jurisdiction of the Lord Mayor and Magistrates of that city, to which it was annexed in the twenty-seventh of Henry VI. Prior to this time it was a wapentake or hundred of the West-Riding. The Ainsty or Aachty is supposed by Drake to have been derived from the old northern word acent signifying a hundred contiguous, opposite or near to the city. The whole district or wapentake was anciently a forest, but it was dis-forested by the charters of Richard I. and John. The circuit of the Ainsty is computed at thirty-two miles, according to the following calculation:—

From the confluence of the rivers Nidd and Ouse, at Nun-Monkton, to that of the Wharf and Ouse, near Nun-Appleton, 12 miles.
From the junction of the Wharf and Ouse to Thorp-Arch,.....	11
From Thorp-Arch to Wilsthorp, on the Nidd, .....	6
From Wilsthorp, along the line of the Nidd, to its confluence with the Ouse, .....	5
	—32

The Ainsty comprises thirty-five towns and villages, of which the following is the enumeration:—

Acaster Malbis,	Holgate,
Acaster Selby,	Hutton Wanaley,
Asomb,	Knapton,
Angram,	Long Marston,
Appleton Roebuck,	Middlethorpe,
Askham Bryan,	Moor Monkton,
Askham Richard,	Nether Poppleton,
Bickerton,	Oxton,
Bilbrough,	Rufforth,
Bilton,	Steeeton,
Bishopthorpe,	Tadcaster, to the middle of the bridge,
Bolton Percy,	Thorp-Arch,
Catterton,	Tockwith,
Colton,	Upper Poppleton,
Copmanthorpe,	Walton,
Dringhouses,	Wighill,
Healaugh,	Wilsthorp,
Hessay,

Exclusive of several hamlets.

In Drake's time the City and Ainsty of York were accounted equal to one-eighth part of the West-Riding, and one-twentieth of the whole county. The extraordinary increase of population and wealth in the West-Riding within the last hundred years has, however, destroyed these proportions, and it appears, from the census of 1831, that the City and Ainsty of York do not now, in point of population, exceed one-twenty-fifth part of the West-Riding, and one thirty-fifth part of the whole county.—In all assessments by act of parliament the City of York is taxed at three-fifths, and the Ainsty at two-fifths. Till the year 1735, a doubt existed whether the freeholders of the Ainsty had a right of suffrage at the election for members of parliament for this county, (on the ground that it formed part and parcel of a separate county) and though their votes were received by the Sheriff, they were always taken with a query prefixed to their names; but after the contest between Sir Miles Stapleton, Bart. and Sir Rowland Winn, Bart. the matter was brought to issue before the House of Commons, when the House, on the 9th of March, 1735, decided, "That the persons whose freeholds lie within that part of the County of the City of York, which is commonly called the Ainsty, have a right to vote for Knights of the Shire of the County of York." The following is a brief description of the places within the Ainsty, taken in alphabetical order with the directory of each place subjoined:

ACASTER MALBIS, (P.) situated on the Ouse; 4 miles S. of York. Here is a good School House, endowed with the products of some lands, under the patronage of certain trustees, who have the appointment of fourteen poor children, as proper objects to receive instruction free of cost. Mr. George Cowper, is the master, and Messrs. William Cundell, John Kettlewell, and John Oates, feoffees. The church is an ancient structure, of which the Rev. Thomas Barker, is perpetual curate. The town derives its name from the family of the Malby's, which flourished here for some centuries after the conquest. Population, 291.

ACASTER SELBY, in the parish of Stillingfleet; 8 miles S. of York. This village is pleasantly situated on the banks of the Ouse, on which river the Steam Packets, and others, pass and repass to Selby, Gains-bro', and Hull, tending considerably to enliven the scene. Here is a Free School, with an endowment of 7l. 7s. per annum, arising out of the fee-farm rents, aided also by voluntary subscriptions of the inhabitants of the township. This place was formerly part of the possession of the Abbot of Selby, and from thence its name is derived. Population, 189.

ACOMB, (P.) in the liberty of St.
Peter's, 2 miles W. of York. This church is an ancient small structure, and being seated on a dry and elevated situation, a number of families choose it for their place of sepulchre. Here is also a newly-erected Methodist chapel, likewise a school, built by voluntary subscriptions of the inhabitants, and vested in certain trustees, upon Dr. Bell's plan of education. Population, 738.

Appleton (Nun), in the parish of Bolton Percy; 6 miles SE. of Tadcaster; was formerly a priory, for Nuns of the Cistercian Order, founded in the reign of King Stephen, by Alice de St. Quintin; and among the injunctions prescribed to the Nuns of this house in the year 1489, are the following:—

“That the cloister doors be shut up in winter at seven, and in summer at eight at night, and the keys delivered to the prioress.— That the prioress and all the sisters lodge nightly in the dorter, unless sick or diseased. That none of the sisters use the ale-house, or the waterside, where the course of strangers daily resort. That none of the sisters have their service of meat and drink to their chambers, but keep the frater and the hall, unless sick. That no sister bring in any man, religious or secular, into their chambers, or any secret place, day or night, &c.— That the prioress license no sister to go a pilgrimage, or visit their friends, without great cause, and then to have a companion. That the convent grant no corodies or liveries of bread, or ale, or other victual, to any person, without special licence. That they take in no perhenninauncers or sojourners, unless children, or old persons, &c.”
On the 26th of December, 1546, this Monastery was surrendered, and afterwards became a ruin. Thomas Lord Fairfax built a handsome brick house upon the site; which, with the estate, was subsequently purchased by Mr. Alderman Milner, a merchant in Leeds; and is now the seat of his great grandson Sir W. M. Milner, Bart.

APPLETON ROMBERG, in the parish of Bolton Percy; 8 miles SW. of York. Here is a neat brick-built chapel, belonging to the Methodists of the Old Connexion, erected about three years ago: likewise a good National School house, for sixty boys and fifty girls, built by subscription in 1817, patronised by the Rev. Archdeacon Markham, and supported by voluntary contributions. The situation is very salubrious, and there is living here at present an old man, of the name of John Lamb, aged 94 years. Population, 585.

BISHOPSTROPPE, anciently St. Andrew's Thorp, (P.); 3 miles S. of York. The palace of the Archbishop of York, built by Walter de Grey, in the early part of the thirteenth century, is situated here. Since that time the house has undergone several reparations by the succeeding Archbishops. The gardens contiguous to the palace were hid out almost wholly at the expense of Archbishop Sharp: and the house received great alterations from Archbishops Dawes and Gilbert, but the most considerable improvements were made by Archbishop Drammend. Nor did this prelate confine his munificence to the palace; he took down and rebuilt the parish church, dedicated to St. Andrew, in the year 1766, and adorned it with a curious window, which was brought, together with the stone used in building the gateway in front of the palace, from the castle of Cawood. There is here a National School, built in 1815, patronised and supported by the present Archbishop and his family, of which Mr. Thomas Richardson is master. Population, 301.

HEALAUGH, (P.) 3 miles N. of Tadcaster. Here was, in the reign of King John, an hermitage in the wood, which afterwards, in 1218, became a convent of regular black canons, established and endowed by Jordan de St. Maria, and all his wife. At the time of the dissolution here were fourteen canons, who had revenues to the value of 72*l.* 10*s.* 7*d.* per annum. This monastery was granted, in 1540, to James Gage, and afterwards came into the possession of Sir Arthur Darcy, knight. The church, dedicated to St. John the Evangelist, is a neat modern structure, which the Rev. E. H. Brooksbank is very pleasantly situated upon an eminence. The village is the property of B. Brooksbank Esq. excepting one tenement and a few acres of land. It is beautifully laid out, with gardens in front of all the houses, and a good carriage road runs through the centre, which leads from Wetherby to York. Population 191.

STREETHOUSES, in the parishes of Bolton Percy and Bilsbrough, 3 miles N E. of Tadcaster. This hamlet took its name from its vicinity to the Roman road from York to Tadcaster. All the Roman roads being firmly paved with stone, were called streets, as Watling street, &c. Stratum is the word made use of by the venerable Bede, quite through his work, to denote a Roman road.

Syngthorpe, (extra parochial) 4 miles E. of Wetherby. Formerly there was a priory at this place, founded by Bertram Hagot, about the year 1106, for nuns of the Clisterian order. Catherine Foster, the fourteenth and last prioress, surrendered the convent in 1534, at which time the annual revenue amounted to £62. 6s. The site was granted in the year 1539, to Sir Thos. Tempest, Knight. The century before the dissolution of this priory, Geoffrey, Archbishop of York, took the nuns under his protection, and denounced a malediction against those who should dare to wrong them, and a blessing on their benefactors.

THORP ARCH and BOSTON, (P.) 3 miles SE. of Wetherby. Though situated in different divisions of the county, these two places are so closely connected as to form only one village. The river Wharf runs with a rapid stream through this delightful place, and the cascade seen through the arches of the bridge, with the church and houses embosomed in wood, on the banks of the river, afford a rich and varied landscape that can scarcely be excelled. In the year 1744 John Shires, an inhabitant of the village, while cutting brushwood on the banks of the river, accidentally discovered at this place a mineral spring, which, by its medicinal qualities, has tended to bring Thorp-Arch into considerable repute. This water, when taken fresh from the pump, has a limpid, sparkling appearance, saline taste, and a slight sulphureous smell. It is possessed of purgative and diuretic virtues, and contains a small quantity of inflammable air, generated from iron. The late DR. WALKER, of Leeds, an eminent physician, from whom we quote, submitted this water to a variety of experiments, in the year 1784, the result of which show that it contains inflammable air, fixed air, and muriatic salt, in the proportion of one ounce to a gallon; calcareous earth and selenitic earth, sixteen grains together in a gallon; and a small quantity of iron suspended by fixed air. As the proportion of salt which it contains is considerably less than that in the Harrogate water, it is taken in larger doses. The principles which compose Thorp-Arch water give it a superiority over Harrogate water in general relaxation, bilious disorders, glandular obstructions, and scirrhuses, stomach complaints, and spontaneous vomitings. Harrogate water is to be preferred in cutaneous diseases, the piles, rheumatism, worms, ulcers, and probably in the stone and gravel. In many other cases the medical virtues of the two waters appear to be nearly equal.—The chalybeate water of Thorp-Arch pretty much resembles that of other chalybeate springs; but the air here is of uncommon purity, and many have experienced its good effects who have scarcely tasted the medicinal waters. The accommodations at this fashionable watering place are extremely good; in addition to three capital inns there are a considerable number of lodging houses, suited to the various circumstances and condition of the visitors. Thorp-Arch is supposed to derive the latter part of its name from the family of D'Archis, who came in with the Conqueror, and had large possessions in these parts. The church, which is dedicated to All Saints, was ordained a vicarage by Archbishop Sewall, in 1258, but in the early part of the last century the living was only of the yearly value of £24, till, by the liberality of the Rev. Mr. Robinson, of Leeds, and Lady Elizabeth Hastings, added to a donation from Queen Ann's fund, and a contribution from the Rev. Mr. Wetherherd, vicar, the tythes were purchased as an augmentation to the living. The present church is a beautiful structure, of which the Earl of Huntingdon is the patron, and the Rev. Robert Huntington the incumbent. All the houses in Boston are of modern erection; it is said that the first house built in this division of the village was erected by the late Mr. Joseph Taite, in the year 1753, and that Mr. Samuel Taite, the gentleman who contributed the land upon which the episcopal chapel in that place was erected, seven years ago, was the first person born in Boston.—There is here a charity school, founded by Lady Elizabeth Hastings, and a neat Methodist Chapel. The population, with Clifton included, is 1360, namely, Thorp-Arch 343, Boston 677, and Clifton 340.†

Post-Office.—Letters are conveyed to Thorp Arch and Boston from Wetherby every morning. John Smith, the letter carrier, arrives at 10 o'clock, and returns immediately after circulating the letters.

WALTON, (P.) 2½ miles E. of Wetherby. This village was long in the possession of the family of Fairfax, but is now the property of G. L. Fox, Esq. Bramham Park, who is lord of the manor. Through this tract of ground runs the great Roman road called Watling street, from the south to the wall now called Redgate. It crossed the Wharf at a place called St. Helen's Ford, near Walton, where formerly stood a chapel, dedicated to St. Helen, the mother of Constantine. The parish church is a very ancient structure. ALDBROUGH, (P.) in the wap. and liberty of Holderness; 8 miles NE. of Hedon. A flourishing and very lively village pleasantly situated on the declivity of a small eminence, and consists of some elegant and well built houses. The church dedicated to St. Bartholomew, is a large Gothic structure, of which the King is patron, and the Rev. Nicholas Holmes the vicar. In the interior is an ancient circular stone fifteen inches in diameter, commemorating the building of the church, the inscription on which may be translated thus:—ULF COMMANDED THIS CHURCH TO BE ERECTED FOR THE SOULS OF HANUM AND GUNTARD. Ulf, here mentioned, is supposed to be the same who gave his estate to the church of York, and in this gift was included Aldbrough, where he had a castle, the foundation of which is now entirely levelled. The Roman road from Protorium to Gabrantiesoum Sines, runs through Aldbrough. The following is a copy of an extract from an old history of York, which was lately found here, "York, 1291 1292. Jo. Spear, Mayor." These years the mayoralty was in the king's hands, and Sir John De Maleso, or Meaux, was governor of the city, he was a great warrior and tall in stature, as appears from his armour, which is now to be seen in the church of Aldbrough, where he is buried under a stone monument representing him in full length lying, and also the figure of his wife. A Mr. Towry left a quantity of land, the rent arising from which, is distributed to the old and infirm at the discretion of the minister, overseers and churchwardens for the time being, about 90*l.* of which is appropriated to the education of poor children. Pop. including East and West Newton townships, 998.

ATWICK, (P.) in the wap. and liberty of Holderness; 2 mls. N. of Hornsea. A small, though pleasant village, situated near the sea, from which it suffers greatly by the encroachments of the water, particularly in stormy weather; the greatest part of this village stands at the junction of three roads, in the centre of which stands an old stone cross, which, in the year 1786, was situated at the distance of thirty-three chains and sixty-three links from the sea, from the rudeness of the structure it appears to be of great antiquity; there is round its base a latin inscription, but rendered unintelligible by the dilapidations of time. The church, of which the King is patron, is a plain Gothic structure, dedicated to St. Lawrence. The Rev. James Wilson is the vicar and surrogate, for the dean and chapter; here is also a Methodist chapel, built in 1821; likewise a public school, endowed with about 30l. per annum, paid out of the several charities of this place. Edward Feawick, in the year 1689, left by deed one Osgang of land, situated in Bedford, the annual rent of which is to be applied to apprenticing poor boys and girls of Atwick, at the discretion of the trustees, of which the minister for the time being is one.—Population, 396.

AUGHTON, (P.) in the wap. of Harthill; 8 miles NNW. of Howden. A parochial village and vicarage, the present incumbent of which is the Rev. W. Dean, and — Mosley the patron. This village was the residence of Robert Aske, who in the year 1536, headed the insurrection called the "Pilgrimage of Grace." Aske is represented in history as a man of daring and enthusiastic courage, a gentleman by birth, and of considerable talents. In the latter part of the reign of Charles 1. Sir Richard Aske was master of the crown office, and one of the council of the regicides.—He appears to have been the last of the family that resided at Aughton. There are no remains of the ancient mansion or castle: but the site is marked by ditches or moats one within another, with the interior vallum raised to a great height, which shows it to have been a place of considerable strength. It is situated near the eastern banks of the Derwent. Population, 250.

BAINTON, (P.) in the wap. of Harthill, and liberty of Holderness; 6 miles SW. of Great Driffeld. Here is an ancient parish church, dedicated to St. Andrew.—The living is a rectory, of the value of 1000*l.* per annum, in the patronage of St. John's College, Oxford, and when vacant is bestowed on the oldest B. D. of the college. The present incumbent is the Rev. John Bell, D. D. There are two chapels here, one belonging to the Wesleyan and the other to the Primitive Methodists. In former times a Beacon was erected near this village, for the purpose of alarming the surrounding country on the approach of danger, and this circumstance has given name to that division of Harthill called Bainton Beacon. William le Gross, a Knight of Malta, and Earl of Albemarle, was buried in this church. Population, 300.

BARMSTON, (P.) in the wap. and liberty of Holderness; 6 mls. S. of Bridlington. A pleasant village situated at the northern extremity of Holderness; it is very near to the North Sea, and is much frequented by the people of the neighbouring villages, who come here to purchase gravel to repair their roads with, which is left in abundance on the shores of Barmston by every tide.—The church is a very ancient building, dedicated to All Saints, of which the Rev. John Gilby is rector; in the interior is a marble monument, representing in full figure a Scotch Lord, in armour, with a griffin at his feet. The nobleman whose memory this monument commemorates was the lord of the manor, which was given to him for his valour and essential services rendered to his country. There are here four almshouses, or hospitals, erected in 1726, by Sir Griffith Boynton, for the comfort of four poor widows of this place, and endowed with the annual sum of £15. to be divided equally amongst them. There is also a school and master's dwelling-house, built by Sir Francis Boynton, Bart. for the accommodation of the place; he is lord of the manor, and patron of the living. Population, 205.

BARNBY-ON-THE-MARSH, in the parish of Howden, wap. and liberty of Howdenshire; 4 miles W. of Howden; situated near the Derwent, which here falls into the Ouse. Here are two extraordinary springs of sulphuric and chalybeate water, denominated St. Peter's and St. Helen's Wells, the former of which is represented to possess the rare virtue of curing scorbutic eruptions by external application. The places of worship are a Chapel of Ease, dedicated to St. Helen; of which the Rev. Ralph Spedforth, vicar of Howden, is incumbent and patron; and a small Methodist chapel; there is also a Free Grammar school for ten boys. The inhabitants of this village have the singular privilege of electing their own pastor; all the male adults (with the exception of paupers) have the right of voting. This place is noted for its manufacture of socking. There are races held here the last Thursday in June, which continue three successive days. Barnby was granted by William the Conqueror, to forty of his soldiers, each of whom received an Oxgang, or (twenty acres) in the whole eight hundred acres of land, and these Oxgangs still bear the names of their original owners. Population, 525.

Barnby-Moor-Inn, in the parish of Barnby, and wap. of Harthill; 1½ mile W. of Pocklington. This is a large and commodious inn, where travellers are accommodated with post chaises. It has been kept by its present owner and occupier, Mr. Thomas Heard, thirty-six years. The letter bags to, and from Pocklington, are received and delivered here, and the coaches from York to Hull, make it their house of call.

BARNBY-ON-THE-MOOR, (P.) in the wap. of Harthill, and liberty of St. Peter's; 2 miles W. of Pocklington. It is a perpetual curacy, under the patronage of the Dean of York, and the present incumbent is the Rev. James Addison, the church is dedicated to St. Catharine. This is a place of great antiquity; it was formerly a market-town, and has still one market-day annually, on the Thursday preceding St. Peter's day. The annual feast is kept on the day following. The inhabitants enjoy considerable privileges and immunities, on payment of 6s. to the Dean and Chapter of St. Peter's, such as freedom from toll, &c. Pop. 440.

closely interwoven with the history of Beverley, was born in that place, in the year 640, about the time of the second introduction of christianity into the North of England, by St. Austin and the Roman missionaries. He was descended of a good family. And after a course of religious education, under St. Hilda, the famous abbess of Whitby, and under Theodora, the 5th archbishop of Canterbury, he became himself, in the year 687, the 5th archbishop of York, under the popular name of St. John of Beverley. His fame for sanctity was so great, that the venerable Bede declares of his own knowledge, that the holy man performed many miracles. At length, grown aged and infirm, he resigned his bishoprick to Wilfrid II. in 718, and retired to Beverley, where having lived three years in seclusion, he died on the 7th of May, 781, and was buried in the church porch belonging to that college which he had founded.

In 1188, this church was again destroyed by fire, and upon opening a grave, on the 13th September, 1684, a vault was found in which there was a leaden plate, bearing a Latin inscription, which may be thus rendered:—

“In the year of the incarnation of our Lord, 1188, this church was destroyed by fire, in the night following the feast of St. Matthew, the apostle: in the year 1197, on the 6th of the Ides of March, an inquisition was made for the relics of the blessed John, and the bones were found in the Eastern part of the sepulchre, and here reposit; and dust mixed with mortar was in the same place found, and re-interred.”

Subsequently, namely in the year 1796, these relics were again taken up, and deposited in an arched vault prepared for their reception. The pious zeal which alone so conspicuously in the 18th century, soon reinstated the Minster in all its former grandeur, and archbishop Kimmins built the great steeple. In the year 1421, Henry V. after the coronation of Catharine of France, at Westminster, made a pilgrimage to Beverley, because, as the Historians of those times say, a strong report prevailed, that the tomb of St. John of Beverley, sweat blood all the day that the famous battle of Agincourt was fought, and it was imputed to the merits of that saint that this great victory was won.

The dissolution of the Collegiate church of St. John, took place on the 20th of March, 1544, in the 37th year of the reign of Henry VIII. The silent and almost imperceptible dilapidations of time, had in five centuries brought the Minster at Beverley, into a state of ruinous decay, and in the year 1710, a considerable sum of money was raised by a general brief, and by individual donations, with which sum it was repaired and adorned; the choir was paved with marble of various colours; a magnificent arch, curiously engraved was raised over the altar, under which was placed a table of fine white marble; the large East window was decorated with rich painted glass, collected from the other windows amongst which are the twelve apostles. Since that time, the screen between the choir and the nave has been rebuilt of Bath abbey stone, curiously carved in Gothic work; the floor of the body of the church paved with stone from the same quarry, and the galleries have been re-built, and beautifully finished after the Doric order, resembling those of St. Albans, at Rome. From some cause not explained, the North end of the Minster had shrunk, and lay over the foundation 43 inches; to remove this dangerous deformity, Mr. Thomas carpenter, of York, aided by Mr. R. Worth, a stone mason, formed a machine, which this part of the building, was, in 1739, actually screwed up into its proper place, and restored again to the perpendicular line!

The clergy of the Minster at present consist of a curate, and two assistants, patronage being in the Mayor, Aldermen and capital burgesses. The certified value of the living is stated in Bacon's Liber Regis at £31. 6s. 8d. The curate is the Rev. Joseph Coltman, and the Rev. James and the Rev. William Hildyard, are assistant curates. At the South East end stands the freed-stool mentioned in Camden, made out of one entire stone, said to have been removed from Scotland, on which is inscribed

In English thus:—“This stone is called Freed Stool, i. e. The chair of Peace, to which what criminal soever hath full protection.”

At the upper end of the body of the church hangs an ancient tablet with the effigies of St. John and of King Athelstan, and between them this distich,

“Als Free make I Thee

Hence the burgesses of Beverley generally pay no toll or custom in any port or town in England, and before they travel, they may, if they choose, receive at the Mayor's or Aldermen's certificate, setting forth, “That King Athelstan, of famous memory, did grant also, King Henry I. did grant and confirm to the men of the town of Beverley an exemption from all manor of imposts, tolls, stalling, stallage, tunnage, lastage, package, wharfage, and of and from all and every the like exactions, payments and duties, throughout, and in all places whatsoever, by land or sea, within all the dominions of England and Wales; which said grants have been confirmed by all, or most of the succeeding kings and queens of England. And these are also to certify, that the bearer, (mentioning his name and trade) is a burghess of the said town of Beverley, and is thereby discharged of, and from all and every the like exactions, payments and duties." Similar privileges extend to the inhabitants of the Liberty of St. John of Beverley, who may also, by application to the deputy steward of the court, obtain a certificate of exemption. This privilege, though of general use, is not of universal application; for it was, that in the year 1803, an act of Parliament was obtained in favour of the Humber and Driffield navigation, for making an alteration in the bridge, called Hull Bridge, by which act vessels belonging to the burghesses of Beverley have since been subjected to a toll, or tonnage. This, however, is the only toll which can be legally levied from them, when they are supplied with the requisite certificate. The right of exemption from tolls has been granted, or confirmed by charter and letters patent to the burghesses of Beverley, by no fewer than thirty-one sovereigns, commencing with King Athelstan, in 925, and ending with King George II. in 1688. Another privilege attending to the free burghesses of Beverley, is a much more important one, is the right of pasturage on the fertile and extensive commons belonging to that borough: these are * Westwood is held by a grant from Alexander Neville, Archbishop of York and Figham, by a grant from William Fitzhamon, Archbishop of the same province. There is a tradition, that Westwood was presented to the freemen of Beverley, by two maiden sisters, whose "Virgin" stands in the body of the church, and the pillars of the little South aisle, but the popular error is wholly unsupported by evidence.

per head is paid for cattle pastured during the summer upon Westwood, ten shillings and sixpence per head upon Swine-moor, nine shillings upon Figham, and two shillings and sixpence per head upon Harn, from May-day to the races in the beginning of June; and three shillings and sixpence the remainder of the year.

The church of St. Mary, though greatly inferior to the Minster as a building, is a venerable parish church, of which the King is the patron. In the King's books this living is valued at 14*l.* 2*s.* 4*d.* In this church there are several monuments, but the most remarkable of them is one dated 1689, which records the fate of two Danish duellists, who are here interred, and whose epitaph runs thus:—

Here two young Danish soldiers lie,
The one in quarrel chanced to die;
The other's head, by their own law,
By sword was severed at one blow.

The places of worship not within the pale of the establishment, are:—the Independent Chapel, Laigate, the Rev. James Mather, minister; the Methodist Chapel, Walkergate; the Friends' Meeting-House, Wood lane; and the Baptist Chapel, Walkergate, the Rev. John Carlton, minister.

The Hospitals at Beverley consist of MRS. ANNE ROUTH'S HOSPITAL, in Keldgate, for ancient poor widows, in which there are thirty-two inmates, who are each allowed five shillings per week, with a gown and a supply of coals yearly, arising from the rents of estates in different parts of the county. MR. CHARLES WARTON'S HOSPITAL, in Minster moorgate, for poor widows, of whom fourteen are accommodated, and have each allowed four shillings a week, with a gown each, and coals yearly, from an estate called Killinggraves, between Beverley and Bishop Burton; the Trustees of which charity also apprentice a number of boys annually, with a premium of four pounds each. SIR MICHAEL WARTON'S HOSPITAL; in Minster moorgate, for six poor widows, who are each allowed three shillings weekly, with a gown and coals annually. FOX'S HOSPITAL in Minster moorgate, for four poor widows, who have each four shillings a week, a quantity of coals yearly, and a new gown every two years, from a small estate and money in the funds. TEMPERTON'S HOSPITAL, Walkergate, for supporting six poor persons, men and women; the funds arising from landed property. There are also twenty-two Maisons de Dieu and four Bead Houses, which afford accommodation to as many poor families, with some small allowance to each. Exclusive of these benevolent institutions, there are several other charities under the direction of trustees, who make periodical distributions to the poor. Formerly there were in this place a preceptory of Knights Hospitallers of St. John of Jerusalem, and hospitals dedicated to St. Nicholas, St. Giles, and the Trinity; and an hospital without the North Bargate, with a house of black and another of grey friars.

The Free Schools of Beverley are the Grammar School, the National School, and Graves's School. The Grammar School, which is of ancient date, is probably coeval with the Collegiate Society of Saint John, for it does not appear when or by whom it was founded. The patronage of this school is now in the corporation. The old school of brick stood in the Minster yard, on the site of the cloisters and conventual buildings, but in the year 1816 it was taken down to improve the church, and by the liberality of the corporation a new school was built in a commodious and handsome style, in Keldgate, with a large and convenient house attached, for the convenience of the master. The school is open to sons of burgesses indefinitely, on the payment of two pounds per annum for their instruction in the classics, and two guineas for writing and arithmetic. The sons of non-freemen and day scholars pay six guineas for the classics, and three pounds for writing and accounts. The present master is the Rev. J. P. Richards, whose stipend is a hundred pounds a year, being ten pounds from Dr. Metcalf's endowment, twenty pounds as an annual gift from the members of the borough, and seventy pounds as an annual donation from the corporation. There is no church preferment attached to the grammar school, but the parishioners of St. Mary's sometimes give the lectureship of their church to the master. This school has two fellowships, six scholarships, and three exhibitions to St. John's College, Cambridge.—Among the eminent men who have been educated here may be mentioned John Alcock, D. D. Bishop of Ely; John Fisher, D. D. Bishop of Rochester; John Green, D. D. Bishop of Lincoln; Robert Ingham, a worthy divine; and Henry Revel Reynolds, an eminent physician. There is a select library of classical books attached to the school, containing several Aldine editions.—Graves's Free School is situated in the square adjacent to Tollgavel. This establishment is of modern origin, and owes its institution to the munificence of the Rev. James Graves, late curate of the Minster, who bequeathed a sum of money amounting to about 3000*l.* in the public funds for the education of youth in Beverley. For about two years a temporary school room was used; but in 1814 the trustees purchased the old play house, and having divided it by a partition, fitted it up for schools for boys and girls. Here one hundred boys from the town and neighbourhood receive gratuitous instruction, under the tuition of Mr. William Watson, on the Lancasterian plan; and one hundred girls, on the plan of Dr. Bell, and in the afternoon the girls are taught needle work by Mrs. Watson. At the National School, which is situate in Minster moorgate, about 160 boys are taught by Mr. G. Blyth.

The town of Beverley is airy, well built, and extensive. The market place, in particular, is very spacious, occupying four acres of land; it is ornamented by a cross supported by eight columns, each consisting of a single stone, and was erected at the expense of one of the members of the borough. The market, which is held on Saturday, is well supplied, and the business done here in the corn trade is very considerable. The canal, called Beverley Beck, cut in the year 1727, from this town to the river Hull, affords great facilities to trade, by opening a communication with the Humber, and coals are brought in large quantities to the staiths, for the supply of the interior part of the East-Riding. Here is likewise a trade in malt and leather, and several of the poorer class find employment in the extensive nurseries of Messrs. George and William Tindall, and the mint plantations of Messrs. Walker, Parker, and Hall.

The annual fairs are held on a Thursday before old Valentine's day, on the 5th of July, on the Wednesday before the 25th of September, and on the 6th of November.

During the civil wars this place was alternately the prey of the King's troops and of the troops of Parliament. At the commencement of the quarrel, when Charles the First attempted to make himself master of Hull, and was refused admission by Sir John Hotham, the governor of that garrison, he had his quarters at Beverley, but the place soon fell into the hands of the Parliamentary forces, and Sir John, when he fled from Hull, on account of his treason against that cause which he had originally so much advanced, was taken prisoner in the streets of Beverley, and afterwards executed on Tower Hill.

The population of this town has, within the last ten years, increased nearly 10 per cent. over the population of 1811. In the former return the numbers were 6035; they now are—

The government of the Borough is in a Mayor, (who is always coroner for the time being) twelve Aldermen, and thirteen capital Burgesses, under a charter granted by Queen Elizabeth, and renewed by James II. in the year of the revolution. The mayor and capital burgesses are elected annually, on the Monday next before the 29th of September.* By the charter of this corporation the mayor is chosen out of the aldermen by the freemen, and the capital burgesses are nominated by the new mayor, and elected by acclamation (or shouted in, as it is called) by the freemen, immediately after the election of the mayor. The power is vested in the King to remove from their respective offices the mayor, recorder, aldermen, capital burgesses, and common clerk, or any of them; and in 1688 this power was exercised, for on the 11th of June, in that year, an order was sent to Beverley, by the King in council, for the removal of the recorder, four aldermen, and three burgesses. So long ago as the reign of Edward I. Beverley returned two members to Parliament, but after the death of that monarch, this borough ceased to make returns till the 5th of Elizabeth, when it was incorporated.—The election is in the free burgesses, resident and non resident, of which there are about 9000, and the present members are John Wharton, Esq. of Skelton Castle, and George Lane Fox, Esq. of Burnham Park.

The House of Correction, or gaol of the East-Riding, which was built about the year 1809, on a new site, is situated a little distance without the North bar, and the sessions for the East-Riding are always held in the Court-House within this building.—There is also a court of record held in the Guildhall, called the Provost's Court, in which all causes may be tried arising within the liberties of this borough, except titles to land; and the corporation is said to possess a power of trying capital felonies, but they do not exercise it.

The office for the registration of wills and deeds, established in the 6th year of the reign of Queen Anne, called the Register Office of the East-Riding, gives name to the square in which it is situated. Of this office H. W. Maister, Esq. is registrar, and Mr. C. A. Atkinson is deputy.

The Theatre is a small building situated in Lairgate, and is generally well attended during the race week, which always follows the week of the York spring meeting.

At the Subscription News Room, held at Mr. Thomas Eleock's, in the Market-place, the London daily and some of the provincial papers are regularly received.

The vicinity of Beverley, towards the West, is elevated and pleasant; the common pasture of Westwood commands a beautiful view of the town and Minster, and of the western parts of Holderness. To the East and South the country, to the distance of several miles, is flat and uninviting, but even here the scenery is greatly improved by drainage, inclosure, and cultivation; and this extensive tract of fen land, which fifty years ago was a solitary waste, flooded during the greater part of the year, now presents an aspect of fertility.

BILTON, in the parish of Swine, wap. and liberty of Holderness; 4 miles N. E. of Hull. A small, though pleasant village, healthfully situated on the high road from Hull to Hedon. When most of the towns and villages were built of mud, this place being then the residence of a number of gentry, who erected in it brick buildings, obtained the appellation of Built Town, now contracted to Bilton. The church, dedicated to St. Peter, is extremely ancient, and is thought by most antiquarians to have formerly been parochial, from its having bells in the tower, at the time when none but parochial churches were allowed them. On account of its vicinity to Hull, and being immediately in the public road, land conveyances of every kind pass and re-pass daily. Population 91.

Coates Thomas, farmer
Walbron Wm. farmer

BIRDSALL, (P.) wap. of Buckrose; 4 miles SSE. of Malton. There is here a chapel dedicated to St. Mary, of which the Rev. James Green is perpetual curate. Lord Henry Middleton has a seat here, which stands not far from the foot of the Wolds, in a fine sporting country. The mansion is spacious and commodious, and the pleasure grounds adorned with extensive plantations, contribute to render it an agreeable residence. Population 240.

BLACKTOFT, (P.) in the wap. and liberty of Howdenshire; 7 miles SE. of Howden, situated on the North bank of the Ouse. Opposite the village sometimes great quantities of vessels anchor, being considered a good roadstead. The steam boats from Selby and Thorne pass daily on their way to and from Hull. A bed of sand, which at low water extends over several acres, serves for the ballasting of small craft. One mile from this place, the Ouse and Trent form a junction, and from this point, (Trent Falls) the joint collection of waters are called Humber.—There is here a chapel, not in charge, to the vicar of Brantingham. Population 278.

BRANDESBURTON, (P.) in the wap. and liberty of Holderness; 8 1/2 miles N. E. of Beverley. This extensive and populous village is pleasantly situated on the high road leading from Hull to Scarborough, from which places coaches and other vehicles are passing and re-passing daily, which greatly tends to the benefit of its inhabitants. There are two good inns for the accommodation of travellers. A fortnight fair or market for all sorts of cattle, is held on alternate Wednesdays, which is very fully attended, a sure criterion of its rising prosperity. The church, dedicated to St. Mary, is a very ancient structure, but has suffered much from the corroding hand of time, although it has undergone several repairs; the patronage is in St. John's College, Cambridge. The neighbouring magistrates meet here every Thursday, in a spacious room at the Cross Keys Inn, for the administration of justice. Pop. 562.

BRIDLINGTON, or Burlington,

In the wapentake of Dickering; 8 miles from Humnaby, 12 from Driffield, 18 from Scarborough, 40 from York, and 201 from London, by way of Lincoln. This town is situated on the Eastern coast, about a mile from the shore, in the recess of the commodious and beautiful bay to which it affords its name. It consists chiefly of one long irregularly framed street, extending along the Southern declivity of a small elevation, and its situation is both pleasant and salubrious. The antiquity of Bridlington it is difficult, perhaps impossible, to ascertain, but it is clearly of Saxon origin. Early in the reign of Henry I. Walter de Gant, the son of Gilbert de Gant, one of the barons of William the conqueror, founded here a priory for the Black Canons of the order of St. Austin, which he dedicated to the blessed Virgin Mary. This priory which stands at the East end of the town, is pleasantly situated, with the command of a fine sea prospect, and was, according to Burton, inclosed with walls and houses, built of stone and lime, in 1388, in order to fortify it from the enemy's ships, which frequently entered the harbour. But it was not merely against their enemies, but also against their friends, that the Canons found it necessary to seek protection, for we find them under the pontificate of Pope Innocent III. complaining, "that the archdeacon of Richmond going to one of their churches, had travelled with 97 horses, 21 dogs, and 3 hawks—tribus avibus venatoris, whereby he consumed more of their provisions in one hour than would have maintained their house for a long time;" on which his holiness forbade that ecclesiastics should, for the time to come, travel with a greater retinue than is allowed by the statutes of the council of Lateran, which limits the train of an Archbishop to 50 horses, a Bishop to 30, a Legate to 25, and an archdeacon to 7. The priory continued to flourish through a succession of ages, but in the time of Henry VIII. it shared the fate of other religious houses; and William Wode, the last prior, was executed for high treason, in the year 1537, on a charge of having engaged in the rebellion in the North and East of Yorkshire, which succeeded the Pilgrimage of Grace, and aimed at the same object. At the period of the dissolution this monastery was endowed with rents, of the value, according to Dugdale, of 547*l.* 6*s.* 1*d.* and according to Speed, of 682*l.* 13*s.* 9*d.* annuum. The church of the priory appears from its remains to have been one of a noble structure. The West end yet displays an inconsiderable degree of Gothic magnificence, and the date 1186, preserved on a stone placed conspicuously over the entrance, is supposed to mark the year of its foundation; originally it had two towers, but these are now both demolished. The East end and the transepts are also entirely destroyed, and the remaining part is only a small fragment of the ancient building. Of the walls and fortifications which once inclosed the priory, nothing now remains except an arched gate-way, at the distance of about half a furlong from the West end of the church. Above the arch is a large room, now used partly as a Town's hall, and partly as a National School, and beneath are some gloomy cells, called the Kil-cote, which serve as places of confinement for petty delinquents. This monastery has been the residence of several persons distinguished in their day and generation: amongst these may be reckoned, Robert the Scribe, who flourished about the year 1180, and who possessed not only great dexterity in writing, at a time when that art was a rare accomplishment, but also composed and left several books to posterity: William, of Newburgh, the celebrated Monkiah historian, was a native of Bridlington, but having become a Canon of Newburgh; took his surname from that place: John de Bridlington, a native of this town, was distinguished for his abilities, and having at his death, in 1179, left behind him a fame for piety so great, as to obtain for himself a rank amongst the saints, and for his shrine the reputation of a place of miracles: Sir George Ripley, a canon of this priory, and a distinguished alchemist, who, after employing about twenty years in the vain endeavour to find out the philosopher's stone, the grand desideratum of an ignorant and credulous age, left behind him at his death, in 1490, twenty-five books, of which the chief was his "Compound of Alchemy, in twelve books, inscribed to Edward IV. and his Aurum Potabile, or the Universal Specific." On the confiscation of the monastic estates, the manor and rectory of Bridlington became vested in the crown. After several changes, the manor was at length purchased in the year 1633, for 3260*l.* by Wm. Carbutt, and twelve others of the inhabitants, on behalf of themselves, and all the other tenants and freeholders within the manor. This manor does, therefore, in effect, belong to the town, and is held by feoffees on their behalf. On the second day of February, in every year, these feoffees elect one of their number as chief lord of the manor, in whose name the courts are called, and the business of the town transacted. The manor in all its changes was charged with an annual fee-farm rent of 12*l.* 17*s.* 5*d.*, which is still paid to the representatives of the late H. T. Jones, Esq.<sup>s</sup> The lordship contains upwards of 3000 acres.

The Church, or rather the Chapel, dedicated to St. Mary, stands at the East end of the town; and the Archbishop of York is the patron. This venerable Gothic pile indicates its origin to be of the fourteenth century. Not more than one-third of the building is fitted up for religious worship, but that portion of it is calculated to accommodate 1000 persons. The living is a perpetual curacy, of which the Rev. G. Smith is the incumbent, by the nomination of Sir Francis Lindley Wood, Bart. and his Lady, and Catharine Esther Buck, since married to the Rev. Alexander Cooke; these ladies were the daughters and co-heiresses of the late Samuel Buck, Esq. Recorder of Leeds, who inherited the right of nomination from his brother, the Rev. Matthew Buck.

The Quakers, the Baptists, the Independents, and the Wesleyan Methodists, have each their respective places of religious worship here: and the Ranters, or Primitive Methodists, are by their zeal and perseverance swelling their numbers.

The charitable institutions here are neither very numerous nor important; there is, however, in addition to the National School, already mentioned, a Free Grammar School, founded by William Hustler, in the year 1637, and endowed with 40*l.* wherein twenty boys, the sons of parishioners, receive gratuitous instruction; William Bower, in his life time, founded a school house, and at his death endowed it with 20*l.* per annum, in which school 12 poor children are now taught to read and knit; and William Cowton, by will, dated April 10, 1696, bequeathed 13*l.* per annum to the minister of Bridlington, for a sermon to be preached every Wednesday; 6*s.* 8*d.* weekly, to be distributed in bread to the poor parishioners, and 1*s.* to the parish clerk for making the distribution, to be paid out of the rental of certain lands demised for the purpose, and the residue distributed amongst the poor of Bridlington, Bridlington Quay, and Hummanby, for ever, which lands at present let for about 170*l.* per annum.

The history of Bridlington is not in any material degree mixed up with the general history of the country, but in the time of the civil wars between Charles I. and his parliament, this town served as the point of embarkation for those arms and military stores which the Queen purchased in Holland with the Crown jewels. Her Majesty's embarkation took place on the 30th of February, 1643, and early in the morning of the 24th Admiral Batten, who had been charged with the duty of intercepting her, commenced a heavy cannonade upon that part of the town in which she was known to have landed and placed her ammunition. According to a letter written by the Queen herself to the King, "the balls sung merrily over her head, and a sergeant was killed at a distance of twenty paces from her." After remaining at Bridlington nearly a fortnight, her Majesty departed for York, which city she reached on the 8th of March, with three coaches, an escort of eight troops of horse, and fifteen companies of foot, conveying the ammunition and arms, which consisted of thirty pieces of brass and two pieces of iron cannon, with small arms for 10,000 men. Amongst the most zealous and enterprising of Charles's adherents was Richard Boyle, the Earl of Cork, who, for his courage and constancy, received the dignity of an English Earl, under the title of Earl of Burlington. Contemporary with the last Earl of Burlington was William Kent, a native of Bridlington, born in 1685, whose family name was Cent, the two first letters of which he lost very unpardonably changed; and of whom Walpole, in his successions of painting, says—"he was a painter, an architect, and the father of modern gardening. In the first character he was below mediocrity; in the second he was a restorer of the science; and in the last an original, and an inventor of the art that realises painting and improves nature. Mahomet imagined an Elysium, but Kent created many."

Bridlington, generally so peaceable and obedient to the laws, was roused into a state of insubordination by the passing of the militia act in 1757; on that occasion a very alarming riot took place here, during which the rioters broke open several granaries, and committed other excesses. Several of the ringleaders being apprehended were brought to trial at York, and Robert Coal, an inhabitant of Bridlington, having been convicted, was sentenced to die for the offence, and was afterwards executed.

In the year 1779, when the navy of England was less triumphant than during the revolutionary wars, several engagements took place in the British seas, and the inhabitants of the coast were frequently thrown into a state of alarm by Paul Jones, the intrepid Anglo American Butcher. This man had formerly been in the service of the Earl of Selkirk, whence he was expelled with disgrace; and, having repaired to America, he volunteered to make a descent on the British coast. Being at first entrusted with the command of a privateer, he landed on the coast of Scotland, and in resentment plundered the mansion of his old master; he also burnt several vessels at Whitehaven, and performed a number of other daring exploits. These services insured his promotion, and procured him the command of a small squadron, consisting of the Bon Homme Richard, and the Alliance, each of 40 guns; the Pallas, of 32 guns; and the Vengeance armed brig.—With this force he made many valuable captures, insulted the coast of Ireland, and even threatened the city of Edinburgh.—On Monday, the 20th of September, 1779, an express arrived at Bridlington from the Bailiffs of Scarborough, with intelligence that an enemy was cruising off the coast;

The same night the hostile squadron was descried off Flamborough Head; and it was soon discovered that Paul Jones was the commander. In the night of Tuesday, a large fleet of British coasting vessels sailed into the bay, and the harbour became so completely crowded, that a great number could only find security in being chained to each other on the outside of the pier. Two companies of the Northumberland militia, then quartered in the town, were called to arms by beat of drum, after midnight; and the inhabitants, armed with such weapons as could be most readily procured, possessed to muster at the Quay, while a number of the more opulent were making preparations for sending their families into the interior. Business was now completely at a stand, and the attention of all was directed to the expected invasion. On Thursday a valuable fleet of British merchantmen from the Baltic, under the convoy of the Serpis, Captain Fearson, of forty-two guns; and the Countess of Scarborough, Captain Percy, of twenty-two guns, were in sight, and were chased by the enemy. The first care of Captain Pearson was to place himself between the enemy and his convoy, by which manoeuvre he enabled the whole of the merchantmen to escape in safety into the port of Scarborough. Night had now come on, but the moon shone with unusual brightness. About half past seven o'clock the commander of the enemy announced that the engagement had commenced, and the inhabitants of the coast, on hastening to the cliff, were treated with the sublime spectacle of a naval engagement by moonlight. The hostile night with unabated fury for two hours, when at length Captain Pearson, who was engaged by the two largest of the enemy's frigates, was compelled to surrender. Captain Percy made also a long and gallant defence against a superior force, but he was in the end obliged to strike to the Pallas. The enemy purchased his victory at a prodigious price, not less than 300 men being killed or wounded in the Bon Homme Richard alone, which vessel received so much injury that she sunk the next day, with many of the wounded on board.

The port of Bridlington, though well situated for commerce, has never enjoyed any very extensive trade. Malt and ale were formerly considered its staple commodities, and large quantities of each were, as we learn from Mr. Thompson's historical sketch of that place, annually shipped to London. About half a century ago, the number of malt-kilns here amounted to upwards of sixty, nearly all in full operation;

but this trade has greatly declined, and most of the kilns have been either taken down or applied to other purposes, not more than six remaining, and even those only in partial employment. The market, which is held on Saturday, has existed for upwards of 600 years, and it is plentifully supplied with all the necessaries, and as many of the luxuries of life as the wants of the inhabitants require. The corn market is well attended both by buyers and sellers, and this is one of the few ports from which the data for the average returns of the kingdom are supplied.

There are here two banking concerns: Messrs. Harding and Holtby, who draw on Sir J. W. Lubbock, Bart. Foster, Clarke, and Co. London; and Messrs. Hague, Strickland, and Co., of the North-Riding Bank, who draw upon Barclay, Tritton, Rowan, and Co. London. The post-office is eligibly situated on the North side of the High-street, and the information connected with this establishment will be found under its proper head, subjoined to the directory of the town.

The vicinity of Bridlington is healthful and agreeable. The valley which skirts the town on the South extends many miles to the West, and is adorned by the seats of Sir William Strickland, Bart. of Boynton; and of William Bosville, Esq. of Thorpe-hall, both which mansions are delightfully situated within a mile of each other, in a pleasant and fertile vale, watered by a romantic rivulet, and sheltered by rising ground on the north and on the south.

BRIDLINGTON QUAY is in the parish of Bridlington, one mile to the SE. of that place. It is a pleasant and healthful sea-bathing place, to which, for the last seventy years, there has been a considerable resort of genteel company in the summer season. The Quay constitutes of itself a small town, and has a brisk and handsome appearance. The houses are in general well built and modern; and the principal street, which opens directly to the harbour, is remarkably spacious. The harbour is formed by two piers which extend a considerable way into the sea, the northernmost of which having a convenient platform, furnishes an agreeable promenade, commanding a delightful view of the lofty promontory of Flamborough Head, and the number of coasting vessels which in time of adverse winds resort to this Bay for safety, frequently impart to the scene a peculiar degree of animation. The port, though small, is clean and secure. It is sheltered on three of its sides, by the coast, the town, and the piers, but the access, owing to the narrowness of the entrance, is somewhat difficult. The harbour is defended against the approach of an enemy by two batteries, one on the North, and the other on the South side of the town, which batteries enfilade the entrance of the port, and form a cross fire at right angles. The first mention of this harbour occurs in a mandate of King Stephen, to the Earl of York, commanding him "to permit the prior of Bridlington to have and to hold, well, and in peace, the harbour of Bridlington, as Walter de Gent, and Gilbert, his ancestor, held the same." The piers were anciently kept in repair by the owners of the manor, but in later times they have been repaired, strengthened, and extended, by certain duties on the imports and exports of the place, imposed under the authority of various acts of parliament. On the expiration of the last act, in 1816, a new act was obtained, further increasing the duties, to continue for twenty-one years, and the commissioners therein appointed were empowered to rebuild the piers with stone, either on the present, or on any other foundations. In compliance with the provisions of this act, the first stone of a new North pier was laid in the summer of 1818, on a plan by Mr. Goodrick, but the work is not yet completed. The harbour, which is dry at low water, has a spring tide flow of about eighteen feet at the entrance, which gradually diminishes as it approaches to the shore.

The harbour presents the striking phenomenon of an ebbing and flowing spring of fine fresh water. This copious fountain was discovered in 1811, by the late Benjamin Milne, Esq. collector of the customs at this port. Mr. Milne, whose public spirit and enterprise were most exemplary, with a view to improve the harbour, bored through the alluvion, which was found to consist of a bed of compact clay, twenty-eight feet thick, and a bed of cretaceous flinty gravel, fifteen feet thick, beneath which was the solid chalk; on the aperture being made, a fine column of fresh water rose with the flow of the tide, and at high water it gushed out in a copious stream; as the tide receded the newly-discovered spring gradually fell, and at low water it disappeared. This discovery, so important to the town and port of Bridlington, was made on the 5th of July, 1811, and in order to keep open the spring, a tinned copper pipe of three inches diameter, was sunk from the surface to the spring, through which the water begins to flow at quarter flood, and stops at three quarters ebb tide; the discharge continuing 4 or 5 hours each flood. At full tide the spring water stands in the perpendicular tube eight feet above the level of the salt water in the harbour, and is so pure and soft, that it is used in the washing of the finest lins, and so copious that it would supply the whole navy of England. A reservoir has since been constructed, into which the waters of this interesting spring is conducted for the use of the town and the shipping.

The most easy and obvious way of accounting for this phenomenon, is to suppose, that the spring has an outlet into the sea, probably beneath low-water mark, which outlet is open at low-water so far as to permit the spring to empty itself into the sea, but is obstructed or choked up by the flood tide, so that the fresh water accumulating in its gravelly receptacle, bursts forth at the opening which has been made for it; and continuing to flow from thence till the falling of the tide permits it to resume its original passage.* This water is of unusual purity; its specific gravity is 1001, distilled water being 1000. In the year 1816, Mr. Hume, of Long Acre, London, an eminent chemist, submitted it to a series of experiments, and the result proves that it contains per gallon about 17

" Is MILNE then forgotten? His works answer, No!
And their voice, like the voice of the loud-sounding deep,
Shall be heard, while its waters continue to flow,
And yon edifice flames from the far-lighted steep.
Like its halo, disspread through the mists of the ocean,
His honours, eclip'd by no envious emotion,
Through the vista of ages shall challenge devotion,
When the spot is unknown, where his ashes shall sleep."

In addition to the ebbing and flowing spring, there is also at Bridlington a chalybeate spring, situated about half a mile to the NW. of the Quay, and issuing out of a pleasant garden near the subscription-mills, the medicinal properties of which resemble the chalybeate springs of Scarborough and Cheltenham, though the water seems to be less purgative.*

Few places present a more inviting beach than that which here descends from the Quay to the sea, and the gentle declivity of the surface is peculiarly favourable to sea-bathing. At low water the promenade is agreeable and extensive, and the compact tension of the elastic sand imparts firmness and buoyancy even to the step of the valetudinarian. Here many elegant and valuable specimens of minerals and fossils are found, which serve to give interest to

Mr. Milne, the discoverer of the spring just described, is entitled to rank amongst the principal benefactors of Bridlington. To his public spirit and active mind the town is indebted for its daily post, the public baths, and the erection of the lighthouse at Flamborough. This gentleman was a Yorkshireman by birth, and was born at Brockwell, in Sowerby, near Halifax, on the 18th of October, 1781; in 1798, he was appointed collector of the customs at this port; and on the 22d of February, 1819, he died, to the general regret of all who had witnessed his career of active usefulness. Hitherto his ashes have slept in the north aisle of the church without a monument to do justice to his memory, and to excite others to imitate his example: that imperious duty is performed by those he so much benefited, the following stanza, written by a gentleman of Bridlington, may contribute to preserve the memory of so much worth :—

the shop of the apidary, and to swell the varieties in the museum of the collector. Warm and cold baths are provided in rooms replete with conveniences, built beneath the terrace, which supply the invalid or the timid with the advantage of sea-bathing without the necessity of plunging into the open sea.

The sources of amusement here are somewhat circumscribed, but the facilities for aquatic excursions, so inviting to the inhabitants of inland districts, are afforded in every variety; and the news-room and library are at hand, to impart information and amusement in the hours between the intervals of relaxation in the open air. The neighbourhood abounds with walks and rides, affording extensive prospects of Beasingby, Carnaby, and Boynton, to the west; Sewerby, Marton, and Flamborough, to the north; and Hilderthorpe and Hornsea to the south: all possess their several beauties, and claim in succession the attention of the visitors.

The places of public worship at the Quay, are a commodious Methodist meeting-house, and a newly built chapel, appropriately called the Union Chapel, which is used alternately for the religious services of the Independents and the Baptists.

Here, as at the parent town, the operations of commerce are very limited. The exports consist chiefly of corn and other agricultural productions shipped to the port of London, and of horses and horned cattle to Germany and Russia. The imports are principally coal from Newcastle, timber from the Baltic and America, and general merchandises from London and Hull.—During the war an extensive ropery was established and flourished at this port, but since the peace it has been greatly reduced, and the ship-yards have also felt the depressing influence of the stagnation in the shipping interest. In a port so situated as Bridlington, a “vessel sacred to humanity” became an indispensable requisite, and in the year 1806, a life-boat was purchased by voluntary subscription from Mr. Greathead, at an expense of three hundred pounds, for the use of this port, the beneficial effects of which is experienced every season. The population of Bridlington and the Quay, which in 1811, amounted to 3741, has been swelled during the succeeding ten years to 4272, as appears from the returns made to Parliament up to the 28th of May, 1821. The directory which is subjoined will point out the inns, lodging-houses, &c. in this place, and afford a tolerably complete list of the traders and other inhabitants.

CAVE SOUTH.

(P.) in the wapentake of Harthill, and liberty of St. Peter's; 7 miles SSE. of Market Weighton; 9 from Beverley; 20 from Hull; & 28 from York; situated in a hollow, from which probably it derives its name; is a small market and post-town, in the division of Hunsley Beacon, and in the western tract of the Wolds, in a very pleasant tract of country, about three miles from the river Humber. The parish is very extensive, and comprehends the townships of South Cave, Broomfleet, Faxfleet, and Osmandyke, and is bounded on the south for a very considerable way, by the Humber. The church is a plain and neat edifice, dedicated to All Saints, the Rev. E. W. Barnard, vicar and patron, built, as appears by inscription in the inside, in the year 1664. There is a National School, Robert Sharp, master. The market is held every Monday, at which a great quantity of corn is sold, and sent by the Humber and its branches to Leeds, Wakefield, and the other populous towns of the West-Riding, in vessels, which bring back coals, lime, flags, sand stone, and various other articles. Near this town is Cave castle, now the seat and principal residence of Henry Barnard, Esq. The mansion-house is a large and noble structure, ornamented with a number of turrets, battlements, buttresses, &c. which give it an air of magnificence. The embellishments of the interior correspond with the grandeur of the exterior. It contains many spacious and elegant apartments, with a very select and valuable collection of pictures, by the best masters; among these is a portrait of the late celebrated General George Washington, the founder of the American Republic, whose great-grandfather, John Washington, lived here and possessed part of the estate; but emigrated from hence to America about the year 1657, and settled at Bridge Creek, in the county of Westmoreland, in Virginia, where the family has ever since remained. Population, 885.

COTTINGHAM, (P.) in the wap. of Harthill; 6 miles NW. of Hull. This place is of considerable antiquity and ranks amongst the most pleasant, healthful, and populous villages of the East Riding of Yorkshire. Cottingham was known as a manor at the time when Domesday book was compiled; and it is stated by Leland in his Collectanea, that William d'Estotville or Stuteville, being sheriff of Yorkshire, entertained King John at his house in this town, and in 1200, obtained from that monarch a licence to hold a market and fairs* here, and to fortify his castle. This mansion, under the designation of Baynard Castle, remained a monument of feudal magnificence in the successive possession of the Stutevilles, the Bigods and the De Wakes, until the reign of Henry VIII. when it was destroyed by fire,† but the ramparts are still visible, and the fosses with which it was surrounded are seen in the gardens which now occupy the site of the ancient castle and its precincts. The story of the conflagration of Baynard castle is curious, and characteristic of the monarch in whose reign it was destroyed: Henry, who was then at Hull, hearing that Lord Wake of Cottingham, had a very beautiful wife, sent a message to his lordship informing him that it was his intention to dine with him the day following. This intimation the noble baron received with feelings resembling those by which the patriarch was moved when the Princes of Egypt condescended to notice him on account of his wife Sarai; to say that Lady Wake, was his sister would have been unavailing, her lord therefore took a still more effectual means of preserving his wife's honour and his own head; for on the very night that the message was received from the king, the steward, by order of his master, set fire to the castle and burned it to the ground: it was of course given out that the fire was accidental, but it appears from certain family manuscripts; that it was a sacrifice made by a subject, to avert the consequences apprehended from the contaminating presence of a licentious prince. Henry, in the munificence of his disposition, offered to present his lordship with 2000*l.* towards the rebuilding of Baynard castle, but his lordship was in no humour to receive presents from a person whose friendship he so much dreaded, and this once famous edifice has been suffered to sink into utter ruin. On the death of Lord Wake, without male issue, the lordship of Cottingham, with two thousand four hundred and sixty-six acres of land, came into possession of the Duke of Richmond, the Earl of Westmoreland and Lord Powis, who had married his three daughters, since which time the estate has been divided into three manors called Cottingham Richmond, Cottingham Westmoreland and Cottingham Powis.

In the 15th year of the reign of Edward II. Thomas Lord Wake founded and built a monastery for the canons of the order of St. Austin, or Black Canons at Cottingham; but finding that a perpetual title could not be made to the site, the monastery was removed, in 1324, to a neighbouring hamlet, about a mile to the southward, called Alta-prisa, or Haltemprice, in the county of Hull, and dedicated to the nativity of our blessed Saviour, the annunciation of the Virgin Mary, and the exaltation of the Holy Cross. This religious house continued to flourish till the dissolution, when there was a prior and eleven canons, who were endowed, according to Dugdale, with 100*l.* 0*s.* 3*d.* and according to Speed with 178*l.* 0*s.* 10*d.* In the 32nd year of Henry VIII. the site was granted to Thomas Culpepper, but the house sunk into ruin, and has now totally disappeared. Haltemprice now belongs to the ancient family of the Ellerkers, is extra-parochial, and pays no parish rates. The parish church of Cottingham is a large and handsome gothic structure, built in the year 1273, and dedicated to St. Mary, the virgin. A stately tower or steeple arises from the centre; the interior is commodious and well lighted, and the walls are adorned with several elegant monuments, especially those of the Burtons of Hotham. In the choir is an old tomb-stone without date, nearly as ancient as the church, erected to the memory of Nicholas de Stuteville the founder. The living is a vicarage, not in charge, of the certified value of 42*l.* of which the Rev. James Deans, is the incumbent, and the Bishop of Chester, the patron. There are two meeting houses here; the Independent chapel, of which the Rev. Spedding Curwen, is the minister, and the Methodist chapel, supplied with a change of ministers from the annual conference. There is also an endowed school for the education of ten poor children, the revenue of which is 40*l.* per annum, bequeathed by Mark Kirby, Esq. of Hull, in 1712; and a dole of 10*l.* a year left by Robert Mills, of Cottingham, and distributed amongst the poor at Christmas.

There are numerous springs of excellent water in and about the town; and in the estate of Thomas Thompson, Esq. adjoining to the ancient road called Keldgate, leading from Cottingham to Eppleworth, are intermitting springs resembling the Vipsies or Gipsies, springs on the wolds. The openings of these springs are numerous and the quantity of water issuing from them is very great. They begin to flow in the spring, and continue for two or three months, when the water totally subsides, and the ground continues perfectly dry for an interval of two, three, or four years. With such intermissions the springs seem sometimes almost forgotten until the re-appearance of the water brings them to the remembrance of the inhabitants, who in their familiar language are accustomed to say, "Keldgate springs have broke out again."

Twenty years ago Cottingham was a favourite place of residence for the more opulent portion of the merchants of Hull, and it still boasts of many handsome country houses, gardens and pleasure-grounds; but they have rather diminished than increased during that period. The parish forms an irregular figure approaching to a square, and is about 4 miles in extent from East to West, and from North to South. The soil is various, and is occupied in a manner suited to its quality. Immediately adjoining the town the land is chiefly cultivated as garden ground, and produces large quantities of fruit and vegetables for the Hull market. In the village of Newland, in the eastern part of the parish, there is a great extent of pasture and meadow land, from which Hull is supplied with milk and butter; and on the edge of the hills to the west are many very considerable farms of arable land, in an improved state of cultivation. Two stage coaches run daily between Cottingham and Hull, and from the facility of communication, the former may be considered in the suburbs of the latter place. The population of the parish of Cottingham, amounts to 2,479.

There are within one mile of this place a great number of Tumuli, amounting to about five hundred, which from time immemorial have been called "Danes Graves." History is silent concerning their origin, but it is highly probable that the Danes, who appear to have had a fortified camp near Flamborough, may have issued from thence to ravage the country, and have fallen victims to Saxon valour. Each tumulus is three or four feet high, and from twenty to thirty feet in circumference at the base. Many of these ancient depositories of the dead have been recently opened and found to contain each a human skeleton, which from the dry calcareous nature of the soil has been kept in excellent preservation upwards of a thousand years.

DRIFFIELD (Great)

In the wapentake of Harthill, and liberty of St. Peter's; 12 miles from Bridlington, 13 from Beverley, 19 from Malton, 22 from Hull, 23 from Scarbrough, 30 from York, and 192 from London by way of Lincoln. Driffield is a well-built market town, situated at the foot of the Wolds, and is the point at which the river Hull takes its rise, being formed by the confluence of a number of fine trout streams, which run in various courses in the town and neighbourhood. The town consists chiefly of one large and broad street, running nearly from North to South, parallel to which runs (amidst straggling houses) the main stream in the neighbourhood, which at the Southern extremity of the town, is enlarged into a navigable canal, and which, with the other tributary waters, takes the name of the River Hull, a little below Frodingham bridge. At Wansford, about three miles to the South of the town, there is a large carpet and linen manufactory, and several large flour mills obtain motion for their machinery from the neighbouring streams. The soil in this neighbourhood yields abundant crops, and is in high cultivation; it is exceeded by scarcely any land in the county. The famous short horned bull Patriot, bred by Mr. George Coates, was fed here, and sold for 500 guineas; and Mr. Coates afterwards bred a cow from the same stock, for which he refused, unwisely perhaps, 1000 guineas. The corn trade at Driffield has, during the last half century, greatly increased, and this circumstance is accounted for partly from the central situation of the place, and the prolific nature of the soil; and partly from the facilities which water carriage affords for its transit, both to the London market and the markets of the populous districts of the West Riding. Thursday is the market day here, and the business done in the article of grain is frequently very considerable. The parish Church, which is dedicated to All Saints, is a venerable pile of Gothic and of Saxon architecture; the precentor of York, as prebendary of Driffield, is the patron, and the Hon. and Rev. E. Rice, D.D. is the present Rector. The steeple is of more modern date than the church; and tradition relates, that this light and elegant structure was built by one of the Hotham family, to absolve a vow made during a dangerous illness, to undertake a pilgrimage to the Holy Land; or, as another version of the story has it, as the price of absolution for the sin of incontinence. There are here chapels for the Baptists, the Independents, the Methodists, and the Primitive Methodists. The public institutions are few, but highly beneficial; they consist of a Dispensary, to which Dr. Forge is the physician; a National School, established in 1816, in connexion with the East Riding Society, and supported by voluntary subscription, where upwards of 100 children receive instruction, under the tuition of Mr. Nathaniel Chaplain; and a Book Society, held at Mr. Wm. Turner's, in the Market-place. There is also a Benevolent Society, for the relief of the indigent, a Religious Tract Society, and an auxiliary Bible Society. The neighbourhood of Driffield is healthful, and abounds with gentlemen's seats, of which there are no fewer than six, viz. Sir T.

Sykes, Bart. Sledmere; Sir Francis Boynton, Bart. Burton Agnes; W. T. St. Quinton, Esq. Lowthorpe; Horner Reynard, Esq. Sunderlandwick; John Grimston, Esq. Neswick; and Charles Grimston, Esq. Kilnwick. The population of this place is rapidly augmenting: in 1801, it amounted to 1329; in 1811, to 1857; and in 1821, to 2303, making an increase during each 10 years of about five and twenty per cent. and the ratio of mortality, owing to the combined influence of the salubrious situation of the town, and the healthful pursuits of the inhabitants, does not exceed one in sixty per annum.

LITTLE DRIFFIELD is in the parish of Great Driffield, and 1 mile from it to the North West. This is the burial place of Alfred, or Alchfrid, king of Northumberland, who died here in the year 702, and to perpetuate whose memory a tablet, with the following inscription, is placed on the South side of the chancel:—

WITHIN THIS CHANCEL LIES INTERRED
 OF ALFRED, KING OF NORTHUMBERLAND, WHO DEPARTED THIS LIFE,
 JANUARY 18, A. D. 702,
 IN THE 20TH YEAR OF HIS REIGN.
*Statutum est omnibus semel mori.**

It is believed, that there was here at the time of this monarch's death a royal palace, where he died after a long illness. But it is also said that he died of wounds received in battle, at Eberston, near Scarborough.—That this neighbourhood has, at one time, been the theatre of extensive military operations, is manifest from the numerous tumuli in the neighbourhood, called, "The Danes' Graves;" but we search in vain for any well authenticated historical proof, that the Saxon monarch fell in battle either here or elsewhere; and William, of Malmebury states distinctly, that he died of a painful disease, which was regarded as a visitation of Providence towards the king, for expelling Saint Wilfrid from his dignity and possessions. An idle story, published at the instance of persons whose rank and education out to have taught them better, has been propagated, and found its way into many publications, to the effect—that in the year 1784, the Society of Antiquarians in London, sent a deputation to this place, to search for the body of the king (which king they have converted into Alfred the Great, who died 200 years after the Northumbrian monarch.) The deputation, it is added, began their labours on the 20th of

September, and terminated them with complete success; for, after digging some within the chancel, they found a coffin, on opening which the entire skeleton of that prince presented itself, with a part of his steel armour! The Antiquarian who searched for the remains of Alfred consisted of a party of gentlemen, Driffield, at the head of whom was a Baronet, but the investigation terminated in entire disappointment—no stone coffin, steel armour—in fact, no relic whatever that monarch was found; and the appointed delegation, probably to the edge of ridicule to which they might have been exposed, vamped up this fabrication which a regard for the fidelity of the baron has induced us to explode, on the sufficiency of the worthy clergyman who at present fills the office of perpetual curate. In the year 1807, when the church of Little Driffield was taken down and rebuilt, the gentleman to whom we have just alluded made another search, but in vain, for the remains of Alfred. When the foundations were bared, it was found that the chancel and the chancel had both been contracted in size, and that if Alfred had really been interred near the North wall, upon which the inscription was formerly painted, that his remains must now be in the church yard; the inscription itself the origin is not known; but it is known, that it has been twice renewed within the memory of the present vicar, and that it has undergone various modifications. The church of Little Driffield discharged vicarage, with Great Driffield dedicated to St. Peter, of which the Rev. Richard Allen is the perpetual curate. There are here four annual fairs, held on charter from king Alfred, on Easter Monday, Whit Monday, the 16th of August, and the 19th of September, for horned cattle, and sheep. Pop. 75.

Drypool, (P.) in the wap. and liberty of Holderness; on the eastern bank the river Hull, and is considered a part of Kingston-upon-Hull. Its population amounts to 1408. Near to this place is supposed to have stood the village of Frisneck, swallowed up by the inundations of the Humber. The church is now rebuilding; the windows and arches of the old structure are carefully preserved, and the new one worked from the same patterns and mouldings, so as to perpetuate the style of the old church, which is about the year 1300. The patron of this parochial curacy is William Wilberforce, Esq. and the church is dedicated to St. Peter.

parish of Kirk-Ella, and wap. of Hull, 5 miles WNW. of Hull. From the Dome-day book, it appears that at the time of the survey, the village of Kirk-Ella was a part of the possessions of Ralph de Mortimer.
At present several branches of the ancient mercantile family of Sykes possess a large property in this parish, and are patrons of the church. Here, as well as at Farriby and Cottingham, several of the wealthy merchants of Hull have elegant places of residence. In the church at Kirk-Ella dedicated to St. Andrew, which appears to be a very ancient structure, is a handsome monument, erected to the memory of the late Joseph Sykés, Esq. who is supposed to have had more extensive dealings with the nobles and merchants of Sweden, than any other person in England; he was twice mayor of the town of Kingston-upon-Hull; he died in the year 1805. Population, 368.

Here is a handsome modern church dedicated to St. Helen, of which Henry Gale, Esq. is the patron, built about forty-five years ago, by the late Beilby Thompson, Esq. (upon the site of the old church). This was anciently the seat of Sir Thomas Knivet, one of the gentlemen of the bed-chamber to King James I. who, on the 5th of November, in the year 1605, was sent, along with some other persons, to search the vaults under the house of Lords, where they discovered 36 barrels of gunpowder, and thereby prevented the perpetration of a deed not to be equalled in the annals of treachery and treason. FERRIBY NORTH, (P.) in the wap. of Hullehire; 6 miles SE. of South Cave, is an ancient village, and nearly opposite to South Ferriby, in Lincolnshire.—Here was a priory of the Knights Templars, of the foundation of Lord Eustace Vercy, which survived that order, and was occupied by the Canons of St. Augustine till the suppression, when the site was granted to Thomas Culpepper. This village has, in succession, been the patrimonial possession of the Mortimers, the Poles, and the Bacons. The present church, dedicated to All Saints, and of which the King is the patron, seems only to be a part of a more spacious structure; it contains some handsome monuments of marble, two of which are erected to the memory of the Lillingston family, and one to the memory of the parents of Sir Henry Etherington, Bart.—The village is delightfully situated at the foot of the hills, and not far from the shores of the Humber, to which there is a gentle descent. It is adorned by several elegant mansions. Pop. 347.

of Dickering; 4½ miles NE. of Bridl and 16 SE. of Scarborough. A very an station, formerly of some note, but at sent merely a fishing village, situated in centre of the promontory. The name of this place is probably derived from the "Flame," or light, anciently placed on the head to direct mariners in the navigation of the German ocean. The Danes in their hostile attacks upon England, in the early periods of her history, were accustomed to make this one of their principal stations; in later times it was possessed by Harold, Earl of the West Saxons, and afterwards king of England; subsequently, Wm. Le Gross, the founder of Scarborough castle was its lord; & afterwards came into the hands of the Constables, whom some derive from the Laeis Constables of Chester.* This family flourished here for some centuries, and a curious monumental inscription on a brass plate in the chancel of the church, records that Sir Marmaduke Constable, Knt. who fought in France under the banners of Edward IV. and Henry VII. was interred here. The church, an ancient building, dedicated to St. Oswald, of which the Archbishop of York, and Sir William Strickland, Bart. have alternately the patronage, is a curacy, and the Rev. William Kendall is the incumbent. Some vestiges yet remain of Danish excavations; an ancient ruin at the West end of the village, is called the Danes Tower, and the entrenchments formed round it, and still visible, have obtained for the place the designation of "Little Denmark."

Flamborough Head is a lofty promontory overlooking the village, and forming one of the most magnificent objects, and greatest natural curiosities in the kingdom. The cliffs, which are of lime-stone rock, white as snow, extend in a range from five to six miles, and rise in many places to the elevation of 300 feet perpendicular from the sea. At the base of this mass of mouldering mountains are several extensive caverns, formed by some mighty convulsions of nature, or worn by the everlasting action of the ocean. The most remarkable of these excavations, are the Dove Cote, the Kirk Hole, and Robin Lyth's Hole; the last of which far surpasses the other in its grandeur and dimensions, and is thus described by the historian of Scarborough:—"It has two openings, one communicating with the land, the other with the sea. The former is low and narrow, giving solemn admission into the cavern, which at the first entrance is surrounded with a tenebrious gloom, but the darkness gradually dispersing, the magnificence becomes unfolded, and excites the admiration of the exploring stranger. The floor is a solid rock, formed into broad steps of an easy descent, and the stones at the sides are curiously variegated. The roof is finely arched, and nearly fifty feet high at the centre. The many projecting ledges and fragments of suspended rocks, joined to the great elevation, give it an awful, and at the same time, a majestic appearance; and when looking upwards to survey the lofty arch, and reflect upon the superincumbent mass sustained by it, there is a difficulty in suppressing those ideas of danger which intrude upon such an occasion. On approaching the Eastern extremity, a noble vista is formed by its opening to the sea, which appears in its highest grandeur on emerging from the gloom of the cavern." The large masses of insulated rocks formed into columns and pyramids, add to the sublimity of the scene, and when viewed from the sea, seem to form the porticoes to a range of lofty temples, which set at defiance all human erections.

In the summer season the ridges of these immensely elevated cliffs, form the rendezvous of myriads of aquatic fowls, which resort to the North side of the promontory, from various regions, to build their nests, and rear their young. In the months of May and June, the rocks seem absolutely animated, being covered with innumerable birds of various plumage, exceeding in number the inhabitants of the largest city, and in varied hue the tints of the rainbow. At the report of a gun, they are in instant motion, more alert than the inmates of a dwelling that has recently burst into a flame, and the eye is as much dazzled with the waving of their innumerable wings, brightened by the rays of the sun, as the ear is stunned with the clamour of a thousand discordant notes all bursting forth at the same moment of time. Hung in air as their nests seem to be, they are still not inaccessible to the depredations of man! boys are let down the rocks by ropes fastened to stakes, and bring away bushels of eggs for the use of the sugar house in Hull, without seeming to diminish their countless number.

For many years the want of a Light-house at Flamborough had been felt by the mariners who navigated those seas, and deplored by the merchants whose property was exposed to danger, for want of so essential a monitor. The active mind, and the benevolent disposition of the late Mr. Milne, the collector of the customs at Bridlington, induced him to propose the erection of a light house on the Head, and the proposal was cordially received by the incorporated company of the Elder Brethren, of the Trinity-house, Deptford Strond, London: the site fixed upon was at the distance of nearly a mile and a half Eastward of the town, about 400 yards within the extreme point of the promontory, close to the landing on the South side of Silex bay, and at an elevation of 250 feet; the erection was speedily effected, under the inspection of an able engineer, and on the 1st of December, 1806, the revolving light which has ever since flamed by night from the Head, burst forth for the first time. The utility of this erection cannot be more strikingly illustrated than by the following fact, quoted from the Notes to Coates's Descriptive Poem, on Bridlington Quay.—“From June, 1770, to the end of the year 1806, not fewer than 174 ships were wrecked or lost on Flamborough Head and its environs, but since the erection of the lights, to March, 1813, not one vessel had been lost on that station when the lights could be seen.” From what has already been said, it will be concluded, that the marine scenery here is grand and imposing, and the milder attractions of Bridlington and the Quay, with the fine country in the rear, unite the beautiful to the sublime. The population of Flamborough amounts to 917, of which number, the fishermen and their families constitute at least one half. In addition to the church of St. Oswald mentioned above, there are here a Methodist chapel, and a chapel for the Primitive Methodists.

GOODMANHAM, alias Godmundia Gaham, is a parish in the wap. of Harthill, partly in the liberty of St. Peter's; one mile and a half NNE. of Market-Weighton, situated on the lowest acclivity of the Wolds. This is a place of great antiquity, and was probably the Delgovitia of the Romans: upon that point Antiquarians are not agreed, some of them assigning this station to Market-Weighton, others to Lodesbrough, and others again to Millington; it is, however, agreed on all hands, that Goodmanham was the place on which the primary temple of Pagan worship stood. This temple was the great Cathedral of Northumbria, laid out in various courts, and inclosed with several walls, containing within it many altars and idols, and attended by the first personages of the priesthood.* The site of this Temple of mystic rites and worship is plainly marked out to this day, by an extensive cluster of artificial hills, now called the Howe Hills. The venerable Bede in his Ecclesiastical History, chap. xiii. § 2. says, that the place of the idols was destroyed in his time. The demolition of these gods took place when Edwin, king of Deira, was converted to Christianity;† and there is no reason to suppose, both from the usual practice of the first converts to Christianity, and from the present appearance of some parts of the edifice, that the present church, dedicated to All Saints, was built from the ruins of that temple, though not on the same site, as Drake erroneously imagines. Dr. Stukely, in the Archæus, Vol. I. 44. says, "that the Apostle Paulinus built the parish church of Godmundham, where is the original font, in which he baptised the heathen high priest Coif." The font here alluded to is now in the possession of the Rev. J. Stillingfleet, rector of Hotham, who, it is hoped, will restore it to the proper and legitimate situation from which it has doubtless been sacrilegiously abstracted by some Gothic churchwarden. The church of Goodmanham, of which the Rev. William Blow is the patron and rector, furnishes several fine specimens of Saxon architecture. The exterior arch of the West end of the tower, now intersected by a buttress, the arch of the South entrance, and the interior one, entering into the chancel are Saxon; the upper part of the tower, and the windows on the South side of the body of the church, which has probably been renewed, have the character of modern times.

The process of the introduction of Christianity into this part of the kingdom is curious, and is thus related by the old Chroniclers:—Edwin, the Northumbrian king, under the influence of Ethelburga his queen, and the preaching of Paulinus, convoked a council of his priests and nobles to deliberate on the expediency of embracing the Christian faith. On the question being propounded by the King, whether he should receive the new faith, and be baptised? Coif, the chief Pagan bishop, well understanding the bias of Edward's mind, rose first and said, "The religion we have hitherto followed is nothing worth," "for," added he, addressing himself to the King, "there are none of thy people that hath more reverently worshipped our Gods than I have done, and yet there be many that hath received far greater benefits at thy hands: and therefore, if our gods were of any power they would rather help me to high honour and dignity than others. Therefore, if it may be found that this new religion is better and more available than our old, let us with speed embrace the same." A grandee high in power next addressed the assembly, and assigned a much more dignified and ill-considered reason than had been given by the high priest, for giving a favourable re- sult to Christianity: "The religion we please," he said, "gives us no instruction of the nature of the soul; when it is se- parated from the body we know not what becomes of it; but the religion of the Christians professes, at least, to open to our view a future state, and is deserving of our unprejudiced consideration." The conclu- sion was, that Christianity should be em- braced; and Coll, with the seal of a con- vert, mounted upon a war horse, repair- ed to Godmanin Gaham, the place of the idol, and cast his javelin at the princi- pal idol, commanded those around him to burn down the temple and the altars. The new religion was then received by the people, and Edwin himself was baptized by Paulinus at York, in the church of St. Peter's, on Easter Sunday,* in the year 647. Pop. 230.

the rector. On a small eminence stands a stately Mausoleum, built of the best polished free stone, faced with polished marble, and in the centre an elegant monument, in memory of the late Sir William Constable, Bart. of Burton Constable, who has been surrounded by the ancestors of that ancient family. The erection of this superb structure cost the sum of £10,000. Sir John Constable, of Kirkby Knowle, in 1560, by will the sum of 80*l.* per annum, to be paid out of his estate for ever, for the following purposes:—20*l.* for the education of poor children; 2*l.* to furnish the above children with satchels, books, &c. and 4*l.* to be distributed amongst eight poor men, and 4*l.* to two poor old women, in the hospital erected for their use. HARPHAM, (P.) in the wap. of Dickering; 6 miles NE. of Driffield; the former residence, and the burial place of the ancient family of the St. Quintins, the founder of which formerly came over to England with William the Conqueror, and received the lordships of Harpham at the price of his military services. Adjoining to

The Church on the Western side, the foundations of the family mansion are yet to be seen, and certain vestiges of the fish ponds, of which the building has totally disappeared. The church, of which the Rev. Thomas Milnes, vicar of Burton Agnes, is incumbent, consists of a neat plain stone tower, about 50 feet high, a nave, repaired and heightened on the South side with brick, and a chancel. The arches have been originally all pointed, but on the North side there has been a small aisle which is now the cemetery of the family of St Quintin. The pedigree of the family from Harbert, in the year 1000, to Wm. St Quintin, Bart. who died in 1777, (twenty-eight successions) is represented in stained glass, beautifully executed by Gilbert, and placed in the windows of the chancel, at the expense of the last baronet, who died about the year 1797, but whose name is not yet recorded among his ancestors. This pedigree is uninterrupted in the male line through a period of upwards of seven centuries! In the same burial place are two massive plain stone coffins, which "the grave hath cast up again," but who were their tenants, or when they were ejected from their narrow mansion, there is no record to tell. There are here also a number of monuments and inscriptions, all relating to the same family, and several of them in good preservation; but the principal is an elegant white marble monument, above the altar base, exhibiting a full length figure of grief, with the usual emblems, holding two profile likenesses, one of the late Sir William Quintin, Bart. and the other of his lady. A small tablet contains an inscription to her memory, and the words—"Also in memory of"—the blank remaining to be supplied by the hand of the painter, but not by the hand of fate. Sir William was succeeded by his nephew, who never took the title, and he dying, left a son, a minor, who attained his majority in 1818. The village is wholly agricultural; the farm-homes-stands are good, and the cottages neat and comfortable. On the road side to Hornsea is a fine clear spring of excellent water, over which is erected a dome, and on the side of this small but ancient building, is inscribed "St. John Well," intended probably as a monumental tribute to St. John of Beverley, who, according to the tradition of upwards of eleven centuries, was born in this village.* Pop. 251.

HEDON, (P.)

In the wap. of Holderness, and liberty of Hedon, and St. Peter's; 2 miles E. of Hull, and 2 miles E. of the Humber. The town consists chiefly of one street, in the middle of which is the Market place; it is well paved, and the road in every direction in good condition. The parish comprises an area of 276 acres, and the population which has been increasing progressively for the last twenty years, now amounts to 902, though, in 1801, the numbers were only 592. The government of the town is in the corporation, which consists of a Mayor, nine Aldermen, two Bailiffs, the latter of whom are Magistrates during their term of office, and an indefinite number of Burgesses: the Mayor is annually chosen from the Aldermen, and the Bailiffs from the Burgesses; the Coroner is one of the Aldermen annually chosen, and usually the person who has served the office of Mayor the preceding year; John Taylor, Esq. is the Mayor, and Charles Gibson and Thomas Jackson, Esqrs. are Bailiffs for 1822-3. The death sustained less, the appearance of the town was considerably improved by the disaster. The church of St. Augustine, of which the Archbishop of York is the patron, and the Rev. John Dixon the vicar, is the only church in this place; of the two others, St. Nicholas and St. James, only the traces of the foundations remain. Upon part of seven acres of land, at Newton, near this town, given by Alan, son of Oubernus, was built in the reign of king John, an hospital, dedicated to the holy Sepulchre, for a prior, and seven brethren, or sister lepers, but it no longer exists: A handsome chapel for Roman-Catholic worship was built here, in 1804; and a Calvinist chapel was built in 1801; there is also a Methodist chapel, erected in 1818. The corporations have erected eight houses, appropriated to the maintenance of old burghesses, and three others, appropriated to the widows of burghesses, in which they have a small pension, and an annual supply of coals. There are also two schools, one for boys, and the other for girls, the children of burghesses, supported by the voluntary contributions of the representatives of the borough. The weekly market, which is held on the Saturday, is well supplied with provisions of all sorts. The annual fairs, of which there are four, are held on the second of August, the twenty-second of September, the seventeenth of November, and the sixth of December; and fortnight markets for cattle, established in 1796, are held every alternate Monday throughout the year, with increasing success; the number of sheep penned in 1821, amounted to 13,738. The Holderness Agricultural Society, the operations of which have been highly beneficial to this district, hold their quarterly meetings in this place, and have here their annual show of prize cattle. This society is composed of most of the gentlemen, and principal farmers, and breeders of cattle in this fertile and highly cultivated district, and possesses a valuable and select library of the best books, which have been written on agriculture, and the sciences with which it is connected. There are also several other societies here, amongst the principal of which may be mentioned, the Friendly Union Benefit Society, with 200 members, and a fund of £1300; and the Bible Society, which is extensively patronized. There is a great deal of sociality in this small but interesting town, and the dancing, and card assemblies in the winter, to which all the principal inhabitants of the town and neighbourhood resort, impart to the place a considerable share of gaiety and refinement.

Aldermen are, William Ivimey, Edward Ombler, William Day, James Iveson, John Taylor, Thomas Dring, Henry Hensley Robert Clifford, John Southey, and John Hornby, Esqrs. The Coronet for the year 1822-3, is Henry Hensley, Esq.; and James Iveson, is Town Clerk. There is here a court of record, that holds pleas for an unlimited amount. The court for the pentakes of Holderness, which is held in Hall, takes cognizance of pleas within the and the general quarter sessions for the Borough are held in the same place. Thomas Constable, Esq. of Hull, is Constable, is lord paramount of the manor of Holderness, and the execution of the is bound by charter to provide within the town a hall and prison for the manor of Holderness. Hedon returns two members to parliament; the present members are Lieut. Colonel John Baillie, of Doncaster place, Cavendish square, London, and Robert Farrand, Esq. of Fenchurch street, London. This Borough first sent members to parliament in the 23d of Edward I. which no returns were made till the 14th of Edward VI., since which time the returns have been regular. The right of election in the burgesses, whose privilege is given either by descent, or by serving seven years to a freeman resident in the Borough, and an honorary gift at the discretion of the chief officers for the time. The amount to about three hundred. It was anciently a sea port of considerable importance, connected with the river Humber by a navigable creek, but the access from the Humber diminished as the surrounding country became drained and embanked, and was finally choked up. As the increased Hedon declined. In 1774, an act of parliament was obtained for reserving the preserving the haven, and though the act failed of entire success for want of a levee to exclude the tides, the trade has progressively increased, and considerable quantities of grain are shipped here for London, and the West Riding of Yorkshire, for which lime, and general merchandise are sent in return. Camden speaks of Hedon as having been "formerly a considerable port by reason of merchants and shipping" and his commentator adds, that "the remains and marks of two churches, besides the mill they now have, argue its former greatness, and by consequence a flourishing trade." This place suffered a severe loss in the year 1656, by a dreadful conflagration, which burnt down great part of the town, and subsequently several houses in the Market-place shared the same fate; but they are now rebuilt, and though individ-

has a beautiful spire, rising forty-two feet above the battlements. Dr. Stukeley says "that the Romans had a fort in this place on each side of the great West tower of the present church," and the situation of the great wall, which is of a different material from the rest of the building, favours supposition, that the church has been erected upon the site of the ancient fort. The chapel, which is dedicated to St. Mary, made collegiate in 1426, for a provost, six prebendaries, six vicars choral, and six clerks, but these privileges ceased with the dissolution, and it is now a discharged vicarage, the gift of the King. Population, 560.

HESLE, (P.) in the wap. of Hull-shire ; 5 miles WSW. of Hull. This is an ancient parish and manor, the date of which may be traced to the conquest. The manor of Hesle was formerly a possession of the Stutevilles, and Joan Stuteville carried the estates to Hugh de Wake. This lady was the first to introduce the custom of females riding sideways on horseback, and the device on her seal exhibits a lady in that posture, holding the bridle in her right hand. The proximity of this village to the Humber rendered it an advantageous situation for building, which until lately was carried on to a considerable extent. A little to the westward of Hessele, is Hesselewood house, a handsome mansion belonging to Joseph Robinson Pease, Esq. an eminent banker, at Hull. This house commands a fine view of the Humber, but less extensive than from the house of Mr. Cooper, and others on the top of the hill. The church is dedicated to All Saints; it is a vicarage, in the gift of the crown, and the Rev. Edmund Garwood, A.M. vicar, is the incumbent. The Rev. Timothy Raikes, an ancestor of the present family of Raikes, of Hull, London, and Gloucester, was vicar of Hessele in the commencement of the last century. There are here a small hospital and school, slenderly endowed, and several doles to the poor, under the direction of the vicar and the churchwardens. The late Mr. Raikes, of Gloucester, the founder of those valuable institutions, the Sunday Schools, was a member of this family. Population 1021.

HOLME-ON-SPALDING-MOOR, (P.) in the wap. of Harthill; 5 miles SW of Market Weighton, and well known by the name of Hemp Holme, from the quantity of hemp formerly cultivated here.—The hill or mount on which stands the ancient church, is a very fine object, particularly on the high road to York from Market Weighton. From this elevated situation a delightful survey may be had of the surrounding country, in which Howden church and York Cathedral are prominent objects. Upon this mount stands a beacon, from which that division of this extensive wapentake of Harthill, called Holme Beacon, is said to take its name. Here is a bed of gypsum, in which are also found ammonite, or snake stones. A practice has been adopted in this parish, by some of the principal landholders, of allotting a certain quantity of land, as a cowgate, to their labourers, which has materially tended to the comfort of their families, and to the ease of the parish. A shock of an earthquake was felt in this neighbourhood on the 18th of January, 1822, at 10 o'clock at night. The church is dedicated to All Saints, and is in the patronage of St. John's College, Cambridge, who let out the rectory to the vicar, by lease, for his life, at a pepper corn yearly rent. There are here two chapels, one for the Roman Catholics and the other for the Methodists. Pop. 1318. A tradition exists that in times long since passed, when a great part of this region was a trackless morass, a cell was founded, either by the Vavasours or the Constables, at Welham bridge, on the edge of Spalding moor, for two monks, one of whom was employed in guiding travellers over the dreary wastes, and the other in imploring the protection of heaven for those who were exposed to the dangers of the road; and there are persons yet living who can remember the time when, in foggy weather, it was considered a dangerous attempt to cross the ocean without a guide.

HORNSEA, (P.)

In the wap. and liberty of Holderness; 12 miles from Beverley, 15 from Hedon, and 16 from Hull. There was formerly a market here weekly, but it has long been disused.—The church is a large gothic structure, dedicated to St. Nicholas, of which the King is the patron, and the Rev. Robert Croft, vicar, the incumbent; there are likewise Calvinist and Methodist chapels, and a church school. Hornsea is much frequented, in the bathing season. Within three quarters of a mile to the NE. of the town run the mighty streams of the German Ocean, and immediately to the SW. is a lake covering upwards of four hundred acres of land, and full of most excellent and highly flavoured fish. There is in this place, as in many of the other watering places of Yorkshire, a fine chalybeate spring. Races are held here on a variable day, between the 17th and 24th of July. Pop. with Burton 790.

HOWDEN, (P.)

In the wap. and liberty of Howdenshire; 9 miles from Snaith, 10 from Selby, and 21 from York. Here is a very good market on Saturday. This town is of considerable antiquity, but it contains nothing remark able except its church, formerly collegiate, and the remains of the ancient palace of the bishops of Durham. The jurisdiction, called Howdenshire, is a peculiar, under the Dean and Chapter of Durham, and comprises Howden, Laxton Chapel, Barmby Chapel, Eastington, Hemmingbrough, Barby Chapel Holby, Brantingham, Skipwith, Elleker Chapel, Blacktoft, Welton, and Walkington. The collegiate church of Howden was dissolved in the first year of Edward VI. and the temporalities thereby became vested in the crown. The revenues for supporting the choir being disposed of into private hands, the choir fell gradually into decay, and at length becoming totally unsafe, the parish-pewers, in the years 1634, and 1636, fitted up the nave for the celebration of divine worship. In the year 1696, the groined-roof of the chancel fell in, and from that time the East-end of the church has exhibited the appearance of a magnificent and venerable ruin. The church is built in the form of a cross with an elegant square tower of forty-five yards in height, rising from the centre upon pointed arches, supported by clustered piers. Over the communion table is a painting of the Lord's supper, by Mr. Beil, of Selby, which fills the bows of the closed central arch between the nave and the choir. The most curious, and once the most elegant part of this sacred edifice, is the Chapter-house, built about the middle of the fourteenth century. Its form is octagonal, resembling the chapter-house at York; but its dimensions are greatly inferior, its width being only eight paces. The style of architecture, however is superb; it contains fifty canopied seats, separated by clustered pilasters of various members, very small, and extremely delicate, having foliated capitals of pierced work, from which rises rich tracery work, ornamenting Gothic arches. The whole is constructed of a fine durable blue stone, and had a beautiful octagonal stone spire, which fell in on St. Stephen's day, 1750. The tower of the church is a plain but well proportioned and stately structure, built of a durable kind of stone. Its invention has by all writers been ascribed to Walter Skirlaw, bishop of Durham; but most probably it was only heightened by that prelate, as the following homely couplet asserts:—

"Bishop Skirlaw indeed was good to his "people,
"He built them a school-house and "heightened the steeple."

The present church appears to have been erected from the materials of a previous structure. And it is probable, that as the Gothic style of building was recently come into fashion, when the prebends were endowed in 1267, the church was finished about that period, excepting the steeple and chapter-house, which were built by Walter Skirlaw, in the fourteenth century. This prelate died at Howden, and his bowels were buried in the church. The living of Howden is a vicarage, not in charge, of which the king is the patron, and the Rev. Ralph Spofforth, M.A. the incumbent. [The church is dedicated to St. Peter. There is an ancient palace here, which the bishops of Durham formerly made their summer residence: the palace is supposed to have been erected by Walter Skirlaw, whose arms are yet seen in some parts of the ruins. His successor, bishop Langley, also made several additions to the edifice; the brick arch, through which lies a passage to the orchards, ponds, &c. appears to have been of his erection, as his arms yet remain on a stone placed in the corner of the arch. The venerable ruins of this ancient palace, being patched up with modern building, are now converted into a farm house. It is situated almost close to the church-yard, and nearly opposite to the South side of the choir, which presents to the eye a majestic ruin. On the south side of the palace was a park extending to the banks of the Ouse. Howden is situated about a mile from the Ouse, where it has a small harbour for boats, and a ferry over the river in the Market place there is a large building, called the Moot-hall, in which the courts for the jurisdiction are held. There are here two meeting houses, one for the Methodists, and another for the Independents; and a Free School, of which the Rev. Thomas Grey is the master.—The population amounts to 2080.

HISTORY OF KINGSTON-UPON-HULL.

HULL, one of the principal seaports of the United Kingdom of Great Britain, 39 miles from York, and 170 from London, in 53 deg. 45 min. N. latitude, and 0 deg. 16 min. W. longitude, is situated at the point where the river Hull discharges its waters into the estuary of the Humber—the common receptacle of all the eastern rivers of England, from the Swale to the Trent. Hull, like the rival port on the opposite side of the island, has no claim to high antiquity, but its rise is of a date at least three centuries before that of Liverpool; the habitations of the shepherds and cowherds of Hull having given place to the wharfs and warehouses of the merchant in the reign of Edward I. while the tents of the fishermen of Liverpool retained their station until the time of James I. When the Domesday survey was taken, Myton appears to have been the principal place in this neighbourhood, but so diminutive were its buildings, that it would scarcely at this day have ranked amongst our villages. In the reign of Stephen, William le Gros, Earl of Albemarle and Lord of Holderness, to commute a vow he had made to visit Jerusalem, founded a monastery at Meaux, seven miles north of Hull, and endowed it with possessions sufficiently ample to maintain the establishment. Some ages after, the Lords of Wake inhabited a mansion at Cottingham, called Baynard Castle, and Edward I. on his return from the battle of Dunbar, where the Scottish King, John Balliol, lost his crown to the conqueror, honoured this lordship with a royal visit. During his stay at this place, while he was engaged in the pleasures of the chase, he came to the hamlets of Myton and Wyke, where Hull now stands, and was so much impressed with the advantages of the situation for a fortified town and commercial port, that he sent for the Abbot of Meaux, who was lord of the soil, and negotiated with him an exchange for other lands of a much higher nominal value. Edward's next care was to issue a proclamation, offering privileges and immunities to all those who should fix their habitations in this place; at the same time he built a manor house, which he considered as a royal residence, and honoured the town, which soon sprang up around him, with the appellation of Kingston, or King's town, adding the terms upon-Hull to distinguish it from Kingston-upon-Thames. In the 27th year of his reign the harbour was finished, and the town, by a royal charter, dated in 1299, was constituted a free borough. The advantages enjoyed by Hull gave it a decided preponderance over all the ports in the neighbourhood; and Ravenspurn, Hedou, and Grimsby, were drained by degrees of the greatest part of their trade and commerce. Since that time Ravenspurn has been washed away by the incursions of the sea, and not a vestige of the town or its suburbs remains to indicate their existence, or to fix the date of their overthrow. It appears that in the time of Edward I. Ravenspurn sent members to Parliament, though it is probable that within a century from that time the Borough ceased to exist. In the year 1350, the bones of the dead were removed from the chapel of Ravenspurn to the church-yard of Easington; but so tenacious were some of the edifices of their station that, not more than fifty years ago, the remains of the engulfed wall were visible to the fishermen at low water.* The stately structure of the Holy Trinity was begun about the close of the 13th century, and Edward II. contributed liberally towards its erection. The necessary consequence of the prosperity of Hull was, the establishment of a ferry across the Humber, and in the year 1316 vessels were established between Barton and Hull, for the conveyance of passengers and cattle, which have been continued through successive ages to the present day. Ten years afterwards, the town was fortified with a ditch and wall, and so rapid was its progress that, in about sixty years from its foundation, Hull was called upon to furnish Edward III. with 16 ships and 466 men, towards an armament, to which the quota of the city of London amounted only to 25 ships and 662 men. In 1331, Gilfred de Hotham, a devout Knight, founded a priory for black monks, in the street ever since called Blackfriargate. Of this religious house a square tower, and a pile of buildings used as an inn, remained, when Tickell wrote, behind the old Guild-hall, at the top of the Market place. These were removed when the House of Correction was built; and when, subsequently, the hall itself was pulled down, and the present range of buildings erected for shambles in 1806, some groined arches of brick were discovered under the hall, with which perished the last remains of this ancient structure. It was built chiefly of brick, as was the east end of Trinity church, previously,—and there can be no doubt that the art of brick-making, disused from the time of the Romans, was then revived here, though Bishop Littleton, who visited Hull, deceived by the covering of plaster on the church, fixes the date of the revival in the reign of Richard II.

Edward III. on attaining his majority, visited Hull, on his way to fight the Scots, and was entertained by William de la Pole, a wealthy merchant, born at Ravenspurn, and then the mayor of this borough.—Edward, after four campaigns against the Scotch, resolved to attack France, with the intention of wresting the crown from Philip de Valois, which Edward claimed in right of his mother. With this view, he sailed to Antwerp, where he was obliged to remain inactive, from the want of "the sinews of war." Sir William de la Pole, who was then at Antwerp, pursuing his mercantile adventures, lent Edward a large sum of money, and mortgaged his ample estates for the use of his sovereign. This act of loyal devotion the King rewarded by conferring upon him the honour of Knight-Banneret, in the field. On the return of Edward from the contest, he made Sir William de la Pole gentleman of his bed-chamber, and lord of the Seignior of Holderness; advancing him from time to time to places of profit and trust, and at length made him baron of the exchequer. In every stage of his progress Sir William remained the constant benefactor of Kingston-upon-Hull, and the De la Poles became to this place what the Cliffords were to Skipton, and the Talbots to Sheffield.—Before his death, which happened in 1356, he founded a monastery and hospital here, to the glory of God and the benefit of the poor: but he was summoned from this world before the house was complete, and his son, Sir Michael de la Pole, his successor, completed the work, and endowed it for thirteen poor men and as many poor women. Sir Michael was no less the favourite of Richard II. than his father had been of Edward III. and in the ninth year of this sovereign's reign, he was made Lord Chancellor, and afterwards created Earl of Suffolk. The Earl began to erect a stately and superb palace called Suffolk palace, which stood opposite to the west end of St. Mary's church, in a place at this time called Market gate. Before the great window was a delightful and spacious flower garden, and other grounds, on which are now erected warehouses, sheds, &c. and other parts are occupied as yards for different artificers. The Earl, like most other favourites, became obnoxious to the people by whom he was stigmatized as a flagrant public peculator, and he was ultimately removed from his office, and died in voluntary exile in 1388. The history of the De la Poles is intimately connected with Hull. Few towns can boast of having given rise to so celebrated a family, thus arising from obscurity to eminence, flourishing in such splendour, and experiencing the vicissitudes of fortune. Michael, the second Earl of Suffolk, accompanied Henry V. in his expedition into France, and displaying signal proofs of courage and capacity, fell a victim to the malignant temper which then ravaged the English army. Michael, the third Earl, was a soldier, and was slain at the memorable battle of Agincourt, fighting by the side of his Sovereign. William de la Pole, the fourth Earl, was distinguished alike in the field and in the cabinet. This Earl had twenty-four campaigns in France, and spent seventeen years on the Continent without ever returning to his native country. At the death of the Earl of Salisbury, who was at the siege of Orleans, in 1428, the command of the besieging army devolved upon the Earl of Suffolk, but the loss which the army had gathered began to wither in his keeping; the heroic and that military and political prodigy, the Duke of Orleans, turned the fortune of the war, and ultimately expelled the invaders from the French territory. On the return of the Earl of Suffolk to England, the duty of negotiating a peace with France was committed to his hands, and this affair being settled, he proposed the marriage of the King, Henry VI. with Margaret of Anjou, daughter of René, King of Sicily, and niece of Mary of Anjou, the Queen of France. The negotiation of this marriage was also conducted by the Earl, on which he was advanced a step in the peerage, and appointed by the King, when the preliminaries were settled, to espouse the princess Margaret in his name.— This espousal was ominous, and if the court rumours of those days were to be relied upon, Margaret so far forgot her marriage vows as sometimes to confound the party with the principal. The Queen soon perceived the weakness of her consort, and ruled him with absolute sway. By this means the Marquis of Suffolk, the Cardinal of Winchester, and the Archbishop of York, saw their power more firmly established.— A strict union was formed between them and the Queen; and the Duke of Gloucester, who had opposed the King's marriage, and whom they regarded as the common enemy, was thrown into prison, and found dead in his bed before the time for his trial arrived. The people considered Suffolk as the principal author of Gloucester's death; and in proportion as he sunk in public estimation he rose in favour at court, and on the second of June, 1488, he was, through the influence of his royal mistress, created Duke of Suffolk. The loss of Normandy, which followed, was attributed to Suffolk, who was publicly accused of having delivered Maine, the key of that province, to the French; it was further charged upon him that he had murdered the Duke of Gloucester, and that he had removed from the King's presence all virtuous counsellors, and filled their place with his own creatures. The Duke, when these charges were brought before Parliament, gave them a flat denial; but the court, alarmed at his obstinacy, and desirous to withdraw him from the impending storm, undertook, without awaiting the slow formality of a trial, to banish him for five years. The Duke entered upon his exile without reluctance, but while he was on his passage to France he was met by an English vessel, called the Nicholas, belonging to the Duke of Exeter, constable of the tower, the Captain of which seized the Duke, and struck off his head. Thus fell William de la Pole, Duke of Suffolk, who, during the space of four and twenty years had distinguished himself at the head of the English armies in France, who had ruled the cabinet of London, and had been the most powerful man in the Kingdom. The mutilated body of the Duke was left upon the sands at Dover, and, according to Stow, it was brought to Hull, and interred in the Charter house there. From this nobleman was descended John de la Pole, Duke of Suffolk, who married Elizabeth Plantagenet, sister of Edward IV. and by her had issue John de la Pole, Earl of Lincoln. This Earl aspired to the throne; and Richard III. after the death of his only son, declared the Earl of Lincoln presumptive heir to the Crown.— The battle of Bosworth Field destroyed these aspiring hopes, by elevating the Earl of Richmond to the throne. Lincoln submitted to his disappointment with an ill grace, and having joined in the rebellion of Lambert Simmel, a baker's son, who personated the late Duke of Clarence, he landed near Lancaster, with an army consisting of 8000 Irish and German troops, whences he marched, to encounter the King, through Yorkshire, to the village of Stoke, in Nottinghamshire. Here an obstinate battle was fought on the 6th of June, 1487, in which the rebels were routed, and the Earl of Lincoln, with the greatest part of his army, was left dead upon the field. The brother of this brave but unfortunate nobleman was Edmund de la Pole, Earl of Suffolk, the last of that family who bore this title.— The jealous temper of Henry VII. led him to cast Edmund into prison, on a charge of conspiring against the state, and, after languishing for seven years in confinement, he was put to death by Henry VIII. without the formality of a trial. By the attainder of the last Earl of Suffolk, all the revenues and manors of that nobleman were confiscated to the King's use, amongst which was the Manor Hall, with the buildings and gardens adjoining, and the family became extinct in the male line by the death of the younger brother, William, who fled to Italy, and was killed at the battle of Pavia in 1525. It has been seen, that at the time when William de la Pole resided here as a merchant, Hull had attained a considerable rank in the list of maritime towns, and in the year 1369 the fraternity called the Guild of the Holy Trinity, was founded at this place, for the relief of distressed seamen and their widows.

The inhabitants of Hull had, ever since the foundation of the town, laboured under great inconvenience for want of fresh water, and the neighbouring villages of Hessle, Anlaby, Cottingham, and others, unmoved by their distress, combined together, so early as the year 1376, to withhold from them a supply of this necessary of life. Long, and, in some instances, fatal contests, existed between the town and the villages upon this subject for some years, till at length the Sovereign Pontiff of Rome found it necessary to interpose the authority of the Vatican, and to issue an extraordinary writing, dated at Rome the 20th of July, 1413, reminding these, "who, at the instigation of Satan, had endeavoured to ruin the inhabitants of a large and flourishing town, by depriving them of water, that they must give an account of their deeds at the day of judgment; and by exhorting and praying every one of them, by the bowels of charity, to contribute freely to the maintenance of the water courses, by which means they would, in some measure, atone for their past offences;" and all who should be instrumental in promoting this public work, by contributing thereto, were promised "the release of one hundred days in any penance that was already or might hereafter be enjoined them." The good effects of this instrument were astonishing; all attempts to corrupt or poison the water, or to fill up the canals, ceased, and the town, from that time, has been plentifully supplied with the pure beverage of nature. During the reign of Richard II. when the Scots were making their inroads into England, and menacing the country from the Tweed to the Humber, the fortifications of Hull were repaired, the ditches cleansed, and a strong castle was built at the east side of the river Hull, for the better defence of the town and haven. The original charter, granted by Edward I. was renewed and enlarged by subsequent charters granted by Richard II. Henry IV. and Henry V. but it was not till the 18th year of Henry VI. that the corporation of Hull received that form which it still preserves. The municipal government was then placed in the hands of a mayor, recorder, sheriff, and twelve aldermen, who were to be justices of the peace; and at the same time the King constituted the town, with its precincts, a county of itself, comprising the towns and parishes of Hensle, North Ferryby, Swanland, West-Ella, Kirk-Ella, Tranby, Willerby, Woolfer-ton, Anlaby, and all the site of the priory of Haltemprice. That monarch also, by another charter, bearing date the second of July, in the same year, granted, that the Mayors of Hull should, for the future, have the sword carried erect before them, and that the mayors and aldermen should have a cap of maintenance. In the year 1443, the town was divided into six wards, each of them governed by two aldermen, and the mayor presiding as head of the whole.— In the month of September, 1448, Henry VI. on his return to London, from the north, visited Hull, and was received with every demonstration of loyal affection by all classes of the people. At this period the famous William de la Pole, fourth Earl of Suffolk, had the chief share of the administration of the government of the country, and whatever might be his errors as a minister of state, he was to Hull a distinguished benefactor, and this town received, through his influence, numerous marks of royal favour. The inhabitants were not un-mindful of the obligations they owed to their Sovereign; and when those intestine contests, between the houses of York and Lancaster, which shook the country to its centre, raged so fatally, this town continued to be the last firm and unshaken in its fidelity to Henry. In the battle of Wakefield,* fought on the 24th of December, 1460, Richard Hanson, Esq. the brave mayor of Hull, having greatly distinguished himself by his valour and intrepidity, fell covered with wounds, in the moment of victory, in the presence of his Queen. At Towton† the blood of the people of Hull, who had volunteered in Henry's cause, flowed from the public coffers of the borough was so much drained by the expenses of the war, that the corporation were obliged to take down a stately market cross, which had been erected about thirty years before, in order to raise money from the sale of the materials of which it was constructed. On the elevation of Edward IV. to the throne, the town of Hull reluctantly acknowledged him as their sovereign; but no sooner had Henry VI. again resumed his royal seat, by the support of Warwick, the king-maker, than they again professed their cordial allegiance to the restored monarch; and when Edward IV. landed at Ravenspurn, in Holderness, with 9000 men, on the 14th of March, 1471, he marched by the way of Beverley to York, without venturing to attack Hull. The sequel is known to every reader of English history: Warwick was slain in the decisive battle of Barnet. Prince Edward, the son of Henry, was murdered in cold blood by the Duke of Clarence and Gloucester, aided by Lord Hastings and Sir Thomas Gray; Henry and his Queen were thrown into the tower, where the former expired in a few days, for "short is the distance between the prison and the grave of princes;" and Margaret was suffered afterwards to retire to Anjou, where she closed her eventful life in the year 1482.

In 1472 Hull was visited by the plague which swept off a great number of the inhabitants, and among the rest John Whitefield, Esq. its chief magistrate. For four years the disorder seemed to have ceased, but in 1476 it broke out again with increased fury, and John Richards, Esq. the Mayor, was of the number of its victims. Two years afterwards it raged so violently that 1500 persons died in a short time, and Thomas Alcock, Esq. the mayor, his wife, and all his children, died of the fatal distemper. The sweating sickness, that singular and fatal malady, which seemed to be peculiarly English, and which, if historians may be credited, followed the people of this nation into foreign countries, making them its peculiar victims, broke out in Hull in the year 1551, and committed dreadful ravages. In 1576 the plague was again brought into this town by some seamen, from neglect of quarantine. This fatal disorder was, however, confined to Blackfriargate, which was so deeply infected that it was judged necessary to wall up all the avenues leading to that street, leaving open only two doors, where watchmen were placed to take in provision and medicine, and to see that none of the infected made their escape. These wise, though rigorous precautions, had the desired effect, the epidemic soon subsided, and not more than one hundred of the inhabitants became its victims.

The affairs of Hull glided smoothly on amidst a successful and continually extending commerce, till the suppression of the religious houses in the reign of Henry VIII. excited a general spirit of discontent here and elsewhere. The lesser monasteries, those with a revenue under 200*l.* a year being so denominated, were first suppressed, and all those of Hull fell under that description. These were the White Friary, in Whitefriargate; St. Austin's Friary, commonly called the Black Friars; and the Carthusian Monastery, founded by Michael de la Pole, and dedicated to St. Michael. At the time of the insurrection, called the Pilgrimage of Grace, in 1537, while one division took Pontefract, and another entered York, a third, conducted by a person named Hallam, took Hull by surprise, and repossessed the ejected Monks and Friars of their houses. The triumph of the insurgents was, however, of short duration; their main body, under Aske, who had advanced into the neighbourhood of Doncaster, being dispersed, the magistrates and other inhabitants of Hull seized Hallam, and the other ringleaders, who were soon after tried, by a special commission, at this place, and the charge of rebellion being clearly established against them, they were convicted and executed. The measures taken by Henry to reform the established religion, accompanied as they were by the dissolution of the monasteries and the seizure of their property, were extremely unpopular in Yorkshire, and this year another insurrection broke out in the neighbourhood of Scarborough and Malton, from whence the insurgents made a hasty march towards Hull, with the intention of taking the town by surprise: being disappointed in this expectation, they besieged the place; but finding themselves unable to carry the town by force, Sir Robert Constable, and some others of the leaders, projected the stratagem of introducing themselves into the fortress disguised as market people, in which way they made themselves masters of the place. Sir Robert then assumed the title of governor, but having received intelligence that his partisans in the country were all either killed or taken prisoners, he fell into a state of despondency, and after keeping possession of the garrison for about thirty days, surrendered it into the hands of the mayor, with only a faint resistance. These deluded people being afterwards tried and convicted of high treason, under a commission, sitting here, of which the Duke of Norfolk was the head, numbers of them were hanged and quartered, and Sir Robert Constable, their leader, was hanged in chains over Beverley gate.

These rebellions having subsided, Henry made a visit into the north, in the year 1541, and in the month of August arrived in Hull, accompanied by his Queen, Catharine Howard, and attended by a train of courtiers. After partaking of the hospitalities of the Corporation, and condescending to receive at their hands a present of one hundred pounds, the royal personages proceeded to York; from thence his Majesty returned to Hull on the 30th of September, and after taking an accurate view of the town, gave orders for erecting a castle and two strong block houses, with additional fortifications, to environ the town. He also ordered that a new ditch should be cut from Newland to Hull, and that the stately manor house, formerly called Suffolk's palace, should undergo a thorough repair.—The King, after remaining five days in Hull, crossed the Humber, and returned to London through Lincolnshire. In the 20th year of this King's reign, an act passed for the appointment of twenty-six Suffragan Bishops, whose duty it was, in the absence of the bishops, to supply their place in all matters of order, though not of jurisdiction. Of the twenty-six towns appointed for Suffragan Sees, Hull was one, and the prelate had a magnificent palace, in High street, principally built of freestone, adorned with painted windows, like those of churches, and with spacious gateways and lofty towers.* Their office was nearly the same with the Chorepiscopi, or bishops of the country, in the primitive church; but this office had been discontinued for nine centuries, till it was now again revived in England. The institution was, however, of short duration, not exceeding, at most, sixty years, and Robert Purselove, consecrated Suffragan of Hull, in the year 1552, seems to have been the last of that order in this place.

Edward VI. on ascending the throne, endeavoured to allay the popular discontent occasioned by the indiscriminate suppression of charitable institutions, which had marked the conduct of his father, and among the first acts of his reign he reformed the Hospital of the Charter House and the Trinity House in this town. In the same reign, John Harrison, Esq. an alderman of Hull, built and endowed a hospital in Chapel lane, near the church of St. Mary's, which still bears the name of this learned magistrate and valuable citizen. The reformed religion was now making considerable advances: by a royal ordinance, it was directed that all images and pictures should be removed out of the churches of this kingdom, and those which had hitherto been displayed in the church of the Holy Trinity at Hull were committed publicly to the flames. In the same reign the King granted to the burgesses of Hull the entire manor of the town, and conferred upon them the custody of the castle and block-houses, erected in the former reign at an expense of 23,755*l*.

The gloomy reign of Philip and Mary passed over without making any important additions to the records of this place, and the rapid and repeated changes in religion under Edward, Mary, and Elisabeth, seem to have excited here no very material sensation.

Though great pains had been taken about the middle of the fourteenth century, by elevating the roads and repairing the banks, to guard against the unusual swell of the tides, which prevailed for some years in the Humber, yet in the year 1527 the tide rose to such a height as to overthrow the banks, and to do incredible damage both to the town and the adjacent country. All the low lands, for many miles round, were laid under water; the farmers, deprived of their crops, were reduced to indigence and want; and the merchandize, furniture, and other effects in the town, that were lodged in low rooms, were either destroyed or greatly damaged. In 1549 a similar visitation befel this place; the waters rose higher than the highest point to which they had ever before attained, and the injury sustained, both in the town and in the country, was immense. The trade of Hull still continued to increase, and the wealth of her ships tempted the cupidity of the pirates by which the seas were then infested; till at length the Lord High Admiral of England required the town to fit up two ships of war, to protect their own coast. These ships being well equipped and manned, sailed in quest of the maritime robbers, and they had soon the good fortune to capture several of them, and to bring them into Hull. A special commission, at which the Earl of Huntingdon presided, attended by the mayor and aldermen, as judges, was soon assembled here, when six of the pirates were found guilty, and, in virtue of their sentence, were executed and hung in chains on the adjacent coasts. As late as the year 1583, a court of jail delivery was held here, at which three persons were convicted of felony, and suffered the punishment of death; and a poor old woman, being tried and convicted of witchcraft, was sentenced to stand in the pillory on four separate market days, and to suffer a year's imprisonment. Nor did the players experience much more lenient treatment than the witches: the theatrical corps resorting to this town were, in a proclamation issued by the mayor, in 1596, styled "idle, lewd persons," "players or setters out of plays," and seeing that these persons, from their vagabond habits, could not be conveniently restrained, it was ordered and agreed that every inhabitant, man or woman, resorting to their theatre, should forfeit and pay 2*s*. 6*d*. to the mayor and burgesses. This very extraordinary attack upon the theatre, and upon the entertainments of the inhabitants, did not, it should appear, arise from any humble or puritanical disposition, which at that time possessed the leading inhabitants of the place, particularly the fair sex; for, in the same year, it was found necessary, in order to allay the heats and animosities which had arisen amongst the alderwomen and others, about precedence at church, to institute an ecclesiastical commission for regulating these important affairs, in which it was directed by the Archbishop "that the commissioners should place every of the said gentlewomen in their places according to their respective callings or dignities." The men, it is said, were easily governed, and content to sit and place themselves where they were ordered, according to the new arrangement of the pews in the church, which had recently taken place; but the women, like the Pharisees of old, sought the uppermost places in the synagogue, and, whatever might be the fervour they displayed in securing for themselves good places in heaven, they were not less solicitous about those they occupied on earth. The fears of the censures of the church were sufficiently powerful to allay the high-blooded sens of these aspiring dames, and when the magistrates mentioned in the commission had six same time discharged the duties of masters of the ceremonies in the sanctuary, the religious services were allowed to proceed without further interruption.

The reign of James I. is almost a blank in the history of Hull. It is only mentioned that this Monarch granted, or rather sold, the corporation a charter to choose an assistant preacher in the church of the Holy Trinity, which charter cost them 600*l.* and which was the precise sum that the town had lent to Queen Elizabeth, to repel the menaced attack of the Spanish Armada. In this reign, the merchants erected an exchange in the High street, at an expense of 500*l.* which is now disused; and those works were commenced, and completed, by which the town has ever since been abundantly supplied with pure and wholesome water.

The disastrous reign of Charles I. will, through all time, occupy a distinguished place in the annals of England. Every part of the kingdom was agitated by that mighty collision which arose between the monarchical and the democratical branches of the legislature, but in the county of York, and in the town of Kingston-upon-Hull, the shock was felt with greater violence than in any other county or town in Great Britain. It is not within the province of this history to investigate the causes of the unhappy differences which arose between the King and the popular branch of the legislature, nor to decide whether privilege or prerogative was in the wrong, such inquiries, and decisions appertain rather to general history than to topography, and our present duty will be discharged by a faithful, though brief relation, of those local occurrences and military operations which arose in the town and neighbourhood of Hull. When Charles ascended the throne, in 1625, England was menaced by a war with France, and the three ships required of Hull, as the contribution of this port, for the prosecution of the contest, were very cheerfully granted, and well manned and victualled.— This spirit of loyal acquiescence was the next year carried still further, for while the metropolis, and other places, resisted the tax on all ships and goods, called tonnage and poundage, because it was levied by the King, without the consent of Parliament, the merchants of Hull paid the impost without murmur or complaint.

While the storm was gathering by which the whole kingdom was so speedily to be convulsed, the plague, which, for some time past, had raged in some of the ports of the continent, made its appearance in this town, and such was the terror it created, that numbers of the inhabitants left their houses, and fled into the country; the gates were kept continually shut, except when provisions were brought in; all assemblies or meetings, as well for religious as for secular purposes, were forbidden; and the whole town exhibited a scene of horror, silence, and despair. As Lent approached, the Mayor and Aldermen thought it necessary to petition the protestant Archbishop of York, to give licence, and toleration to the convalescents to dress, and eat flesh the ensuing Lent, for their nourishment and more speedy recovery! To which his Grace replied, "that the ministers, upon certificate from the physicians, might give permission to particular persons to eat flesh during that holy season!"* This indulgence, great as it was, did not stem the overwhelming torrent of disease, the pestilence continued to rage for three years, and 2700 persons fell victims to it in the town, exclusive of those who fled into the country, and died there, which, according to one authority, almost doubled the number, making a sum total probably equal to one half the population of Hull at that period. As this dreadful contagion disappeared, commerce began to revive, and the town, though so recently threatened with ruin, attained in a few years its former prosperity.

In the year 1636, the King levied an army, to impose upon the Scotch the episcopal form of church government, to which they had invincible objections, and to resist which, they entered into their celebrated League and Covenant. The war which ensued, led to the accumulation of vast quantities of arms, and military stores in the port of Hull; and in the same year, the King, in his progress towards Scotland, paid a visit to Hull, where he was received with great pomp and ceremony, and assured by Mr. Recorder Thorpe, as the organ of the corporation, in one of those hyperbolic and adulatory addresses which bodies corporate are so prone to address to majesty, that it was more difficult to address him, than to address the King of Kings, and that they would "adhere to him against all his enemies, with the utmost of their lives and fortunes." How this unmeaning pledge was redeemed the sequel will show. The next morning, being the 29th of March, his Majesty viewed the town, and carefully

* By the statute of the 5th of Elizabeth, chap. v. sec. 15, it is provided, that any person eating flesh on a fish day shall be liable to a penalty of £3. or suffer three months imprisonment—but by the 2nd and 3rd Edward VI. cap. 19. sec. 5. a dispensing power is given to the Archbishop of Canterbury, which power was probably afterwards extended to Bish of York.

inspected the fortifications, after which he proceeded to Beverley, and the day following arrived in York. A treaty was soon after concluded between Charles and the Scots, and the kingdom was flattered with illusive prospects of peace; but the Scots still kept up their army, and the dissatisfaction felt by the people of England, at the proceedings of the King and his ministers, threatened an immediate explosion. At this juncture, Charles finding all his supplies dried up, was obliged to assemble that memorable parliament,* which was speedily to contend with him for the sovereign authority. After long and fruitless altercations, both parties prepared to decide the contest by arms. In this situation of affairs, the possession of Hull, a place rendered strong both by nature and art, became an object of the first importance, and the immense magazine of arms and ammunition collected in the garrison served greatly to enhance its value. The King, in order to secure the town, sent the Earl of Northumberland here, to take possession in his Majesty's name, but the Mayor, Aldermen, and Burgesses, unmindful of their recent declaration, "that they would adhere to his Majesty against all his enemies, with the utmost of their lives and fortunes," declined to receive the king's general, and after some hesitation and delay admitted Sir John Hotham, as governor, by order of parliament. The king had now fixed his residence at York, and it was not difficult to foresee, that he would endeavour to obtain possession of the vast magazines at Hull, which at that time far exceeded the collection of warlike stores in the tower of London. The policy of the parliament was to have these stores removed to London, and the two houses sent petitions to the king for that purpose, but his majesty refused his consent, and the stores remained at Hull undisturbed.

On the 23d of April, 1642, a memorable period in the history of Hull, and in the history of the kingdom, his majesty, attended by his son, afterwards Charles II. and by a train of from two to three hundred of his servants, with many gentlemen of the county, set out early in the morning from York for Hull, and when he was within about four miles of this place, he sent forward an officer to inform the governor, that he intended that day to dine with him.†

* The Long Parliament assembled November 3, 1640.

† It is remarkable, that the Duke of York, (afterwards James II.) was in Hull at this time, and actually dining at the Trinity House, when Sir John Hotham was parleying with his father at the gate.

This unexpected honour Sir John Hotham was not disposed to accept, and he dispatched a message to the King, humbly beseeching him "to decline his intended visit, seeing that the governor could not, without betraying the trust committed to him, open the gates to so great a train as his majesty was attended with." The king, however, continued to advance, and Sir John ordered the bridges to be drawn up, the gates to be shut, and the soldiers to stand to their arms round the walls. The king having arrived at Beverley-gate demanded entrance, at least for himself, and twenty of his attendants, but the governor continued to plead the trust reposed in him by parliament, protesting, at the same time, upon his knees, that he wished "God might bring confusion upon him and his, if he was not a faithful and loyal subject to his Majesty." The threats and the entreaties of the king were, however, alike unavailing, and in the evening he retired to Beverley, where he lodged that night. The next morning he sent a herald to Sir John, summoning him once more to open the gates on pain of being proclaimed a traitor, in case of refusal, and with a promise of forgiveness for the past, if he consented. The herald, like his royal master, proved unsuccessful, and the king, grievously disappointed, returned to York.

This was the first act of hostility between the king and the parliamentary party, and proved the commencement of that civil war, which, for the space of four years, desolated England, and brought her monarch to the block. On his arrival in York, the king sent a message to the two houses of parliament, demanding justice against the governor of Hull, for his treasonable refusal to obey the royal commands; but, instead of punishing Sir John Hotham, parliament bestowed upon him and his supporters a vote of thanks. The king having mustered about 3800 troops, of which 3000 were foot, and 800 horse, and procured a supply of arms from Holland, by the sale of the crown jewels, and by the seal of his royal consort, resolved to commence the war by an attack upon Hull, the fortress of which he hoped to carry, rather by the defection of the governor, than by the force of his own arms. On his arrival at Beverley, Sir John Hotham called a council of war, by which it was determined, that the surrounding country should be laid under water, in order to render all access to the town impracticable to the king's army. This resolution was immediately carried into effect; the sluices were pulled up, and the banks both of the Humber and the Hull were cut, so that the next morning, by the aid of the spring tides, the meadows and pastures, to the extent of two miles on every side of Hull, were inundated with water. The next care of the governor was to put the town in the best possible state of defence; for this purpose, the Charter-house, Hospital, and several houses in Myton-lane, were demolished; the walls and the fort at the South-end were fortified with cannon; batteries were erected at the Myton, Beverley, and the North gates; draw bridges were thrown over the town ditch, which was there both broad and deep: and the country being under water, the royalists could make no near approaches, either to plant their batteries, or to practise any other species of annoyance. While the garrison of Hull was thus making every preparation for defence, the king was not inactive at Beverley: Two hundred men were employed in cutting trenches, to divert the current of fresh water which supplied the town of Hull: posts were placed at the Hamber side, in Lincolnshire, to prevent succours being introduced from that quarter, and two forts were erected, one at Paul, five miles below Hull, and the other at Hesle Cliff, about the same distance above it, to prevent supplies from being conveyed by the river. The siege of Hull having now commenced, Sir John Meldrum, a Scotch officer, was sent down by parliament to assist the governor, and greatly distinguished himself in the defence of the town. Notwithstanding the inundation, the king had brought his cannon to play on the town with some effect, and he was answered with equal spirit by guns planted on the walls, though no material slaughter was made on either side. Reports were raised in the town, that the king contemplated measures of the greatest cruelty against the inhabitants, and that should he succeed in carrying the place, as he intended by storm, every person, without respect to age, sex, or condition, was to be put indiscriminately to the sword. By these arts the troops in the garrison were violently inflamed against the royal cause, and about the end of July, 500 of them, under the command of Sir John Meldrum, made a desperate sally from that fortress, and attacked the king's forces with so much spirit, that they were obliged to retire to Beverley with considerable loss. After repeated similar repulses, the king called a council of war, and by their advice he resolved to raise the siege, and draw off his forces. This attempt on Hull having thus entirely failed, the king's army retired to Beverley, where the train-bands, a species of militia, were dismissed, and his majesty, with his court, and the rest of his army, returned to York.

It was matter of great surprise to all who were not in the secret, that the king, with such inadequate means, should have attempted the siege of Hull, which was one of the strongest fortresses in the whole kingdom; but his majesty's reason for undertaking this enterprise was founded on other and surer grounds, than the precarious success of arms. This attack was in pursuance of a plan formed between Sir John Hotham, the governor, and Lord Digby, the son of the Earl of Bristol. This young nobleman, in whom the king placed unbounded confidence, had, it appears, been taken prisoner by one of the parliament's ships, and carried into Hull. Under the disguise of a Frenchman he remained for some time unknown, but at length he introduced himself to the governor, and had the romantic hardihood to propose to him the surrender of the town to the king. The manner in which Sir John received the overture, encouraged him to press the negotiation; and, it was at length agreed between them, that the king should advance from York, at the head of his small army, and that Sir John should deliver up the place at the firing of the first shot. This was the true cause which prevailed with his majesty to besiege that town; but either through the pusillanimity, the inconsistency, or the inability of the governor, the whole project proved abortive, and its failure served only to damp the spirits of the adherents of this ill-advised and ill-fated monarch. The town of Hull and the adjacent country, notwithstanding the success of the garrison, were in a deplorable condition. In the town the spirit of party ran high, and those who were suspected of favouring the royal cause were imprisoned, and their property confiscated. In the villages the inhabitants had sustained great loss by the inundation of their land; and the detachments sent out of the garrison almost daily, to distress the royalists, committed terrible devastations, both in Yorkshire and Lincolnshire, so that a vast many families were plunged into utter ruin. The treachery of Sir John Hotham, which already began to be suspected by parliament, induced them to watch his movements, and the appointment of Lord Fairfax to the office of general of the army of the North, gave deadly umbrage to the baronet, who aspired to that honour, and induced him to seek opportunities to deliver up Hull to the royalists. Into this conspiracy, his son, Captain Hotham, very readily entered, and became the medium of negotiation for the accomplishment of this treacherous plot.

pose. The mayor of Hull, Thos. Raikes, Esq. having learnt that the plot for delivering up the town was now ripe for execution, held a consultation with the chiefs of the parliamentary party, and it was resolved to defeat the project by seizing the governor and his son. On the 29th of June, 1643, Captain Moyer, who commanded the ship Hercules, stationed by parliament in the Humber, landed a hundred men from his ship, and seized the Castle and block-houses almost without resistance. About the same time, 1500 of the soldiers and inhabitants, who had been waiting in the town for the word of command from the mayor, seized the main-guard, near the magazine, and next took possession of all the artillery on the walls. These measures having so far succeeded, Captain Hotham was then secured, and a guard was placed at the door of the governor's house; all this was effected in the space of about an hour, and without the shedding of a drop of blood. Sir John Hotham having in the mean time obtained information of what was transacting, found means to escape, but being secured by Captain Boynton, in Beverley, the governor was conveyed under a strong guard to Hull, where he was put on board the Hercules, together with his son, Captain Hotham, and conveyed to London. The catastrophe is universally known: after a long and strict confinement, Sir John Hotham was brought before a court-martial, at Guildhall, in London, on the 30th of November, charged with "traitorously betraying the trust reposed in him by parliament," which charge being clearly substantiated, the court, on the 7th of December, pronounced sentence, that he should suffer death, by having his head severed from his body. Two days after the conviction of his father, Captain Hotham was arraigned before the court martial, charged with "having betrayed the trust reposed in him by the parliament, and with perfidiously adhering to the enemy." This charge was supported by satisfactory evidence, and the son was condemned to die in the same way as his father. On the first of January, Captain Hotham was brought to the scaffold, on Tower-hill, and underwent the sentence of the law; and on the day following, Sir John suffered decapitation upon the scaffold at the same place—the victim of his own inconstancy and want of resolution. The fate of Sir John Hotham and of his son, called to the mind of the king, the imprecation of—"May God bring confusion on me and mine, if I be not a faithful and loyal subject to your majesty!" This profane denunciation, it will be remembered, was uttered at the time when Sir John refused to admit the king into Hull, and Charles considered the execution of the governor as a visitation of Providence for his disloyalty, for which his subsequent repentance was not sufficient to atone; but this case, considered in connexion with Charles's own fate, may serve to show the danger of writing the judgments of heaven upon the sufferings of our adversaries, for the question naturally arises, if the execution of Sir John Hotham, by parliament, in 1644, was a judgment of heaven, what name must be given to the execution of the king, in 1649, under the sanction of the same authority?

After the seizure of the governor, as already related, the custody of the town was entrusted to the care of a committee of eleven, approved by the parliament, and at the head of which was the mayor. Soon afterwards Lord Fairfax arrived in Hull, and on the 22d of July, 1643, was constituted the governor of this place. The Marquis of Newcastle, the commander of the king's forces, having made himself master of Gainsborough and Lincoln, and driven Sir Thomas Fairfax out of Beverley with great slaughter, appeared with his whole force before Hull, on the 2d of September, and immediately began his operations against the town, from which he cut off its supplies of fresh water, and of provisions as far as depended on the adjoining parts of Yorkshire. The siege and defense were conducted with all the military skill of that age, and with all the determination of deep-rooted hostility, which generally distinguishes intestine wars. The besiegers erected several batteries, which opened on the town, and were answered by an incessant fire from the walls. After extreme labour, and at the expense of many lives, the royalists, though exposed to heavy and constant fire from the walls, at length succeeded in erecting a fort about half a mile from the town, which was called the king's fort. On this was placed several pieces of heavy ordnance, and a furnace was constructed for heating balls. The firing of red hot balls into the town threw the inhabitants into great consternation, but the prudent precautions of the governor prevented them from doing any material injury, and by adding two large culverins to the Charter-house battery, and the erection of another fort, which flanked the royalists, he demolished the king's fort, and deprived the Marquis of Newcastle of the means of firing hot balls into the town. On the 14th of September, Lord Fairfax ordered the banks of the Humber and the Hull to be cut, and the country being thus once more laid under water, the royalists were obliged to abandon all their works, except those erected on the banks of the river. On the 20th the royalists made their approaches to the town on the West, and erected batteries, on which they placed heavy artillery; and on the 27th, they repaired the fort at Paul, and erected another at Whitgift, near the confluence of the Ouse and the Trent, in order to prevent Hull from receiving supplies of water. But the ships of war which the parliament had stationed in the Humber soon demolished these forts, and kept open the way for ample supplies to the town and to the garrison. The siege still continued to be prosecuted with the greatest vigour, and almost every day was marked by some active operation. On the 9th of October, a combined attack was made by a strong party of royalists under Captain Strickland, on the fort at the foot of the West Jetty, while another body of forces attacked the Charter house battery on the other side of the town; but both these enterprises failed, and the assailants were nearly annihilated. The last operation of importance which took place during this siege, was a grand sortie made from the town, on the 11th of October. At seven o'clock in the morning the whole garrison was under arms; and at 9 o'clock, 1600 men, consisting of inhabitants, soldiers, and seamen, with four troops of horse, sallied out of the West side of the town, with the determination to compel the royalists to raise the siege. This attack was made with so much vigour, that the besiegers, after an obstinate contest, were driven from their works. The timely arrival of a strong reinforcement enabled them to recover their cannon, which had fallen into the hands of the assailants, who were obliged to retreat under the cover of their batteries. Here Lord Fairfax and Sir John Meldrum used every endeavour to inspire their men with fresh courage, and the attack was renewed with such desperate impetuosity, that the Marquis of Newcastle was at length obliged to abandon both his forts and batteries, after experiencing a dreadful loss from his own cannon, which were turned against him. The siege, which had continued nearly six weeks, was now drawing to a close, and the Marquis of Newcastle perceiving that all his efforts to carry the town must be unavailing, called a council of war, on the 11th of October; the deliberations of which resulted in a determination immediately to raise the siege. This resolution was carried into effect the same night, and the Marquis, who retreated with the greater part of his army to York, in order to prevent a pursuit, cut open the canals, destroyed the bridges, and broke up the roads in the line of his retreat. On the following morning, when it was perceived that the enemy was gone, Lord Fairfax commanded that the day should be observed as a day of public thanksgiving, and the anniversary was celebrated here in the same manner till the restoration.

The following year, 1644, almost every part of Yorkshire became, in its turn, a theatre of hostilities, and the battle of Marston Moor, fought on the second of July, in that year, decided the fate of the war. But amidst all the miseries with which it was surrounded, this town remained tranquil. Next year, the liturgy of the Church of England being abolished, the soldiers quartered in Hull entered the churches, took out the common prayer books, and with drums beating and trumpets sounding, carried them to the Market place, where they consigned them to a fire already provided for the purpose, amidst the acclamations of the spectators. In little more than three years afterwards Charles I. terminated his life on the scaffold. The Protector of the Commonwealth was accepted with the usual demonstrations of affectionate regard towards the head of the government, and the corporation, in their address to Cromwell, "humbly acknowledged their thankfulness to God, in whose guidings are the hearts of princes, that he had made him the ruler over us." On the death of Cromwell, his son, Richard, was proclaimed the "rightful Protector of the Commonwealth," and adulatory addresses were presented to him from this and the generality of the boroughs of England.*—In this protectorate, Andrew Marvel, the incorrupt senator, of whom more hereafter, was first elected member for this borough. Hull followed the current of the rest of the kingdom, and united in the expression of general joy on the restoration of Charles II. to the throne of his ancestors.

In the year 1661, Trinity Church, in Hull, which had hitherto been only a chapel, dependent on Hesale, was constituted a parish church; and in the same year the King not only conferred upon the town its former charter, but added several other privileges to those it formerly enjoyed.—In 1680 a new citadel of great strength was added to the garrison, at an expense of one hundred thousand pounds. "About this time," says Tickell in his history of Hull. "a suit took place between this corporation and the town of Leeds, which is in the honour of Pontefract and the Duchy of Lancaster. The cause of this suit was on account of some goods belonging to Leeds, which the water bailiff of Hull had distrained for port fees. To establish their exemption from this claim it was urged by Leeds that the Duchy of Lancaster was invested with large privileges, that the inhabitants thereof were free of all pannage, passage, lading, stallage, tollage, carriage, &c. through all England, and that all these privileges were confirmed by act of parliament until Henry IVth's days, and were always enjoyed by the tenants of Leeds, both in Hull and in all other towns in England." "The result of the contest," adds Tickell, "was, that the corporation of Hull, finding their cause untenable, thought proper to make some compromise for the goods distrained by the water bailiff," and the exemption of Leeds from these imposts was of course established. Towards the close of this reign, the King intimidated the dissenting corporations of the realm into a surrender of their charters, partly for the purpose of obtaining money for their renewal. Hull, which had paid tonnage and poundage, and ship-money, in the reign of Charles I. without reluctance, was one of the first considerable corporations that made the surrender of its charter to Charles II. and the King, on the payment of the required consideration, renewed the charter to the entire satisfaction of the burgesses. The arbitrary conduct of the Second Charles excited general discontent in the country towards the latter part of his reign, and the nation was again threatened with a repetition of those horrors from which it had so recently escaped, when a stroke of apoplexy sent the Monarch to his last abode, and saved his country from the degradation of being sold to France, to administer to the profligacy and profusion of a royal voluptuary. James, Duke of York, for whose exclusion so many efforts had been made, on account of his known attachment to the Catholic faith, succeeded the throne without opposition.—James soon discovered his intention to complete the fabric of despotism begun by his predecessor, and the nation, at length taking the alarm, called in the Prince of Orange.—As soon as it was known that the fleet equipping in Holland was intended for England, James formed the design of securing the important fortress of Hull, and Lord Langdale was sent down in haste for that purpose.—The Prince of Orange sailed on the first of November, 1688, and the new governor fully expecting that he would enter the Humber, caused great quantities of warlike stores and provisions to be brought into Hull, for the purpose of sustaining a siege. The inhabitants, in the meantime, having in the last age experienced the horrors of war within their own borders, were thrown into the utmost consternation; but on receiving intelligence that William had landed in Torbay on the 4th of November, their apprehensions were removed. The town and garrison of Hull remained in possession of the Catholic party till the 3d of December, and an apprehension was entertained that a plot was formed by the governor and his adherents, to secure all the Protestant officers. Under this impression Fort Major Barrat and Captain Copley, being themselves Protestants, sent for all the officers of that persuasion, and consulted with the magistrates what was to be done in this emergency.—At that meeting it was resolved to call privately to arms such of the soldiers as were attached to the Protestant cause, and to secure the Governor, and the principal persons of his party. These measures were concerted with so much prudence and secrecy, that the Governor, Lord Langdale, knew nothing of the business until he was seized in his quarters. Nearly at the same moment Lord Montgomery was secured by Captain Fitzherbert, and Major Mahony by the Fort Major. The inferior officers of that party were also secured, and the next morning Captain Copley, with one hundred men, marched out to relieve the guard, who were still ignorant of what had been transacted in the night, and, without difficulty, seized the Catholic officers and soldiers whom he found there. The town, fort, and citadel were now easily secured; and the anniversary of this event is still celebrated at Hull by the name of "The town taking day." The glorious revolution being now completed, and the members of the misguided and ill-fated house of Stuart cashiered for misrule by the national will, the House of Nassau was raised to the distinguished elevation from which their predecessors had fallen; and William and Mary took possession of the throne. In the following year an act was passed, imposing upon the country a species of property tax, of one shilling in the pound, for one year, and the following duplicate of assessment, under the operations of this law, will serve to show the amount of landed and personal property in the town and county of Kingston-upon-Hull at the end of the seventeenth century:—

The Centenary of the Revolution of 1688 was celebrated in every part of the kingdom, and in none with more striking demonstrations of joy, than in the town of Kingston-upon-Hull. The 5th of November, 1788, was ushered in by the ringing of bells, as a signal for the opening Jubilee. The concourse of persons who flocked into the place from all parts of the surrounding country was immense, and the visitors, as well as the inhabitants, were splendidly decorated with orange ribbands. In the course of the day the different corporations, headed by the mayor, and honoured with the presence of the representatives of the Borough, S. Thornton and W. S. Stanhope, Esqrs. formed splendid processions through the town: divine service was performed on the occasion by the Rev. Thos. Clarke, D. D. the vicar of the Holy Trinity; and elegant and sumptuous entertainments were provided at the Guildhall, and at the principal inns. In the evening the festive scene was heightened by a brilliant illumination, and a triumphal arch erected over the statue of King William, shone forth with peculiar effulgence. That the ladies might participate in the celebration of this illustrious event, a ball was given at the Assembly Rooms on the following night, at which nearly three hundred of the principal inhabitants of the town and neighbourhood were present. This revolutionary jubilee is even yet remembered in Hull with great pleasure; and the lapse of four and thirty winters has chastened without obliterating the vivid impressions of that festival, which was meant to celebrate one of the most impressive lessons ever read in the history of the world by subjects to their sovereigns.

When George III. attained the 50th year of his reign the nation held a general Jubilee; and at Hull, as in other places, the demonstrations of an affectionate loyalty were strikingly manifested on the 25th Oct. 1809. The processions were numerous and splendid, and the festivities little less so. Public thanks were returned to the Almighty for the mercies with which he had crowned us. The hungry were fed and the naked clothed. Several valuable public institutions were formed in different parts of the country, and the Hull Auxiliary Bible Society dates its origin from this day.

At the end of "the campaign of the liberties of Europe," by which name the military operations on the continent in the year 1813, were dignified, Great Britain rang with the voice of joy and gratulation. Every town in the kingdom had its rejoicings, and at Hull the public feeling was exhibited by the strongest demonstrations. Wednesday, the fifteenth of December, was the day specially set apart for this purpose. At 11 o'clock in the forenoon, a splendid procession, consisting of all the public bodies in the town, attended by music and flags, was formed, and proceeded to the church of the Holy Trinity, where an excellent sermon was preached by the vicar: but the most interesting feature of this day's proceedings consisted in the presence, by special invitation, of the Dutch captains in the port whose country had just been liberated from the thralldom of France, and who were provided with a superb orange flag, on which was inscribed in their own characters "ORANGE BOVEN." At three o'clock the park of artillery in the citadel paraded through the town, and at four 150 of the principal inhabitants sat down to a sumptuous dinner. The festive scene was kept up here and in other parts of the town till nine o'clock in the evening, at which hour the company separated to witness a grand display of fire-works, which for an hour & a half delighted at least 30,000 spectators. These festivities were concluded on Friday, by a splendid and numerously attended ball given to the ladies.

It has ever been the practice in Hull to celebrate the coronation of each of our successive sovereigns by some mark of loyal regard, and at the festival of the coronation of George IV. on the 19th of July, 1831, all the children in the town belonging to the Church of England Sunday School Association, and to the Dissenters' Sunday School Union, marched in procession to the church of the Holy Trinity, where an appropriate sermon was preached to them by the Rev. J. Scott. The number of children amounted to 4000. The constituted authorities, and the Masonic societies, also attended divine service; and the scene is described as highly interesting and impressive.

The public buildings in Hull do not display any great degree of magnificence, nor many traces of antiquity. They may be arranged under three heads:—places of religious worship—charitable foundations—and commercial edifices.

The Church of the Holy Trinity, coming within the first class, is a stately and beautiful structure, consisting of a nave, chancel, and transepts, at the intersection of which rises an extremely fine tower, upon four lofty arches. The period of its foundation is not recorded; it is, however, certain, that it was existing in the reign of Edward I. a licence for a cemetery to it being granted by Archbishop Corbridge, in 1301, to the Prior of Gysburn, patron of the mother church of Hesale, in which parish the rising town was principally situate. The present chancel and transepts exhibit the style of that period, and being built partly of brick, may fairly claim to be the most ancient known specimen of brick building in England, since the time of the Romans. The east window is a particularly fine example of the tracery of that time, and was, externally, at least, restored to view some years ago, on the removal of the old shambles, whilst internally it is chiefly filled up with plaster, on which is indifferently painted the last supper, by Parmentier. The nave and tower are probably of the early part of the 15th century; the west front has been very fine, but is hidden by a row of houses, built about fifty years ago; and the whole appearance of this noble structure is grievously injured by the loss of all the pinnacles which crowned the buttresses on the north and south sides, which now present to the eye a naked line of flat coping, utterly at variance with the genius of the pointed arch. On the south side of the chancel have been several splendid chuntries, now almost wholly destroyed, and converted into vestries and burial-places, in repairing which, were lately discovered a recumbent female figure, and an arch charged with figures and armorial bearings. Internally, the view of this church is striking to the beholder, the pillars of the chancel are uncommonly light and elegant, and the arches lofty. It contains many memorials of the dead, not a few of whose names and families have become wholly extinct. The most remarkable monuments are that of the Rev. Joseph Milner, M.A. by Bacon; and one, erroneously attributed to the De la Poles, representing a merchant and his wife in the costume of the 14th century. Divine service is performed, contrary to usual custom, in the nave, the chancel being entirely open. This church, as before stated, was originally only a Chapel of Ease to Hesale, from which it was separated by act of parliament, and made a vicarage, in 1681, under the patronage of the Corporation. It is the largest parochial church, not collegiate, in the kingdom; and occupies an area of not less than 20,056 square feet.—The clergy attached to the Holy Trinity are the Rev. John Healey Bromby, M.A. vicar;

the Rev. John Scott, M.A. lecturer; and the Rev. G. J. Davies, M.A. curate. The service commences in the Summer at half past 10 in the morning, and at three o'clock in the afternoon; and in Winter half an hour earlier in the afternoon. There is also divine service at ten o'clock on Wednesday mornings.

The Church of St. Mary was built before the year 1333, a licence to perform divine offices, &c. therein, being then granted, by Archbishop Melton, to the prior and brethren of Ferriby, for the convenience of that part of the town of Hull which was in their parish. It was formerly more magnificent than it is at present, the greater part of it being demolished by Henry VIII. because it obstructed the prospect from his manor house, when nothing was left standing but the chancel. Part of the materials of the nave and the steeple were employed to enlarge and repair the manor house, and the rest in constructing the block houses which Henry caused to be erected on the eastern bank of the river Hull. In this state of comparative ruin the church remained till about the year 1570, when a considerable addition was made to the east end of the chancel, by the parishioners, but not more than a century it stood without a steeple; in 1696 the present steeple was begun, and in the following year it was completed. St. Mary's was to Ferriby, what the Holy Trinity was to Hesale, but it is now a parochial chapelry, of which Samuel Thornton, Esq. is the patron; the Rev. John Scott, M.A. the incumbent; and the Rev. William Wilson the curate. Divine service commences, both in summer and winter, at the same hour as at Trinity church; there is also service in the evening, which commences at half-past six o'clock.

St. John's Church, in Trinity parish, is a modern erection, built in the year 1792, and opened for divine service on the 13th of May, 1792. It is a brick building, neat and simple without, and elegant and commodious within. A tower has been added to the original structure, and the organ has been introduced since the church was built. The Rev. Thomas Dikes, LL.B. is the present incumbent, and though but at the sole expense of that gentleman, the future presentation is vested in the vicar. The Rev. William Knight, B.A. is curate of St. John's. Morning service commences on Sunday at half past ten, and afternoon service at three; there is also an evening lecture on Tuesday at 7 o'clock.

The churches of Scalcoates and Dry-pool are described under their proper heads.

At the Pottery licensed Chapel, which is situated in the western suburb, the Rev.

Thomas Dikes is minister, and divine service is performed here on Sunday and Thursday evenings at 7 o'clock, without any stipend whatever.

There are in Hull eighteen chapels, or meeting-houses, which afford accommodation to three Baptist, three Calvinist, six Methodist, two Unitarian, one Roman Catholic, one Swedenborgian, & one Quaker congregation: there are also two synagogues for the Jews. The following synopsis will show the situation of each chapel, the name of the minister who officiates, and the hours of divine service:—

The Missionary monthly prayer meeting is held alternately at Fish street, Hope street, George street, and Salthouse lane chapels, on the first Monday evening of the month.

In addition to the other places of religious worship, there is in Hull a floating chapel supported by voluntary contributions, and which does honour to the town. This chapel is formed of the hull of an old merchant ship; of four hundred tons burthen, and which is safely moored at the west end of the old dock. The object is to accommodate seamen with a place of worship suited to their peculiar habits of life, and it will contain from six to seven hundred persons, and seat five hundred comfortably. The service is performed gratuitously, by ministers of the Church of England, by the Calvinistic Dissenters, and by the Methodist ministers. Instead of bells to announce the time of public worship, a flag is hoisted at the mast head; two sermons are preached every Sunday, and a prayer meeting is held every Tuesday night in summer. In the winter season this buoyant sanctuary is well attended by a nautical congregation, whose appearance is clean and decent, and their conduct orderly and exemplary. The service on Sunday commences at half-past ten in the morning, and at half-past two in the afternoon.

The charities in Hull are numerous, and amongst the most ancient and important of them may be ranked the Trinity House and Hospital. It has already been seen that the fraternity, or brotherhood, of masters and pilots, seamen of the Trinity House in Hull, was first instituted in the year 1369, for the relief of decayed seamen and their widows; and in order to provide a fund for the purpose, the members engaged to pay 2s. each, annually, which sum was then equal in value to about two pounds of our present money. Since that time the funds have been considerably increased by legacies and benefactions, and they are continually replenished by a contribution of sixpence per month from every seaman sailing from this port. The corporation of the Trinity House, is composed of twelve elder brethren, six assistants, and an unlimited number of younger brethren. Out of the elder brethren are chosen annually, on the first Wednesday in September, two wardens, who are at the head of the corporation during their period of office; and at the same time are elected two stewards from amongst the younger brethren; these offices for the year 1823, are

The first royal charter conferred upon this community was granted by Henry VI. in the year 1449, and this grant has been confirmed and extended by seven subsequent charters, from the time of Henry VIII. to Charles II. the privileges of the guild consist principally in the right to levy and receive primage for the support of poor mariners, and their wives and widows in alms houses, by weekly and quarterly pensions; in affording relief to shipwrecked mariners; in licensing and appointing pilots; in placing buoys and beacons for the safety of navigation in the river Humber; in settling differences between masters of ships and their men; and in various other powers relating to maritime affairs.

The Trinity House, where the business of the corporation is transacted, was originally founded in 1457, and was re-built in 1753. The building consists of four sides surrounding a spacious area or court. The north, the south, and the east sides consist of single apartments for thirty-four pensioners. The front is a handsome brick structure, in the Tuscan order of architecture, with a pediment of free stone, ornamented by the King's Arms, with the figure of Neptune on one side, and Britannia on the other, respectively executed by the late Mr. Jeremiah Hargrave of this place. On the side towards the west are the hall and housekeepers' rooms, with kitchens and other offices. Over these offices are two elegant council chambers for transacting the business of the house. The various apartments of this building contain several curiosities brought from foreign countries, and are ornamented with a number of paintings calculated to gratify the traveller and the man of taste. Adjoining the front of the Trinity House is a handsome chapel, built in 1779, and fitted up in an elegant manner for the purpose of divine worship, wherein service is performed three times a week, and a sermon preached monthly by the Rev. George John Davis, M. A. the present chaplain. In the same year that the chapel was built, a Marine School was founded by the Trinity House, in which institution thirty-six boys receive the advantage of a nautical education, each member of this corporation appointing two. The children remain in this seminary three years, during which period they are annually provided with a neat uniform and every other article of dress.

The other alms houses belonging to the Trinity House, are Robinson's Hospital, given to this corporation in the year 1685, by William Robinson, Esq. then sheriff of Hull; and in 1769, re-built and enlarged for the reception of decayed younger brethren and their wives; six rooms in the hospital, for the reception of as many widows of seamen, erected by Dr. Thomas Watson, Bishop of St. David's, about the year 1687: the Merchant Seamen's Hospital, in Whitfriargate, built by this corporation in 1781, for the reception of poor worn-out seamen and their widows; and a Hospital for decayed seamen and their wives adjoining the Trinity House Chapel, established in 1787. In addition to these charitable foundations, the corporation of the Trinity House have just completed on part of their property, situated near the site of the town's walls, another large and handsome pile called Ferris's Hospital, in memory of Alderman Ferris, their benefactor, which will afford accommodation to from twenty to thirty inmates. Extensive benefits do of course result to the seamen of the port of Hull from this munificent foundation, the revenues of which, appropriated to charitable purposes alone amount to five thousand pounds a year.

The Charter House, another of the ancient Hospitals of Hull, was founded in the year 1384, by Michael de la Pole, the first Earl of Suffolk, of that name, adjoining to his other foundation of the monastery of St. Michael. In the rage for sweeping away religious and charitable foundations, this establishment was seized by Henry VIII. but afterwards re-founded, as has been already seen, by his son and successor Edward VI. In the year 1642, when Hull was besieged by Charles I. the governor, Sir John Hotham, totally demolished the buildings of the Charter House, to prevent the royalists from obtaining a lodgment here. At the end of the civil wars, this hospital was re-built, and the sum of 278*l.* 18*s.* 3*d.* was paid out of the public purse, by the then governor, Lord Fairfax, towards the expenses of the new erection. This building stood till the year 1780, when it was taken down, and the present spacious and handsome structure erected in its stead. The building forming the Charter House as it at present stands, has two projecting wings, and is in a style of architecture suited to the humble purpose to which it is applied. On the top of the portico before the front door, supported by six handsome stone pillars, are the following inscriptions:—Deo et pauperibus Michael de la Pole has (Edes parvit, A. D. 1384. Renovatus iterum auctiusque instauratus pie fundatoris memoria, D. D. Johannes Bourne, rector, A. D. 1780. In the principal body of the building is a handsome chapel, which not only serves for the use of the house, but also as a substitute for Sculcoates church during the winter months: the Rev. Kingman Baskett, M. A. is the master and chaplain. The apartments in the hospital for the brothers and sisters amount to fifty-seven, of which twenty-nine are for women, and twenty-eight for men; they are well fitted up and exceedingly convenient, and each individual is allowed three shillings and sixpence a week besides fuel, with some few occasional payments. The revenues of this foundation which arise from rents of lands and a share in the Hull Dock Co.'s concerns, now amount to from 200*l.* to 2000*l.* a year, though in 1600, the annual rents only produced 54*l.*

There are in Hull several other hospitals: these are Lister's Hospital, founded by Sir John Lister, alderman and member of parliament for Hull, in 1641, for the reception of twelve poor persons, who each receive two shillings and sixpence per week, there is also allowed 2*l.* per annum, and suitable apartments for a lecturer: Gregg's Hospital, of the date of 1416, for twelve poor old women, who receive one shilling and sixpence per week: Crowle's Hospital, erected and endowed by George Crowle, alderman and merchant, in 1661, where twelve poor women, the youngest of the age of fifty years, receive an allowance of fourteen pence per week, eightpence of that sum being derived from funds left by the founder, and sixpence received from the parish: Watson's Hospital, founded in the year 1687, by Dr. Thomas Watson, Bishop of St. David's, where fourteen poor persons receive a stipend of one shilling and sixpence per week, (exclusive of the six pensioners belonging to the Trinity House: ) Gor's Hospital, built about the year 1600, affords an asylum to ten poor aged women, and one shilling and twopence per week towards their support: Harrison's Hospital, built in 1548, yields one shilling and twopence per week to ten poor women: and a foundation of this nature situated in Dagger lane, bequeathed by a person of the name of Ratcliff, a weaver, endowed by Mr. Buttery, and augmented by the corporation, yields one shilling and sixpence a week to six poor men and women, with an annual supply of fuel which is common to all these minor hospitals.

The Lying-in Charity, established in the year 1808, extends its benefits to between three and four hundred poor married women annually, and from the time of its institution to the beginning of the year 1822, six thousand four hundred and twenty-two patients have been admitted, and given birth to six thousand four hundred and forty-one children. Mrs. Forbes, of Robinson row, is the matron of this excellent institution, and to her recommendations are sent,

The Female Penitentiary, situated in Portland place, established in 1811; has for its object to receive and employ, and ultimately to restore to society such women as, having followed vicious courses, are desirous of obtaining the means of reformation. From the opening of the Penitentiary to the beginning of the year 1822, 151 patients have been received into the house, of whom it is reported that ten left without leave, twenty-seven by permission, sixteen were dismissed, forty-one went to service, thirty-two were restored to their friends, seven were sent to the Infirmary, one died, four were married, and thirteen remained in the house. Mr. J. B. Briggs is the treasurer and honorary secretary; Miss Thorp is the matron, and Miss C. Thorp her assistant.

The General Infirmary may rank amongst the most important monuments raised to benevolence in the town of Hull. The want of a public hospital for the recovery of the sick and lame poor had for some years been apparent in this place, when a few charitable individuals assembled in the month of October, in the year 1781, and opened a subscription for erecting and supporting a house of mercy, where the skill of the ablest practitioners might be united to the advantages of pure air, and proper food and medicine in effecting the recovery of the objects of their bounty. A proposal so laudable could not fail to meet with supporters, and a sufficient fund was soon raised to furnish a house for a temporary infirmary till a suitable and more permanent building could be prepared. This temporary establishment was opened on the 26th of September, 1782. In the mean time a field of two acres, situated within a short distance from the town on the Beverley road, at the end of the street, now called Prospect street, was purchased at a cost of 550*l.* and buildings erected upon it which swelled the amount to 4,126*l.* The accommodation thus afforded allowed of the reception of seventy in-patients. In the construction of the building great attention was paid to the interior arrangement, and no hospital in the kingdom has a freer circulation of air or more complete provision in every respect, for the objects of its care. The principles of the establishment are the most liberal and humane: not only are all the distinctions of sect and party disregarded, but locality itself gives no peculiar privileges, and the recommendation of a governor, at all times easily obtained by a proper object, forms a passport into the house, and a claim upon all its healing benefits, as well to the sick natives of the Ganges or the Nile, as to him who drew his first breath upon the Humber, and to none of them is any recommendation whatever necessary, when the case does not admit of delay.—The average expenditure of this Infirmary is about 1400*l.* per annum, and the number of in-patients yearly 300, and the out-patients 800, exclusive of the vaccine cases. Since the first opening of the house, in 1782, to the first of January, 1822, no fewer than 22,666 patients have been admitted, of whom 17,279 have been cured, and 2,606 greatly relieved; and the total number of persons vaccinated here to the beginning of 1822 was 11,240. Three physicians and three surgeons give their attendance gratis. The Right Hon. Earl Fitzwilliam is the president; and Mr. J. Higson, the house surgeon, apothecary and secretary.

The Dispensary, for Hull and Selcoates, situated in High street, near Gangle lane stakth, was established on the 1st of September, in 1814, at an annual expense of 350*l.* and is supported by subscriptions, and other voluntary donations. Some estimate may be formed of the benefits of this institution when it is stated, that it now affords relief to about 2000 patients a year, and that, from the first opening of the establishment to the 5th of April in the present year, 14,540 patients have been admitted. Six surgeons are in attendance in turn, daily, gratis, and two physicians whenever their advice is required. The treasurer is J. C. Parker, Esq. and secretary W. Laversack.

There is at Selcoates a Refuge for the Insane, established in the year 1814, by Dr. Alderson and Mr. Ellis, surgeon. It is now conducted by the former and Mr. Casson.—It is capable of containing from 80 to 90 patients; its present number from 50 to 60. The magistrates of the East Riding of this county direct all pauper lunatics to be placed here, having previously inspected the establishment and expressed their approbation of it, by which this part of the county was saved the expense of erecting a pauper lunatic asylum. A considerable portion of the place is set apart for the reception of private patients. It is surrounded by large gardens and apparently very convenient for the purposes intended.

A Dispensary for diseases of the eye and ear was instituted in 1822, at No. 55, Myttingate, where patients, properly recommended, are admitted, from 10 to 12 o'clock every Tuesday and Friday. The surgeon of this institution is T. Buchanan, C. M.

The Charity Hall is a spacious and convenient structure, in Whitefriargate, for the reception of the poor of the parishes of the Holy Trinity and St. Mary's, in Hull. In the 9th and 10th of William III. an act of Parliament was obtained for erecting workhouses and houses of correction in Hull, for the better maintenance and employment of the poor; and under the authority of this act, the premises called the Charly-hall, formerly used as a cloth-hall, were purchased and appropriated to the purpose of a workhouse. The provisions of the original act were confirmed and extended by an act of the 8th of Anne, and by another act of the 15th and 20th of George II, by which the mayor, recorder, and aldermen for the time being, and twenty-four other persons, to be selected by the six wards, were constituted a corporation, to continue for ever within the said town, by the name of the governor, deputy-governor, assistants, and guardians of the poor, to have the care of them and to provide for their maintenance. The parochial expenditure of Hull has been subject to great fluctuations: from 1801 to 1808 it averaged ten thousand pounds per ann.; in 1813, it amounted to 17,680*l.*; in 1817 to 31,900*l.*; and from the second of February, 1821, to the second of February, 1822, to 16,279*l.* which sum includes the county rate of 1,19*l.* The average number of paupers in the house during the past year was 385, and the average cost of their support exclusive of clothing, about 3*s.* per head weekly. Sealecoates workhouse, situated in Wilton's row, Winoolme, is under the direction of a visitor and four guardians.

The House of Correction, which is a small plain building, situated in Fetter-lane, near the Market-place, receives criminals for misdemeanours, and debtors from the Court of Requests. The keeper is Henry Lea. The gaol, situated in Myton-place, is kept by Francis Coates, where prisoners are confined previously to their removal to the County gaol for trial. This prison was erected, pursuant to an act of parliament, obtained in 1783.

In Hull, as in most of the other towns of England, there are Free Schools, as well for the higher as for the more humble branches of learning. Amongst these the Free Grammar School, founded in the reign of Richard III. in the year 1486, by the Right Rev. John Alcock, a native of Beverley, and successively Lord Bishop of Rochester, Worcester, and Ely, takes its precedence. In 1878, the old structure being at that time in a ruinous state, William Gee, Esq. an alderman of Hull, opened a subscription for erecting a new school house, himself subscribing twenty thousand bricks, and eighty pounds in money for that purpose.—The erections were soon completed, and the school room, which is large and commodious, is said to be one of the best in England. This school is open to all sons of burgesses, on the payment originally of 1*l.* then of 9*s.* and now of 4*s.* per annum, for classical instruction only—of which description of scholars there are none at present. Writing and arithmetic were introduced into this school by the present master, and are now taught at a charge of four guineas per annum, for free boys, and eight guineas for the sons of non-freemen. The number of scholars are, at present, only 10 free boys, and 14 other scholars. They are admitted at any age, and there is no prescribed time of superannuation. This school has one exhibition of 40*l.* per ann. to any college in Cambridge, founded by a person of the name of Barry, or Berry, and a scholarship, founded by Alexander Metcalf, of 12*s.* 9*d.* per week, and rooms at Clare hall. The present master is the Rev. George John Davies, A.M. and his emoluments are

The lectureship of the Holy Trinity has usually been enjoyed by the master of the Free School, though that is not the case at present. The masters of this school who have been distinguished are:—the Rev. Andrew Marvel, M.A. father of the renowned patriot of that name; John Catlyn, originally a bricklayer, but who, by the force of his genius and application, became a great proficient in the learned languages; Rev. John Clarke, M.A. the translator of Suetonius and Sallust, and the Rev. Joseph Milner, M.A. author of the History of the Church. Amongst the eminent men educated here, may be mentioned Andrew Marvel, M.P. for Hull; Thomas Watson, D.D. Bishop of St. David's; the Rev. William Mason, M.A. the poet; Isaac Milner, D. D. F. R. S. Dean of Carlisle; William Wilberforce, Esq. M. P.; the Rev. Francis Wrangham, M. A. F. R. S.; and the eloquent Archdeacon of Cleveland.

The Vicar's School, situated in Vicar Lane, was founded by the Rev. William Mason, father of the poet, in the year 1737. (in commemoration of the blessings of the revolution,) and it affords education to 54 boys, appointed by the vicar of Trinity Church for the time being; but the present vicar, with his usual liberality, rarely admits any, except such as are recommended by respectable inhabitants of the town, and whose parents are needy and industrious; in which way the school becomes in reality, more the property of the public, than it would have been had the right of nomination been vested in a committee. In addition to gratuitous instruction in reading, writing, and arithmetic, the scholars are provided with books, pens, and paper: and annual rewards are given to the meritorious. Mr. Stephen Gardham is the present master. The funds for the support of the school are supplied, partly by a collection made after a sermon preached at the parish church, on the first Sunday in December, and partly by the Corporation, who make up the deficiency.

The Marine School, in the Trinity house, instituted in the year 1786, where 36 boys are taught writing, arithmetic, and navigation, and are completely clothed every year, has already been mentioned. Of this school Mr. Michael Fulham is the present master.

Cogan's Charity School, situated on the south side of Salthouse lane, was founded by William Cogan, Esq. alderman, on the 2nd of July, 1753, for clothing and instructing 30 poor girls, who are allowed to remain in the school three years each. This school is placed under the direction of three trustees, being aldermen, who have the power to increase the number of scholars according to the increase in the funds, and so well have the affairs of this institution been administered, that on Whit-Monday, in the year 1822, the number of scholars was augmented from twenty to forty. The trustees at present are Joseph Egginton, Nicholas Sykes, and Christopher Bolton, Esqrs.—Mrs. Chapman is the schoolmistress.

Mr. Alderman Cogan bequeathed also a sum of money in the public funds, for the purpose of placing out poor boys as apprentices to mariners, handicraftsmen, and artisans, preference to be given to the sons of the freemen of Hull. The management of this excellent institution is in twelve trustees, who, in addition to the expenses of binding each apprentice, pay to his master 20s. a year for clothing, and at the expiration of the term, present the master with two pounds, and the apprentice with four pounds towards his outfit in life. The treasurers are Messrs. Smiths and Thompson, and the Secretary Mr. Marmaduke Thomas Pricket. This charity was founded in the year 1787.

The Subscription Schools in Hull, erected in 1806, at an expense of 3000l. are situated in Perrott street, Salthouse lane, and afford instruction to about 300 boys, and 170 girls, on the system of mutual instruction, at a cost of about 270l. per annum, which fund is supplied, partly by voluntary subscriptions, which amount to 110l. a year, partly by a payment of 1s. a quarter, made by the parents of the children, and the residue by the rent of vaults under the school room. Upwards of 5000 children have already received instruction in these schools, at an average expense of not quite 12s. a year. The schools are open to all denominations, every child being allowed to attend his particular place of worship, on a proper certificate being produced to the committee, which is open to all subscribers of one guinea per annum. The chairman is J. N. Cross, Esq. and Avison Terry, Esq. is the treasurer. Mr. George Wilkinson, land surveyor, is the master of the boys' school, and Mrs. Sarah Pantry, the mistress of the girls' school.

The Sunday Schools of Hull are upon a large and liberal scale, and form themselves into two grand divisions, under the designation of "The Church of England Sunday School Association;" and "The Sunday School Union," both formed in 1819. In the former of these it appears, from the report published in June, 1822, that 987 boys, and 991 girls, forming a total of 1978 scholars, receive instruction from 242 teachers; and in the union, which consists of the Sunday school scholars in fourteen Methodist and Dissenting congregations, 430 teachers give instruction to 1375 boys, and 1212 girls; the Union has also associated with it 35 Sunday schools in the circumjacent towns and villages, which swell their whole number of scholars to 5596, and the teachers to 1142. There are, besides in Hull, several other Sunday schools which are not in the Union.

The Societies here for the diffusion of religious knowledge are, the Bible Society; the Missionary Societies; the Religious Tract Society; and the Evangelical Society.

The Auxiliary Bible Society of Hull, was established in the year 1809, on the 23rd of October, the day on which his late Majesty George III. entered the 50th year of his reign. The president of this institution is Earl Fitzwilliam, and the treasurer Avison Terry, Esq. The sum raised by the society and its associates is from 900l. to a 1000l. a year. Since the commencement of the Society, the sum of 9226l. has been remitted to the parent institution, and the remainder of the money collected applied in the dissemination of the holy scriptures within the circle of the society's own operations.

The Missionary Societies are, "The Hull, Beverley, and East-Riding Church Missionary Association," established in 1814, of which Simon Horner, jun. Esq. is the treasurer, and the Rev. Thomas Dikes, and the Rev. John Scott the secretaries. The sum raised by this society is about 600*l.* per annum; and it has raised in all *£*5,500.—“The Hull and East-Riding Auxiliary Missionary Society,” (in connection with the London Missionary Society,) established in 1818, of which Mr. William Briggs is treasurer, and the Rev. Joseph Gilbert and Mr. James Bowden the secretaries. “The Methodist Missionary Society,” of Hull, Howden, Bridlington, Barton, Gainsbro’, Grimsby, Driffield, Patrington, Snaith, and Brigg, established 1814, of which Thomas Thompson, Esq. is the treasurer; and the superintendent preacher, Mr. John North, Mr. Robert Garbutt, and Mr. Francis Reynolds, secretaries.—The sum raised by this society is nearly 500*l.* per annum. And the “Baptist Auxiliary Missionary Society,” established in 1822, of which J. Thornton, Esq. is treasurer, and the Rev. T. Thonger, secretary. These societies raise, collectively, upwards of 2000*l.* a year for missionary purposes, from collections, donations, and annual subscriptions.

On the 28th September, 1819, an Auxiliary Religious Tract Society was established in this place, of whose publications Mr. George Turner, No. 65, Market-place, is the depository. The object of this society is to promote the distribution of tracts in the town and neighbourhood of Hull, and to advance the general purpose of the Religious Tract Society in London.

Allied to these institutions, is the Hull Evangelical Society, for promoting the gospel in Holderness, and in other neighbouring places. Of this institution, Mr. A. R. Rutherford is the treasurer; and the Rev. Joseph Gilbert, Mr. William Briggs, and Mr. W. F. Towers, the secretaries.

Another class of charitable institutions, seeking humbler objects, but well deserving of public support, is formed by the Educational Clothing Society, the Poor & Strangers’ Friend Society, and the Humane Society.

The Educational Clothing Society, established in 1820, by the teachers and managers of the Sabbath School, connected with Fish-street chapel, has for its object to furnish the children of extremely poor parents with decent clothing, to enable them to attend Sunday schools; and we learn, from the report, that the society, though on a very limited scale, has already produced many beneficial effects.

The Poor and Strangers’ Friend Society, established in the year 1798, seeks out and relieves those who have no other earthly helper. With the moderate funds of 220*l.*

per annum, six hundred poor families, in the very extremity of their distress, found relief; and as none are relieved till their situation is accurately ascertained, it is scarcely possible to imagine how the same sum of money could be applied in effecting a larger sum of good. The treasurers to this institution, which knows no distinction of nation, sect, or party, are Messrs. Smiths and Thompson; the stewards are Mr. Henry Green, and Mr. James Henwood; and the secretary Mr. Robert Bellby.

The Humane Society of Hull was established in the year 1800, and has for its president the Right Worshipful the Mayor, and for its patrons the principal authorities of the town; B. Crosley, M.B. is the physician; Mr. John Young the secretary and registrar. Mr. Young also fills the office of surgeon to the institution, which receives the gratuitous assistance of all the other surgeons in the town, when it is required.—Various sets of instruments, provided by the society, are placed in different situations in the town, the most contiguous to places where accidents are likely to occur. Rewards are given by the society to persons who contribute to restore animation, and no fewer than 334 cases claiming rewards, have already arisen, out of which one in six, or nearly in that proportion, has been unsuccessful. The directions given by the Royal Humane Society for restoring the apparently dead, will be found in the 56th page of this volume.

Akin to the Humane Society, is the establishment formed at Spurn, by the Trinity House of Hull, for the accommodation of the crew of a life boat, with which buoyant vehicle they are furnished, and the duty of the crew is to afford every assistance in their power to those ships and vessels in distress, which may stand in need of their aid. Mr. Robert Richardson, the present master of the life-boat, is invested with the full command of the boats’ crew, which consists of eleven men, exclusive of the captain, and who all participate in the benefits, rewards, and emoluments, arising from the services of the boat.

The Assistance Society of Hull, for the benefit of widows, orphans, and aged members, though not a charitable institution, is one of those provident associations, which, like benefit societies, of which there are here a considerable number, claim the public countenance. This society was first established by the Methodists of the New Connexion, for the members of their body, on the 1st of April, 1802, but it now admits persons of all religious denominations, under the restrictions and limitations prescribed by the rules. Mr. Thomas Cassons is the president; Mr. Benjamin Clarkson, the treasurer; and Mr. S. Trumble, the steward.

The Savings Bank is held in Exchange buildings, Bowlalley lane, and was established in 1818. This institution is proceeding prosperously, as the following statement, made up to the 30th of September, 1823, will serve to show :—

The patron of this institution is Thomas Thompson, Esq.; the mayor is the president; and Joseph Robinson Pease, George Liddell, James Kiero Watson, and Thomas Raikes, Esqrs are the trustees; the secretary is Mr. George Carilll.

The commerce of Hull, that rich mine of wealth from which all her public institutions draw their main support, comes next under consideration. So early as the time of Camden, we are told that Hull was famous for its trade and shipping, and it still holds the rank of one of the first commercial towns in the kingdom. The commerce of this port divides itself into three leading branches: The coasting trade, of which it enjoys a greater share than any other port in England, London alone excepted;—the Baltic and Eastland trade, for which Hull is peculiarly well situated; and the Greenland fishery, which owes its revival half a century ago, and its subsequent, and now somewhat diminished consequence, to the mercantile enterprise of Hull. Owing to the facility of communication with the great manufacturing districts of Yorkshire, Lancashire and Nottinghamshire, by means of the Aire and the Calder, the Ouse and the Trent, and by the canals communicating with them, the quantity of goods poured into this port from the interior is immense, and it is admitted that from the West Riding alone the manufactured goods, coal, stone, &c. yearly introduced into Hull, amount in value to at least five millions of pounds sterling. The Baltic trade received a shock during the revolutionary wars from the anti-commercial decrees, and the hostile occupation of the ports of that sea which it has never completely recovered, but it is still very considerable, and will it is hoped, in time, recover its former importance.

Hull sent, until the present year, nearly three times as many ships to the whale fisheries of Greenland and Davis's Straits as London, and exclusive of the latter port, more than all Great Britain besides. The merchants of Hull were, originally in 1598, the first in England who fitted out ships for the whale fishery, but that trade had declined until the year 1765, when it was almost wholly monopolised by the Dutch, and was at that period reduced to such a languid condition that not more than twenty ships were employed in it from all England, of which ten were sent from London. In the following year the active and enterprising spirit of Mr. Standidge, a merchant of Hull, induced him to equip and send out to the Greenland seas a ship on his own account—an adventure which was thought extremely hazardous, and of which individual speculation did not at that time afford an example in all Europe. This ship returned with one whale and four hundred seals. Prior to this time the skins of seals were generally thrown overboard, not being considered of the intrinsic value of more than threepence each; but Mr. Standidge had them tanned into leather, and in this way advanced their price to five shillings per skin. Stimulated by his success he broke after visited Greenland himself, and prosecuted his commercial concerns with distinguished spirit both at home and abroad. The notion of exploring the regions of the North Pole was then, as now, very prevalent, and Mr. Standidge equipped a ship, and meant himself to embark in it upon that expedition, when he found that a legal impediment, arising out of his filling the office of sheriff of Hull, disabled him from leaving the country. This disappointment, however, did not check the ardour of his commercial enterprise; he subsequently fitted out three ships for the Greenland sea, and his example diffused a spirit of emulation throughout the trading part of the community, so that vessels began to be fitted out yearly, not only from Hull, but also from Whitby, Newcastle, Liverpool and London, as well as from the principal ports of Scotland.

The following table, exhibiting the number of ships fitted out from this port, during the last seven years, for Greenland and Davis' Straits, with the average produce of whale oil per-ship, will serve to show the state of the Fisheries :—

Owing to the large quantity of fish oil produced, and the introduction of coal gas lights, oil of this description has, within the last few years, fallen from 40s. to 19s. per ton, a price far from remunerating the expense.—It is the opinion of well-informed men that the Greenland Fishery has been greatly overdone, and has been productive of injury to the general trade of this port, by absorbing in undue proportion of capital from other branches of commerce. The Mediterranean and Leghorn trade, from the want of due cultivation, have here dwindled away into insignificance, and the American trade, that rich source of wealth to Liverpool, is in Hull of very limited extent. The West India trade has been attempted several times, but never established; and two or three vessels have sailed hence to the East Indies, without yet producing any profitable returns.

About 80,000 tons of shipping belong to the port of Hull, exclusive of many hundreds of small craft employed on the river Humber. Within the last ten years the export of cotton twist and of manufactured cottons, from this port, has prodigiously increased: in 1814, 7,330,000 pounds of cotton twist and 9,240,000 yards were exported from hence; this amount has been yearly augmented, and in 1820, 18,000,000 pounds of twist, and 50,000,000 yards of cotton, chiefly to Hamburgh, appear upon the list of exports in the custom-house books. In 1821 it was rather less, but this year it is more than any former one.

The Custom House is a very large and handsome edifice, in Whitefriargate, and nearly in the centre of the town. It was originally built by the Corporation of the Trinity House, for an inn, with a room for public entertainments, 52 feet long by 24 feet wide, and 22 feet high. This is now the long room for the transaction of the general official business of the custom house. The building also affords spacious and appropriate offices in every department, with extensive King's warehouses. The Collector for the port is Charles Lutwidge, Esq. and the established clerks in his office amount to eight. The Comptroller is Charles Roe, Esq. No. 12, Dock street. Attached to these departments are coast waiters, gaugers, timber measurers, King's coopers, tide surveyors, a superintendent of quarantine, and a number of mariners; and dependent upon the custom house establishment are coast officers at Selby, Gainsbro', Stockwith, York, and Goole.

The Pilot Office, which is under the direction of commissioners, appointed by, and acting under, the Humber Pilot act, is well conducted, and the principal members of the corporation, a selection from the wardens of the Trinity house, and a respectable body of merchants, form the list of commissioners. The pilots attend the observatory by turns, from six in the morning to nine in the evening, from the vernal to the autumnal equinoxes, and the remainder of the year from nine in the morning to six in the evening. Mr. Francis Clifford is commodore of the pilots, and Mr. G. D. Thompson his clerk. The office consists of a modern lofty brick building, opposite the Ferry boat dock.

Nothing has more essentially contributed to the extension of commerce in Hull than the handsome and capacious docks with which this port is provided. For some years previous to the opening of the wet dock, which took place, Sept. 22, 1778, the average annual revenue derived to the state from the customs in this port, amounted to about 70,000*l.* it is now, as has just been seen, swelled to 437,684*l.* and though part of the increase is doubtless owing to the increased rate of duties imposed during the late war, yet, previously to that period, the augmentation was in the proportion of more than two to one, as will appear from the following returns:—

Average of revenue derived annually from the customs of the port of Hull

1763 to 1773.....	90,000
1773 to 1783.....	91,000
1783 to 1793.....	149,000

The next ten years swell the average to about 250,000*l.* and the succeeding decennial period to about 300,000*l.* The last ten years has yielded an annual average of 376,573*l.*

The docks for shipping having thus tended so largely to the advantage of the port, constitute a prominent and interesting feature in the history of Hull. In the year 1774, a subscription was entered into at this place for making the wet dock on the north side of the town, now called the old dock, and an act of parliament was applied for and obtained for carrying the work into execution, by which act the share-holders were incorporated under the name of "The Dock Company of Kingston-upon-Hull;" by this act the military works surrounding the town were appropriated to the purpose of the intended dock, and a further aid of 15,000*l.* was voted by parliament towards its completion. The company proceeded with great spirit and alacrity in the work assigned to them; the first stone was laid on the 19th of October, 1775, and the whole undertaking was completed in the course of four years, though seven years was the time allowed by act of parliament. And on the 22d of Sept. 1778, the first ship, called the Manchester, a Greenland trader, sailed into the dock, which, when opened, was the largest in the kingdom, and is now exceeded only by those of London and by some of the recently formed docks of Liverpool. It extends in length about 600 yards, in width 85 yards, and is 23 feet deep, and nearly ten acres of land are occupied by the excavation. Originally the number of shares was 190, but the trade of the port requiring further accommodation, two other acts of parliament were obtained, the former in 1802 and the latter in 1805, by which the company was empowered to increase the number to 180; the money arising from the sixty additional shares amounted to 82,390*l.* which sum was appropriated towards making a new dock, called, "The Humber Dock," the first stone of which was laid on the 13th of April, 1807, and being completed at an expense of 220,000*l.* was opened on the 30th of June, 1808. The Humber Dock opens into the river from which it takes its name, by a lock, of excellent workmanship, large enough to admit a fifty gun ship, crossed by an iron bridge, in two parts, of very ingenious mechanism. This dock is 300 yards in length, 114 yards wide, and 29 feet deep.—The admeasurement of both the docks stands thus:—

Old Dock.....	2 l. 3 s. 2 d.
Humber Dock.....	7 l. 6 s. 10 d.

Total..... 16*l.* 3*s.* 3*d.*

And they will contain six hundred sail of vessels. At present the two docks do not communicate, and although this object was always contemplated by extending the Humber dock northward to the extremity of Whitefriargate, which, when effected, would insulate the whole of the old town, and for which purpose the ground was given by the Crown; yet every plan, for carrying into execution a junction of the present docks, so essential to the interests of the trade of the port, has hitherto proved abortive; and the ground, appropriated for a middle dock, has recently been covered with buildings of a very inferior description, the income arising from which, if suffered to accumulate, would in time form a fund for effecting the proposed communication. The revenue of the Dock Company arises from certain duties on all ships entering the port. The present average value of each share is about 150*l.* and the profits for the year ending the 2d of February, 1822, were 32*l.* 16*s.* yielding rather more than 3 per cent. interest upon the capital, which is somewhat below the usual annual average.

The following are the Dock Rates and Duties on Shipping:—

On every ship or vessel coming to and going from Hull, to any port to the northward of Yarmouth, or southward of the Holy Island, per ton.....	2 d.
From ditto to any port between the North Foreland and Shetland, east side of England, except as above, per ton.....	3 d.
From ditto to any port in Great Britain, not before described, per ton.....	6 d.
From ditto to any port in the Baltic and all ports above the Sound, per ton.....	1 l. 6 d.
From ditto to any port in Denmark, Sweden, or Norway, below Elsinore, or any port in Germany, Holland, Flanders, France, to the eastward of Ushant, Ireland, the islands of Guernsey and Jersey, per ton.....	1 l. 10 d.
From ditto to any port westward of Ushant, without the Straits of Gibraltar, per ton.....	1 l. 4 d.

From ditto to any port in the West Indies, North or South America, Greenland, any port eastward of North Cape and southward of Cape St. Vincent, per ton 2d.

For every Foreign ship or vessel coming to, or going with merchandise from any of the above named ports or places, double the rates of tonnage, or duties above-mentioned, unless the said ships belong to British owners.

For every ship or vessel sailing coastwise or otherwise, and coming into the said haven in ballast, to be laid up (consisting duty included) per ton.....6d.

*. The hours of attendance at the Dock-office, from ten until three o'clock.

The office of Clerk to the Dock Company has been for many years filled by Mr. John Levett, and Mr. Peter Bennett is the dock master of the Old Dock, and Mr. John Dewar the master of the Humber Dock.

Besides these Wet Docks, there are here several dry docks for the convenience of repairing vessels, constructed with flood gates, to admit or exclude the water, as may best suit the convenience of the works carried on within them.

The Excise Office is situated in that part of Hull which has the voluminous name of The Land of Green Ginger; the offices are tolerably commodious, and this important branch of the public service is under the direction of William Cramp, Esq. the collector; Mr. Simpson Miller, of No. 6, Spencer street, is his first clerk. The office hours are from 9 o'clock in the morning to 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Closely connected with the commercial interests are the Banking concerns, of which there are four in Hull; which, taken in alphabetical arrangement, stand thus—Harrison, Watson, and Locke, Whitefriargate, who draw upon Marryat, Kay, Priece, and Coleman, 1, Mansion House Street, London; Pease and Liddell, No. 18, High street, who draw upon Pole, Thornton, Free, Down, and Scott, 1, Bartholomew lane, London; Raikes and Co. 18, Scale lane, who draw upon Curries, Raikes, and Co. No. 29, Cornhill, London; and Smiths and Thompson, 25, High street, who draw upon Smith, Payne, and Smiths, Mansion House place, London.

The Exchange holds a respectable rank amongst the institutions of Hull.—Till the year 1794, the town was destitute of this important requisite for a commercial place; the building in the High street, erected by the merchants in 1619, as an Exchange and Custom house, and used by them for many years, having been neglected, and subsequently used wholly by the customs. The merchants of Hull are therefore under obligations to Mr. William Bell, by whose enterprise and public spirit this gratifying and beneficial medium of general intercourse and free communication was afforded. Over the Exchange is a News room. During the present year this establishment, which is supported by subscription,<sup>2</sup> has been greatly improved and ornamented, the Exchange Room is handsomely coloured in imitation of stone, and the News Room is supported by two fine Doric pillars, dividing the Exchange into two walks, which are entered by a handsome portico erected in front.

The manufactures of Hull are not so extensive and numerous as those in many of our inland towns; they are, however, by no means contemptible; amongst the principal of them is the expressing and refining of oil from linseed, and preparing the residue for feeding cattle; the process is chiefly effected by mills worked by wind, and the largest and finest mills in the kingdom of this kind, both for the above purpose and for grinding corn, are found in great numbers near this town. The mode of refining rape oil was brought to perfection by Dr. Daniel Bridges of Hull, who also invented the improved system of purifying spermaceti oil now practised here with great success. There is also a sugar house, (Messrs. Thornton, Watson, and Co.'s) on a large scale; an extensive soft and hard soap manufactory, (Messrs. Croose and Co.'s) several white lead manufactories; numerous ship-builders' yards; turpentine and sail-cloth manufactories; and some large rope walks, which have, however, suffered considerably from the introduction of the chain cables; some large breweries claim a place in the list of manufactures, of which those enumerated above form but a small part.

Under the head of the trade of Hull may be arranged the Post-office and Stamp-office departments; the carriers and coaches; the markets and fairs; and the corn exchange and the shambles.

The Post-Office is situated in Bishop-lane, and Thomas Rodmell, Esq. is the post-master. The business of this branch of the public service, with its foreign and inland dependencies, is exhibited in detail at page 347-8 of this volume, so fully as to supersede the necessity of any further information on the subject here.

The Stamp-Office for the town and county of Hull and the East-Riding is at * The annual subscription to the News-Room is £1 11s. 6d. and to the Exchange, 15s. 6d.; gentlemen residing more than seven miles from Hull are admitted without charge for a month, on the introduction of a subscriber.

No. 2, Bowalley-lane, and Robert Osborne, Esq. is the distributor; Mr. Wm. Dryden, attorney, is his deputy, and attendance is given at the office from 9 o'clock in the morning to 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

The conveyances to and from the different parts of the kingdom, both by waggon and coach, are detailed at considerable length at pages 349 and 354. The particulars of the vessels in the coasting trade will be found at pages 350-1, and copious information relating to the steam packets and the sailing packets is contained at pages 352-3, with the requisite details concerning the market-boats.

The chartered market days here are on Tuesday and Friday; and the annual fair on the 11th October.* There is also a market for vegetables and butchers' meat, held on the Saturday.

The Corn Exchange is situated in the Market place, on the north side of the Holy Trinity Church. The grain is sold by sample, and the corn market, which is well attended, is held on Tuesday; business commencing at one o'clock. Mr. John French is clerk of the market, and his residence is No. 12, Whitefriargate.

In the year 1806, the Guildhall, situated in the Market place, which had fallen into a state of dilapidation, was removed, and commodious and well ventilated shambles were erected on the site. The new erections are only partially occupied, partly because the accommodation they afford is more than the town at present requires, and partly because the rents are considered high. About 5000 beasts, 1100 calves, and 25,000 sheep and lambs are annually slaughtered here.

The Waterworks of Hull are situated at the east end of Waterhouse lane, and afford that great desideratum sought with so much earnestness and perseverance by our ancestors—an ample supply of fresh water. Prior to the year 1773, the works, which were established in 1616, were wrought by horses, but the water is now forced by means of a powerful steam-engine into the reservoir, and thence conveyed through pipes to the dwellings of the inhabitants in all the principal streets of the town. Mr. Anthony Atkinson, of No. 23, Albion street, is clerk of the works, and Mr. T. O. Atkinson, of No. 3, Forland place, the collector. One important advantage of the waterworks in a large commercial town arises from the facility they afford in case of accidental fires, and the authorities in this place, with a provident care for the lives and property of the inhabitants, have provided no fewer than a dozen fire-engines, one or more of which may be found in the engine-houses at the following stations:—

At Seuloates hall, Jarriak street
In Church street, Seuloates
At the Dock Office, entrance of Old Dock
At the Garrison
At the Custom House, Whitefriargate
At the Trinity house
At the Coach Manufactory, Carr lane
At the Sugar house, Lane st. North bridge
And at the Millwrights, Sykes street.

In a place giving and receiving so much support to and from the fisheries as Hull, it was to be supposed that every exertion would be made to introduce the practice of generating gas from oil instead of coal.— This experiment has been made under the authority of an act of parliament, passed in the year 1821, by which a gas company was instituted, and the result has hitherto proved satisfactory to the share-holders and to the consumers. The gas works are situated in Broadley street, and the consumers are supplied by the company with a meter, suited to their consumption, at a small annual charge. The street lamps are supplied with gas from the works, and a great number of the shopkeepers and other inhabitants avail themselves of this brilliant and economical light, which, reckoning the quantity of light evolved, it is calculated costs about one-third the price of tallow—a hundred cubic feet of gas, valued at from five to six shillings, yielding as much light as eighteen pounds of tallow candles. The company have just completed an Ionic pillar of cast iron, for the purpose of lighting the ships into the harbour. This pillar rises twenty feet from the ground to the top of the capital, and is surmounted with a smaller pillar, three feet six inches high, on the top of which is placed an hexagonal lantern, with an argand light and reflector six feet in height. It is to be hoped that a small annual contribution from each ship will be voluntarily made for the support of this useful beacon, which otherwise must be discontinued. Samuel Cooper, Esq. is the chairman of the committee, and Mr. Richard Witty, clerk of the works.

The government of Hull is vested in the body corporate, which consists of the Mayor, the Recorder, twelve Aldermen, the Sheriff, two Chamberlains, a Town Clerk, a Water Bailiff, and soldier officers, under a High Steward, who must be a member of the Privy Council. The mayor is Admiral of the Harbour, and is possessed of the power of life and death over criminals within his jurisdiction. The High Stewards

Earl Fitzwilliam is the High Steward, and the following is a list of the Corporation for the years 1823-3.

HULL CORPORATION.

Christopher Bolton, Esq. Mayor.

Chamberlains—Mr. Thomas Firbank, and Mr. William Bolton.

Town Clerk—Edward Codd, Esq. 6, Parliament street.

Deputy—Mr. George Bramwell, 48, Osborne street.

Town's Husband—Mr. William Bolton, 22, High street.

Mace Bearer—Mr. Robert Bamford, 6, Broadley square.

White Mace Bearer—Mr. Philip Ward, Holderness road.

Serjeant at Mace—Mr. Francis Stamp, 4, Broadley street.

No place in the kingdom perhaps is able to produce more testimonies of royal regard than the town of Hull. Since its first charter, in the 5th year of the reign of Edward I. its privileges and immunities have been granted, confirmed, or enlarged by no fewer than nineteen different charters, extending over a period of nearly four hundred years.

Myton lordship is under the direction of commissioners established by an act passed in 1810, who regulate coal-ports, street drainage, &c. and Sewalton has a local act of a similar nature, passed in 1801.

The parliamentary history of the borough of Hull is singular and interesting:—formerly the burgesses chose their representatives out of their own order, and allowed them, while engaged in the performance of their public duties, a sum which was at that time thought sufficient to support the state of a gentleman. Matters however in the lapse of a few ages, greatly altered; for instead of receiving three or four shillings a day, by way of support, from their constituents, members sometimes give large sums to their constituents for the honour of representing them. In the year 1818, the number of free burgesses polled amounted to 2143, and a large proportion of the votes except (though of course they do not receive, as such a proceeding would be in violation of the laws against bribery and corruption) two guineas each for a split vote, or four guineas for a plumper. The right of election is derived either from being born the son of a burgess, from having served seven years apprenticeship to a burgess, from purchase, or from donation for public service, of which honour the corporation have been very sparing, although the conferring of it upon individuals of public spirit and character has been proposed, and would be beneficial to the town. But a very small portion of inhabitants in the upper, or even in the middle classes of society, enjoy the elective franchise in this borough, though wealth, which will always confer influence, is not without its effect on the elections. The present representatives for Hull are, John Mitchell, Esq. of 25, Wimpole street, London; and Daniel Sykes, Esq. of Raywell, near Hull, the present Recorder.

The courts of law in Hull are, the Court of Requests, originally established in 1761, for the recovery of small debts, not amounting to forty shillings, but by an act in 1806, extended to five pounds, of which Mr. John Alderson is the clerk; the Sheriff's Court, held twice a year, within a month after Easter, and a month after Michaelmas, but its proceedings have become almost obsolete; and the County Court, for holding pleas of replegiarum. The Court of Ventre, for determining civil causes, has a jurisdiction extending to the town and county of Hull, and sums can be recovered exceeding forty shillings: this court is held before the mayor, the Recorder, and the Sheriff, and the rules and practice of the court resemble those of the Court of King's Bench. Mr. Edw. Codd is the Prothonotary.

Formerly the assizes for the town and county of Hull were held in this place, sometimes septennially, and at other times triennially, or annually, when capital punishments were inflicted; but the infrequency of these gaol deliveries became an evil of so great a magnitude, that an arrangement was made for the more speedy administration of justice; and civil suits, capital offences, and misdemeanours are now removable to the assizes at York, on the application of either of the parties, which application always takes place. The last assizes held in Hull was on the 31st of July, 1794, and the last public execution in the summer of 1773. The Quarter Sessions of the peace are held at the regular periods in the Guild Hall, where the business of the other courts is also transacted.

The places of public amusement in Hull are the Theatre Royal and the Olympic Circus, both in Humber street. The theatre is quite a new building, having been only completed as recently as 1809; it is decidedly one of the handsomest, and since the improvements made by Mr. Mansel, in 1821, one of the most convenient provincial theatres in the kingdom. It is erected upon what was formerly designated the Fore-shore, over which the tide washed twice in twenty-four hours; the industry and skill of man having rescued a large portion of this ground from the visitation of the river Humber. The house is calculated to accommodate an audience to the amount of nearly three hundred pounds, at the usual rate of admission: namely, boxes, 4s.; pit, 2s.; first gallery, 1s. 6d.; upper gallery, 1s. The Assembly Rooms, in Dagger lane, having been disused for three or four years, a house has been purchased in North street, by a party of gentlemen, who intend converting it into an assembly room, with apartments attached for billiards, a club room, &c.

The inhabitants of Hull enjoy the inestimable advantage of a good public Subscription Library, which was first instituted on the 6th of Dec. 1775, but the foundation stone of the present building, in Parliament street, was not laid till the 21st of June, 1800. The library possesses a spacious reading room, which is open to the subscribers, amounting to four hundred and seventy-five in number, every day; and the collection of books, which comprises above fifteen thousand volumes, is said to be the most extensive between the Humber and the Tweed. Great facilities have been afforded to the consultation of books in this library, by an excellently classified catalogue recently published. The subscription is 25s. per annum, yielding a gross revenue, with other contingencies, of about 700l. a year. The concerns of the institution are managed by a committee of twenty-one, chosen yearly, and John Broadley, Esq. F. S. A. is the president; John Crosse, Esq. F. S. A. the treasurer; and Mr. Thomas English, the librarian. There is also a Subscription Library, at No. 5, in the Market place, established in 1807, on a similar plan to the above, consisting of nearly 200 members, whose annual subscription is 12s. 6d. each; of this library Mr. James Henwood is the president; Mr. Wm. Baron the treasurer; and Mr. George Turner the librarian. The most ancient library in Hull is that held in a room on the south side of the choir of the Holy Trinity church, which was formerly used as a chapel, but has since the year 1689 being appropriated to its present purpose; and which, in addition to many ancient theological works, contains a number of modern publications in divinity.

A Literary and Philosophical Society is in the course of formation, with a museum attached to it, for which several articles have already been collected together.

There are three weekly newspapers here: the Hull Packet, established June 5, 1787, printed by Mr. Richard Allanson, 36, Scale lane, and published on Monday in the afternoon; the Hull Advertiser, established July 5, 1794, printed by Mr. Isaac Wilson, 49, Lowgate, and published on Friday in the afternoon; and the Hull Rockingham, established January, 2, 1808, printed and published by Mr. Wm. Ross, 9, Bowalley lane, on Saturday in the afternoon. The two former of these publications support the Tory, and the latter the Whig principles of government.

The first state of civilised society is indicated by an attention to agriculture, the second to horticulture, and the last to botany. The two former are decidedly the most important, and the last is the most refined and scientific. A few, and only a few, of the cities and towns of England, can boast of their botanic garden, and Hull is one of that number. This elegant institution was commenced in July 1811, and opened to the subscribers on the 3d of June following. The garden is situated about a mile from the centre of the town, on the Anlaby road, at the bottom of an intended new street, appropriately named Linneus street, and comprehends about five statute acres of land. At the entrance are two lodges—one for the dwelling of the curator, and the other, (in which the Botanic Library is forming,) for the use of the committee. The ground is laid out with great skill, and ample room has been left for one specimen at least of every tree, shrub; and hardy plant in the kingdom, as well as for a vast number of exotics. There is here a bog compartment in the highest perfection, another for alpine plants, and an aquarium thirty yards in length. The garden is the property of three hundred subscribers, holders of five hundred and fifty transferable five guinea shares, bearing interest, and subject to a subscription of a guinea and a half per annum. The merit of originating this establishment, and of bringing it to its present state of advancement, is, in a considerable degree, due to Dr. John Alderson, the president, and to the other officers of the institution. The garden has, from its commencement, been under the superintendance of Mr. William Donn, who still discharges the duties of curator much to the satisfaction of its patrons and friends.

Frænsometry, like Botanic science, thrives amazingly in Hull, but all that it is permitted us to say of the former is that there are here two numerous lodges, the Minerva and the Phoenix. The Rotary Lodge, which possessed an elegant and commodious room, has been dissolved; and concerts and other public meetings are held in the prædium, till an assembly room is provided.

The Hull Medical and Chirurgical Society, is a recent establishment instituted on the 1st of February, 1821, of which John Alderson, M. D. is president; Alexander Turnbull, M. D. vice-president; and Thomas Buchanan, C. M. secretary and treasurer.—This society consists of about thirty members, and meets regularly every fortnight on Thursday at 8 o'clock in the evening, to read essays and discuss medical news. Their library steadily contains nearly one hundred preparations, and is kept in the Hall No. 22, High street.

The Public Baths here are kept by Mr. Peter Hendry, at the Bath Tavern, on the Number bank; and by Mr. George Malcolms, near the Number bank. By an improved mode of filtration the water is raised without detriment from the bed of the river, and vitiated and accommodated with the use of the water in either a hot, cold or tepid state.—There are also vapour and shower baths.

Mendicity has been considerably checked in almost all the great towns in the kingdom, and imposition and crime diminished, by the institution of Vagrant Offices. The Vagrant Office of Hull was established by a meeting of the inhabitants, held at the Guildhall, on the 1st of February, 1819, this office is situated at No. 9, Quay street, and Mr. Andrew Daniel is the officer under whose superintendance it is placed.

Having thus sketched with a rapid, but it is hoped with a faithful hand, the History of Hull from its earliest foundation to the present time; having enumerated and detailed its public edifices and multitudinous institutions; having dwelt without prolixity, but not without precision, upon its trade, its commerce, and its manufactures, we come in conclusion to describe the town as it was in former times, and as it exists at the present day. The vicissitudes to which this town and port have been subjected have been already pretty fully detailed. For many ages, indeed for several centuries, the town of Hull was confined between the Humber to the north, the Hull to the east, and the town's wall to the north and west. Beyond these limits all is new; and so late as the year 1640, the number of streets in this place amounted only to from thirty to forty. What is their present number will be seen from the list subjoined to this history, which by way of contrast is introduced by an enumeration of those which existed at the period just referred to. In the ancient buildings in the town little regard appears to have been paid to elegance or regularity; convenience alone was the object of the proprietors, and to that point principally the skill of the architect was directed. A flourishing and extended commerce, with gradually increasing wealth, at length introduced a taste, if not for magnificence, at least for elegance and public accommodation. The town as it now stands is well built, principally of brick, most of the streets are well paved, and in the new parts, to the north and to the west, they are spacious and commodious. From the year 1382, when it was first surrounded with fortifications, the town of Kingston-upon-Hull, and from its strength and situation considered as an impregnable fortress; and the wide ditch with the frowning walls and unshattered towers overlooking the adjacent country presented a formidable aspect, exciting ideas of hostility and danger. These symbols of war have happily disappeared within the last sixty years. Towards the close of the last century the ditches were filled up; and the ramparts and walls which had long been useless and ruinous, were finally levelled to promote the convenience of the inhabitants. Hull therefore is now an open town, and instead of those formidable bulwarks which displayed the menacing apparatus of war, it presents, on every side, docks filled with merchant ships, the vehicles of commerce and the emblems of peace. From an accurate administration taken before the military works were demolished, it appears that the walls of Hull were two thousand six hundred and ten yards in circuit, being thirty yards less than a mile and a half. Of the whole of these works of defence two of the three fortresses built by Henry VIII. alone remain. They are guarded by several batteries and modern erections, on the east bank of the river, intended for the defence of the town and harbour; and form magazines capable of containing twenty thousand stand of arms, and ordnance stores for twelve or fifteen sail of the line, defended by a regular garrison. The post of governor of this town is generally bestowed on some officer of high rank, and Lord Hill, the present governor, succeeded the Duke of Richmond.

The intervention of the docks which occupy the greater part of the space where the walls formerly stood, separates Hull into three principal divisions, and nearly isolates the old town, which forms the first division. On the north side of the old dock is the parish of Soulespates; all its buildings having been erected within the last thirty years, and they now constitute several spacious and handsome streets; a neat hall has been built here for the administration of justice and other public purposes, this part of the town being in the county of York, and not under the jurisdiction of the magistrates of Hull. The third and last division has arisen still more recently, and lies to the west of the Humber dock, occupying the situation of the ancient hamlet of Myton, by which name it is now distinguished, and is included in the county of the town of Hull. A suburb has also lately sprung up on the Holderness side of the river, in the parishes of Drypool and Sutton, encompassing the garrison, and connected with the town by a bridge of four arches, with a draw bridge in the centre wide enough to admit the largest vessel that has to pass through it.

The population of Hull has increased at the rate of about 15 per cent. during the last twenty years. In 1801, the aggregate number of inhabitants was 27,502, in 1811, that number was swelled to 39,944; and by the last returns to 39,073.

The following is the Population return of 1821, including the suburbs:—

The mortality of the place is rather below than above the usual average, which may be taken at one in thirty, Here the average is one in thirty-three, while in London it is one in twenty.

The eminent men born in, or closely connected with Hull, are quite as numerous as in most other places. Passing over the De la Poles and coming nearer to our own times, we find Admiral Sir John Lawson, who fought and died for his country on the 2d of June 1666, and to whom Hull and Searborough make joint pretensions. Andrew Marvel, the friend and colleague of Milton: at the time of his birth his father was the rector of Winestead near Patrington in the East Riding, and the baptism of his son is entered in the parish register of that place, on the last day of March 1681, in his father's hand writing.* Having received the rudiments of his classical education in the Free Grammar School at Hull, of which his father was then master, he was sent to Cambridge, and pursued his studies at Trinity College. He afterwards made the tour of Europe, and was secretary to the embassy at Constantinople in the time of the Commonwealth. His first appearance in public business at home was to assist John Milton, Latin secretary to the Protector. In 1658, two years before the Restoration, he was elected member for Hull, and during the twenty years that he represented this borough in parliament, he maintained the character of an honest man, a true patriot, and an incorruptible senator. He is recorded as the last member of parliament who received the wages anciently paid to members by their constituents. His integrity rendered him obnoxious to a corrupt court, which spared no pains to seduce him from his fidelity and to obtain the powerful influence of his name and character for their measures. Many instances are adduced of his heroic firmness in resisting the alluring offers made to win him over to the court party, one of which may suffice as an example: The King, Charles II. sought by the fascination of his own company to attach to him the patriot, and one morning after having on the preceding evening given Marvel an entertainment, he dispatched the Lord Treasurer, Danby, to his lodgings which were on a second floor in a court in the Strand. The courtier owing to the narrowness of the stairs fell into the room where he found the patriot at his desk. After apologizing for the abruptness of his entry, his lordship said that he came on a message from the King, who wished to do Mr. Marvel some signal service to testify his high opinion of his merits.

Mr. Marvel expressed himself highly sensible of this mark of his sovereign's affection, but declined to accept any place in his Majesty's service; alleging, that if after having done so he should vote against the wishes of his ministers, he might be deemed guilty of ingratitude, and if he voted with them, he might do injustice to his country and to his conscience; he therefore begged that his Majesty would allow him to enjoy a state of liberty, and to esteem him his faithful and dutiful subject. The Royal offer of a place under the government having proved vain, Lord Danby begged to assure Mr. Marvel that the King had ordered him a thousand guineas, which he hoped he would be pleased to receive, till he could bring his mind to accept something better and more durable. At this Mr. Marvel, with his usual smile, said that his means were equal to his wants. His apartments he said were sufficiently commodious, and as for his living it was plentiful and wholesome, as he would prove to his lordship, then calling to his servant, he said—Pray what had I to dinner yesterday?—"A shoulder of mutton, Sir," was the reply "And what do you allow me to-day," continued the master?—"The remainder hashed," replied the servant, and withdrew. "And to-morrow, my Lord," said Mr. Marvel, "I shall have the blade bone broiled; and when your lordship makes honourable mention of my cook and diet, I am sure his Majesty will be too wise in future to attempt to bribe a man with golden apples, who lives so well on the viands of his native country!" Many other instances might be adduced of his heroic firmness, which would have done honour to Fabricius or Cincinnatus. Mr. Marvel was eminent as a poet as well as a senator; and his satires against the vices of the age, which did not spare majesty itself, and which lashed Dr. Parker, the Bishop of Oxford, into phrensy, are very well known. The general tendency of his works was against popery and arbitrary power, which were then too closely allied; and his memorable assertions, which the records of history have since abundantly established, that the Dutch war, entered into by Charles II. was owing to the corruption of the court, and that the French were the leaders of our councils, establish his claim to political agency, as well as to undaunted firmness. The death of this distinguished patriot, which took place on the 16th August, 1678, was sudden and unexpected; nearly up to the hour of his dissolution he was in full health and vigour, and there is but too much reason to believe that he died by poison, administered by some murderous hand, but by whom and for what reason will now probably remain for ever unexplained. The corporation of Hull, in gratitude for his services, voted the sum of £60. to defray the expenses of his funeral, and contributed a sum of money to erect a monument over his remains in the Church of St. Giles in the Fields, London, where he was interred, but the minister of that church forbade the monument to be erected, and the inscription was never placed there which recorded that "he was a man so endowed by nature, so improved by education, study, and travel, so consummated by experience, that joining the most peculiar grace of wit and learning, with a singular penetration and strength of judgment, and exercising all these with unalterable steadiness in the ways of virtue, he became the ornament and the example of his age;—beloved by good men, feared by bad, and admired by all; though imitated, alas! by few, and scarcely paralleled by any."

Thomas Watson, D. D. the unfortunate Bishop of St. David's, was born at North Ferriby, near Hull, in the year 1637. He founded the hospital at Hull, which is still called by his name, and entertained the intention of liberally endowing it, but his misfortunes overtook him before that intention could be fulfilled, and he fell, partly the victim of his own violence, and partly of the violence of the times in which he lived.

Hull has also given birth to several other persons of distinction, amongst these may be mentioned Dr. Thomas Johnson, the physician, &c.; the Rev. Wm. Mason, the poet, preacher of York, who was born at the vicarage; William Wilberforce, Esq. the senator and philanthropist; and William Porden, Esq. the architect. We may also mention several living gentlemen of literary talent: Charles Frost, Esq. F.S.A. author of some tracts on legal subjects; John Crose, Esq. F.S.A. and John Broadley, Esq. F.S.A. the unostentatious but efficient promoters of every object of literature and science connected with their native town and county; and A. H. Haworth, Esq. F.L.S. author of Lepidoptera Britannica, &c. Wm Spence, Esq. F.L.S. author of tracts on Political Economy, and an introduction to Entomology; Thomas Thompson, Esq. F.S.A. author of tracts on the Poor Laws, and on the antiquities of this district; and P. W. Watson, Esq. the author of Dendrologia Britannica, are all natives of the neighbourhood and residents in Hull. Nor ought the venerable name of the late vicar, the Rev. Joseph Milner, M.A. the author of "The History of the Church," to be passed over in an account of that town with which his memory is so nearly associated.

Hull does not at present give title to any noble family. Robert de Pierreport, who was created by Charles I. Baron Pierreport and Viscount Newark, was made Earl of Kingston-upon-Hull in 1688; and Evelyn, 4th Earl, was advanced to be Duke of Kingston, in 1718; on the death of whose grandson, William, the second Duke, in 1773, all the titles became extinct.

THE POST - OFFICE

Is situated at 27, Bishop-lane, Lowgate,

POST-MASTER—THOMAS RODMELL, Esq.

Principal Clerk and Office Keeper—Mr. GEORGE DONKIN.

The office opens at a quarter before 8 in the morning.

Letters from the principal towns of the United Kingdom, and all Foreign letters arrive with the mail from York, at 10 minutes past 6 morning, and are ready for delivery at a quarter before eight morning. The letters belonging to merchants are called for at the office. Those for the public generally are sent out by the letter carriers at the time of opening the office.

General Departure

The Mail, with letters for York, London, Leeds, Manchester, Liverpool, and for Ireland, Scotland, Wales, and the British Islands, and all other places not specified hereafter in the Riding, or Water postage, departs at 3 o'clock every afternoon; the letter box is closed at 40 min. past 3 aft. Letters however continue to be received with 1d. each, until 5 min. before 3, when the bags are closed and the mail despatched.

Foreign Mails are despatched from Hull in the following order: The letters being previously sent to the office at the same time as for the general departure:

Baltic—every Monday and Thursday, to meet the Glasgow mail.

France—Every M. Tu. Wed. & Thur.

Lisbon—By cross post to Falmouth every Sunday.

Gibraltar, Malta, Corfu, Madeira, and Brasilis—On the Sunday before the first Tuesday in every month.

America and Jamaica—On the first Monday in every month.

Leeward Islands and Demerara—On the first and third Mondays monthly.

Letters to any of the before named Foreign places or parts, except the West India Colonies and British America, cannot be forwarded unless the Inland and Foreign postage, (the rates of which are stated below) be first paid.

The inland postage from Hull to London is 1s. and to Falmouth 1s. 9d. which sum will have to be added to the following rates:—

HUNMANBY, (P.)

in the wap. of Dickering, 8 miles from Bridlington, 39 from York, and 207 from London, about midway between Scarborough and Bridlington, is well built, and pleasantly situated, being surrounded by 6,000 acres of fertile land, and adorned by a considerable quantity of ornamented wood, chiefly growing on an elevated site, called the Castle Hill, where are still to be traced the foundations of an ancient fortress. Hunmanby had formerly a market, which was held on Tuesdays, but it has long been discontinued. The manorial rights, anciently tripartite, under the names of Ross, Lennox, and Rossmore, are now united together, with the property in more than two-thirds of the township, in the hands of Humphrey Osbaldeston, Esq. His mansion-house is an ancient structure, adorned with modern embellishments; the gardens are spacious, and the plantations flourishing. A splendid monument, on the North side of the chancel in the parish church, commemorates those of the Osbaldeston family who died within the last century, from William Osbaldeston, Esq. (who died A.D. 1707, and whose name was inserted in the list of the intended Knights of the Royal Oak,) down to Fountayne Wentworth Osbaldeston, Esq. M. P. for Scarborough, who died June 10, 1776. The church is dedicated to All Saints, and the living is a rectory, in the gift of the Osbaldestons, of which the Rev. Francis Wrangham is the incumbent.

The other places of worship are a Methodist chapel and a Baptist chapel. There is here a Lending Library, on Dr. Bray's plan, for the use of the neighbouring clergy; and a Parochial Library has been established nearly twenty years, for the benefit of the poor. A Lancelotian school was established in this place, by H. Osbaldeston, Esq. in 1810, under Mr. Thomas Dugglesby, who enjoys a salary of about £60. per annum for his services. The population amounts to 1018.

KILHAM, (P.)

In the wap. of Dickerling, and liberty of St. Peter's; 6 miles NNE. of Driffield, had once a market on Thursday, but it has long declined, and is now wholly disused. The town is situated in a pleasant vale amidst the Wold hills, and the soil is fertile in corn.—The town is nearly a mile and a quarter long, running from East to West. The church, dedicated to All Saints, and in the patronage of the Dean of York, is large and lofty, and seems to have been designed for containing a more numerous congregation than the present population of the parish can supply.—The free grammar school in this town was founded by John Lord D'Arey, of Aston, in this county, in the ninth year of the reign of Charles I. with appointments for a master and usher, 20l. per annum being allowed the former, and 10l. the latter. In this parish there is a mineral spring, near the road leading to Rudston, said to be efficacious in curing various disorders; and the Vipey or Gipsy, after a wet autumn, near the road to Langtoft, the violence of this spring or spout, when it first issues out of the ground, is said to be so great, that a man on horseback may ride under its arched stream. The Methodists and Baptists have each a chapel here. The population amounts to 971.

Letters are delivered at 8 morning, and are sent off at 12 at noon.

Maltby Michael

Human skeletons are frequently dug up here, and about thirty-five years ago a Saxon tomb-stone was found with the remains of three bodies beneath it. Near the village on the road leading to Beverley, is a stone cross, called Stump Cross, bearing a Saxon inscription, which may be thus translated:
" Pray for the soul of William de Wikes."
The only inhabitant in the village above the rank of a labourer is Mr. John Johnson, farmer.

Kilnsea, (P.) in the wap. and li-

The church, dedicated to St. Helen, is now in a state of dilapidation, and in a dangerous situation, being near to a cliff, that the inhabitants think it useless bestow on it any further repairs, except from the annual encroachments of the sea, that it will, in a short time, be shaken in the abyss which has already swept away part of the burial ground. The Rev. Geo. Innes, A.M. vicar, resides at Skeffing, the patron
the living is L. Thompson, Esq. Pop. 120.

Kirkham, (extra-parochial) in the wap. of Buckrose; 6 miles SW. of Malton. Formerly a priory of canons of the order of St. Austin, founded in the year 1121, by Sir Walter L'Espee, Knight, and Adelina his wife, and dedicated to the Holy Trinity, stood here, and some vestiges of it still remain. The priory is situated in a delightful vale, watered by the Derwent, and the scattered ruins of this venerable structure sufficiently evince its ancient magnificence. A noble Gothic tower, beautifully covered with ivy, stood till the year 1784, when it was blown down by a high wind. The northern part of the gate is the principal vestige now remaining of the monastery. To the south end the cellars are yet to be seen, but in a ruinous state; and a small part of the wall of this chancel has withstood the ravages of time. The property belongs to Henry Leatham, Esq. of Barton. The chapel of Kirksam is dedicated to the Holy Trinity. Pop. 7.

The Roman road from Brough is continued in a direct line to Londesbrough Park, and, without mentioning the Roman coins, a great many repositories of the dead have been discovered in digging in different parts of the village, the park, and the gardens. Londesbrough was for several centuries one of the seats of the ancient family of the Clifford's. The only daughter and heiress of Henry, the fifth and last Earl of Cumberland, was married to the Earl of Cork, from whom his Grace, the present Duke of Devonshire, who possesses this estate, is descended. The mansion of Londesbrough, which was very pleasantly situated, being surrounded with a variety of charming landscapes, & commanding beautiful prospects, has lately been taken down. The church is dedicated to All Saints, and the living is in the gift of the Duke of Devonshire. His Grace has also the patronage of a hospital in this place for six old bachelors or widowers, and six widows. Population, 244.

MARKET-WEIGHTON, (P.)

In the wap. of Harthill, and liberty of St. Peter's; 7 miles from Pocklington, 8 from South Cave, 10 from Beverley, 12 from Howden, 21 from Selby, 19 from York, and from London 188.—This is a small brick market town, situated at the western foot of the wolds, and on the high road from York to Beverley. The market, which is held on Wednesday, is extremely well attended. There is also a great corn market, where some thousands of quarters are weekly disposed of by sample. The trade of this town and neighbourhood is considerably increased by means of a navigable canal to the Humber. The patronage of the church is in the Prebend of Weighton.—This ancient edifice had formerly a wooden spire, which has been taken down, and a more permanent one substituted for it; and the church, which has been beautified within, is now furnished with an additional gallery, and a number of commodious pews. There are here also chapels for the Methodists, the Independents, and the Primitive Methodists. There is here a place called ARMS, and a tradition prevails, which is, however, supported by no authentic documents, that a great battle was fought on this spot, with bows and arrows, from which it is supposed to derive its name, and a considerable number of instruments of war have, unquestionably, been dug up out of the earth here. There is in Market-Weighton a free grammar school, of which the Rev. T. Mitchell is the master, William Bradley, the Yorkshire giant, was born here, whose height was seven feet eight inches; he died in 1820. Pop. 1724.

MARTON, in the parish of Billington, and wap. of Dickering; 2 miles NE. of Bridlington. One of the most remarkable remains of former ages that is to be seen in this neighbourhood is a ditch, or rivis, of immense width and depth, nearly at the base of the triangle which forms the promontory of Flamborough Head. This ditch, which is called "Danes Dike," is apparently the effect of art, and contains two lines of defence, one above the other, with breastworks. It extends above a mile and a quarter from the South shore, where its bottom is on a level with the beach, and becomes gradually shallower, till it entirely disappears. History affords no account of this stupendous work; but tradition ascribes it with great probability to the Danes. Pop. 317.

MEAUX, in the parish of Wap. or Wawn, wap. and liberty of Holderness, 2 miles N. of Hull. This lordship was given by William the Conqueror, to one of his officers named Gamel, born at Meaux, in Normandy, who made it his seat, and peopled it with his townsmen, from whom it obtained the name of Meaux. A monastery of the Cistercian order was founded here in the year 1136, by William le Gros, Earl of Albemarle. From the small remains of curious Mosaic pavement of brick, the foundations of buildings are yet to be traced, and the extensive moats, or ditches, by which it was surrounded, and which are yet discoverable, it is evident that this famous monastery once displayed considerable magnificence. Population, 74.

NEW PORT OR NEW VILLAGE, partly in the parish of Eastington, (& part extra-parochial) wap. and liberty of How-denshire, and wap. of Harthill; 5 miles

W. of South Cave. A pleasant thriving village situated on the high road from Howden to Hull, and on the Market-Weighton canal, celebrated for its manufacture of tiles, bricks, and coarse earthenware; the being 1,700,000 tiles and 2,000,000 of bricks made annually. This now considerable village was fifty years ago, a wild uncultivated morass, called "Walling Fen." There is here a bed of clay, superior to any in the country, which is got to the depth of three feet below the surface. This land which lately was a barren waste, is now sold for purposes of the above manufacture for 20s.

per acre. There is a neat brick chapel belonging to the Wesleyan Methodists, erected in 1814, and a Sunday school belonging to that society for the instruction of two hundred poor children of this and the neighbouring villages. Pop. 339.

 Buckrose;  $\frac{1}{2}$  mile SE. of Malton. The church is a perpetual curacy, in the patronage of Mr. Ewbank, of which the Rev. John Richardson is the incumbent. At the foot of the bridge, between this place and Malton, was, pretty early in the time of Henry II. a hospital, dedicated to St. Nicholas, founded by Roger de Flamvill, and placed under the government of the canons of Malton. Population, 1017.

NUNBURNHOLME, (P.) in the wap. of Harthill; 3½ miles ESE. of Pocklington. The church is dedicated to St. James, and the living is a rectory, in the patronage of the Archbishop of York.—There was formerly here a small Benedictine nunnery, founded by the ancestors of Roger de Morley. The villagers show a mound, a little above the village, at the bottom of a wood, in a most romantic situation, as the site on which the nunnery stood. Pop. 203.

 of the German Ocean, has suffered much from the encroachments of the sea, which are averaged at from 1 to 2½ yards annually along the coast. The church, dedicated to St. Peter, which was erected here by one of the benevolent Sisters, (so well known in the annals of history) on the night of February 16th, 1816, fell with a most tremendous crash into the bosom of the ocean. The living is a vicarage, of which the King is the patron,

in the wap. and liberty of Holderness; 10 miles from Hedon, 18 from Hull, 25 from Hornsea, 57 from York, and 188 from London. The church, which is a beautiful Gothic structure, in the form of a cross, is dedicated to St. Patrick, from which Saint the town is said to derive its name. The patronage of the living is in Clare Hall, Cambridge, and the Rev. John Mansfield is the rector. Here is a Methodist Meeting House, and an Independent chapel. The market is on Saturday. Several small vessels trade from hence to Hull and London with corn chiefly, and many vessels are employed in the lime and coal trade from the West Riding. A navigable creek of the Humber, called Patrington Haven, comes within about a mile of this place. Patrinton is supposed by Camden to have been the Prætorium of Ptolemy, and about sixty years ago a stone was dug up here, which has evidently formed part of a Roman altar.—
 Population, 1244.

 of Hedon, pleasantly situated on the East side of the Humber. This village, during the late war, was in great fame for its dockyard, where ships of the line of as high a rate as seventy-fours were built. The church, dedicated to St. Andrew and St.
 Mary, is a very ancient building, and is generally supposed to have been erected before the Conquest. The living is a vicarage, in the patronage of the Archbishop of York.

POCKLINGTON, (P.)

In the wap. of Harthill, and liberty of St. Peter's; 7 miles from Market-Weighton, 17 from Driffield, 17 from Malton, 13 from York, and 195 from London. The places of worship in Pocklington are the parish church, a very plain homely structure, dedicated to All-Saints, of which the Rev. Charles Wolf Eyre, B.D. is vicar, and the Dean of York, the patron. An Independent chapel, of which the Rev. Thomas Hutton is minister; a Methodist chapel, a small Roman Catholic chapel, and a chapel belonging to the Primitive Methodists. Here is a nobly endowed Free School, for teaching the dead languages to an unlimited number of scholars, belonging to the town and neighbourhood of Pocklington, with a revenue from lands of from twelve to fourteen hundred pounds per annum, Rev. Thos. Shield, B.D. master, Rev. Thomas Brown, sub-master, who is entitled to one-third of the profits, & Rev. David Jones, usher. There is also a National School, erected at the sole expense of Robert Dennison, Esq. of Killwick Percy, and very liberally supported by the gentry in the town. Average number of scholars, 75 boys and 60 girls. In 1814, an act of parliament was passed for making a navigable canal from East Cottingham to Street Bridge, (about a mile from Pocklington) which has been completed and considerable business is now carried on in bringing to the place coal, lime, manure, and merchandise, and taking away corn, flour, timber, and other articles. The market day is on Saturday, and the races on the second of May in every year. In a gravel pit in Barnsley field, near this town, were dug up in 1763, four human skeletons; three were without coffins, the fourth was enclosed in a coffin with an urn at the head, on the outside of which were engraved several ancient characters. Population, 1963.

The church is dedicated to St. Mary, and the living, which is a discharged vicarage, is in the gift of the prebendary of Riccall. There is at this place an endowed school, for teaching twelve poor children to read. The village of Riccall is situated near the river Ouse, and is memorable as the landing place of Harfager, king of Norway, in 1066.* Here are two manors in this parish, one of them belonging to the Prebendary, and the other to the Bishop of Durham. On the west of the village, and impending on the banks of the river are the magnificent remains of the episcopal manor-house of La. Wet. Hall; and the mansion is surrounded by three broad moats, the river being the western boundary. About fifty years ago, when the land in this village first came into cultivation, several entire skulls were dug up in good preservation, and a rough flag, four feet square, with a cross barbarously sculptured, was found here, and at present forms part of the pavement of the parish church. The population of this village now amounts to 599.

SCULCOATES, (P.) in the wap. of Harthill, an ancient village,  $1\frac{1}{2}$  mile W. of Hull, on the west bank of the river Hull; and contained, not a century ago, only 100 inhabitants, but at present contains 10,448. The southern part of the parish, adjoining the town of Hull, is now formed into extensive streets, since the formation of the dock in 1774, and cannot be distinguished by a stranger from the town of Hull, properly so called; it is, however, in the county of York, and the petty sessions are held in a hall erected a few years ago. Jonas Brown, Esq. is the only resident magistrate, but some of the East-Riding magistrates attend weekly. The church is in the old village, and was rebuilt in 1700; it is dedicated to St. Mary, the King is the patron, and the Rev. William Preston, vicar. Near the Sessions-hall, and in the populous part of the parish, has this year been erected a new church, called Christ church, for which an act of parliament was obtained in 1814, vesting the presentation in the then subscribers of £100, and their survivors, when reduced to eight in number, who, with the vicar of Sculcoates, are the patrons.—It is a very handsome structure, with a square tower of white brick and Roofs Abbey stone, in the pointed style of the time of Henry IV. circa 1400.—It will contain 1300 persons, 500 of whom are provided with free sittings. The whole cost was about £7000, part of which is not yet subscribed. The incumbent is the Rev. John King, M. A. who liberally advanced the sum necessary to complete the building, taking the chance of the sale of seats in return. On the 26th of September, 1822, this church received consecration from the Archbishop of York. Seuloates can boast of a higher antiquity than Hull, being mentioned in Domesday book as one of the lordships of Ralph de Mortimer, who was one of the fortunate adventurers that accompanied the Conqueror from Normandy, and was lord of several manors hereabouts.

poses, viz.—one half to be applied to the repairs of the church, &c. the other half to be applied to the education of ten poor children, and the overplus given to the poor on their marriage. According to the testator's will, the schoolmaster was to teach scholars on the work-days, and to preach on the Sundays; he was also to be an unmarried man,
"For I," says the testator, "hold it unnecessary for a man living in so barren a place as Skirlaugh is, to have the use of a woman."

SUNDERLANDWICK, in the parish of Hutton Cranswick, and wap. of Hartill; 2 miles SSW. of Driffield on the Beverly road. This was anciently a considerable village. It now contains only a few farmhouses. The township and manor are the property of Horner Reynard, Esq. Sunderlandwick lodge. Pop. 60.

SUNK ISLAND, (Extra-parochial) in the wap. and liberty of Holderness; 2 miles SE. of Hedon. This island was formerly a part of the river Humber, and about a century ago contained only about 800 acres of land, but from the perpetual warping of the tides since that period, it now contains about 5000 acres, in a state of high cultivation. There is also a fine tract of land at the end of the island, which has been washed since the last embankment in 1800, which is expected will be saved in a few years from the overflowing of the tides. The island is preserved from the encroachments of the Humber, by strong banks being raised around it, except on the north side, where it is separated from the main land by a dyke extending from Stone Creek to Winstanley Clough, at which two places the tides are confined by the junction banks from the main land to Sunk Island. This land beings to the crown. That part which was not embanked, was originally about two miles from the shore, and many persons are living, who recollect vessels passing between and the main land, to which it is now tied by a bridge across a narrow channel, which serves as a drain to the adjacent country. There is here a small chapel of the church of England, at present unconsecrated, under the patronage of the Archbishop of York. The Rev. Robert Metcalfe, curate. Population 218.

SUTTON, (P.) in the wap. and city of Holderness; 3 miles NNE. of Malton, is a very pleasant village, and one of the country retreats of the merchants and gentry of Hull. The church, dedicated to St. Andrew, is an ancient structure, of which Harthill, Esq. is the patron, and the Rev. G. Davies is the incumbent curate. At the centre of the village is an hospital founded in pursuance of the will of Mr. Richard Chamberlain, late of this place, for the comfort of eight poor widows, and two overseers, who have each the benefit of a house and garden, and 3s. per week; the hospital was re-built in 1800, by the trustees of the charity. Near to the above-mentioned alms-house, also stands another building chiefly of stone, for the reception of poor widows and daughters of deceased tradesmen, built in 1819, by the trustees of the Watson, late of this place. In the time of Edward I. a house of White Friars stood here. Pop. with Stone Ferry, 3658.

 miles W. of Hull. The landscapes seen from this village are greatly admired by strangers for their beauty, variety, and grandeur. An elevated spot near Swanland mill commands a view of the Trent and the country adjacent, the whole course of the Humber down to the Spurn Lights, the Lincolnshire and Yorkshire coasts of that river, and the low country of Holderness, as far as the eye can reach, where the distant prospect is bounded by the horizon. Pop. 418.

 A religious house consisting of a Prioress and fourteen or fifteen Nuns of the Cistercian order, was founded here by Robert de Verli, before the end of the reign of king Stephen,
 but there are now no remains of the building to be traced; a farm house stands on the site, near which, were lately dug up several silver and copper coins, amongst which was one of Constantius, with the head of Flavius.
 The church, which is a Gothic structure, dedicated to St. Mary, claims to be of the age of Prince Offa; the patron is Mrs. Bramley, and the Rev. Matthew Williamson is the vicar. Population 229.

WATTON, (P.) in the wap. of Harthill; 6 miles S. of Driffild, situated on the high road leading from that place to Beverley; it is called the ancient Watdun, a place which, at an early period, was consecrated to religion. It appears from Bede's Ecclesiastical History, that here was a nunnery, about A. D. 686, but by whom founded, or how demolished, does not appear. About the year 1150, Eustace Fitz John, founded here a priory of Gilbertine nuns, of the Order of Sempringham, and thirteen canons; the number of nuns was fifty-three. Like all other religious houses, this monastery has suffered great dilapidations; but the worthy family of the Bethel's have preserved what remains of the buildings, since it came into their possession; and the venerable relics of this ancient structure still merit the attention of the antiquary. The church here, like the ancient monastery, is dedicated to St. Mary; George Bethell, Esq. is the patron, and the Rev.

WELWICK, (P.) in the wap. and liberty of Holderness; 2 miles SE. of Patrington, is a small village, pleasantly situated on the high road from Patrington to Spurn Head. The church is a very ancient Gothic structure, dedicated to St. Mary, of which the King is the patron, and the Rev. C. C. Chambers the vicar. This church contains the ruins of an antique monument, supposed to have been removed from Burell Abbey, and though it is now in a state of dilapidation, it has a grand and imposing appearance to the searching eye of the antiquarian: it is supposed by some to have been erected in memory of John de Fortibus, by others, William le Gros, Earl of Albemarle; but time has obliterated any positive conclusion on this point. There is a small Friends' Meeting house, also a Methodist chapel. Pop. including Thorpe Plewland and Weeton, 416.

Hartill; 5 miles WNW. of Pocklington.

The parish church is dedicated to St. John the Baptist. The ancient and respectable family of Wilberforce, of which William Wilberforce, Esq. is a descendant, resided here from the conquest till the year 1710, when the family estates and the mansion were sold, but the patronage of the living is still in the Wilberforce family. Elias de Cotton founded a priory of Benedictine nuns here, in the reign of Henry II. which was valued at the suppression at 26*l.* 10*s.* 8*d.* per annum.—Population, 335.

WINESTEAD, (P.) in the wap. and liberty of Holderness; 1½ mile NW. of Patrington; a small pleasant village surrounded by a variety of beautiful picturesque scenery. There are two elegant halls, which may rank, for pleasantness and neatness of structure, with many of the noble villas in England. The church is a low Gothic structure, surrounded by lofty trees, that give it an air of deep solemnity; there is in the interior a stone monument, representing the late Sir Robert Hildyard, lying in armour; the monument stands in an unusual part of the church, being placed immediately before the pulpit. This edifice is dedicated to St. Germain; Thomas Thornton Hildyard, Esq. is the patron. The famous Andrew Marvel, M.P. for Hull, son of the rector of this place, was born here on the 31st of March, 1621, as appears from the parish registers. The manor of Winstead came into the possession of the Hildyard family about the reign of Richard II. Sir Robert D'Arey Hildyard, the last baronet, dying in Nov. 1814, without issue, bequeathed his estate to his niece, Anne Catharine Whyte, who married in 1815, Thomas Thornton of Flintham house, in the county of Nottingham, who, in compliance with Sir Robert's will, assumed the name and arms of Hildyard. WITHERNSEA, in the parish of Hollym, wap. and liberty of Holderness; 4 miles NE. of Patrington. A small village situated near the sea; the church has long been a ruin; formerly it was a magnificent building, and is supposed to have been suffered to decay, as the village from its decrease in wealth and population, was unable to support so large and costly a structure. This is one of the sister churches, and is dedicated to St. Nicholas. In the records of the reign of king John, it is mentioned that there was a priory here subordinate to the abbey of Albemarle, in France. Pop. 106.

Wold Cottage, in the parish of Thwing, and wap. of Dickering; 8 mls. W NW. of Bridlington. A very extraordinary phenomenon was observed here on the 13th of December, 1796; in order to commemorate which, Mr. Topham has erected an obelisk, with this inscription:—"Here on this spot, December 13th, 1796, fell from the atmosphere AN EXTRAORDINARY STONE, in breadth 28 inches, in length 36 inches, and whose weight was 56 pounds: this column, in memory of it, was erected by Edward Topham, 1799." The stone, while it resembles in composition those which have fallen in various parts of the world, has no counterpart or resemblance in the natural stones of the country. In its fall, which was witnessed by two persons, it excavated a place to the depth of 19 inches in the earth, and 7 inches into the chalk rock, making in all a depth of 18 inches from the surface. This stone was subsequently deposited in the museum of Mr. Sowerby.

WRASSSELL, (P.) in the wap. of Harthill; 4 miles NW. of Howden. The church, dedicated to St. John, of Beverley, is a very ancient building, in the patronage of the Earl of Egremont. Wressell castle was founded by Thomas Percy, Earl of Worcester, who was taken prisoner at the battle of Shrewsbury, and beheaded there in the year 1403. This castle became afterwards a seat of the Northumberland family, continuing in its splendour till the civil wars in the reign of Charles I. when it shared the fate of many other castles, being dismantled by an order of parliament. Little more than the shell of this once princely mansion now remains. The inhabitants of Wressell have a current tradition, that all the men capable of bearing arms in that parish were with the Earl of Northumberland at the battle of Chevy Chase, where most of them were slain; Dr. Percy says that the first Earl of Northumberland fought the battle of Chevy Chase; but the well known song of that name has been embellished with several circumstances relating to the battle of Otterburn. ARKENGARThDALE, (P.) in the wap. of Gilling West, and liberty of Richmondshire. The Dale is about 7 or 8 miles in length, commencing at Dale Head, running in a S.E. direction, and terminating in the town of Reeth. There is a small but neat stone church, (lately erected, the old one being in ruins) situated near the most populous part of the Dale, consecrated in 1830, and dedicated to St. Mary. The living is a perpetual curacy, in the patronage of Lord Viscount Lowther; there is likewise a Methodist chapel built by subscription, and a free school built and endowed by the late George Brown, Esq. of Stockton, lord of the manor; the school and books are free for all children residing in the Dale; the endowment is 60*l.* per annum, paid out of the rents of the manor; the master has also a house and a piece of land. The inhabitants of Arkengarthdale are principally miners, and Arkengarthdale possesses one of the most productive fields of lead ore worked at the present day, and a smelting mill the most complete and extensive in the country. Pop. 1812. The Dale of Arkengarth contains the following villages and hamlets:—

ASKRIGG,

In the parish of Aygarth, wap. of Hang West, and liberty of Richmondshire; 5 mls. ENE. of Hawes. Askrigg is a place of great antiquity, and is situated in the centre of Wensley Dale, near the northern bank of the Ure, in a district abounding with romantic and beautiful scenery. The church, which is dedicated to St. Oswald, is a very ancient structure; there is an ash tree growing out of the roof of the vestry. The living is a curacy in the patronage of the vicar of Aygarth. There are in the township six alms-houses for the comfort of six poor widows, with an allowance of 4*s.* per week to each. These houses are situated about one mile from Askrigg, and were erected in pursuance of the will of Christopher Alderson, late of Homerton, in Middlesex. The market day is on Thursday. About half a mile from Askrigg is a water-fall, called Milgill Force, which makes one grand vertical fall of about twenty or thirty yards, and then rushes down the rocky bed of the ravine. One mile further is Whitfield's Force, a spectacle highly gratifying to the lover of picturesque scenery; and about five miles up the Dale from the town is Hardow Force, a cascade where the water falls in one vast sheet, from a ledge of rocks 99 feet in perpendicular height.—The ravine or chasm which extends below the fall is bounded on each side by huge maces of rock, and is about three hundred yards in length. Behind the fall is a deep recess, whence a good view of it may be obtained with safety. During the hard frost, in the year 1748-41, a prodigious icicle is reported to have been formed here, of the whole height of the fall, and nearly equal in circumference. Population, 765.

AYSGARTH, (P.) in the wap. of Hang West, and liberty of Richmondshire 4 miles ESE. of Askrigg. This parish is very extensive, and contains three market-towns, viz. Hawes, Askrigg, and Burton in Bishop's Dale, and is famous for its romantic situation on the banks of the river Ure. The church, dedicated to St. Andrew, is a handsome edifice, and the living, which is a discharged vicarage, in the patronage of Trinity College, Cambridge, is enjoyed by the Rev. John Brasse; the Rev. John Winn is the curate. There is here a curious bridge, called Yose, which rises thirty-two feet, and spans seventy-one; the concave of which is embellished with pendent petrifications, and its airy battlements beautifully festooned with spreading ivy. The cataracts near this place also claim the attention of every traveller; so much so, that the learned Dr. Pocock, whose search after the sublime and marvellous brought him to Aysgarth, is said to have owned, with exultation, that these cataracts exceeded those so celebrated on the Nile. In addition to the parish church there are two meeting-houses, one for the Society of Friends, and another for the Methodists. Population, 293.

 and liberty of Langbargh; 3 miles NE. of Stokesley, at the foot of Roseberry Topping.
 In the centre of Great Ayton stands a small school house, in which humble seminary the immortal Captain Cook received his school education, at the expense of Thomas Scottowe, Esq. under whom his father acted as hind, at his farm at Airy-holme, in this parish. In the church is a monument of elegant workmanship, to the memory of William Wilson, Esq. formerly commodore and commander-in-chief of the marine force of the English East India Company, in which situation "he displayed one continued series of acts of disinterested patriotism and distinguished services." The church, dedicated to All Saints, is a neat plain ancient edifice, and the living is a perpetual curacy, in the patronage of the Rev. G. Marwood. Here are also chapels for the Society of Friends, Independents, Methodists, and Primitive Methodists.—
 The river Leven may be said to take its rise from Ayton beek, a small rivulet which runs through this village.—Popu-

AYTON, (East and West), in the parishes of Seamer and Hutton Bushel, wap. and liberty of Pickering Lythe; 5 miles SW. of Scarborough, each pleasantly situated on the opposite banks of the river Derwent, over which is a bridge of four arches, which, after winding in a confined current through the valley of Hackness, here displays a broader stream. In West Ayton stand the ruins of an ancient building, once the fortified residence of the family of the Evers, or Evers, who possessed large demesnes in this place. The village of East Ayton is celebrated for its charming valley. The lofty hills which embosom this valley rise almost perpendicular, clothed with pendent woods, under which the river Derwent meanders through the vale. These villages comprise the lordship of Gilbert, who from them assumed the name of Ayton, in the reign of Henry I. The heir of this family, in the reign of Edward II. inherited, in right of his mother, the estates of William Lord Vesel, who died without issue. From this family, it came by marriage with the heiress into the possession of Henry de Bromfete; and, by the same mode of inheritance, it became the property of the martial family of the Cliffords, of Skip-ton castle. Pop. 862.

BAINBRIDGE, in the parish of Aysgarth, wap. of Hang West, and liberty of Richmondshire; 1 mile SW. of Asprigg; situated upon the river Ure, over which is a good stone bridge of three arches. It was anciently a Roman castrum, of which some remains are still visible: several more ments of Roman antiquity have been found amongst these ruins, and a statue of Aurelius Commodus, with an inscription, was also found here, which was preserved by Mr. Metcalf, of Nappa. By the antique corn mill at Cappagh, near Bainbridge, a pair of ancient mill stones were discovered in 1817; they were covered with the remains of a strong leather hide, and measured in circumference nine feet six inches, and twenty-four inches in depth; being put in motion by Mr. Wm. Paxton, they ran in the form of a dish, one within the other, and worked in a very superior manner. Here are a Methodist chapel and a Friends' Meeting House. Bainbridge has a Free Grammar school, erected and endowed in the 43d year of Queen Elizabeth, by Anthony Besson, Esq. a native of Askrigg, and the Rev. Anthony Wharton is the present master.—An ancient custom prevails here of blowing a horn in winter, as a guide to travellers, said to have originated when the country was an open forest. Pop. 872.

There are in this township two churches, one of them dedicated to St. Mary, and the other to St. Cuthbert. The living of St. Mary is a perpetual curacy, in the patronage of the vicar of Gilling; incumbent, the Rev. John Atkinson. Here is also a Free School, with an endowment of 8*l.* per annum; and an excellent lime stone quarry, for the purposes of agriculture, containing, by a late analysis, a greater proportion of pure lime than any other stone in the neighbourhood. A water fall bridge was erected here in 1821. Population, 436.

BEDALE, (P.)

In the wap. of Hang East, and liberty of Richmondshire; 6 miles from Masham, 8 from Northallerton, 9 from Middleham, 14 from Ripon, and 224 from London. The town is tolerably well built, and contains, according to the census taken in 1821, a population of 1137. The church, dedicated to St. Gregory, is a spacious structure; in the Gothic style of architecture, and has a good tower or steeple. The Market is on Tuesday, and is well supplied with all kinds of butcher's meat, poultry, butter, and vegetables. Bedale is situated in a rich valley, about two miles to the west of Leeming-lane; the surrounding country is extremely fertile, and the crops, both of corn and grass, are abundant. From a monument in the church it appears there was a castle here, built by Brian Fitz Allen, Earl of Arundel, in the reign of Edward I. but not any remains of it are now to be seen. The church living is a rectory, in the gift of Henry Pierce, Esq. M.P. and of Miles Stapleton, alternately. Here is also a Methodist chapel, built A. D. 1821. The poor of Bedale enjoy the benefit of many munificent charitable bequests, and here is a hospital for six poor men of the parish, founded and endowed by Peter Samwals, D. D. and rector, A. D. 1698. Also, a hospital for three poor widows, founded by Richard and Thomas Young. There is also a free grammar school, endowed with the annual sum of 72 li. 4s. by the Crown, and 13s. 6s. 8d. by a Countess Dowager of Warwick, which is now converted into a National School.

BOLTON CASTLE, in the parish of Wensley, wap. of Hang West, and liberty of Richmondshire; 5 miles WNW. of Leyburn. The church here is a Chapel of Ease to the parish church, of which the Rev. Jacob Coctoadie, rector of Wensley, is incumbent, and was built by Richard Lord Scroope, chancellor of England in the reign of Richard II. The tower, on the south-west angle, where the unfortunate Mary, Queen of Scots, was confined, in the year 1568, is now occupied by a farmer. During the civil wars, this castle was for a long time gallantly defended for the king, by Colonel Scroope and a party of the Richmondshire militia, against the parliamentary forces; but at length, Nov. 5, 1645, surrendered on honourable conditions. Emanuel Lord Scroope, Earl of Sunderland, who died without male issue, in the reign of Charles I. was the last of that ancient family that inhabited this castle. From neglect, and the damage it received during the siege, the tower on the north-east angle became so much injured, that on the 19th of November, 1761, it fell to the ground. But though the east and north sides are mostly in ruins, the west front is in good repair. Pop. 278.

Here is a very handsome church dedicated to St. Botolph, and built in the form of a cross; the living is a vicarage, in the patronage of the Dean and Chapter of Durham, of which the Rev. James Britton, D. D. is the incumbent. This place, which now consists of three houses, was once a considerable village. Foundations of many houses have from time to time been discovered in an adjoining field which on that account is called, "Old Bossall." Robert Beit, Esq. resides at the mill. Population, 31.

BOULBY, in the parish of Eastallerton, wap. and liberty of Langbargh; 11½ miles NW. of Whitby. Noted for its alum, situated on the verge of a stupendous rock, where, on entering the vast cavern formed by human labour in the centre of the rock, the spectator is astonished to see the different strata arranged with symmetry and exactness, as declare the workmanship of the Omnipotent. Alum works here were established about the year 1615; they extend eastward and westward from Whitby, and this is the largest part of England where that commodity is produced. In Catholic times the production of alum was a manufacture of the Popes, and any infringement of that monopoly subjected the offender to excommunication: The present state of the manufacture at its principal seats will be seen in the following table, exhibiting the produce on an average of 12 years.

BOWES, (P.) in the wap. of Gilling West, and liberty of Richmondshire; 4 miles SW. of Barnard Castle. Here was a castle said to have been built by Alan, Earl of Richmond, soon after the conquest. The situation is near the Roman road, which led to Eboracasterium: and which Camden supposes to be the ancient Lavatra. The present mine are fifty-three feet in height, forming a game of equal sides of fifty-three feet each. Bowes is situated on the edge of Stanemore, near the north point of the county, on the banks of the river Greta, and consists principally of one street, nearly three quarters of a mile long from east to west. Though now an inconsiderable place this was anciently a Roman station. About two miles from Bowes is a singular curiosity, called Goddage, being a natural bridge of limestone rock, where, through a rude arch, sixteen feet in the span, the river Greta precipitates its waters; the way formed on the crown of the rock is about twenty feet wide, and is occasionally the carriage road over the river. Near the Greta has passed this bridge, at a distance it gains a subterraneous passage near half a mile; and in a lineal direction, breaks out again through the cavities of the rock. The church is dedicated to St. Andrew; the living is a perpetual curacy, in the patronage of C. Harrison, Esq. and the Rev. Richard Wilson, is the incumbent. There is here a Methodist chapel, also a Free School, endowed by William Hutchinson, of Clement's Inn, London, with 90*l.* annuum, out of which the master is to have 70*l.* and the mistress 20*l.* in addition to above endowment, the Rev. Charles Wilson, left a scholarship at Cambridge for the benefit. Pop. 1,085.

 liberty of Pickering Lythe; 8 miles SW. of Scarborough. Is said to have once been a residence of the Northumbrian Kings. The foundations of an ancient building are still visible on an eminence, called Castle Hill, now surrounded by venerable pines, planted by the late Sir George Cayley, Bart. The estate has been in the ancient and honourable family of Caley for upwards of two centuries.
 Brompton is usually considered as the birthplace of John de Brompton, the English historian, whose chronicle commencing with the arrival of Austin in 558, and ending with the death of Richard I. is published among the X Scriptorum. Brompton has one of the most beautiful, elegant, and capacious village churches in Yorkshire; it is dedicated to All Saints; the living is a vicarage, and the patron Sir G. Caley, Bart. Pop. 516.

 in the parish of Kirkby, wap. and liberty of Langbargh; 2 miles SE. of Stokesley. On the summit of a mountain that overlooks this village and Kirkby, there is a singular monument, called by the neighbouring people the wain stones, which, according to the most probable etymology of the word, may denote the stones of lamentation, and are probably Danish, erected in memory of some Danish chieftain slain here. It consists of a rude collection of stones, some of them of an immense size, and all of them apparently in their natural position, except one, which stands erect, and appears to have formed a part of some ancient Cromlech.—

BURTON - cum - WALDEN, (in Bishoptdale,) in the parish of Aysgarth, wap. of Hang West, and liberty of Richmondshire; 6 miles ESE. of Askrigg. The town consists chiefly of one open street of irregular buildings. At the northern extremity stands a good stone building, erected in the year 1748, for a free school, by John Saddler, late of this place, who endowed it with the annual sum of 60*l.* to be paid out of a certain estate, but, unfortunately, the charitable intention of that benevolent gentleman is now frustrated, the tenant of the estate having refused to pay the rent, on some legal quibble, and the school house having been appropriated by an inhabitant to his own use, and now claimed as his property. The only manufactory here is the combing of wool, and the only place of worship is a Methodist chapel, built about ten years ago. The town is surrounded by picturesque scenery, and the river abounds with Salmon and other fish. Population, 478.

river Derwent, over which it has a good stone bridge. On an eminence, close to the village, stands the noble mansion of Henry Derley, Esq. Here is a Chapel of Ease under Bessall; the Rev. James Britton, D.D. vicar, officiates at both places. Population, 235.

Butterwick, in the parish of Barton-in-the-Street, wap. of Rydale; 1 mile NW. of Malton. Pop. 50.

Byland and Byland Abbey, in the parish of Coxwold, and wap. of Birdforth; 5 miles SW. of Helmsley. Gerald, the Abbot, with twelve Monks from Furness, in Lancashire, having been disturbed by the incursions of the Scots, fled to York, and afterwards was entertained some time at the castle of Thirsk, by Roger de Mowbray, who gave him the church and town of Byland, near which the Abbot and the Monks founded a monastery, and a noble cathedral, about the year 1177, which flourished till the general dissolution. It was surrendered in the year 1540, by the last Abbot and twenty-four monks, when its yearly revenues amounted to 238*l.* 9*s.* 4*d.* This Abbey was situated near the foot of Cosbe Hill, in a place well suited to devotional retirement, and was a large and magnificent structure; the site is in the possession of the Stapleton family. In the summer of 1818, Martin Stapleton, Esq. of Myton Hall, by whose family the property is now possessed, caused a quantity of rubbish to be removed from the South side of the ruin, when a stone coffin, with the bones entire was discovered here, and conveyed to Myton; and tradition says they are the remains of Roger de Mowbray; there also was discovered some beautiful Roman pavement, in high preservation. Population, 372.

BYLAND OLD, (P.) in the wap. of Birdforth; 4½ mls. WNW. of Helmsley. The church is an ancient dilapidated structure; the living is donative, in the patronage of the Earl of Falconberg; incumbent, the Rev. Michael Mackereth; the Rev. William Dowker curate. Pop. 133.

CATTERICK, (P.) in the wap. of

Hang East, and liberty of Richmondshire;

5 miles ESE. of Richmond, and about one mile from the Southern banks of the Swale.

Here was the Cataractonium of the Romans, once a great city, but finally destroyed by the Danes, about the year 766. Here is a large and ancient parish church, dedicated to St. Ann; the living is a vicarage in he gift of the Crown, and the Rev. Alexander John Scott, D. D. chaplain to His Majesty, is the incumbent. This Rev. gentleman was chaplain to the lamented Hero of Trafalgar, who expired in his arms. In Catterick is a free grammar school, founded by the Rev. Michael Siddall, vicar of this parish, in 1645, and very liberally endowed. Here is also a hospital for six poor widows belonging to the parish. The modern Catterick is only a village, containing 561 inhabitants.

COVERHAM, (P.) in the wap. of Hang West, and liberty of Richmondshire; 1½ mile SW. of Middleham. Here was a priory, of the order of the Præmonstratenses, founded by Ralph, son of Robert Lord of Middleham, about the 14th year of King John. The ruins of the Abbey are scattered about in Coverdale, so called from the river which runs through it. The Church, dedicated to the Holy Trinity, is a neat structure, the living a curacy; patron, the Rev. S. Harcastle; incumbent, the Rev. Wm. Otter; officiating curate, the Rev. James Law. It is worthy of remark, that, though the church yard contains little more than an acre of ground, yet, from a sudden descent along the SE. side of it, a person stationed in this part of the burial ground can neither see the church nor hear the bells; the sudden rise of the church-yard entirely obstructing the view of the church, and the noise of a waterfall drowning the sound of the bells. Here is a Chapel of Ease under Gilling; the living is a perpetual curacy, in the patronage of the Dean and Chapter of Ripon; incumbent, Rev. William Darley Waddilove; curate, the Rev. John Atkinson. Population, 148.

Arden John, Esq. Pepper hall

COWOLD, (P.) in the wap. of Birsthorpe; 9 miles SE. of Thirsk. A pleasant village situated on an eminence; at the entrance into the town from the West stands Shandy Hall, where Sterne resided seven years, and in which he wrote Tristram Shandy and other works. The church is an elegant structure, dedicated to St. Michael and of a very ancient date, supposed to have been built about the year 700. The tower is octagonal, and the chancel was rebuilt in the year 1777, by Henry Earl of Fauconberg. The living is a perpetual curacy, in the patronage of the Earl of Fauconberg. Here is a Free School, which was endowed by Sir John Hart, Knight, alderman, citizen, and grocer, of the city of London, wherein he provided competent maintenance and a stipend for one school-master and one usher, dated 1600, salary 32*l.* Here is an hospital for ten poor men. In the church are several monuments for the noble family of Belayse, the most elegant of which is that for the Right Honourable Thomas Belayse, Earl of Fauconberg, (in beautiful statuary) who died the 31st of December, 1716, aged 72; the most ancient, is one for Sir William Belayse, dated 14th of April, 1603, and at the bottom is written

" Thomas Browne did carve this tomb Himself alone of Hasselwood stone."

Crackpot, in the parish of Grinton, wap. of Gilling West, and liberty of Richmondshire; 5 miles WSW. of Reeth. Situated on the south side of the river Swale in Swaledale. At the source of a brook that runs past it in its road to the river, is a curious cavern, the entrance of which is extremely narrow. A few yards from the entrance is a spacious cavern; proceeding a few paces further, it descends rather abruptly; at the bottom cavern is a deep water issuing out of the rock below, near which there is a curious pillar of solid stone. The narrow passages beyond it is not safe to traverse.

CRAIKE & CRAIKE CASTLE, (P.) in the Bishopric of Durham, though locally situated in the wap. of Bulmer; 2 miles E. of Easingwold. Craike, with the land three miles round it, was given by Egfrid, King of Northumberland, to St. Cuthbert, in the year 685, by whom it came to the church of Durham; about which time the said St. Cuthbert founded a monastery here. This village is delightfully situated on the south.

ern declivity of a lofty detached hill or mound, on the summit of which stands the ruins of Craike Castle, which is supposed to have been a Roman fortress, and which, in the time of the Saxons, was a royal palace. From hence is a most extensive and delightful prospect of the forest of Galtres, and the beautiful and picturesque vale of Mowbray; so called from its ancient owner, Roger de Mowbray, who was bowman to William Rufus, and possessed one hundred and forty manors in England, and twenty in Normandy. He was founder of the monasteries of Newborough and Byland. Near the ruins of the castle (which is now occupied as a farmhouse) stands the church, a handsome antique edifice, inclosed within lofty trees, and which is dedicated to St. Cuthbert. The living is a rectory, in the patronage of the Bishop of Durham. In addition to the parish church, here is a Catholic chapel, of which the Rev. Thos. Coupe is minister; likewise a Methodist chapel. The freeholders in this place vote for knights for the county of Durham; pleas of land are held in the county of Durham, and the jurisdiction of the palatine extends thereto; but in the militia service the legislature thought it expedient to embody the inhabitants with the men of Yorkshire. Dales Rev. George, curate

CRATHORNE, (P.) in the wap. and liberty of Langbargh; 4 miles SSE. of Yarm. The church, which is dedicated to All Saints, is an ancient plain structure; in the chancel is an effigy of a knight cumbent in armour cross-legged, with the arms of Crathorne on his shield. This, it is conjectured, is the monument of Sir William Crathorne, Knight, who lived A.D. 1322, near which is a mural monument, to the memory of Ralph Crathorne, Lord of Crathorne. The living is a rectory, in the patronage of Lord Viscount Cullen. Here is likewise a Catholic chapel, and a place of worship for the Primitive Methodists. A mineral spring has been discovered about half a mile from this place. The village consists of about sixty-six houses, pleasantly situated on the banks of the river Leven. Pop. 330.

CROFT, (P.) in the wap. of Gilling East, and liberty of Richmondshire; 4 miles S. of Darlington. The church, which is dedicated to St. Peter, is a very ancient structure, and the living is a rectory, in the patronage of the king, of which the Rev. James Dalton is the incumbent. Here is also a school, supported by voluntary contributions. A remarkable ceremony is performed on the bridge, at the coming of every new Bishop of Durham, by which a certain family hold their lands. The chief of that family presents an old sword to the prelate, pronouncing the following words:—"My lord, this is the falchion that slew the Worm Dragon, which spared neither man, woman, nor child." The bishop takes the sword and returns it immediately. This is one of those singular tenures, the origin of which cannot now be accounted for. Here is a very ancient mill, which was granted to one of the Clavaux family of that place, by Allan Earl of Richmond, in the time of William the Conqueror. This place is much noted for its sulphureous spa waters, which resemble both in smell and medicinal properties the Harrogate sulphur spa. It is used both for drinking and bathing. About seven years ago a suite of baths with dressing rooms and a bath keeper's house were erected here, and fitted up in a commodious and complete manner, by Wm. Chayter, Esq. Pop. 368.

CROPTON, in the parish of Middleton, wap. and liberty of Pickering Lythe; 4 miles NW. of Pickering. At this village is a large circular mount, called Cropton Castle, near which are the remains of a Roman camp, with a number of tumuli, of several sizes, in its vicinity. The situation is on an eminence, at the foot of which are the remains of a Roman road, twelve feet broad, paved with flint pebbles, in great perfection, which may be traced from thence, over the moors, near 16 miles, to Dunsley. Population, 321.

Dunsley, in the parish of Whitby, wap. and liberty of Whitby Strand;  $\frac{3}{4}$  miles WNW. of Whitby. A small village, situate upon the bay, called by Ptolomy, Dunus Sinus. That this was a landing place used by the Romans, is evident from an inscription on a stone, dug up here in the year 1774; by which it appears, that the Emperor Justinian built a maritime fort, or castle here, from which is a Roman road extending for many miles over the moors to York, called Wade's Causeway. The Danes, in the year 867, landed at this place with a numerous army, and spread desolation and misery over all the country. Population with Newholme, 259.

Earswick, in the parishes of Huntington and Strensall, wap. of Balmer, a part in the liberty of St. Peter;  $\frac{3}{4}$  miles NNE. of York. Pop. 116.

Easby, (P.) in the wap. of Gilling West, and liberty of Richmondshire; 1 mile E. of Richmond, pleasantly situated on the banks of the Swale. The parish church here is dedicated to St. Agatha. The living is a vicarage, in the patronage of the King, of which the Rev. Caleb Readshaw, M.A. is incumbent. Here are the remains of an abbey of Premonstratentian Canons, dedicated to St. Agatha, founded by Romildus, constable of Richmond, about the year 1151. There is here likewise a hospital for four poor parsons. The principal inhabitants of the village are Robert Jacques, Esq. Abbey house, and Capt. James Jackson. Pop. 106.

EASBY, is the parish of Stokesley, wap. and liberty of Langbargh; 3½ miles E. of Stokesley. The village, which consists chiefly of a few farm houses, stands in a pleasing wooded vale, watered by a branch of the Leven; on the eastern bank of which stands Easby Hall, formerly a seat of the Lords Eures, but now used as a farm house, and falling into decay. The principal inhabitant in this village is Mrs. Elin. Adamson. Population, 124.

EASINGTON, (P.) in the wap. and liberty of Langbargh; 10 miles ENE. of Guisborough, gives name to a parish of considerable extent, stretching from North to South upwards of six miles, and about two miles broad, it comprehends the several manors of Easington, Boulby, and Liverton, all of which, according to Domesday survey, were anciently within the soken of the manor of Lofthouse, held in the Conqueror's time by Hugh, Earl of Chester, and was then uncultivated, except Easington, in which there was one villain, with one plough, a church without a minister, and a wood, with a pasturage for cattle one mile long and half a mile broad. The church is dedicated to All Saints, the living a rectory, in the gift of the King, incumbent the Rev. Matthew Mappletost, D. D. the Rev. James Metcalf, curate. Pop. 507.

BASINGWOLD, (P.)

In the wap. of Bulmer, and liberty of Pickering Lythe; 10 miles from Thirsk, 10 from Boroughbridge, and 13 from York, is a small market town, and, from its inland situation, without any navigable communication, has no great trade, except in bacon, and butter, of which considerable quantities are sent to York, and forwarded by water to London. The weekly market is on Friday. The church, which is dedicated to St. John, is pleasantly situated on an eminence above the town, commands a most extensive and delightful prospect over the ancient forest of Galtres, and the vale of Howbray, with the venerable and stately cathedral of York in full view. The living is a vicarage, in the patronage of the Archbishop of York, (in this turn.) In the church is deposited a large coffin, made of oak, and secured at the joints with plates of iron, which, (it is said) was used by the inhabitants in carrying dead bodies to the grave, previous to the introduction of coffins for interment, and on their arrival at the place of burial, the corpse was carefully taken out of this common coffin, and laid in the grave, with no other covering than the shroud. Here is likewise a chapel for the Methodists, another for the Calvinists, and one for the Primitive Methodists. The poor of this town enjoy the benefit of several excellent charities, the principal of which is a free school, endowed by Mrs. Westman, a native of Easingwold, who, by her will, bearing date 1781, bequeathed the sum of 2500*l.* 4 per cent. bank annuities, for establishing a charity school in Easingwold. In which school are to be taught to thirty boys Latin, the English grammar, reading, writing, arithmetic, and book-keeping; and thirty girls reading, writing, and arithmetic; also another school, with a small endowment, free for ten boys of the township, and two Sunday schools, belonging to the Methodists. Here are several chalybeate springs, the principal of which supplies the reservoir of a most little bathing house. Pop. 1912.

POST-MASTER—LEONARD SMITH,

Letters are received from York, Thirsk, Northallerton and Darlington every evening at 10 o'clock, and are also dispatched at the same time.

EBBERSTON, (P.) in the wap.
 and liberty of Pickering Lythe; 6 $\frac{1}{2}$  miles E. of Pickering, is adorned with a small but elegant country seat, constructed on the plan of a Roman villa, by one of the Hotham family, but now occupied by George Osbal-deston, Esq. It is situated about a mile to the North of the York road, at the foot of a fine eminence, decorated with an amphitheatre of plantations, and a small sheet of water rushing down the declivity and falling in cascades behind the house, round which it is conveyed by an aqueduct. On the hill, above the house, is a small cave in a rock, called by the country people, "Ilfrats hole," a corrupt name for Alfred's Cave.—
 The church is dedicated to St. Mary. The living is a vicarage, in the patronage of the Dean of York. Incumbent, the Rev. Thos.
 Simpson. Here is a very neat Methodist chapel. Pop. 505.

EGTON, (P.) in the wap. and liberty of Langbargh; 7 miles SW. of Whitby, pleasantly situated on the edge of the moors bearing that name. It has a charter for a market and four annual fairs, granted by William the Third to Henry Viscount Longvilliers, in the 12th year of his reign. The markets were formerly considerable for corn and cattle, but now only held from the Tuesday before Palm Sunday to Midsummer, weekly, and on the Tuesday before Old Michaelmas for cattle. The places of public worship are, the church, an ancient Gothic structure, dedicated to St. Hilda, and consecrated by the Bishop of Damascus, June 18th, 1349, situated about half a mile from the town; the living is a perpetual curacy, in the patronage of the Archbishop of York, of which the Rev. Benjamin Richardson is incumbent.—Here is also a Catholic chapel, the Rev. John Woodcock minister; also a Sunday school, supported by voluntary subscription. There is here a fine spring of water, called Cold Keld Well, much resorted to for strengthening weakly children. Egton parish consists of the following hamlets:—Egton Banks, Newbegin, Egton Grange, Delves, Hazlehead, Dawson Garth, Lace Rigg, Hollins, Limber hills, and Shorppit. Pop. 1037.

ELLERTON-UPON-SWALE, in the parish of Catterick, wap. of Gilling East, and liberty of Richmondshire; 5 miles ESE. of Richmond. This place is remarkable for having been the birth-place of Henry Jenkins, who lived to the amazing age of 169 years, being sixteen years older than the famous old Parr; he died December 9th, 1670, at this place.* A monument was erected to his memory in the church of Bolton-upon-Swale, in 1743, and the following epitaph, composed by Dr. Thomas Chapman, placed upon the Tablet:—

“Blush not marble
To rescue from oblivion the memory of HENRY JENKINS,
A person obscure in birth,
But of a life truly memorable;
For he was enriched with the goods of nature
If not of fortune;
And happy in the duration, if not the variety of his enjoyments;
And though the partial world despised and disregarded
His low and humble state,
The equal eye of providence beheld and blessed it
With a patriarch's health and length of days;
To teach mistaken man
These blessings are entailed on temperance,
A life of labour, and a mind at ease.”

of Gilling, of which the Rev. Caleb Redshaw is incumbent, and the Rev. J. Jackson, curate. Pop. 177.

Eskdaleside, in the parish of Whisby, wap. & liberty of Whisby Strand; 5 miles WSW. of Whisby. Here was a small priory, founded in the reign of king John, which continued until the general dissolution. There are also the remains of a Chapel, which formerly belonged to Whisby Abbey, where an hermit was slain by some hunters, whilst chasing a wild boar, for which offence a penance of cutting down a quantity of stakes with a penny knife, and carrying them to Whisby, once in the year on ascension day, was enjoined upon them, and made the tenure by which they and their descendants should hold their lands. Pop. 305.

Esklith, see Arkengarthdale.

ESTON, in the parish of Ormesby, wap. and liberty of Langbargh; 6 miles NW. of Guisbro'. There is here a very ancient chapel, subject to the parish church. The village of Eston is small, and irregularly built, and stands on the skirts of a detached hill of considerable elevation, called Baruaby, or Eston Moor; the summit of which runs out into a bold point or promontory, called Easton Nab, where a telegraphic beacon, or watch house, has been lately erected, commanding a rich and varied prospect of vast extent. On the summit of this promontory, which spreads out to the southward into an extensive plain; there is an ancient encampment, conjectured to be of Saxon origin, also of the date of 429, and coeval with the battle of Badon hill, fought in this neighbourhood. Pop. 272.

GILLING, (P.) in the wap. of Gilling West, and liberty of Richmondshire; 3 miles N. of Richmond. Is a place of great antiquity, and once of sufficient consequence to give name to two wapentakes, Gilling East and Gilling West. The castle was built by Alan, Earl of Richmond, soon after the conquest, Richmond being then only a fort in subordination to it, and built afterwards to defend the lord and his tenants against the attempts of the Saxons and Danes, who, being deprived of their estates, made frequent attacks upon their invaders, to recover their rights. About half a mile from Gilling is Gilling Wood hall, now a farmhouse, but formerly the residence of a branch of the Duke of Wharton's family, it was burnt down about eighty years ago, and is now the property of John Wharton, Esq. of Skelton Castle, in Cleveland, M. P. for Beverley, who is lord of the manor, and has a large estate here, with the patronage of the living. The present vicar, his brother, has lately erected a noble vicarage, and improved the village very considerably. In addition to the parish church, which is dedicated to St. Agatha, there are here a Methodist chapel and a National school, the latter of which affords instruction to 75 poor children. The free stone quarry of this place is of the finest quality, said to be one of the best in Yorkshire, and of which nearly all the bridges in the North Riding are built. Pop. including Hartforth and Stedbury. 921.

GILLING, (P.) in the wap. of Rydale; 5 miles S. of Helmsley, formerly the principal town in this part of the North Riding. The church is dedicated to the Holy Cross; the living is a rectory, in the patronage of the Archbishop of York, by lapse. In the church is a family vault of the Fairfax's. Here is a public school, endowed with 20*l.* a year, by the Hon. Ann Fairfax. Population 168.

Gilmonby, in the parish of Bowes, wap. of Gilling West, and liberty of Richmondshire; 5 miles SW. of Barnard Castle. A small but rural village, built round a nest green, at the head of which stands Gilmonby hall, now occupied as a boarding school, by Mr. M. Horn. Pop. 175.

and liberty of Allertonshire; 5 miles SW. of Yarm. It is bounded on the north by the river Tees, which the inhabitants have to cross in boats to their parish church. Population 35.

GLASEDALE, a chapelry, in the parish of Danby, wap. and liberty of Langbargh; 9 miles WSW. of Whitby.—A new chapel was erected here in 1793, upon the site of the old one, which was consecrated in the year 1388; the living is a perpetual curacy, in the patronage of the Archbishop of York. Here is likewise a new Wesleyan Methodist chapel, erected by subscription in 1821. The population returns is 1043 for the whole of the township of Glasedale, comprising the following villages and hamlets, viz.—Fryup, Lealholm, Lealholm Bridge, Hawisike, and Green Houses. The Dale is remarkably fertile, surrounded on every side with barren hills, which, when contrasted give that imposing appearance which never fails to produce the most delightful sensations.

Goathland, in the parish of Pickering, wap. and liberty of Pickering Lythe; 9 miles SW. of Whitby. In the Dale of Goathland, within the liberties of Pickering forest, the farmers were obliged, by the ancient tenures of their land, to attend to the breed of hawks, which annually built their nests in a cliff or scar, called Killing Nab Scar, in Newton Dale, in order to secure them for the King's use.—These hawks are of a large size, and still continue to frequent their ancient place of resort; and it is singular, that there is every year one breed, and very seldom more. There is here a neat new Chapel of Ease, built in 1821, of which the Rev. Benjamin Richardson is curate. Pop. 335.

GRETA BRIDGE, in the townships and parishes of Brignall and Rokeby, wap. of Gilling West, and liberty of Richmondshire; 4 miles SE. of Barnard Castle. Is a small village, taking its name from a bridge of one arch, over the river Greta, which river soon after runs into the Tees. The place is of modern erection, consisting of two handsome inns, one on each side of the bridge. Here are the remains of a Roman camp, where a number of coins and an altar were dug up some years ago.

The church, dedicated to St. Andrew, is a very ancient structure, and has lately undergone many repairs; the windows, which are much corroded by time, are beautifully ornamented with stained glass. The living is a vicarage, in the patronage of the King. There were fairs formerly held here, but owing to its decreasing population they were transferred to Reeth, a market town in this parish. This parish is divided into four townships, each of which maintains its own poor, namely, Grinton, S. of the Swale; Reeth, on the N.; Melbeck, W. of Reeth; and Muker, on both banks of the Swale, which extends to the Dalehead. Population, 689.

GUISBOROUGH, (P.)

In the wap. and liberty of Langbargh; 9 miles from Stokesley, and 49 from York.—In the year 1129, Robert de Brus founded the priory here for canons of the order of St. Austin. Some idea may be formed of the extent of this establishment, when the priory was in the plenitude of its prosperity, from a manuscript in the Cottonian Library, in which it is said—"That the prior kept a most pompous house, inasmuch that the town, consisting of 500 householders, had no lands, but lived all in the abbey." At the dissolution, the annual revenue was to the amount of 699*l.* 3*s.* 4*d.* and the site was granted to Francis Chaloner, Esq. in 1558. Camden says of this place, that it is really beautiful, and adds, that it resembles Pabcol, in Italy, but exceeds it in healthiness. Guisborough is pleasantly situated in a narrow but fertile vale, and consists chiefly of one main street, running nearly East and West. The street is very broad, and many of the houses being built in a modern style, the town has a neat and pleasant appearance. A handsome town-hall, of free-stone, was built in the year 1821, upon the site of the ancient toll-booth, in the Market place, erected upon projecting pillars and arches, with four cast iron pillars in the centre, the lower part or area serves as a shambles, &c. for the market people, and the Magistrates hold their meetings on alternate Tuesdays, in the upper story. The markets are well attended, and are held on Tuesday. Early in the month of May, 1822, a mineral spring was discovered, at about a mile SE. of Guisborough, to which a great number of people daily resort, and who generally obtain relief in rheumatic, scorbutic, and bilious complaints; this water, which is a good diuretic, has been analysed by Mr. William

Farady, of London, and the result shows that the specific gravity is 1000.7—A pint contains three grains, nearly, of dry salts, the salts are Muristic of Soda, Carbonate of Soda, Carbonate of Lime, Carbonate of Magnesia, Carbonic Acid; Sulphats the smallest quantity. An hotel is about to be erected for the accommodation of visitors who may come to Guisborough for the benefit of the waters, by Robert Chaloner, Esq. M. P. the lord of the manor, at a convenient distance from the spring. The church of Guisborough is a neat structure, partly rebuilt in the year 1791, dedicated to St. Nicholas; the living is a perpetual curacy, in the patronage of the Archbishop of York, and the Rev. T. P. Williamson, A. M. is the incumbent. There are here also three chapels or meeting-houses, one for the Methodists, a second for the Independents, and the other for the Quakers. Mr. George Venables, of London, a native of this place, left by will a fund for founding a school here, which was opened in 1790, for the education of 80 poor boys and 40 poor girls, and called Providence School, in allusion to the blessings of God upon the founder's labours. Till the year 1821, the children were taught by the old system, but at that time two new school rooms were built by subscription, and 100 boys and 100 girls are now taught on the system of Dr. Bell, the funds left by the benevolent Mr. Venables being applied to defray the charges of the establishment. Mr. Ralph Medd is the master, and Mrs. Isabella Peacock the mistress. The population of Guisborough amounts to 1912. It is worthy of remark, that the first alum works in this kingdom were erected here in the reign of Queen Elizabeth, and it was against the proprietor that the Pope fulminated his anathemas.

HACKNESS, (P.) in the wap. and liberty of Whitby Strand;  $6\frac{1}{2}$  miles NW. of Scarborough, is a small village in a most romantic situation, in a delightful vale, from which several others run in various directions of the country. The principal road thither from Scarborough, lies over Haybrow, a lofty eminence, from the summit of which is a noble view of the castle, the coast, and the ocean. The subjacent country, and the village of Scalby, also form a picturesque landscape. In the descent from this hill to the vale of Hackness, the road lies along the precipitous edge of a glen, of which the sides are adorned with lofty trees. This deep and picturesque ravine, which lies to the left of the road, meeting at length with another from the right, which is equally romantic, their junction forms the commencement of the valley of Hackness. In proceeding a little way farther are two other glens, of which the declivities to the bottom are covered with a profusion of wood. At the western extremity, the valley divides itself into two branches; one of these, in which the present village of Hackness is seated, runs into the moors: through the other the Derwent pursues its course towards the village of Ayton. The hills which surround the vale of Hackness are from one hundred to one hundred and twenty yards in perpendicular height, and their steep declivities are profusely adorned with lofty trees, of the richest foliage. The hand of nature, indeed, has here been lavish of her embellishments, and has moulded these sylvan scenes into such different forms and projections, as render them at once sublime and beautiful.
Springs of water bursting from the sides of the hills in natural cascades, or falling with gentle murmurs, contribute to enliven the scenery; and the Derwent, which has its source in the mountainous country to the north, glides with a gentle stream past the

Hage, to the westward of which the bleak and barren moors form a striking contrast to the luxuriant scenes of Hackness. There is a small ham here called the Johnstone Arms, kept by Mrs. Hannah Waites. The church, dedicated to St. Mary, is a very ancient structure; the living is a perpetual curacy, in the patronage of the Marquis of Amundale, and the Rev. Thomas Irvin is the incumbent. Here was formerly a cell, belonging to Whitby Abbey, which, at the dissolution, contained four monks of the order of Benedictines. The very elegant mansion at this place, was built by the late Sir Richard Vanden Bempde Johnstone, Bart. Pop. 143.

Handall, in the parish of Loft-houze, wap. and liberty of Langbargh; 8 miles ENE. of Guisborough. William, son of Richard de Percy, in the year 1133, founded at this place a small priory for Benedictine nuns. There is here a shooting box of Edmund Turton, Esq.

HARDRAW, in the parish of Aysgarth, wap. of Hang West, and liberty of Richmondshire; 1½ mile NW. of Hawes. Here is a small Chapel of Ease, built about fifty years ago, of which the Rev. Edmund Fawcett is incumbent: the living is a perpetual curacy, in the gift of J. A. Stuart Wortley, Esq. M. P. who is lord of the manor, and who has recently endowed a small school here with 10l. 10s. per annum. There is here a magnificent water-fall, commonly called Hardrow Scarr; the chasm extends above three hundred yards in length, with huge rocks impending on every side. At the northern extremity is a cascade which pours forth in one perpendicular fall a vast quantity of water into a deep basin below. In the year 1740, when fairs were held on the Thames, this cascade was frozen, and constituted a prodigious icicle of a conic form, thirty-two yards and three quarters high, and the same dimensions in circumference.

HAWES,

In the parish of Aygarth, wap. of Ham West, and liberty of Richmondshire; 5½ miles from Askrigg, 17 from Sedbergh, and 17 from Leyburn, with a market on Tuesday. A considerable quantity of stockings are knitted in this neighbourhood, which give employment to a great number of the inhabitants. The Chapel of Ease is a low plain structure; the living is a perpetual curacy, in the gift of the land owners, and the incumbent is the Rev. John Whaley. The dissenting places of worship are a Sandem-nian chapel, and a Friends' Meeting house; here is a public school, with a small endowment of 10*l.* per annum. The markets and fairs of Hawes are in a thriving state. There are two extensive manufactories of knit hose. The town is pleasantly situated near the east bank of the Ure, and commands an extensive view of the mountainous country by which it is surrounded. From these mountains are extracted large supplies of coal, lead and lime. Much to the honour of the town, there is here an extensive subscription library, stocked with well selected books of the best authors. A great number of the inhabitants are freeholders of the County of York. Pop. 1408.

HELMSLEY UPON THE BLACK MOOR, (P.)

In the wap. of Rydale, 6 miles from Killy-Moor-Side, 16 from Malton, and 23 from York; formerly a place noted for stately Elms, in the midst of which the Druids on the hill, still bearing their name, performed their mystic rites. The town is situated on the declivity of a small eminence, gently sloping towards the banks of the Rye, from whence the wapentake derives its name. The houses are mostly built of stone, and the inhabitants, according to the population returns of 1891, amount to 1590. The market day is on Saturday. The parish of Helmsley may rank amongst the most extensive parishes in the kingdom. It is more than 16 miles from N. to S. and comprises 6 distinct villages with the valley of Bilsdale, which stretches out to the hills in Cleveland. The adjacent country is exceedingly fertile, and is interspersed with extensive woods and rich valleys. A rivulet running through the town of Helmsley, still retains the old Saxon name of Boro' Beck, and Camden remarks of it, that in his time the water disappeared, at about a mile from the town, and rose again at Harum, a few miles below, which phenomenon still takes place. Formerly the manufacture of linen from yarn, spun on the hand wheel from the distaff, was carried on here to a considerable extent, but the introduction of machinery has destroyed the domestic system, and introduced in its stead a process of manufactures more conducive to national wealth, but less conducive to public morals. This change has deprived Helmsley of its manufacture, and rendered the inhabitants almost exclusively dependent upon agriculture. There is here a court for the recovery of debts under 40s. and a charity school on the national plan, supported by C. Duncombe, Esq. of Duncombe Park, where 80 children receive gratuitous instruction. The parish church is an antique edifice, dedicated to All Saints; and the living is a vicarage, of which C. Duncombe, Esq. is the patron, and the Rev. G. Dixon the incumbent. The other places of worship, are a Friends' Meeting house, and a Methodist chapel. Helmsley was the favourite resort of the sports and revelries of George Villiers, Duke of Buckingham, after he had returned in the court and cabinet of Charles II. and the neighbouring town of Kirkby-Moor-side the scene of his humiliation, after property had wasted his fortune, and dissipation ruined his health. Here, in the worst of his rooms, he breathed his last.

Alas! how changed from him, that life of pleasure and that soul of whim.

What part of the burial ground this fallen mansion of princes was interred, is not known, but in the parish register of Kirkby is recorded, that on the 17th of April, 1687, George Villars lord dooke of bookingham, is buried here. Helmsley castle, built by a noble family of Ross, is near to the town, and is distinguished for having been the ancient baronial residence of its lords, and for having stood a siege in 1644, in favour of the king against the Parliamentary forces, under Lord Fairfax, and surrendered on the 28th of November. Soon after, in common with the other castles of Yorkshire, this castle was dismantled by order of Parliament. In the western side the remains of a range of apartments, constituting the mansion-house and offices, still exist, and sufficient of the ruins of the Keep remain to indicate its former strength. The surrounding scenery is beautiful and picturesque in the extreme, and the scattered masses of building, seen through the rich foliage of the stately trees, and the still more stately double gateway, have long formed a favourite subject to the painter's pencil.

Duncombe Park, the seat of Charles Duncombe, Esq. is situated in this parish, and within one mile of the town. The mansion house, which was designed by Vanburgh, but executed by Wakefield, and completed in 1718, is in the Doric order of architecture, and the front in particular is esteemed a happy specimen of architectural skill and combination. The hall is a magnificent room, sixty feet long and forty wide, surrounded by fourteen lofty Corinthian columns and ornamented with a number of busts of the Greek and Latin poets, with large medallions of the twelve Cæsars. The ceiling is eighty-eight feet by twenty-four, and is formed into three divisions by Ionic columns, and elegantly adorned with antique busts, and family pictures. Communicating with the saloon to the north is a handsome dining room, and to the south an elegant suite of apartments, all appropriately furnished; but the most interesting part of the furniture is derived from the pencils of eminent painters, and consists in the valuable pictures which ornament the interior of this superb dwelling. The grounds are laid out with an elegance of taste equal to that which has been displayed in the selection of the paintings. The garden adjoining to the house has a terrace which affords many delightful prospects. From hence is seen an Ionic Temple, which itself commands a variety of landscapes; a beautiful valley winds at the base of a noble amphitheatre of hanging wood, and the opposite plantations, which spread over a fine extent of hill, fringe the shore of the Rye, which runs through the valley, and forms almost in its centre a charming cascade. Nothing can be more truly beautiful than the assemblage of objects seen in a bird's eye view from this spot. This view is beheld with delightful variation in walking along the terrace to the Tuscan Temple, as fresh scenery breaks upon the eye almost at every step. The temple, situated at the point of a bold promontory, ornamented with stately plantations, and projected into a winding valley, commands the most sublime and beautiful scenes. The valley, the river, and the cascade, are seen beneath; and in the front the prospect extends and becomes beautifully variegated. The castle, Helmsley church, and the tower, appear in the midst; and the valley here forming into a rich sequestered lawn, is well contrasted with the rougher visage of the hilly moors which are seen in the distance. Such is the picturesque description which Young and Hinderwell give of the paradisaical scenes of Duncombe park. The beautiful monastic ruin of Rivalx Abbey, only two miles distant, adds to the interest of the vicinity; and four miles to the SW. at the entrance to the vale of York, stands the companion ruin of Byland Abbey.

Hemlington, in the parish of Stainton, wap. and liberty of Laugbargh; 4 miles N. of Stokesley.—Population, 72.

HENDERSKELFE, in the parish & wap. of Bulmer; 7 miles WSW. of Malton, containing a population of 159 souls.

Castle Howard, the seat of the most noble Frederick Earl of Carlisle, is situated in this township. This magnificent mansion was built between the years 1722 and 1731, from a design of Sir John Vanbrugh, in the same style as Blenheim House, in Oxfordshire, by the Right Hon. Charles Howard, the third Earl of Carlisle, on the site of the old castle of Henderskelfe, which was destroyed by an accidental fire. Castle Howard has a longer line of front than Blenheim House, and its exterior is extremely magnificent; the state apartments are particularly distinguished for grandeur of appearance; and the princely collection of paintings, statues, busts, &c. with which this mansion is enriched afford a high gratification to the admirers of the fine arts, whilst the liberality of the noble proprietor, in admitting the public to view this elegant repository, entitles him to grateful applause. The hall is 35 feet square, and 60 feet high, terminating at the top in a spacious dome, 100 feet high, and adorned with columns of the Corinthian and Composite order. The walls are painted by Peligrini with the history of Phæacian, and the room is ornamented with several antique statues and busts. To describe all the different rooms in this princely mansion, together with the superb paintings, statues, &c. which it contains, would fill a volume. The museum, 24 feet square, and the antique gallery, 160 feet by 30, contain a vast assemblage of curiosities. In the south-west corner of the museum is a cylindrical altar, about four feet and a half high, which anciently stood in the temple of Delphi, brought from Italy, and was presented to the Lord of Castle Howard by the immortal Nelson. The taste displayed in the pleasure grounds corresponds with the magnificence of the house. The park is beautiful and extensive; and the present Earl of Carlisle has greatly improved the scenery by the addition of a fine sheet of water, at an appropriate distance from the south front. A beautiful intermixture of wood and lawn delights the eye; and the prospects are every where rich and full of pleasing variety. The ornamental buildings in the park are in a style of grandeur. At the entrance on the south, is an elegant inn, for the accommodation of strangers. In the centre of beautiful avenues, bordered on each side with lofty trees, and crossed at right angles, stands a stately quadrangular obelisk, 100 feet in height, erected in the year 1714, to commemorate the victories of John Duke of Marlborough, and to fix the date of the erection of Castle Howard. On the opposite side of the obelisk, facing the western avenue, is inscribed:—

If to perfection these plantations rise,
If they agreeably my heirs surprise,
This faithful pillar will their age declare,
As long as time these characters shall spare.

Nearly opposite to the grand entrance, in the north front of the house, an elegant monument commemorates the victories of Lord Nelson. Those glorious names, Aboukir, Copenhagen, and Trafalgar, inscribed on three of its sides, in large gold characters, call to remembrance the achievements of the naval hero, and testify the patriotism of the noble proprietor of this mansion. About half a mile to the eastward of the house is an Ionic temple, with four porticoes and a beautiful interior. The cornices of the door-cases are supported by Ionic columns of black and yellow marble; and in the corners of the room are pilasters.—In niches over the doors are busts of Vespasian, Faustina, Trajan, and Sabina.—The floor is disposed in compartments of antique marble of various colours, and the room is crowned with a dome, splendidly gilt.—About a quarter of a mile farther, and nearly in the same direction, stands the Mausoleum, a circular building, above 50 feet diameter, and surrounded with a handsome colonnade of Doric pillars. Over the vault is an elegant circular chapel; the cornice from which the dome rises is supported by eight Corinthian columns; and the ornamental carvings are light and pleasing. The height of the structure is 90 feet, that of the inside is 68; this is in different compartments inlaid with marble.

HINDERWELL, or HILDERWELL, (P.) in the wap. and liberty of Langbargh; 8 miles NW. of Whitby. The church, dedicated to St. Hilda, is a very ancient edifice; the living is a rectory, in the patronage of Lady M. Boynton, and the Rev. William Smith is the incumbent. In the church yard there is a well, or spring of pure water, called St. Hilda's well, near which, it is conjectured, she had an occasional retreat, which not only still retains her name, but communicates the same to the parish. Rowland thinks it probable that, in very distant ages, churches were dwelling-houses for the priests, as well as places of worship for the people; and that therefore they were generally built near a well of clear water. In the year 1603 a plague, contracted from a Turkish ship stranded on the coast, broke out in this village, and raged for six weeks, carrying off a number of the inhabitants, but fortunately did not extend its baneful influence to any of the neighbouring villages. Pop. 1483.

HOVINGHAM, (P.) in the wap. of Rydale; 7 miles S. of Kirkby-Moor-Side. Anciently the seat of the great Roger de Mowbray, but now possessed by the Worsley family. In the gardens of Thomas Worsley, Esq. in 1745, was discovered a Roman hypocaust, and in another place, a small tessellated pavement. There were also found in making the gardens, considerable remains of buildings, evidently proving the spot to have been the site of a Roman villa. A charter was granted in the 36th year of the reign of Henry III. for a market, fair, &c. and renewed in the 13th of the reign of George II. 1739. The market to be held on the Thursday; the fairs to be held on the 14th, 15th, and 16th of August, for live cattle, and all kinds of English grain, merchandise, &c. The market has been discontinued a number of years. Here is a school endowed with 16*l.* a year, by the Rev. James Graves, of Beverley, for twelve poor children, and 20*l.* by Mrs. Ann Arthington, of Arthington; the interest of which was to be applied towards educating four children. The church is dedicated to All Saints; and the living is a perpetual curacy, of which the Earl of Carlisle is the patron, and the Rev. Robert Freer, the incumbent; there is here also a Methodist chapel. Population, 649.

HUTTON SHERIFF, (P.) in the wap. of Bulmer; 8 miles ESE. of Easingwold. The castle here was built by Bertram de Bulmer, in the reign of Stephen, from whose family it passed to that of Nevil. Ralph Nevil, first Earl of Westmoreland, repaired it. Richard Nevil, Earl of Warwick, being slain at the battle of Barnett, Edward IV. seized this castle; after whose death Richard, aspiring to the throne, imprisoned his elder brother's son, Edward Plantagenet, within this fortress, where he remained till Richard was slain at Bosworth Field, whence he was taken by Henry VII. and arraigned for high treason; supported by trifling and false pretences, he was, at the age of twenty-five, condemned, and beheaded in 1497, on Tower Hill. The Princess Elizabeth, afterwards the wife of Henry VII. was also confined here. The parish church is dedicated to St. Helen; the living is a vicarage, in the patronage of the Archbishop of York, and the Rev. Thomas Tate is the incumbent. There are also here two chapels, one for the Methodists and the other for the Primitive Methodists; and two schools, each with a small endowment.—Population, 756.

INGLEBY ARNCLIFFE, (P.) in the wap. and liberty of Langbargh; 8 miles NE. of Northallerton. The church, which is dedicated to St. Andrew, is a small, plain, ancient structure; the living is a perpetual curacy, in the patronage of Brian Abbot, Esq. and the Rev. A. W. Steele is the incumbent. The village of Ingleby, which is the only one in the parish, is small, and consists chiefly of farm-houses, neatly built. It stands in a retired situation, on the summit of a gentle ridge, at a little distance from the road leading from Stokesley to Thirk. A little south of the village is situated the Cleveland Tontine Inn. Pop. 331.

The York mail arrives daily at 1 in the morning, northward, ret. at half-past 6 evg. to York, leaving letters for this circuit—Robert Turner, post-master, and posting-house, Cleveland Tontine Inn.

IVELET, in the parish of Grinton, ownership of Muker, wap. of Gilling West, and liberty of Richmondshire; miles (NW of Askrigg; is situated upon an eminence on the northern banks of the Ivale. Near Ivelet is a waterfall of fifteen or sixteen yards upon Ivelet beck, in a very secluded and romantic dell, the sides of which are well covered with wood, and the oaks which form the fall meet nearly at a point, and are fringed with the mountain ash, the hazel, &c.; a little above is another, called Yew Fosse, not quite so large as Ivelet, but from its particular situation, attracts the attention of travellers.

JERVEAUX ABBEY, in the parish of East Witton, wap. of Hang West, and liberty of Richmondshire; 3 miles SE. of Middleham. This once stately erection was founded in the year 1156, by Akarias, the son of Bardolph, and dedicated to the Virgin Mary. At the general dissolution, this monastery was seized, and its revenues, valued by Speed at 464. 10s. 5d. granted to the King, the site being given to Maltham, Earl of Ancoz. Sedberg, the late Abbot, was seized in June, 1537, for opposing the King's measures. It is now the property of the Marquis Alibury. The remains of the Abbey are situated about two hundred paces from the high way leading from Middleham to Masham, and are not very visible, the view being much intercepted by trees. The name is of Norman extraction, and signifies simply Euredale Abbey, being situated on the banks of the Ure. Of all the ruins in the north of England, this has suffered the most complete demolition, considering the ample size of the building. The boundary wall, when in its pristine glory, comprehended a circuit of at least a mile. In 1806-7 the whole of this venerable ruin was explored by order of the noble proprietor, and cleared of the briars and refuse with which, by the neglect of a succession of ages, it had been incumbered; when the Abbey church and choir, measuring 370 feet in length; with the cross aisle, the high altar, and several tombs were discovered. Further search exhibited the chapter house, 48 feet in length by 35 in width, with the marble pillars which formerly supported the roof.—The site of the Abbot's house and garden, with the kitchen and the refectory, the cloisters and the dormitory also became visible. The tessellated pavement of the great aisle, in geometrical figures, was found in a perfect state, but though the covering which had shut it out from the light of the sun had prevented its actual decomposition, the hand of time, though unseen, had been at work, and rendered the beautiful mosaic so frail, that the action of the air, and the rude blasts of winter, soon reduced it to dust. In the aisle were found several stone coffins, bearing inscriptions, in a state sufficiently perfect to be deciphered. A sunk fence, aided by a wall built for the purpose, now protects the ancient site. A neat mansion has been built near the Abbey, and is occupied as the residence of Mr. Claridge, the steward of the estate; the approach to which is by an ancient gate-way, in the style, but not of so early a date, as the Abbey.—Pop. included with East Witton.

Keld, in the parish of Grinton, wap. of Gilling West, and liberty of Richmondshire; 8 miles NW. of Askrigg.—Here is a Calvinist chapel, erected in the year 1745, of which the Rev. Edward Stillman is minister. About one mile SE. of Keld is Kladen Forde, a most beautiful waterfall: the fall is from twelve to fifteen yards high, the rocks that surround it forming a complete amphitheatre, beautifully fringed with underwood, which has a fine effect when contrasted with the barren hills and uncultivated wastes by which this place is surrounded.

KETTLENESS, in the parish of Lythe, wap. and liberty of Langbargh; 6 miles NW. of Whitby. Here are very extensive alum works, belonging to Lord Mulgrave. The coast at this place is steep and rocky, and in the rocks are several large excavations, which may be entered at low water, and afford curious and romantic retreats. In the rocks here, and at Sands End, (another establishment of alum works, belonging to the same proprietor,) is frequently found Black Amber, or, Jet, by some naturalists called Gagates, which, according to Camden, was classed by the ancients among the rarest jewels.

KILDALE, (P.) in the wap. and liberty of Langbargh; 6 miles S. of Guisborough. The church, which is a very ancient structure, is dedicated to St. Cathbert, and stands in a low retired situation, at a little distance from the village, towards the south, and not far from the site of an old castle. There is nothing in the style of architecture of the present edifice that points out the era of its foundation; but, upon the authority of Domesday book, where the church is mentioned, we may conclude it to be of great antiquity, and it was probably founded at an early period of the Saxon Heptarchy. The living is a rectory, in the patronage of Robert Bell Livesey, Esq.; incumbent, the Rev. J. Holmes. Pop. 200.

KIRKBY-IN-CLEVELAND, (P.) in the wap. and liberty of Longbrough; 2 miles SSE. of Stokesley. Is pleasantly situated at the foot of a continued ridge of mountains. The ancient church, dedicated to St. Austin, was built in the form of a cross, but it was taken down, and replaced in the year 1815, by an edifice larger, and more convenient, though in a more plain and homely style. The living is a (secular) rectory, in the gift of the Archbishop of York, with a vicarage in the patronage of the rector. The Rev. L. V. Vernon, A. M. is the rector, and the Rev. W. D. Willis, A. M. the vicar. There is here a Grammar School, founded by Henry Edmunds, Esq. in the year 1663, who endowed it with a farm, at Broughton, value 50l. a year, and upwards, with a school house and garden, for ever, for the benefit of all poor children in the townships of Kirkby and Broughton; also a Sunday school established by subscription, in which 60 children are instructed under the inspection of the vicar. Here is also a parochial library for the free use of the parish, consisting of books selected from the list of the Society for promoting Christian knowledge. Pop. 168.

KIRKBY, OR KIRKBY-MOOR-SIDE, (P.)

In the wap. of Rydale; 6 miles from Helmsley, 8 from Pickering, 14 from Malton, and 29 from York. This manor which formerly belonged to the Earls of Westmoreland, was forfeited; and tradition says, that Ralph, Earl of Westmoreland, by whose rebellion the estate was forfeited, in the reign of Elizabeth, made his escape from hence into Scotland, in the time of a deep snow, and eluded his pursuers by having the shoes of his horse reversed; and that the descendants of the blacksmith, who turned the shoes, enjoy at this day a house, as a reward for their ancestor's service, at the rent of a farthing a year. The manor remained in the Crown, till the reign of James I. when the favourite Duke of Buckingham, having obtained Helmsley, by his marriage with the heiress of the Earl of Rutland, is said to have begged it of the King, as a garden to that famous mansion. His son George, who married Mary, the only daughter of Thomas Lord Fairfax, after a dissolute life died in extreme want at a humble house in the Market place.* The manufacture of linen is carried on here, but not extensively. The agricultural produce of the country consists of all kinds of English grain, and the mineral productions are lime, coal, and freestone. The church is dedicated to All Saints; and the living is a vicarage in the gift of the King. There are here a Methodist chapel, an Independent chapel, and a Friends' Meeting house. The market is on Wednesday. Pop. 1878.

KIRKBY - RAVENSWORTH, or KIRBY-HILL, (P.) in the wap. of Gilling West, and liberty of Richmondshire; 5 mls. NW. of Richmond. The ancient name seems to have been Kirk by Ravensworth, being the parish Church to six townships, and standing near the village of Ravensworth. The village is situated upon a hill, and the houses form a square. The church, dedicated to St. John, the Baptist, is a neat stone building, and from its white appearance, and elevated situation, seems well adapted to remind the neighbouring villagers of their great duty; it is in the diocese of the Bishop of Chester, who receives the corn tithes, and is the patron of the living. There are two Schools here, one a boarding school of some repute, for young gentlemen, the other is a Free Grammar School, founded and endowed by Dr. Dakin, Archbishop of the East Riding, about the year 1555. It is free for as many young men and boys as may resort to it, to be instructed in grammar and classical learning; there is also an Hospital connected with the endowment, for twenty-four aged persons of both sexes, to be selected from those that were born in the parish, or have lived ten years in it. The endowment of the School, together with the Hospital, is in lands, situated principally in the parish of East Coulton, and the corn tithes arising from the parish of East Coulton, amounts to upwards of 1200*l.* per annum. The salary of the master is about 300*l.* per ann. varying however, with the rent; the usher has a third of the sum. The master must be a clergyman, in priests orders, and cannot hold any church benefice. The whole is under the management of two wardens, who, with the master and poor people form a body corporate, and use one common seal. The office of warden is biennial, and the election is conducted thus: the Churchwardens for the time being, with the Clergyman, nominate six householders, whose names are written upon scrolls of paper, wrapt up in balls of wax, and put in a jar or pitcher, when the minister puts in his hand and takes two out, and the persons whose names are therein written, are immediately sworn into office; they are the patrons of the living of East Coulton. The School and Hospital are dedicated to St. John, the Baptist. Cuthbert Shaw, the poet, was born at this place. Pop. 161.

KIRKBY-WISKE, (P.) in the wap. of Gilling East, and liberty of Richmondshire; 4 miles WNW. of Thirsk. Here is a church, dedicated to St. John the Baptist, patron the Duke of Northumberland. Pop. 197.

Rev. Christopher Bethel, D.D. rector

KIRKDALE, (P.) in the wap. of Rydale; 2 miles W. of Kirkby-Moor-Side. The church belonging to this village, is situated in the southern extremity of this vale, in a most sequestered but beautiful spot, surrounded with woods, and has been much noticed, on account of a very ancient Saxon inscription over the south door, which may be thus translated:—Orn, Ganafe son, bought St. Gregory's church, when it was all gone to ruin and fallen down; and he agreed with Maecan, to renew it from the ground to Christ and St. Gregory, in Edward's days, the king; and Tosti's days, the Earl. This is a draught exhibiting the time of the day, while the sun is passing to and from the winter solstice. Hawarth we made, and Brand the priest." This inscription fixes the antiquity of the church. Tosti or Tosti, the fourth son of Godwin Earl of Kent, and brother of King Harold, was created Earl of Northumberland, by Edward the Confessor, in the year 1056, and fell at the battle of Stamford Bridge, in 1066, so that the erection of this church was antecedent to the Norman Conquest, a thing so rare, that there are not above three or four churches of so ancient a date in the Kingdom. The living of Kirkdale, after passing through a variety of patrons, came into possession of Henry Danvers, Earl of Danby, who gave it to the University of Oxford, about the year 1632, when he founded the Physic Garden there. The incumbent is the Rev. George Dixon.

The Cave of Kirkdale.—The fossil remains of the hyena and other animals have been found in a cave or fissure at this place; in the year 1820, Professor Buckland examined this interesting spot with great care, and communicated the result of his inquiries to the Royal Society of London. The Professor reports, that the cave extends 300 feet into a solid white rock, and varies from 9 feet to 5 feet in height and breadth. Its bottom is covered with a layer, about a foot thick of mud, which is partially encrusted with calcifer. It is in this mud that the fossil animal remains are found imbedded. The bones are in a nearly fresh state, still retaining their animal gelatin. They are mostly broken and gnawed in pieces, and are intermixed with teeth. The fossil remains found by Professor Buckland were of the following animals, viz. hyena, elephant, rhinoceros, hippopotamus, deer, ox, and water rat; the four first belong to species now extinct, but of the others nothing is said. It is evident that animals having the magnitude of the elephant, or rhinoceros, could not enter a fissure so low and narrow as that at this place; and it appears probable that these bones could not have been floated into the fissure by means of water, otherwise they would not only have suffered by attrition, but would be intermixed with sand or gravel. They must therefore have been transported thither in some other way, and the Professor conjectures, that they were carried in for food by the hyenas, who appear to have been the sole inhabitants of the den.

KIRKLEATHAM, (P.) in the wap. and liberty of Langbargh;  $4\frac{1}{2}$  miles NNW. of Guisbrough, situate near the mouth of the Tees, the birth-place of Sir William Turner, who was Lord Mayor of London in the year 1689; and here that gentleman erected a stately hospital, which he endowed with a valuable estate, for the maintenance of 40 poor people, namely, 10 men, the same number of women, 10 boys and 10 girls; and a sum of money was also bequeathed by John Turner, Esq. Serjeant at Law, for clothing each of the children on leaving the hospital. Lady Turner, now Vansittart, is the sole governess of this charity, which office descends on the possessor of the Kirkleatham estate for ever; and the management is committed to a chaplain, a master, and a mistress, who have handsome salaries. In the centre of the front is a small chapel, finished in a style of superior elegance. The roof is arched in compartments, and supported by four light and handsome columns of the Ionic order; from the centre hangs a large chandelier of burnished gold, and over the altar is a window of painted glass, esteemed one of the finest in the world, representing the offerings of the Magi at the nativity of Christ. On one side is a full length figure of John Turner, Esq. Serjeant at Law, in a scarlet robe; and on the other, one of Sir William Turner, the founder, in his robes as Lord Mayor of London. In a large and commodious room, within the hospital, is the library, which is furnished with many valuable books, and several natural and artificial curiosities. In a handsome case, is a striking likeness of Sir William Turner, in wax, with the identical wig and band which he used to wear. At a short distance from the hospital is the parish church, dedicated to St. Cuthbert, a light and elegant building of stone, the roof of which is supported by six columns of the Tuscan order. In the chancel is the monument of Sir William Turner, near which he was buried, by his own desire, among the poor of his hospital; the witness of his piety, liberality, and humanity. The living is a vicarage, in the patronage of Lady Turner. Adjoining to the east end of the church, is a superb mausoleum of a circular form, covered with a dome, built by Cholmley Turner, Esq. in 1740, under which is the family vault. Among other monumental statues are those of that gentleman, and William Turner, Esq. executed by the famous Scheemacher. The improvements made at Kirkleatham in agriculture, and planting, by the late Sir Charles Turner, rank this place amongst one of the most flourishing estates in Yorkshire. In addition to the hospital, Sir Wm. Turner bequeathed 5000*l.* for founding a Free Grammar School here, which was erected in 1708, by Cholmley Turner, Esq. his nephew, and is a large and handsome quadrangular building, near the hospital. Of the present state of this institution, Mr. Carlisle, in his "description of the endowed schools of England and Wales," published in 1818, gives the following singular account;—"The master's salary is 100*l.* and that of the usher 50*l.* but both these offices are now  sinecures, the school having been entirely "discontinued" about thirty years since, by the late Sir Charles Turner. The building contained apartments for the master and usher, as well as the school-room; but it is now occupied in tenements by various mechanics, &c. servants to Lady Turner. Mr. John Irvine, the family steward, holds the  sinecure office of Master, and the Rev. Mr. Shaw, the minister of Kirkleatham, that of Usher. The lord or lady of the manor of Kirkleatham, who is sole governor or governor of the hospital, is sole trustee for the school etc. Pop. 522.

KIRKLEVINOTON, (P.) in the wap. and liberty of Loughborough; 2 miles S.E. of Yarm. The church, dedicated to St. Martin, is a small ancient structure. The living is a perpetual curacy, in the patronage of the Archbishop of York, of which the Rev. John Grasses is the incumbent. Here also was a castle, which antiently belonged to the family of Meinills; after passing through several other families, it was at last conveyed out to different purchasers; a circumstance, called Castle Hill, is the only vestige of that ancient fortress. Pop. 222.

LARTINGTON, in the parish of Romaldkirk, wap. of Gilling West, and liberty of Richmondshire; 8 miles WNW. of Barnard Castle, a neat rural village, the houses on one side having gardens before them, inclosed by pales, and on the other side a spacious green, shaded by lofty trees. At the foot of the village stands Lartington Hall, the seat and residence of Henry Witham, Esq. the proprietor of the village, and the lord of the manor. This is an ancient stone building, in a well wooded and pleasingly diversified park, terminating on the banks of the Tees. The Catholic chapel of the hall is one of the most handsome in the kingdom, and contains one of the best paintings in imitation of sculpture extant; it is a crucifix, executed by Le Brun, in so masterly a manner, as to deceive the most able connoisseurs. Here is a Free School, endowed with 90*l.* a year, by the present lord of the manor.—Population, 243.

This ancient village seems to give its name to Leeming lane, which exhibits a fine specimen of the improvements made in public roads in modern times. This road is under the management of Mr. M<sup>r</sup> Adam, whose simple but efficient system consists principally in so constructing the road as to make all parts of it equally fit for carriages, and in breaking the materials small which are used in the repairs. This road was the Hermaestreet of the Romans, which extended northward as far as Inverness. Here is a Chapel of Ease, of which the Rev. J. Monson, A. M. is curate. ### LEYBURN,

In the parish of Wensley wap. of Hang West, and liberty of Richmondshire; 3 miles from Middleham, 8 from Richmond, and 8 from Reeth. The town consists chiefly of one spacious oblong square of well-built houses, where the market is held every Friday, and where a considerable quantity of corn is weekly exposed for sale. The places of worship are a Methodist, a Calvinist, and Catholic chapel; there is here a public school, supported by voluntary subscription; and a Circulating and Subscription Library. The soil is generally very fertile, being chiefly meadow and grazing land, and the mineral productions are lead, coal, and lime. The town is pleasantly situated, and the neighbourhood presents a variety of beautifully picturesque scenery. The remarkable walk called Leyburn Shawl, which passes along the edge of one continued ridge of rocks to the village of Preston, is indisputably one of the finest natural terraces in Great Britain, and there are many views here of singular beauty. The neighbourhood abounds with objects of interest, among which may be enumerated the ruined castles of Bolton and Middleham, the remains of Jervaux and Coverham abbey, the celebrated waterfall and cataracts of Aygarth, and the noble mansion and pleasure grounds of Bolton Hall, most of which may be visited in the course of a day. This place is generally taken on the route to the Lakes of Westmoreland and Cumberland, by travellers from the east and south east parts of the kingdom. Population, 810.

LONDONDERRY, in the parish of Burneston, wap. of Halikeld, and liberty of Richmondshire; 2½ miles E. of Bedale.— Newton-house, a hunting box, belonging to the Right Hon. the Earl of Darlington, is situated in this village. The above house was sold to Lord Darlington ten or twelve years ago; and in the latter end of the year 1821, a chimney belonging to it was blown down, the materials of which were precipitated through the roof, and killed a young lady in her bed. The house has since been taken down, and re-built on the site of the old one, leaving that part upon which the young lady's room stood a sort of vacuum in the middle of the house. The Countess of Darlington educates, at her own expense, twenty poor children in this township.

LYTHE, (P.) in the wap. and liberty of Langbargh; 4 miles WNW. of Whitby. Lythe is pleasantly situated near the eastern extremity of Cleveland, about one mile distant from the sea. Peter de Mauley III. in the 38th of Henry the Third, obtained a licence for a weekly market, and a fair yearly, to be held on the eve of St. Oswald, but being in the vicinity of Whitby, both the fairs and market have long been discontinued. The lord of the manor is the Earl of Mulgrave, who resides here, in a stately mansion, which stands a little South of the village, upon the brow of a gently rising hill, commanding a pleasing and extensive prospect of the country and the sea. The Church, dedicated to St. Oswald, is an ancient structure, but owing to a thorough repair, which it received in 1819, has rather a modern appearance at first sight. The living is a vicarage, in the patronage of the Archbishop of York. There is also a Methodist chapel, built in 1832. Pop. 1134. Letters are despatched to and received from Whitby every day at 1 o'clock.

MALTON, (P.)

Wap. of Rydale, and part in the liberty of St. Peters; 9 miles from Pickering; 18 from York; and 22 from Scarbro', one of the most ancient Brigantian fortified towns in this part of Britain. The early importance of this station is shown by the number of ancient roads which point to it. The Romans planted here one of the mumeri, or cohorts of the Legio, sexta victrix, called DERVENTRIONENSIS, and changed only the termination of its British name, to CAMVLODVNM. This name, by abbreviation, became the Saxon MELDVN, pronounced MAIDEN, and Maiden Greve Balk, is at this day one of the boundaries of Malton. The river Derwent here, and at this point alone, touches the foot of the DEIRAWOLD region; a considerable breadth of marshy ground, formerly impassible, intervenes between the river and the Wolds in every other part of its course, and at this point was the river most readily passed by a broad but shallow ford; at this day we know of no other ford on the northern border of the Wolds, except that named by the Saxons Stangfordes, afterwards Stangfordes brydge, now Stamford bridge. No fewer than six Roman roads may be traced by military and other remains to this station. Numerous Roman coins, both silver and copper, of various Emperors, for a long period have been and are yet found here; and on the opposite side of the river, entrenchments for the defence of this once important pass are also visible. Fragments of, and entire urns, some containing Roman coins and fine red ashes, and also many pieces of their pottery, with figures in relief, on paterae, populae, &c. are found here. The Camulodunum of the Roman Britons became a royal villa to king Edwin in the Saxon era, and here the life of that monarch was preserved from the assassin, by his faithful Lilla. The great Earl Siward, who defeated Macbeth, was one of the lords of Malton; and after the Norman conquest, the baronial family of Vesey built here a castle and a priory for Gilbertine canons, of both which there are remains at this day. The Castle was one of those short lived structures which Henry II. demolished: but during its existence, the town was burnt down, by Abp. Thurstan, when he laid siege to it to dislodge the Scotch, and the name of New Malton commenced on the re-building of the town. On the site of the castle, Ralph, Lord Eure, built a noble castellated mansion, which he finished at the conclusion of the 16th century; and it is remarkable, that its duration was as short as that of the castle, for his lordship's two grand daughters not agreeing respecting the property here, the mansion was pulled down, and the materials divided between them, by Henry Marwood, Esq. the High Sheriff of the County of York, in 1674; the lodge and gate-way, however, were left as a monument of the folly and vindictiveness of family feuds, or to show what the mansion had been. Mary, the youngest of these daughters, was married to William Palmer, Esq. of Linley, in this county, who in right of his wife, possessed the manor of Old and New Malton, which he, with others, conveyed to Sir Thomas Wentworth. On the 20th of May, 1728, the Hon. Thomas Wentworth, Knight of the Bath, obtained the title of Lord Malton, and six years afterwards was created Marquis of Rockingham. His lordship dying on the 14th of December, 1760, was succeeded in his title and estates by his only son, Charles Watson Wentworth, Marquis of Rockingham, who dying on the 1st of July, 1782, his nephew, Earl Fitzwilliam, succeeded to the manor of Malton, and his other principal estates. Malton was a corporate borough, and governed by two bailiffs, until the reign of Charles II. when a writ of quo warranto, to which the inhabitants pleaded prescription, deprived the burgesses of its privileges, for judgment was given in favour of the Crown, and a new charter has never been applied for; since that time, the Court Leet, and Court Baron of New Malton appoint a nominal borough Bailiff, and two Constables, and exercise the usual jurisdiction of those courts. Malton sent members to parliament so early as the reign of Edward I.; and at that period the Prior of Malton was elected a representative, who, on his return from parliament, was arrested for debt, but, pleading a privilege of exemption in going and returning from parliamentary duty, he was liberated; this is perhaps the earliest claim of the privilege by a member of parliament. This Borough now sends two members to parliament, elected by the householders, paying scot and lot; the number of voters being about 500. The present representatives are, Lord Duncannon, of Margaret street, Cavendish-square, London, and of Rochampton, Surrey; and John Charles Ramsden, Esq. of Newby park, near Boroughbridge. There are two parochial chapels here to Old Malton, one of them dedicated to St. Leonard, and the other to St. Michael; the former of which has a tall spire, which has been left unfinished, in the form of a truncated cone. Earl Fitzwilliam is the patron, and lessee of the tithes under the See of York; the Rev. William Flower, A. M. is the incumbent, and the Rev. C. A. Binn, the assistant curate. The other places of worship are, for the Society of Friends, the Presbyterians, the Independents, and the Methodists. Here is also a Theatre, erected in 1814; besides a handsome suite of public rooms, in Yorkergate, to which are attached a Subscription Library and News-Room. About a quarter of a mile to the SW. of New Malton, is a mineral spring, similar in its properties to those of Scarbro', and is said to be a very efficacious chalybeate. Malton is a brisk market town. The town stands on an eminence, overlooking the river which runs through a beautiful vale to the South East. A handsome stone bridge, connects this place with Norton, the river forming the boundary between the East and North Ridings. In the reign of Queen Anne an act was passed, under the authority of which, the Derwent was made navigable up to this place, and corn, butter, bacon, &c. are conveyed in large quantities from hence to Hull, Leeds, Wakefield, and London; while from Hull are returned salt, sugar, and groceries of different kinds, and coals, and all sorts of woollens brought here from Leeds & other parts of the West-Riding in considerable quantities. The market here is held every Saturday, and is numerously attended by the families and farmers from the surrounding country to a great extent. Formerly there were two market days, the other on Tuesday, and the stone bases of two market crosses yet continue; one where the present market is held, and the other in the Low street, where fish is now generally exposed for sale. There are also five fairs annually: viz. Monday and Saturday before Palm Sunday; Saturday before Whitsuntide; Saturday before the 15th of July; on the 11th and 12th of October; and on Saturday before Martinmas day. The first is famous for the exhibition of horses, and much attended by South country dealers; and the others, on account of the great show of cattle, are frequented by a vast number of farmers and graziers. The population of New Malton, within the Borough, amounts to 4005 souls.

The church is dedicated to St. Cuthbert; the living is a rectory, in the patronage of John Hutton, Esq. incumbent the Rev. James Tate. Here is a school, erected in 1814, by John Hutton, Esq. and allowed 30*l.* per annum for the instruction of the poor children belonging to the parish. The family of the Huttons, of Marke, is the only family in the kingdom which has yielded to the church two archbishops;—Matthew, Archbishop of York, the founder of the family, died in 1605; and Matthew, first Archbishop of York, and then Archbishop of Canterbury, died in 1758, and it is recorded of them that "they were both great and good prelates." Matthew, of York, left a son, Sir Timothy Hutton, who was High Sheriff of this county in 1607.—Pop. 290.

MARTON, (P.) in the wap. and liberty of Langbargh; 7 mls. N. of Stokesley. A village ever rendered important by being the birth place of the great navigator, Captain James Cook. If any country may be proud of having produced a man who, in various ways, enlarged the bounds of human knowledge, that pride is the honourable boast of this humble village. There is scarcely a corner of the earth to which the fame of Cook has not reached; and all Europe has been unanimous in admiring, revering, and emulating this great master of his profession. Captain James Cook was one of nine children, born of honest and industrious parents, in the lowest rank of society. He was taught to read by a schoolmistress; and his father, who was a labourer, being employed to look after a farm belonging to T. Scottowe, Esq. at Aytun, near Stokesley; he was, by the liberality of that gentleman, sent to school in that village, to a master, who taught reading, writing and arithmetic. At the age of 13 years he was apprenticed to Mr. W. Sanderson, a shopkeeper at Stajthes, a small fishing town near Whitby. This employment, however, did not suit his genius; and he soon quitted it for one, in which he was destined to shine with peculiar lustre. Leaving the counter, he bound himself a second time apprentice to Mr. John Walker, of Whitby, of the religious profession called Quakers, and owner of several ships in the coal trade. Here he served his apprenticeship, and after being employed some years as a seaman he was introduced into the royal navy, and by his seal, enterprize, and intelligence, became a distinguished ornament of his profession. The remainder of his history is well known; he circumnavigated the globe three times, and fell at last a victim to the savage ferocity of the inhabitants of Owhyhee, while endeavouring to save the lives of a part of his crew. Marton church, dedicated to St. Cuthbert, is situated on rather elevated ground at the western extremity of the village, and is a small ancient edifice; the living is a vicarage, in the patronage of the Archbishop of York, and the Rev. Daniel Duck is the incumbent. Pop. 397.

MARTON-LE-MOOR, in the parish of Topcliffe, and wap. of Halikeld; 3 miles NW. of Boroughbridge. Here is a Chapel of Ease, under the Deanery of Ripon; the Rev. Isaac Crackett, curate. Marton was formerly surrounded with moors, all of which are now enclosed. Agricultural distress so severely felt in other parts of the kingdom is unknown here. The township contains one thousand five hundred acres of land, the property of his Grace the Duke of Devonshire, and it supports thirteen farmers in a state of comfort, in consequence of their low rents. Pop. 801.

Here is a small church, wherein divine service is performed once a fortnight from Easter to Michaelmas, but not at all from Michaelmas to Easter; the living is a vicarage, of which the Archbishop of York is the patron, and the Rev. D. Duck the incumbent. Pop. including Moxby, 164.

MASHAM, (P.)

In the wap. of Hang East, and liberties of St. Peter's and Richmondshire; 6 miles from Bedale, and 10 from Ripon. The town is most delightfully situated on the western bank of the river Ure, and the adjacent country, particularly to the east, is abundantly fertile. The market is on Wednesday; but not much business is transacted. In addition to the agricultural pursuits of the place, a number of labouring men are employed in the combing of wool, and some of the females in manufacturing a kind of coarse straw platt for hats. At a distance of about half a mile from the town, on the opposite bank of the river, there is a flax mill, occupied by Mr. Prest, which affords employment to a number of men, women and children, in the spinning of flax. The church is a small stone edifice, commanding a delightful prospect, and is extremely neat and interesting within. Several of the tablets are very handsome, and the monument of Sir Marmaduke Wyvil is deservedly admired for its beauty and splendour. The living is a vicarage with the vicarage of Kirkby-Malsard, in the patronage of Trinity College, Cambridge, of which the Rev. Wm. Lawson, M.A. is vicar. The Methodists and Anabaptists have each a small chapel here; and there is a Free School, for the education of thirty poor boys belonging to the parish. There is also a charity school, for the education of twelve poor girls, begun by the late, and continued by the present Mrs. Danby, of Swinton Park. Masham Prebend, which existed till the year 1546, was then dissolved and made a Lay Fee, by Archbishop Holgate; it consisted of the manor and rectory of Masham-cum-Kirkby Malsard, in the deanery of Catterick, and was the richest prebend in the church of York.* The Lords Scroop, of Masham and Upsall, formerly resided here; and Henry Lord le Scroop, lord treasurer, beheaded, for high treason in the reign of Henry IV. and Archbishop Scroop, who suffered the same fate in the same reign, and for a similar offence, were of that ancient family.† In the early part of the 16th century, the Scroops falling in the male line, the Burton estate came by marriage into possession of the Wyvils, and the Masham estate into possession of Sir Christopher Danby, Knt. and it is now enjoyed by Wm. Danby, Esq. of Swinton Park, whose superb mansion is within half a mile of the town, and whose highly picturesque grounds extend from the vicinity of Masham, to the margin of the moors, large tracts of which, his zeal for improvements has served to reclaim. The population of Masham amounts to 1171.

MIDDLEHAM, (P.) in the wap. of Hang West, and liberty of Richmondshire; 9 miles from Leyburn, 8 from Masham, and 9 from Bedale. This is a small market town, containing a population of 890 souls. The market day is on Monday, but owing to its vicinity to the more flourishing town of Leyburn, the attendance has become very slender. As a place of trade Middleham probably never had any high interest, but its castle, even in ruins, will for ages to come attract attention:—This castle was built about A. D. 1190, by Robert, surnamed Fitz Ramulph, grandson of Ribald, younger brother of Allan, Earl of Brittany, to whom all Wensleydale was given by Conan, Earl of Brittany and Richmond. It afterwards came into the possession of Lord Robert de Nevil, who, being detected in a criminal conversation with a lady in Craven, was by the enraged husband emasculated, of which he died soon after. In the reign of Henry VI. it belonged to the Earl of Salisbury, and from hence, in the thirty-seventh year of that king's reign, he marched with 4000 men for London, to demand the redress of his son's grievances. Here, according to Stowe, the bastard Falconbridge was beheaded in 1471, after having received a royal pardon. In this castle, Edward IV. was confined, after having been surprised and taken prisoner, in his camp at Welby, by Richard Nevil, Earl of Warwick, surnamed the king maker, but he escaped, while taking the diversion of hunting in the extensive park, by which it was then surrounded, and afterwards vanquished, and slew Warwick, at Barnet. The estate being forfeited, Edward settled Middleham castle upon his brother of Gloucester, afterwards Richard III. who took so great a liking to it, that he raised the rectory to a deanery, and intended to build a college here, in the field called Frodingham field, but his design was frustrated by his death, Edward, the only son of Richard, was born here; but from that time to the present this castle is scarcely mentioned in history. All that is further known of it is, that in 1698, it was inhabited by Sir Henry Lindsey, Knight, whose effects were sold at his death, and the inventory is still extant. When it ceased to be inhabited is not ascertained.—There is a tradition, that it was reduced to ruins, by Oliver Cromwell, but it is unsupported by history. The castle stands near the town; it is a very extensive and interesting ruin, and the best view is that from the south west. Ascending from the castle towards the south, there stand, at the distance of 500 yards, two eminences, evidently raised for military purposes; and at a station about an equal distance from the castle, and these eminences, the walls afford an echo, "the most distinct and loud," says Grose, from whom we quote, "I ever remember to have heard." The castle was formerly moated round by the help of springs, and some traces of the moat are yet visible. The parish church of Middleham is dedicated to St. Mary and St. Alkeld, and the living is a deanery, in the gift of the King, of which the Rev. Peter Scrimshire Wood, L. L. D. is the incumbent, and the Rev. J. Cockcroft the resident curate.—There are two dissenting chapels, one for the Methodists, and the other for the Primitive Methodists. The town is well built: it is said to have derived its name from having at one time formed the centre, or middle of a number of hamlets. About half a mile to the SW. of the town is Middleham Moor, the famous school of the turf, where so many celebrated horses have received their first training.

 and liberty of Langbergh; 5 miles ENE. of Stockton. There was an ancient chapel here, dedicated to St. Hilda, which was dependent on the church at Stainton; but, on the grant thereof to the Abbey of Whithby, confirmed by King Henry I. and by Thur-stan, Archbishop of York, it was severed from the mother church, and made parochial. It was certified to the goodness of the bounty of Queen Anne at 6*l.* per annum, and has since had three augmentations, by lot, laid out in lands, which produces an income of about 40*l.* a year: Thomas Hustler, of Aeklam hall, Esq. is the patron, and nominates the curate. The chapel has been long in ruins, and nothing of it now remains: the site, together with the chapel yard, which is still used, occasionally as a burying place by the inhabitants, lies open, and uninclosed from the adjoining grounds.
 Population, 40.

Merton-upon-Swale, in the parish of Ainderby Steeple, wap. of Gilling West, and liberty of Richmondshire; 3 miles WSW. of Northallerton.—Population, 240.

Moss Dale, in the parish of Aysarth, wap. of Hang West, and liberty of Richmondshire; 4 miles WNW. of Hawes; small hamlet, pleasantly situated at the stern extremity of Wensleydale, near to the source of the river Ure, and is said to have derived its name from the soil, which abounds with mossy verdure.

Moulton, in the parish of Middleton Tyas, wap. of Gilling East, and liberty of Richmondshire; 4 miles NE. of Richmond. Pop. 236.

Mount Grace, in the parish of St Harlecy, and wap. of Birdforth; 7 miles NE. of Northallerton. Thomas Howard, Duke of Surrey, Earl of Kent, and Lord Wake, founded a Carthusian Priory here, about the year 1396: but having incurred against Henry IV. he was taken in battle, and beheaded; this put a stop to the work till Henry VI. confirmed his grants in 1419, after which it flourished till the general dissolution, when its revenues were valued at 383*l.* 5*s.* 11*d.* per annum. The priory was granted, in 1540, to James Strangeways. The secluded situation and romantic character of this monastery seem to have been peculiarly adapted to the austerities of the strict order of the Carthusians placed here, 11 of which there were only nine houses in England. A Gothic archway forms the entrance into the quadrangle, the outer walls of which inclose about three acres of ground, and are still standing, fantastically covered with ivy; the inner court is surrounded by high walls, and contained the cells of those solitary monks, the doors of which, though now walled up, may be distinctly traced, and fourteen in number. A part of the building has been converted into a farm house, of an oblong form, with spacious apartments. The church, which is now in ruins, was in form of a cross; the tower, which is yet left, rising from the centre, supported four Gothic arches. On the summit of the hill that shelters the priory on the east, the ruins of an ancient building, called Lady's chapel, to which the ascent is steep and difficult.

Mouthorpe, in the parish of Terton, and wap. of Bulmer; 7 miles SW. of Malton.

Moxby, in the parish of Marton, wap. of Bulmer, & liberty of Ripon; 5 miles E. of Easingwold.

MUKER, in the parish of Grinton, wap. of Gilling West, and liberty of Richmondshire; 6 miles NNW. of Askrigg. Here is a Chapel of Ease to the parish church, which is dedicated to St. Mary, and was consecrated August 3d, 1580, and of which the Rev. John Clemison is curate. This township comprises the high part of Swaledale, adjoining to Westmoreland, and is 10 miles in extent from east to west, being divided into ten divisions, or hamlets. There is at Muker a Grammar school for the education of six poor children, with an endowment of 30*l.* a year: and also a subscription library, established in 1819. The market, which has been established by custom, is held on Wednesday, and is well supplied with the necessaries of life. There is likewise an annual fair for sheep and general merchandise, held on the Wednesday next before Old Christmas day. The north side of the Dale abounds with lead mines; there is also a good vein of iron ore, with coal and lime.—The only natural curiosity is the cascade, called Keasden Force, which is formed by the Swale falling over some rugged rocks, into a very secluded and romantic dell, about two miles and a half north west of Muker. The whole population of the township amounts to 1425.

Mulgrave Castle, in the parish of Lythe, wap. and liberty of Langbargh; 4 miles NW. of Whitby. Here was a castle, 200 years before the Norman conquest.

which then belonged to Wade, a Saxon duke, who died about the year 800, and whose remains were interred on a high hill in the neighbourhood, between two large blocks of stone, each about seven feet high, and whom tradition represents as a giant—After passing through various families, it became the property of Edward Lord Sheffield, who was by Charles I. created Earl of Mulgrave: and of which family it is recorded, that Sir John Sheffield, Knight, and Edmund and Philip, his brothers, were drowned, in crossing the Ouse, at Whitgift ferry, in December, 1614; William was drowned in France, and George broke his neck, in a new riding-house which his father had made of an old consecrated chapel.* This family became extinct in 1735; but the title was revived in the person of Constantine Phipps, a captain in the Royal Navy, and a descendant of the Anglesey family, who was created Baron Mulgrave in Ireland, in 1767, and in the year 1774, a lease of the Mulgrave estate was confirmed to him, for the sum of 30,000*l.* and a quit rent of 1200*l.* per annum. His son, Constantine John, was created a peer of Great Britain, in the year 1790. By his wife, Eliza Anne, daughter of Nathaniel Cholmley, Esq. he had a daughter, but dying without male issue, in 1798, his English title became extinct, but was revived, in 1794, in the person of his brother Henry, the present Lord, who was created Earl in 1812. The ancient Castle of Mulgrave having been garrisoned by the King's forces in the reign of Charles I. was afterwards dismantled by order of the Parliament; and there is now nothing left from which we can form any just idea of its ancient magnificence. The present seat of Lord Mulgrave, which is also known by the name of Mulgrave Castle, is in a commanding situation on the coast, at a small distance from the ancient castle. The views from the house are romantic and varied. The ground, declining to the south east, opens a fine prospect of the sea; Whitby pier, with the ships coming out of the harbour, the venerable ruins of the Abbey appearing high above the horizon, and the black Promontory of Saltwick, contrasted with the white foaming billows at its foot, compose altogether, a scene equally picturesque and interesting.

Murton, in the parish of Osbaldwick, wap. of Bulmer, and liberty of St. Peter's; 3 miles E. of York.—Here is a Chapel of Ease, and, in reality, an easy chapel, as divine service is performed only a few times a the year. Pop. 134.

Muscaton, in the parish of Kirkdale, and wap. of Rydale; 4½ miles S. of Kirkby-Moor-Side. Pop. 66.

MYTON-UPON-SWALE, (P.) is the wap. of Bulmer; 3 miles E. of Borough-bridge. Here is a very handsome church, dedicated to St. Mary; the living is a vicarage, in the patronage of the Archbishop of York, and the Rev. R. S. Thompson is the incumbent. In the year 1830, the remains of the famous Roger de Mowbray were removed from Byland Abbey, and interred here. A ferry for cattle, carriages, &c. passes over the Swale at this point, in view of the elegant mansion of M. B. Stapylton, Esq. In the year 1319, the Scots entering England, laid waste the country with fire and sword, and continuing their depredations, advanced to the walls of York; after burning the suburbs of that city, they returned northwards, on which William de Melton, Archbishop of Yorks immediately raised an army, composed of clergymen, monks, canons, husbandmen, labourers, and tradesmen, to the amount of 10,000 men; with this undisciplined band the Archbishop overtook the Scots at Myton; a battle ensued, the Yorkshiremen were defeated, and upwards of 2000 of them were slain. On which occasion, such a number of ecclesiastics fell, that this fight was, for a long time, called ironically, the White Battle.† Pop. 106.

NAPPA, in the parish of Aygarth, wap. of Hang West, and liberty of Richmondshire; 1½ mile E. of Askrigg. This was anciently the chief seat of the family of Metcalfe, which, it is said, was, at one time, the most numerous of any in England.—Sir Christopher Metcalfe, Knight, chief of the family, being high sheriff in the year 1555, was attended by 300 horsemen, all of his own family and name, and all in the same habit, to meet the Judges of assize, and conduct them to York. The village is now the property of Lord Grantham.

NEWBROUGH, or Newburgh, in the parish of Coxwold, and wap. of Birdforth; 5 miles NE. of Easingwold: was the estate of Robert de Mowbray, who was created Earl of Northumberland, by William I. in 1092: the year following he defeated the Scots, at Aluwick, where Malcolm III. and his son Edward, were both slain: but swolting soon after from the King, he was apprehended, and kept a prisoner thirty years in Windsor Castle, where he died. His estate was given to Nigel de Albini, whose son, Roger, assumed the name of Mowbray, and founded a priory here, for Canons regular of the order of St. Augustine, in the year 1145. Newburgh, the famous monkish historian, was a canon regular in this priory about the year 1200. Pop. 162.

NORTHALLERTON, (P.)

in the wap. and liberty of Allertonshire; 8 miles from Bedale, 9 from Thirsk, and 16 from Richmond. This is a brisk market town, pleasantly situated on the side of a rising ground, gently sloping towards the east. The market place is spacious, and surrounded with very good houses: the town, in general, well built of brick. The market is held on Wednesday, and there are sur fairs.* Here stood a castle, one of the strongest fortresses in the North of England, which was repaired and enlarged by Hugh Tudsey, Bishop of Durham, but a quarrel arising betwixt that prelate and Henry II. the King ordered this castle to be rased to its foundations. While the civil war between King Stephen and the Empress Matilda, raged with destructive fury, David King of Scotland, entering the English territory, ravaged Northumberland, Durham, and the northern parts of Yorkshire, in a successful manner, and advancing to the very gates of York, encamped before that city. In this emergency, Thurstan, Archbishop of York, who was Lieutenant Governor of the northern parts of the kingdom, summoned the warlike nobles to the defence of their country. The barons having assembled their followers, ranged themselves under the command of Ralph, Bishop of the Orkney Islands, Thurstan's Lieutenant, and Walter L'Espee, and William de Albemarle. On hearing of this armament, the Scottish king retired from before York, while the barons advanced to Northallerton. On Cutton Moor in this parish they erected their standard, which was a tall mast, fixed in a huge chariot, upon wheels, having at the top a pike, with a consecrated host, and a cross, from which were suspended the banner of St. Peter, St. John of Beverley, and St. Wilfred. The Bishop made an oration to the army, and at the conclusion pronounced absolution of their sins to all that should fall in the war. The English, thus encouraged, waited the approach of the enemy. The Scots, relying on their superiority of numbers, rushed on to the attack; but although the King of Scotland and his son, Henry, gave, on this occasion, the most astonishing proofs of valour and intrepidity, their army was totally routed, with the loss of 10,000 men, and they were glad to retire to their own country with the shattered remains of their forces. The battle was fought on the 23d of August, 1138, and from the excitement produced by the chariot-mounted banners, obtained the designation of The Battle of the Standard. In the 26th of Edward I. this borough sent two members to parliament, but for nearly four hundred years the privilege was intermitted, and it was not till the year 1640 that it was again resumed, by order of the House of Commons. Twenty years afterwards Francis Lascelles, Esq. a member of this borough, was discharged from being a member of parliament, because he had sat as one of the judges on the trial of Charles I. The right of voting here is in the burgage-holders, which amount to about two hundred in number; the bailiff of the Bishop of Durham is the returning officer, and the patronage of the borough is in the Earl of Harwood and Henry Piers, Esq. The present members are the Hon. Sebright Lascelles, and Henry Piers, Esq. The municipal government of the town is vested in a bailiff, deputed and authorised by the Bishop of Durham, who is lord of the manor. The church is dedicated to All Saints; and the living is a vicarage, in the patronage of the Dean and Chapter of Durham. The ancient institutions of this place were, a hospital.

* See Lists of Fairs with Vol. I.

dedicated to St. James, founded by Hugh Pudsey, Bishop of Durham, for a master, three chaplains, four brethren, two sisters, and nine poor persons; Richard de Moor, draper, of Northallerton, also founded a hospital here, in 1476, for thirteen poor men and women, but some of its possessions have been alienated. Here was also a House of Carmelite White Friars, dedicated to St. Mary; and William de Alverton gave the Austin Friars eight acres of ground in the town to build them a church and habitation thereon, in the 16th of Edward III.

The manufactures of this town at present are linen cloth and leather; and the law proceedings of the North Riding are a good deal concentrated in this place. The Court House is situated at the east side of the town, where the Quarter Sessions for the North Riding are held, and in which the Bishop of Durham, the Chief Bailiff for the Liberty of Allertonshire, holds his Manor and li-mote Courts, and where the magistrates, sitting for the division of Allertonshire, assemble on the Wednesday weekly, to dispense justice. The Register-office of the North-riding is here. The House of Correction, which is the gaol of the North Riding, stands adjoining the court-house, in which are confined from time to time from 50 to 100 prisoners. About two years ago a corn mill called a stepping-mill, was erected for the employment of the male and female prisoners, consisting of three pairs of stones, a dressing mill and rollers for grinding malt which has been found to answer the purpose intended by this kind of labour. Mr. Thomas Shepherd (the father of the Keepers of the West and East Riding Houses of Correction) is the Governor, and this prison has the reputation of being well conducted. The population of the place amounts to 2626.

NORTON CONYERS, in the parish of Wath, wap. and liberty of Allertonshire; 3 miles N. of Ripon. This was once the seat of the family of the Nortons: of whom Richard Norton was Chief Justice of England, about the year 1400: from him descended Richard Norton, who, with his sons, in 1569, engaged in the religious rebellion of the Earls of Northumberland and Westmoreland, against Queen Elizabeth, which was soon suppressed. Mr. Norton, and his sons, with many others, were executed, and the estate given to the Musgraves.

“ Thee, Norton! with thine eight good sons
 “ They doom’d to dye, alas! for ruth,
 “ Thy reverend locks thee could not save,
 “ Nor them their faire and blooming youth!”

From the Musgraves, this estate passed to the family of Graham. Sir Richard Graham, was a very active officer, on the side of royalty; who, after having received twenty-six wounds, in the battle of Marston-Moor, fled, when all was lost, towards his own house here, which he reached that night: and expired about an hour after his arrival. The estate still remains in his family, and is now the seat of Sir Bellingham Graham, Bart. Pop. 87.

J. Haddon Asquith, Esq.

Norton-le-Clay, in the parish of Cundall, wap. of Halikeld, and liberty of Richmondshire; 3 miles NE. of Boroughbridge. Pop. 142.

Nosterfield, in the parish of West Tanfield, wap. of Hang East, and liberty of Richmondshire; 3½ miles E. of Masham. There is here a small Methodist chapel.

NUNNINGTON, in the parishes of Nunnington and Stonegrave, and wap. of Rydale; 5½ miles SSW. of Kirkby-Moor-Side. This place is pleasantly situated on the banks of the Rye, and on the declivity of a hill, commanding an extensive and picturesque prospect. At the east end of the village is an ancient mansion, once the seat of Lord Viscount Preston; at a more recent date of Lord Widdrington, and now in the possession of Sir Bellingham Graham. The church is an ancient structure, dedicated to All Saints; the living is a rectory, of which the King is patron, and the Rev. William Keary, the incumbent. Here are two handsome marble monuments erected to the memory of the Lords Preston and Widdrington. There is a free-school in this village, founded by Ranold Graham, Esq. in 1678, and endowed by him with 6*l.* per annum for six scholars, with 4*l.* per annum by David Bedford, of Nunnington, for four scholars; and twenty others are annually put to school by the voluntary bounty of Sir Bellingham Graham, besides two others educated at the expense of Mr. Peacock, of London, making a total of thirty-two scholars. Mr. George Marshall, is the present master. This charity is at present under the consideration of the commissioners of charities, as it is supposed that the original endowment was not a money payment, but rental of land. Ranold Graham, Esq. also founded and endowed an hospital here in 1678, for three poor widows and three poor widowers, with 12*l.* per annum, and 2*l.* for the repair of the building. The inmates of the hospital receive an additional sum of twelve shillings per annum, together with a new coat, stuff gown, &c. every two years, but the source from which these increased allowances arise is unknown. Population, 418.

NUNTHORPE, in the parish of Ayton, wap. and liberty of Langbargh; 3½ miles NE. of Stokesley. Nunthorpe-hall was formerly a seat of the Constables, whose arms still remain over a door at the south end of one of the out-buildings. The Chapel of Ease, dedicated to St. Mary, is a small dilapidated structure, which is at present condemned to be pulled down, and re-placed with a new one: the living was formerly only a stipendary payment of 10*l.* per annum. but it has lately been augmented by Queen Ann's bounty, and established a perpetual curacy; the present incumbent is the Rev. John Thompson, and the patrons, are Thos. Simpson, Esq. and Thomas Masterman. It appears from Domesday-book and other authentic records, that this place was anciently written Thorp, from the Saxon Doppe, which simply signifies a village; and that it received its present distinguishing name from a small Cistercian Nunnery, which was first founded at Hutton, in the parish of Guisborough, by Ralph de Neville, about the year 1162; and afterwards removed hither, when the place, from that circumstance, was called Nun-thorpe. Pop. 110.

ORMESBY, (P.) in the wap. and liberty of Langbargh; 6 miles W. of Guisborough. Ormesby hall is a neat modern mansion, situated upon a gentle rising eminence, at a little distance from the village, towards the south, and commands a pleasing prospect of the winding course of the river Tees, with a view of the sea, and the southern part of the county of Durham. The church, dedicated to St. Cuthbert, stands near the mansion, and is a small, and very ancient structure; the living is a vicarage, in the patronage of the Archbishop of York. Here is a public school, supported by voluntary contributions. James Pennyman, Esq. was a loyalist in the time of King Charles I. and had a large sum levied upon him for his loyalty, by the sequestrators; to defray which, he was obliged to dispose of a part of his estate, at Ormesby; which was sold to Mr. Elwes, for the sum of 3,500*l.* As a proof of the rapid improvement and advance in the value of landed property in England within 50 years, it may be remarked that this estate was purchased about the year 1720, by Ralph Robinson, Esq. for the sum of 7,500*l.* and, in the year 1770, was sold by his nephew, Marshall Robinson, Esq. to the late Sir James Pennyman, Bart. for the sum of 47,500*l.* Population, 349.

PICKERING, (P.)

In the wap. and liberty of Pickering Lythe; 8 miles from Kirkby-Moor-Side; 9 from Malton; and 18 from Seafbro'. This town belongs to the Duchy of Lancaster, having jurisdiction over several neighbouring villages, called the honour of Pickering. It is a place of great antiquity, and formerly sent two members to parliament, but it no longer retains that privilege. The town is long and straggling, but it is pleasantly situated on an eminence, at the bottom of which runs a brook, called Pickering Beck. Here is a weekly market on Monday. The church is an ancient and spacious building, with a lofty spire, dedicated to St. Peter, and the living is a vicarage, in the patronage of the Dean of York. Near the western extremity of the town stands the castle, which is now in a very ruinous state; and part of the ground within the walls is converted into gardens. The brow of the hill commands a delightful view over the vale of Pickering, celebrated for its fertility. In the reign of King Henry III. William, Lord Daere, was owner of this castle and lordship; it afterwards became the property of Edmond Plantagenet, second son of King Henry III. who was succeeded by his son, Thos. Plantagenet, Earl of Lancaster. In the tyrannic reign of Edward II. he was beheaded at Pontefract, in the year 1322. This manor and castle, with all its appendages, were afterwards given to the lady Blanch, then the wife of John of Gaunt, Duke of Lancaster. Richard II. was for some time imprisoned in the castle here, before his removal to Pontefract; as appears by the following lines, from Hardyng's Chronicle:

The kyng then sent kyng Richard to Ledia,
There to be kepte surely in privitye
Fro thens after to Pykering went he needis.
And to Knaresbro' after led was hee
But to Pontefrète last where he did dee.

This castle was of an irregular figure; in the first court were 4 towers, one of which was called Rodmond's tower; in the inner court were three towers, besides the keep, which stood on a circular mount, surrounded by a deep ditch. The whole of this once stupendous castle is now a mass of ruins. Pickering Forest was an appurtenance to the castle, and was very extensive. There is here a Subscription Library, and an endowed Free School, of which the Rev. Warcup Patey is master. There is also a Calvinist, a Methodist, and a Primitive Methodist chapel, & a Friends' meeting house. The town has an ancient honour court for the recovery of debts, and the trial of actions, where the matter in dispute does not exceed the value of 40s. At Keld Head, near this place, there is a spring so copious, that it is supposed to raise 500 gallons of water in a minute. Pop. 3746.

Here are the remains of an ancient castle; the time of its erection is not known, but it is said to have existed before the conquest, and at that period, together with the manor, belonged to a baron named Barhulf; who, in his old age became a monk in St. Mary's Abbey, at York: he granted to that monastery the church of Ravenworth, in pure alms. On the face of the broken tower are some large letters, but by the injuries of time they are altogether illegible. Pop. 317.

S. of Akrigg. In the centre of this picturesque valley is Simmer Water, a lake of the area of 105 acres at its lowest ebb; but frequently, during heavy rains, it augments its surface to the area of 150 acres; its greatest depth is eight fathoms. The following is an enumeration of the fish and insects that are found in this fruitful lake, viz.—Brama, Cyprinus Brama; Roach, Rutilus; Minnow, Phoxinus; Loach, Barbatula; Bullhead, Gobio Fluvialis; Trout, Salmo Fario; Eel, Muræna Anguilla; Cray-fish or fresh water Lobsters, Cancer Astacus; Muscle, Mytilus Cygnus; Pike and Gad-geon, which have been lately introduced.

The lake is a favourite resort of water fowl. This romantic valley was the birthplace of the late celebrated Dr. John Fothergill, who was born at Carr-end, near Simmer Water, on the 8th of March, 1712; and died at his house, Harper-street, London, the 26th of December, 1780. On the North West side of this sheet of water are two beautiful cataracts, contiguous to each other, whose rocky sides are covered with a variety of trees. These romantic waterfalls are known by the names of High and Low Foss.

REDCAR,

In the parish of Marake, wap. and liberty of Langbargh; 7 miles N. of Guisbro'. Formerly this was only a small fishing village, composed principally of huts, but latterly it has risen into considerable eminence as a sea-bathing place, and its fishing concerns have increased as the demand from the interior of the country has extended. There are here several good inns, and a number of commodious lodging houses, with machines and the other requisites for the accommodation of visitors; but in all parts of the year the town, near the beach, presents a somewhat dreary appearance, from the vast masses of sand which the winds of winter drift into the streets, and which are never wholly dissipated. The air of Redcar is, however, salubrious, and the surrounding country, which presents the picturesque ness of Marske, Guisbro', Skelton, Kirkleatham, is truly delightful. The population returns of this village present an extraordinary disparity, the females exceeding the males in the proportion of upwards of 3 to 2. The returns of 1821, stand thus: males 279, females 394, total 673. The difference is accounted for by the men, who are chiefly in sea-faring line, being obliged to emigrate, to find employment. It does not appear, however, that the progress of population is stayed by the absence of so large a portion of the males, for, notwithstanding this circumstance, there has, during the last 10 years, been an actual increase of 50 per cent. The 10 years before it was retrograde, having diminished from 431, the amount in 1801, to 411, the number in 1811. The only place of worship in the town is a neat Methodist chapel, but it has been determined to build a new church. The coast of Redcar is very rocky, and the navigation dangerous, but an excellent nautical chart, by Thompson, has lately been published, which has greatly diminished the number of shipwrecks, and the Life-boat, established here in 1809, which is very spacious and complete, renders these casualties as fatal when they do occur. It is stated on authority, that from 1800 to 1816, the number of vessels driven on shore, or lost off his coast, was on an average, five annually, but that from 1816 to 1821, the yearly average has been reduced to one and half.

Bye-post every day during the bathing season; and on Mon. Wed. Thu. and Sat. in Winter, dep. each morn. at 6, to Guisbro', in time for the Cleveland post, ret. 12 noon.

REETH,

In the parish of Grinton, wap. of Gilling West, and liberty of Richmondshire; 8 miles from Leyburn; 40 from Richmond, and 10 from Aaskrigg. Reeth is situated about half a mile above the confluence of the river Ebb and Swale, upon an eminence inclining to the south, and many of the views from the town and neighbourhood are extremely beautiful and highly picturesque. There is a market on Friday, held by charter, granted to Philip Lord Wharton, in the 6th of William and Mary, and a number of fairs, for which see list of fairs. The town is irregularly built; but its form approaches to a square. The places of worship are a chapel for the Independents, erected in 1785, and another for the Methodists in 1799. There is also a school erected in 1779, at the gift of Mank Abbey; and endowed with 30*l.* a year by Messrs. Leonard and George Raw, of the Society of Friends, the school room of which is used on first day by that community as a place of religious worship. The staple manufacture of the place is knitted stockings of which article there is produced in the dale of Swale and Wensley, an amount of at least 50,000*l.* a year, which is bought up principally by the neighbouring hoisiers for exportation. The lead mines of Swaledale, Afton-garthdale and Red Hurst, serve to enrich this neighbourhood, and it is estimated that their annual produce amounts to 4000 tons. The township of Reeth consists of Reeth, Fremington and Healaugh. To the west of Healaugh, in a field called Hallgarth, are still to be seen the remains of a house said to have belonged to John of Garm: Duke of Lancaster, who was lord of the manor.—Opposite Healaugh, is a hill called Harber, where are the remains of an entrenchment called Maiden's Castle, about one hundred yards square. Along the east of the hill there is another intrenchment, much larger than the former. There is also another entrenchment which runs in a direct line across the dale, and passes through Fremington, where some pieces of armour have been found, from which it is inferred that these works were of Roman origin. Pop. 1460.

RICHMOND, (P.)

Is situated in the wap. of Gilling West, and liberty of Richmondshire; 8 miles from Ley-burn; 10 from Reeth; and 16 from North-allerton: The town stands on an eminence, boldly rising from the Swale, which winds in a semi-circular form at the foot of the castle.
In the time of Letard, this was a walled town, and in the wall there had been three gates—French gate, to the north; Finkle gate, to the west; and Barr gate, leading to the Bridge over the Swale; but even then the gates were down, and their sites were marked only by vestiges. Alan Rufus, one of the adventurers who accompanied William the Conqueror, in his descent on England, and who commanded the rear guard of his army in the battle of Hastings, was the founder of this town and Castle, which, though seated on a rock, and on the verge of the moors, received the name of "Rich-mount," on account of the partiality of its lords. Alan, who was the nephew of the Conqueror, and afterwards became Earl of Bretagne, received from his uncle the title of the Earl of Richmond.—
The Charter for dispossessing Earl Edwyn, the Saxon lord, of his Yorkshire estates, and conferring them upon Alan, was granted at the siege of York, in the year 1069, and is couched in these brief but comprehensive terms:—

I, WILLIAM, surnamed the Bastard, do give and grant to thee Alan, my nephew, Earl of Bretagne, and to thy heirs for ever, all the towns and lands which lately belonged to Earl Edwyn, in Yorkshire, with the Knight's fees, churches, and other privileges and customs, in as free and honourable a manner as the said Ed-wyn held them.

It appears from Madox's history of the Exchequer, that this grant conveyed 140
Knight's fees, each fee containing 12 plow-lands, or 640 acres; and Richmondshire, the seat of these ample possessions, contains 104 parishes. This jurisdiction compre-hends the five wapentakes of Halikeld,

Gilling East and Gilling West, and Hang East and Hang West. It has the Tees for its northern boundary; the Wiske to the east; the Ure to the south; and the wapentake of Claro and Staincliffe to the west.—The foundations of Richmond, and of its Castle, were laid about the year 1087, and this archdeaconry, like all the archdeaconries in the Cathedral of York, was founded in the time of Archbishop Thomas, who sat from 1070 to 1100.

In fixing upon a site for his castle, which was to serve at once for a place of residence and a station of defence, Earl Alan selected the strongest point in his domain, and laid the foundations on the almost perpendicular rock on the left bank of the Swale. To increase its security, his successors, Alan the younger, and Stephen Fergaunt, encompassed it with a high wall, about 800 yards in length, embattled and flanked with lofty towers. To the south, the west, and the east, the fortress was rendered impregnable by the combined operation of nature and art; and on the north, which was the weakest side, Conan, the fourth Earl of Richmond, built the great square tower, or keep, in 1146, the walls of which, with their pinnacled watch towers, from their extraordinary thickness, have braved the dilapidating hand of time, and retain at this day their original dimensions, and stability. From this tower, which is 99 feet high, with walls 11 feet thick, the defenders of the castle had a commanding view of the surrounding country; and in case of attack, all the movements of their enemies became as visible to them, as if they had been made in the court yard of the fortress. To strengthen this approach, an outwork, called the Barbican, was erected, which defended the gate and the draw-bridge at the principal entrance. On the top of the walls, and on the flat roofs of the buildings, stood the defenders of the castle, and from thence discharged their arrows and missiles, according to the usages of war, before Schwartz, the German priest, had facilitated the work of destruction, by the invention of gunpowder.* A tower, about 14 feet deep, which probably served as a staircase to the Scolland, so called from the name of the high steward in the time of Earl Allan, still remains; and tradition, which is apt to deal in the marvellous, has made it the entrance to a subterraneous passage from the castle to the priory of St. Martin, under the bed of the Swale! The Earls, who were the friends, and of the family of princes, lived here in almost regal style; and the Scolland, which was 167 feet long by 27 broad, was the banquetting room for the lord and his numerous officers and retainers. Happily, this castle, with almost all the other inland fortresses of England, has long since fallen into ruin.—The people want not their protection, nor the princes their aid. Rapine and hostile alarm have ceased, and the settled administration of law neither craves nor allows of these feudal auxiliaries. Richmond Castle, does not appear to have owed its destruction either to the hostile attack of an enemy, or to the dismantling enactments of a parliament, but merely to the neglect of the possessors, who, in the succession of ages, had suffered the buildings to fall into decay; and when Leland made his itinerary, in the 26th year of the reign of Henry VIII. this castle was then in ruins.* "After having stood," says the historian of Richmond, "the conflicts of the war of elements, and the depredation of man for upwards of seven centuries, nothing is now left but a poor remnant of its former strength and magnificence, and a melancholy monument of the destructive hand of time!"

At the back of French gate, a little without the walls, stood the monastery of the Grey Friars, founded in 1258, by Ralph Fitz-Randal, Lord of Middleham, and after flourishing nearly three centuries, was surrendered in 1538, by Robert Sanderson, the last warden, and fourteen brethren. Several of the families of Scroop, Plessey, and Frank; were buried here. In the time of Leland, the house, garden, orchard, and meadow, were walled in, and the edifice existed unimpaired; but there now remains only a solitary steeple, majestic and beautiful in ruins, to mark the residence and the sanctuary of that order of mendicants, called after their founder, the Franciscans. The ruins of this little monastery, and the premises, with the walls, are now the property of John Robinson, Esq. through whose public spirit the grounds have been freed from many unsightly incumbrances, and planted with shrubs and ornamental trees. To the west of the Friary was a Nunnery, but it has disappeared, and even its history is unknown.

The ruins of the Monastery of St. Martin stand on the southern bank of the Swale, near a mile from the town. The corroding hand of time has been busy here, and, saving the situation, there is little admire about this ancient cell of the Benedictines. (See Martin St. Abbey.) On the north east side of the river, at about a mile below Richmond, the remains of the Premonstratensian abbey of St. Agatha attract the attention of the visitor, and reward him for the time bestowed upon the inspection of his monument of baronial munificence.—The abbey, owing to its vicinity, is generally called Easby Abbey, and the date of its erection with the name of its founder are given under the name of Easby.

The parish church of Richmond, which is situated on the declivity of the hill, is dedicated to St. Mary; the living is a rectory, and the patron is the King. This church is provided with a fine toned organ, and within the church and the burial ground are several monuments that may serve to satisfy the curious and impress the contemplative. The chapel of the Holy Trinity stands in the middle of the town, and formerly belonged to St. Mary's at York. The Rev. Mr. Atkinson, A. B. is the perpetual curate.—Divine service is performed here every Sunday morning and afternoon. The Consistory court, for the Archdeaconry of Richmond, is held in two rooms adjoining the north aisle in this chapel. This court has the institution of churches within the archdeaconry, and the use and custody of them as long as they shall be vacant; it has also the power of revoking wills, granting marriage licences, stars of administration, and all other matters relating to ecclesiastical causes; but there is an appeal from the decisions of the consistory court, to the Archbishop of the province. The Rev. Francis Blackburne, rector of Cleveland, and author of the Confessional,* was for eight and forty years rector of the parish church of Richmond, and died here in 1787, in the eighty-second year of his age.

The Methodists have a handsome and commodious chapel in Ryder's Wynd, built in 1807; The Quakers have also a meeting-house in Fryer's Wynd, but it is now likewise appropriated. There is also a Baptist chapel. Besides these places of constant worship, a Catholic chapel was erected in 1811, in Newbiggin, at a cost of 900*l.* by Sir John Lawson, Bart. in the gable window of which there is a fine painting of the Crucifixion.

Richmond is a town corporate, and has been a borough ever since the erection of the site. Indeed, a Norman castle was never thought a borough,† and the term "borough," implies merely the inhabitants who constructed their dwellings under the walls and protection of a castle. Alan III. Duke of Bretagne, made a grant to the burgesses of Richmond of his borough and land of Fostonay in Fee Farm, on condition of paying him 2*l.* a year, which charter was confirmed by Edward III. Queen Elizabeth afterwards incorporated the town, in the 19th year of her reign, and in the 27th of the same reign the burgesses were called upon to send members to Parliament. By a charter granted by Charles II. on the 14th of March, 1668, the government of the town was placed in the hands of the mayor and aldermen; and the corporation now consists of a mayor, a recorder,† 12 aldermen, a town clerk, 24 common council men, and two sergeants at mace. The mayor is chosen on the feast of St. Hilary, and is a justice of the peace during his mayoralty, and one year afterwards. The magistrates hold their meetings every Monday morning; and a Court-Leet twice in the year, namely, at East and Michaelmas. A Court of Record is also held here every fortnight throughout the year, before the Mayor, Recorder, or Seneschall, and three aldermen for all manner of actions, suits, and demands below 100*l.* The revenue of the corporation amounts to about 400*l.* a year, and the two Chamberlains, who collect the rents, are annually chosen by the Mayor out of the Common Council.

The right of electing members of Parliament is in the owners of ancient burgages in the borough, who have also a right of pasture in a common field, called Whitecliffe pasture: the number of voters is about two hundred and seventy, of whom Lord Dundas possesses a decided majority. The mayor is the returning officer, and the present members are,—Samuel Mountain Barrett, Esq. of Carlton Hall, and the Hon. Thomas Dundas.

The town hall is a handsome and convenient structure, in which the public business of the town is transacted, and the General Quarter Sessions, both of the borough and riding are held. The corporation, to whom the town is indebted for this edifice, has had an eye on its erection to pleasure as well as business, and hence it contains a large and elegant room, 70 feet long and 24 wide, in which balls and assemblies are held, and the other public gaieties of the town enjoyed. The Duke of Leeds is the chief bailiff of the liberty and franchise of Richmond and Richmondshire.

† The Recorder is nominated by the Mayor and Aldermen, and that office is filled by George Wailes, Esq. Barrister at Law.

* Dr. Whitaker's Richmondshire.

The Gaol belongs to his Grace, who holds a court here for the trial of causes, when the amount at issue does not amount to 40s.

The following is a list of the Corporation in 1822:—

MAYOR—John Fox, Esq.

RECORDEE—George Wailes, Esq.

"The Free Grammar School of Richmond," says our usual authority upon these subjects, "is situated in the church yard of the low church, (St. Mary's) and was founded and endowed by the burgesses, on the 14th of March, 1568." The guardians and governors of the school and its revenues are the Mayor and Aldermen of Richmond, and in them, as the successors of the Bailiffs, the right of nominating the master is vested. The gross amount of the revenue, Mr. Carlisle states at £330. per annum, arising from land, but it happens to be within our knowledge, from an unquestionable source of information, that since his book on "Endowed Schools" was compiled, and even since the last visit of the parliamentary commissioners, the depreciation in the value of land has reduced the clear revenue of the master to a sum much below three hundred pounds a year. "All children, natives in the borough, and the children of all burgesses and other persons inhabiting in the said borough, and exercising any trade, mystery, or manual occupation therein, are intitled to be taught free in the said school." The number of boys upon the foundation seldom exceeds 20, and the average number of boarders and free scholars amounts to about 50 in the whole. The present master is the Rev. James Tate, M. A. (or as he is frequently called Dr. Tate, public estimation having conferred upon this worthy divine that honour, to which, by his learning he is well entitled.) This gentleman takes pupils at one hundred guinea a year each for board and education, of whom the number is limited, and does not exceed those of his own children. The usher, the Rev. E. J. Lockwood, A. B. who is engaged at a salary of one hundred guinea a year, takes ten boarders, at forty-six guinea per annum. This school, which ranks among the first free grammar schools in England, has produced several eminent men, and from the estimation in which it is held at the universities, to which it yearly, (particularly to Cambridge,) sends its well qualified contributions, many more may be expected to proceed from the same source.

There are here several minor charities, which do not call for any particular enumeration: the liberality of the town also supports several Sunday schools; and the provident care of the humbler class of inhabitants has established two Friendly Societies, one for women and the other for men, from which the contributors derive assistance in sickness and old age.

From the time of the Conqueror, through several successive reigns, Richmond was a rising town, and possessed almost the exclusive trade of the shire, to which it gives its name. It had then many wealthy merchants, artificers, and other substantial inhabitants, but in the early part of the fifteenth century it had fallen into decay, and an inquisition was granted in the 18th year of the reign of Henry VI. to inquire into the causes of this reverse of fortune. From the report of the inquisitors, it appears that these causes were several—First, Richmond used to be the great mart and centre of trade, but since the time of Earl Alan, royal charters had been granted for holding markets at Masham, at Bedale, and at Middleham; second, the adjoining counties of Lancaster and Cumberland, which were formerly supplied with a considerable share of their grain from hence, had brought large tracts of their own moors and wastes into cultivation, and hereby in consequence, withdrawn themselves from this market; third, the pasture of Whitecliffe had become overgrown, and no longer produced its accustomed profit to the inhabitants by the agistment of their cattle; fourth, many burgesses, artificers, victuallers, and other inhabitants of this town had been swept away by the plague, and other epidemical diseases, and others were obliged, in consequence of the plague, to use to collect the fee-farm rents, to shut their houses to desolation, and were waiting as mendicants about the country, their wives and children. The deplorable influence of these adverse events, was, probably, soon checked, and Richmond

arge, but no larger now than it was six centuries ago. Among the modern improvements in Richmond may be mentioned the straight rectilinear and level approach which has been made into the town, by which the steep descent from the north and the steep ascent into the market are avoided; concurrent with this great public accommodation is the erection of a handsome bridge of three arches, over the Swale, in 1789, at the joint expense of the Corporation and the North Riding.

There is here a good weekly market on the Saturday, at which a great deal of corn is sold to the corn factors and millers in Swaledale and Wensleydale, where fishing is the chief pursuit of the farmer. The want of a communication for the transit of merchandise by water, has operated much to the disadvantage of this place, and the rocky nature of the bed of the Swale, with its sudden swells to which that river is subject, precludes the idea of navigation.—The annual fairs here are two, one of them on the Saturday before Palm Sunday, and the other on the feast of the Holy Cross, the 14th of September. According to ancient custom the men and tenants of the town of Richmond were free from payment of tolls, tithes, stallage, &c. these privileges were confirmed by a charter granted in the 30th of Charles II. and a copy of that grant signed by the mayor and bearing the seal of the corporation, exonerated a freeman of Richmond from tolls in every part of the kingdom. This right we believe still exists, but is ceased to be exercised, and like many other feudal privileges is in the present state of society a name without a substance. The king concerns here are the Old Bank of Messrs. Stapleton & Co. in the Market place, who draw upon Barclay & Co. London; and the New Bank of Messrs. Hutton, Other, and Pearson, also in the Market place, who draw on Pole and Co. London. At the King's Head Inn, in the Market place, there is a subscription Coffee-room, at which the London and country newspapers are received.

The town is abundantly supplied with water from Aislabeck Spring, which is conducted into reservoirs prepared for the purpose, by the corporation, and thence by pipes to different parts of the town. There is in this spirited little town a Gas Light Company, founded in 1821, the dispersion of whose brilliant fluid serves to enliven the streets and adds to the security of the inhabitants.

The country round Richmond is especially beautiful; the valley of the Swale from the terrace of the castle appears to the advantage. This place is admired by tourists for its romantic beauties, and by many is thought preferable to that "Rich Mount," on the banks of the Thames, to which it imparted its denomination four hundred years after the Earls of Richmond had built this castle on the Swale.

Within the last ten years the population of Richmond has increased 15 per cent. though for ages before it had been stationary, and the number of the inhabitants of the parish and the borough, which are co-extensive, now amount to 3,446, though according to the parliamentary returns of 1811, there were then only 3,056.

Letters from all parts are conveyed from Catterick to Richmond, at which latter place they arrive every day except Tuesday, at ½ past 6 morn. in Summer, and ½ past 7 morn. in Winter, and are sent off every day except Fri. at 8 a/c.

There are five Walking Postmen—One for Gilling, Hartforth, & Sedbury House. One for Beeth, Marke, Marrick, Fremington, Grinton, Muker, and Swaledale.—One for Kirby Hill, Washton, Newaham, Gales, Ravensworth, and Layton.—One for Aldbrough, Melsenby, Forestt, Stanwick, and Carlton Hall.—And one for Middleton Tys, Alnaby, and Moulton.

Rievaulx Abbey, in the parish of Helmsley, and wap. of Ryedale; 2 mls. NW. of Helmsley. This beautiful monastic ruin is situated in a narrow valley, which is crowned at various parts with hanging woods. The river Rye, from which the local name is acquired, winds through the vale in a stream successively deep and rapid, and is intersected by two picturesque bridges. Within this sequestered spot is the village of Rievaulx, consisting of scattered cottages, which appear amongst natural clumps of trees, with the river winding beneath, and each presents a landscape in itself. The abbey stands close by the village, from which it recedes towards a steep woody bank running nearly north and south. The principal remains are those of the church and the refectory. The former consists of the choir and part of the side aisles, with the transept and its aisle, and the commencement of the tower. This edifice ranks amongst the largest monastic churches. The choir is one hundred and forty-four feet in length, and sixty-three feet wide; and the transept is one hundred and eighteen feet long, and thirty-three wide. The probable length of the nave was one hundred and fifty feet, and the whole length of the building could not have been less than three hundred and thirty or three hundred and forty feet. This abbey, for monks of the Cistercian order, was founded in 1131, by Sir Walter Espee, one of the commanders at "the battle of the Standard," whose only child, a son, being killed by a fall from his horse at Kirkham, the afflicted parent devoted the principal part of his large possessions to pious uses, and after building the abbies of Rievaulx and Kirkham in Yorkshire, built also the abbey of Warden in Bedfordshire. On the dissolution of the larger monasteries, Rievaulx, valued at 378l. 10s. 2d. per annum, was seized by the crown, and was granted in exchange by Henry VIII. to Thomas Lord Ross, Earl of Rutland, a descendant of the Espee family. From that family it came by marriage to the Duke of Buckingham, and was by the trustees of George the second duke, sold in 1695, to Sir Charles Duncombe, an ancestor of Charles Duncombe, Esq. the present proprietor. The terrace of Rievaulx, from which the ruin and the valley are seen to great advantage, is nearly half a mile in length, of ample breadth, and forming a handsome lawn. It is backed by plantations of trees, intermixed with flowering shrubs, which project forward in semi-circular sweeps, and added to the winding of the terrace impart to it an air of beauty and grandeur. At one end of this terrace is a circular temple with a Tuscan colonnade, and at the other a temple with an Ionic portico. The latter of these temples consists of a well proportioned room of large dimensions, on the ceiling of which is a copy of Guido's Aurora, with the graceful "Hours" in great brilliancy surrounding her car. In the cove of the ceiling are painted in compartments the story of Hero and Leander, the whole by the pencil of Burnice, who was brought over from Italy for the purpose. But distinguished as may be the productions of the Italian painter, the inimitable paintings of nature form the principal attractions of "Rievaulx," and the view from the Ionic temple, which presents the woody steep rising in beauteous majesty to the summit of the hills; with the monastic ruins in the vale; and the bridge beneath finely encompassed with pendant woods, disclose a combination of beauties that must be seen to be enjoyed—and once seen can never be forgot.

Roakby, in the parish of Pickhill, wap. of Halkeld, and liberty of Richmondshire; 7 miles W. of Thirsk.

ROBIN HOOD'S BAY, in the parish of Fylingdale, wap. & liberty of Whisby Strand; 6 miles SE. of Whisby. A small fishing town, formerly noted for being the retreat of that famous captain and his banditti; who, when closely pursued, had a ways in readiness at this place, a number of small fishing vessels, in which putting off to sea, he eluded the vigilance of his pursuers, and bid defiance to the whole power of the English nation, civil and military. The extensive alum mines here, and their crystallized excavations, form the principal attractions of the place. A master and seven men are now stationed here on the preventive service. Pop. included in Fylingdale.

ROKEBY, (P.) in the wap. of Gilling West, and liberty of Richmondshire; 2½ miles SE. of Barnard Castle. Rokeby hall is described by Pennant, as an elegant house in the Italian style, built by Sir Thos. Robinson, Bart. and Dr. Whitaker says, that the oldest part of the house is indeed the work of Sir Thomas, but that it has been much enlarged by the present proprietor, J. B. Sawrey Morrill, Esq. and by his late venerable farther. It is an elegant and commodious mansion, standing on the site of the ancient manor house, but its most interesting feature is the gallery, 67 feet long, containing a profusion of statues, paintings, and sculpture; with urns, altars, and inscriptions, the productions of former times, and the admiration of the present age. The park is an angular area, of the richest soil, and shaded by luxuriant woods, bounded by the Tees and the Greta for the space of about a mile upwards from their confluence. Northam Tower, which is immediately be- yond the bridge, adjoins the embattled keep of that name, and was the residence of the Rokeby's in their adversity; these objects, with the Roman statue within the park, and the near prospect of Egglestone Abbey, all conspire to constitute Rokeby hall one of the most enchanting residences in the North of England; and to form a fit retirement, and a theme for a Mason and a Scott. In the vale of the Tees and the Greta are found inexhaustible quarries of marble, which is used, though in no great quantities, to ornament the mansions of the living, and to form the monuments of the dead. The church, which is dedicated to St. Mary, is a rectory, in the patronage of the Crown, and the Rev. James Wilkinson is the incumbent. The population of Rokeby, including Eggleston Abbey, amounts to 222.

A most extensive parish, situated in Teesdale, extending from Deepdale, near Barnard Castle, to the confines of the three counties of York, Durham, and Westmoreland. This parish includes the townships of Lartington, Cotherstone, Hundertwaite, Mickleton, Luns, Helwick, and Romaldkirk. The church is a very ancient structure, dedicated to St. Romald, and is supposed to have been built by Fitz-Hugh. The living is a rectory, in the patronage of John Hodgson, Esq. and the incumbent is the Rev. James Blackburn, A. M. In the church is a full length figure in marble, to perpetuate the memory of the founder; likewise several marble tablets to the memory of the ancient and respectable family of the Maizes, of Lartington hall. Here is a hospital for six poor persons, founded by Wm. Hutchinson, Esq. of Clement's Ina, London; and a Free Grammar school, endowed with 20*l.* per ann. by the Rev. Charles Parkin. St. Romald's hall, the manor house, belongs to the rector, who is also lord of the manor. Population, 377.

SCARBROUGH, (P.)

Is situated in the wap. of Pickering Lythe, and liberty of Scarborough, in 54 degrees 17½ minutes N. latitude, and 22 minutes W. longitude, 17 miles from Pickering, 21 from Whitby, and 22 from Malton. The origin of this place is not known, but its ancient name Scarborough, is of Saxon derivation, Scar or Sear, signifying a rock, and Burgh a fortified place. The town is situated in the recess of a beautiful bay, on the shore of the German Ocean, and in a situation nearly central, between Flamborough Head and Whitby. It rises from the shore in the form of an amphitheatre, ledge towering over ledge; and the concave slope of its semi-circular bay has a very picturesque appearance. The situation, which is admired for its various beauties, is thus described by the correct and elegant historian of Scarborough. "To the east stand the ruins of the ancient castle, whose venerable walls adorn the summit of a lofty promontory. To the south is a vast expanse of ocean, a scene of the highest magnificence where fleets of ships are frequently passing. The recess of the side leaves a spacious area upon the sands, equally convenient for exercise and sea-bathing. The refreshing gales of the ocean, and the shade of the neighbouring hills, give an agreeable temperature to the air during the sultry heats of summer, and produce a grateful serenity."

plete, that it is not mentioned in Domesday Book, and the first authentic record we have of it is to be found in a charter granted to the town by Henry II. In 1252 Henry III. granted a patent for making a new pier at Scardeburgh, as it was then called, and one of the charters of that prince mentions it as the New Town, in contra-distinction to Walesgrave or Walesgrif, which was the Old Town.

The piers, for the security of the shipping, date their origin with the time of Henry III. who, in the 36th year of his reign, granted to the bailiffs, burgesses, and inhabitants, certain duties to be taken on all merchants' ships and fishing vessels, "to make a new port with timber and stone."—Owing to the confined state of the harbour, and the insufficiency of the ancient pier, an act was passed in the 5th of Geo. II. for enlarging the pier and harbour, and a duty of a halfpenny a chaldron is imposed upon all coals laden in any ship or vessel from Newcastle or parts belonging to it, together with certain duties on imports, exports, and shipping, payable at Scarborough. Under the operation of this act the pier was extended to a length of 1200 feet in the whole. But notwithstanding this enlargement, the commissioners deemed it advisable, in order to increase the depth and capacity of the harbour still more, to build a new pier, sweeping into the sea, with a large portion of a circle. The foundations of this pier are 60 feet in breadth, and at the curvature 63 feet; it will, when finished, extend 1300 feet into the sea, and about 40 feet are completed annually. The stones used in its construction are immense, many of them weighing from 20 to 30 tons each. They are got from the White Nabb quarry, about two miles to the south of the harbour, and placed in their proper situations by a simple mechanical invention of great power, constructed for the purpose. This harbour is the only port between the Humber and Tynemouth havens where ships of large burden can find a safe refuge in the violent easterly gales which sometimes prevail on this coast. The situation of the harbour unfortunately exposes it to be warped up with sand, and the agitation of the sea, in these strong easterly gales, is the most powerful agent for keeping the port from being absolutely choked up.

Scarborough is a borough, and sends two members to parliament. It was incorporated by charter in the reign of Henry II. which has been confirmed and extended in succeeding reigns. The corporation consists of two Bailiffs, two Coroners, four Chamberlains, and a Common Council of thirty-six members, classed in three branches of twelve each. The following is the list of the members of the body corporate, according to the appointments of the 19th of November, 1832:—

FIRST TWELVE—Mr. John Woodall, sen. Mr. Thomas Foster, Mr. Valentius Fowler, sen. Mr. John Coulson, Mr. Benjamin Fowler, Mr. Robert Tindall, Mr. Anthony Bewick, Mr. John Travis, Mr. Gawain Taylor, Mr. William Travis, Mr. John Woodall, and Thomas Keld.

CHAMBERLAINS—Mr. Edward Hopper Hebden, Mr. George Woodhouse Porrett, Mr. Samuel Wharton, jun. and Mr. George Nesfield, sen. and Church-Warden.

SECOND TWELVE—Mr. Joseph N. Vickersen, Mr. Samuel Wharton, sen. Mr. William Chambers, Mr. William Moorson, Mr. John Hill Coulson, Mr. Henry Byron, Mr. John Bell, Mr. John Tindall, Mr. Jas. Cooper, Mr. John Maling, Mr. Thomas Duesbery, and Mr. Robert Porrett.

THIRD TWELVE—Mr. Thomas Adamson, Mr. Christopher Coulson, Mr. George Harrison, jun. Mr. Valentine Fowler, jun. Mr. Thomas Parkin, Mr. Musgrave Robinson, Mr. Richard Williamson, Mr. Edward Donner, Mr. John Wharton, Mr. Thomas Staines, Mr. John Woodall, jun. Mr. George Fowler, Church-Warden.

Those in italic letters have served the office of Bailiff.

His Grace the Duke of Rutland, Recorder.

John Travis, Esq. Deputy Recorder and Common Clerk.

This borough sent members to parliament the 23d of Edward I. and is the only place in this county, York and Hull excepted, that regularly returned members before the time of Edward VI. The right of election is in the corporation, consisting of forty-four individuals, as stated above; the Bailiffs are the returning officers, and the patrons of the borough the Duke of Rutland and the Earl of Mulgrave. The present members are—the Rt. Hon. Chas. Manners Sutton, Speaker of the House of Commons, Palace yard, London; and the Hon. Edmund Phipps, 64, Mount street, London.

This place gives the title of an Earl to the noble family of Lumley, which earldom was conferred by King William III. on the 15th of April, 1690. Richard III. in 1485, changed the constitution of this borough, vesting the government in the hands of a Mayor, Sheriff, and twelve aldermen, and by the same charter "the town of Scardeburgh and the manor of Walesgrave" was erected into a separate county, but this character not being recited or recognised by any of the succeeding kings, the corporation returned to its ancient form, and the town and manor merged again into the County of York.

No part of the British coast can afford a situation more convenient or delightful for sea-bathing than Scarborough. The bay is spacious and open to the sea; the water pure and transparent; the sand is clean, smooth and firm, and the inclination of the beach towards the sea, so gradual as to be scarcely perceptible. No considerable river impairs the strength of the brine; and bathing may be performed at all times of the tide, and almost in all kinds of weather with security. The celebrated mineral waters which have rendered this a place of general resort, as well for persons of distinction, as for families in the middle ranks of life, were discovered so early as the year 1690, by an intelligent lady, of the name of Farrow, who having observed, that they communicated a russet colour to the stones over which they passed, conjectured that they possessed medicinal qualities, and having ascertained that fact by her own experience, recommended them to others, and soon brought them into a degree of estimation, which the test of two centuries has shown to be well founded. The spaws here consist of two wells, the north or chalybeate, and the south or saline well, situated on the sea-shore, at the foot off the cliff, a little to the south of the town, where there is a terrace adjoining the spaw-house, from whence they are dispensed.* In December, in the year 1737, these springs were overwhelmed, and for a time lost by the sinking of a large mass of the cliff, but by diligent search they were recovered, and have ever since continued to flow with their original strength, and in unimpaired perfection. These waters have been of course submitted to repeated analization, and the result appears to be, that a gallon of the south well, or purging water, contains 237 grains of solid matter; and the north well, or chalybeate water contains 233 grains in the same quantity of water:—thus

The saline water contains 98 ounce measure per gallon of Carbonic acid gas or fixed air; and the chalybeate water 100 ounce measures per gallon: and each water contains a small quantity of gas azote or phlogisticated air.* The diseases which these water relieve or remove are various, and might be enumerated, but it is always safe for a patient to consult his medical attendant, before he puts himself under a course of medicinal waters.

Speaking generally, sea-bathing is beneficial in nervous complaints; epilepsy; palsy; St. Vitus's dance; disorders of the head; general debility; cutaneous disorders; gout; rheumatism; obstructions; scrophula; intermittents and scurvy. Healthy persons, may however bathe themselves into ill health, by going into the sea heated, or by continuing too long in the water. When the bathing does not produce a moderate glow after quitting the water; when the chilling sensation continues; when the extremities become cold, the spirits languid, the head disordered, or the appetite impaired, it may be concluded that bathing is rather doing harm than good. There are here three separate establishments where warm sea water baths may be had when required, two of them on the cliff; of which one is kept by Mr. Travis, surgeon; the other by Dr. Wm. Harland; & the third, near the Pier, by Dr. Thompson and Mr. M<sup>r</sup>Turk. There is also a General Sea Bathing Infirmary, supported by voluntary contributions, on the plan of the Margate Bethesda, where the sick poor are allowed to bathe gratis.

Of the inns and lodging-houses it is unnecessary to speak in this place, as they are enumerated with great particularity in the subjoined directory. The business of the post-office, and of the coaches and waggons, a species of information so essential to both visitors and residents, will also be found stated in detail, subjoined to the list of the inhabitants of Scarborough.

The parish church of St. Mary, originally a convent for the Cistercians, is a vicarage, in the patronage of Lord Hotham, of which the Rev. John Kirk is the incumbent. This church was formerly a spacious and magnificent structure, as the ruins at the eastern part of it sufficiently indicate, and in the time of Henry VIII. it was adorned with three ancient towers; but during the siege of the castle, a lodgment was made in it by Sir John Meldrum, and the present edifice is only a fragment of that which the Carmelites enjoyed. This is now the only church in Scarborough, though the town could once boast its three houses of "the gray, black, and white." The other seas of worship here, are the Independents, in St. Sepulchre street; the Baptists, Westgate; the Methodists, in Church street; the Roman Catholics, in Aurborough street; and the Quakers, in St. Sepulchre street; on the last of whom it may be remarked, that the founder of their communion, George Fox, was imprisoned in the cell here, twelve months, in the time of Charles II. and the room in which he was kept part of the time, "lying," as he says, "much open, the wind drove in the water so forcibly, that the water came over the bed, and ran about the room, so that I was glad to skim it up with a platter." This is the nature of his lodging, and of his bed, he says, "A three-peeny loaf lasted three weeks, and sometimes longer, and all of my drink was water, with an infusion of wormwood!"

The ancient and stupendous castle, the glory, and still the ornament of Scarborough, was built in the reign of King Henry III. by William le Gros, Earl of Albemarle and Holderness. Here Piers de Reston, the favourite of Edward II. sought refuge against the exasperated barons, after a short siege, he was obliged to surrender for want of supplies, and lost his life, as already related, in the castle of Scarborough. Robert Aske, the leader of the Peasants' Revolt, made an unsuccessful attempt upon Scarborough Castle, in 1536. In the time of Wyatt's rebellion, in 1553, it surprised and taken by the stratagem of inducing a number of soldiers, disguised peasants. This achievement was performed by Thomas, second son of Lord Howard, but his success was of short duration; three days afterwards the place was retaken by the Earl of Westmoreland, and Howard, and three other of the leaders were conveyed to London, and executed for high treason. During the civil wars, in the Catholic reign of Charles I. this castle was besieged, and taken by the parliamentary army. The first siege lasted for twelve months, and Sir John Meldrum, by whom forces of parliament were commanded, before the works. The command of the besieging army then devolved upon Sir Andrew Boynton, to whom Sir Hugh Cholmley, the governor, was obliged to surrender on the 22d of July, 1645. Colonel Boynton, the successor of the Baronet, having been ordered for the King, the castle once more fell into the hands of the royalists, but the garrison growing mutinous, the Colonel was obliged to capitulate, and on the 19th of December, 1648, the fortress was again surrendered to parliament, and taken possession of, in their name, by Col. Bethel. This castle, sharing the fate of its fellows, was dismantled by order of parliament. But on the breaking out of the rebellion, in 1745, it underwent a temporary repair, and when the danger was over, the present barracks, containing twelve apartments, were erected, and will accommodate 120 soldiers. Since that time, three batteries have been erected for the protection of the town and harbour, two of them at the South, and one at the North side of the castle yard.

The ruins of the castle are situated at the Eastern extremity of the town, on a lofty promontory, elevated more than 300 feet on the southern, and 330 feet on the northern side, above the level of the sea, and presenting to the north, the east, and the south, a vast range of perpendicular rocks, completely inaccessible. Its western aspect is also bold and majestic, being a high, steep, rocky, slope, commanding the town and the bay. The whole area, at the top of the hill, is upwards of nineteen acres of excellent soil, gently sloping near 20 feet from the north to the south line. Under an arched vault, towards the East side of the castle yard, near the site of the ancient chapel, is a reservoir of water, which will contain 40 tons, called the "Lady's Well," supposed to be supplied by the rain water which falls upon the castle hill, through subterraneous drains. The approach to the castle is by a gate-way, on the summit of a narrow isthmus, on the western side above the town. Without the ditch is an out-work, which was the ancient Barbican. The walls of the tower are 12 feet thick, cased with square stone, and the mortar is so hard that it is actually crystallised into spar. In this, as in similar structures the different stories have been vaulted, and divided by strong arches. The area of the Ballium, in which the tower is situated, contains half an acre of ground; and the summit of the hill was defended on the western side by embattled walls, flanked with semi-circular towers, from which arrows were discharged, but these are now falling rapidly into decay. It is also said, that large and ponderous pieces of timber were so placed, as to be in constant readiness to be rolled down upon an enemy attempting to approach the walls. From a view of these ruins, it appears, that before the invention of artillery, this ancient and famous castle was absolutely impregnable.

— " Nature here
 Exhausted all her powers. For aite she gave A mountain, neighbour to the moon; for walls
 A pensile cliff, whence down the boldest eye
 With dizzy horror looks: for moat th' abyss
 Of boundless ocean, spiked with guardian rocks;
 Then decked the mountains' top, a spacious mead
 With ever verdant robes." —

The trade and commerce of Scarborough are on a contracted scale. The exports consist chiefly of corn, butter in firkins, hams, bacon, and salt fish; and the imports of coals from Newcastle; groceries from London, and timber, deals, hemp, and flax, from the Baltic, and, in time of peace, brandy and Geneva from France and Holland. The average tonnage of the port amounts to about 25,000 tons. There are here ship-building establishments, a sail cloth manufactory, and some tolerably extensive rope walks. In the Summer season, the presence of visitors imparts a stimulus to the internal trade of the place, and the shops are, for the most part, well stocked with commodities and handsomely fitted up. The fisheries are not on a large scale, but they are conducted with spirit, and not only afford a supply to the resident inhabitants and to the company who resort hither in search of health and gratification, but they also contribute to supply the interior with wholesome food, drawn from that inexhaustible store house—the Ocean.

Three Steam Packets, the James Watt, the City of Edinburgh, and the Tourist, pass here twice a week, on their voyage between London & Edinburgh, and great facilities are thereby afforded to travellers bound either to the southern or northern metropolis. The Scarborough agents for these vessels are, Mr. Francis Hill and Mr. David Nicholson.

The markets, which are amply stocked with provisions, are held twice in the week, namely, on Thursday and Saturday; and the fairs, which are principally for cattle, on Holy Thursday and Old Martinmas day.

Messrs. Woodall and Co. whose banking concern is carried on in Queen-street, and who draw upon Sir Peter Pole, Bart. & Co. London, are now the only bankers in Scarbro'.

The public buildings are the Town-hall, Prison, the Assembly-rooms, and the Theatre, exclusive of the Baths & the Spa-house already mentioned. The Town-hall is a spacious building, in Long Room street, where the Sessions are held and the public business of the town transacted; the Assembly-rooms are situated in the same street; Mr. Cooke is the permanent master of the ceremonies; the subscription for the season is one guinea, and 5s. the admission fee for non-subscribers; the ball nights, during the season, are Tuesday and Friday in each week. The Theatre is a new building, in Tanner-

The principal charities here are, the Hospital for worn out and disabled seamen, under the government of the Trinity House, Deptford-Strand, situated on the road to the North Sands, which affords a comfortable asylum to many families and individuals, and is supported by funds arising from ships belonging to the port of Scarborough, each of which pays sixpence per month for every person on board, so long as the ship is at sea. The Amicable Society, for clothing and educating the children of the poor, established 1729, which has under its care fifty boys and twenty girls, supported by voluntary subscriptions, and by collections after sermons preached for its support at the church: a spinning school: a Lancasterian school: a School of Industry: and a number of Sunday schools.

There is also a Savings Bank in Scarborough, for receiving the savings of the humbler classes of society, and augmenting them by an annual interest of 4 per cent. paid upon all sums invested.

The population of this town is advancing gradually; in 1811 it amounted to 7430; in 1821, to 8188; which, considering the acknowledged salubrity of the air, and the consequent longevity of the inhabitants, is not a very material increase.

The country adjacent to Scarborough is finely diversified with hills and dales, and exhibits a variety of romantic scenery.—Weaponna, or Oliver's Mount, (so called from the improbable tradition that a battery directed against the castle was placed here, when Oliver Cromwell commanded the parliamentary armies) is little more than a mile from the town; it is approached by an easy ascent, and presents one of the most delightful natural marine terraces in England. From this eminence, which is 500 feet above the level of the sea, there is a magnificent view of the coast, the Castle hill, and its venerable ruin; the town, the harbour, and the piers, with the mighty expanse of the Ocean, bounded only by the horizon. Of the Rides about Scarborough, as they are locally called, it is unnecessary to speak here; the places to which they extend being all described in this work under their proper heads, and it is only necessary to enumerate and refer to Headness, Filly, Flemborough Head, Burlington, and Robin Hood's Bay.

The CITY OF EDINBURGH, the JAMES WATT, and the TOURIST call off the port regularly to London on Thursday morning, to Edinburgh on Thursday afternoon.

Scargill, in the parish of Barningham, wap. of Gilling West, and liberty of Richmondshire; 5 miles S. of Barnard Castle. Pop. 136.

Scarth Neck, in the parish of Aysgarth, wap. of Hang West, and liberty of Richmondshire; 8 miles from Leyburn.

Scarton, (P.) in the wap. of Rydale; 5 miles WSW. of Helmsley. Here is an ancient church, dedicated to St. Mary, in the patronage of Mr. Worsley, of which the Rev. John Oxlee, is the rector. Pop. 154.

Scoon Bank, in the parish of Romaldkirk, wap. of Gilling West; 6 miles WNW. of Barnard Castle.

SCORTON, in the chapelry of Bolton, parish of Catterick, wap. of Gilling East, and liberty of Richmondshire; 5 miles E. of Richmond. Here is a Free Grammar School, with an endowment of 200*l.* per annum left by Leonard Robinson, Esq. The school house was erected in the year 1760, and the Rev. W. Bowe, officiating curate at Bolton, is the master. There is in this township a noted spring, called St. Cuthbert's Well, (otherwise, Cuddy Kell;) it is supposed to derive its name from a monastery, dedicated to St. Cuthbert, said to have stood upon the same spot, but not a vestige of it now remains. The water is useful in the cure of cutaneous lisease, and rheumatism; it flows into a brook, which empties itself into the Swale, slow Rippling, and which brook is noted for urge fine flavoured trout. The village is airy, and generally well built, in form rather regular, but approaching to a square. In the centre is a spacious green, raised three or four feet above the level of the road; to the north side is a good Inn, and an elegant building for the school; on the East the buildings are appropriated to the purpose of a religious Catholic community, of the order of St. Clair. The persons forming this establishment came over from Normandy, in 1096, after the French Revolution, and settled first at Haggerston Castle, in Northumberland, but removed to Scorton in 1807. The house consists of 30 nuns, and 90 scholars. Mrs. Sisson is abbess, Mrs. Innes verness, and the Rev. Mr. Kirby priest; provided for the use of the community and here, a chapel is now building, which is to be dedicated to St. Clair. There is also a small congregation of Methodists, but they have as yet no chapel. Pop. 466.

SCRUTON, (P.) in the wap. of Hang East, and liberty of Richmondshire; 4 miles NNE. of Bedale. Here is a church, dedicated to St. Radegund; the living is a rectory, in the patronage of Henry Gale, Esq. of which the Rev. Wm. Newsome, A.M. is the incumbent. Here, in the year 1636, was born the Rev. Thomas Gale, dean of York; and the literary labours of that divine, and of his two sons, Roger & Henry, will ever be highly esteemed by the scholar and the antiquarian. Pop. 411.

SEAMER, (P.) in the wap. and liberty of Langbargh; 2 miles NW. of Stokesley. The church, dedicated to St. Martin, is a neat, small, plain structure, re-built in 1831, situated upon an eminence, and commanding an extensive prospect. The living is a perpetual curacy, under the patronage of Robert Greenhill Russell, Esq. M.P. Incumbent the Rev. Henry Gale. Within this township, and nearly at an equal distance, between the villages of Seamer and Newby, there is a remarkable tumulus, significantly called How-Hill, which is not known to have ever been opened. In the fields adjoining, towards the South, on the side of a hill, are evident marks of an entrenchment; and it is reported, that in the valley or plain beneath, armour, swords, and human bones have been frequently turned up by the plough. It is difficult, perhaps, at this remote period, from the imperfect accounts we have received, to know to what people they could have belonged; but considering the nature and situation of the country, it seems probable, that this might have been the scene of action where the Saxons were overthrown by Prince Arthur, at the memorable battle of Badenhil; which, according to Holinshed, and some other historians, is conjectured to have been fought in this neighbourhood, about the year 492. Pop. 226.

SEAMER, (P.) in the wap. and liberty of Pickering Lythe; 4 miles SW. of Scarborough. This place is remarkable for a rebellion, which broke out in the year 1549, in the third of Edward VI.; the leaders were, Thomas Dale, the parish clerk, John Stevenson, and Wm. Ombler; their absurd claims were, the restoration of the old religion, the abolition of monarchy, and the extinction of all the different ranks of society. These desperadoes were soon joined by others equally desperate, and, in a few days, their number amounted to upwards of 3000; after having greatly alarmed the country, and murdered several persons, a sudden stop was put to their proceedings by the arrival of a proclamation from the King, offering pardon to the repentant, but denouncing punishment upon the obstinacious; on which the greater number were wise enough to accept the proffered clemency, and to lay down their arms; but the leaders were apprehended and executed at York, on the 21st of September, 1549. The Parish were anciently lords of Seamer; it afterwards belonged to the Duke of Leeds, who sold it to William Joseph Denison, Esq. an eminent banker in London. There is here an elegant church, dedicated to St. Martin, which has the appearance of a Collegiate building; the living is a vicarage, in the patronage of W. J. Denison, Esq. and the Rev. Henry Foot is the incumbent. There is also a small, but neat Methodist chapel. A School, for boys and girls, with a dwelling-house adjoining, was built and liberally endowed by the lord of the manor, in 1814. Population, 596.

This village is pleasantly situated on an eminence, in High Abbotside, and commands an extensive view of the western extremity of Wensleydale. Near to this are several subterraneous caverns, commonly called, the Maze-holes; the roofs and sides of which are covered with beautiful stalactitions and incrustations of various species. At the extremity of one of these caverns, there is an excellent spring of water. These rocky cavities are much frequented by visitors, and deservedly rank among the natural curiosities of a county abounding with wonderful works of nature. Pop. 123.

SKELTON, in the parish of Marke, wap. of Gilling West, and liberty of Richmondshire; 5½ miles W. of Richmond. Thomas Errington, Esq. of Clints Hall, resides in this village.

SKELTON, (P.) in the wap. and liberty of Langbargh; 3 miles NE. of Guisborough. Skelton castle was built by Robert de Brus, a Norman Baron, who accompanied William the Conqueror to England.—This nobleman, from whom some of the kings of Scotland, and the illustrious family of Bruce, Marquis of Ailesbury, are descended, was a person of such valour, and so much confided in by William the Conqueror, that he rewarded him with no less than sixty-three lordships in the East and West Ridings of Yorkshire, and fifty-one in the North Riding of the county; whereof the manor and castle of Skelton were the capital of this Barony. In those days the Lords of Skelton had the privilege of a market, which, however extraordinary it may now appear, was held weekly on Sunday, when the people generally assembled in the morning to attend vine worship, and in the afternoon to transact their business, and regale themselves with hot ale, the homely beverage of our estors. This market continued to be thus held till the 13th of Edward II. when John de Faucomberg obtained a license from the king for changing it from Sunday to Saturday, and also for an annual fair at Whitsun-tide; but both the market and fair have been long discontinued. From the Bruce this stile passed through the families of Fauconberg, Neville, Conyers, and Trotter, to that of the Whartons. In the mansion, which underwent a complete modern renovation the year 1784, we find few traces of the ancient castle, except in the back part, now converted into kitchen offices. It presents an elegant extended front, situated on the brink of a rivulet, which, by being collected into a reservoir with sloping banks, adds greatly to the natural beauties of the place. In the middle of the last century, when this celebrated seat was in the possession of John Hall Stephenson, Esq. the author of Crazy Tales, it was the resort of the literati of the North, and Sterne, an early and intimate friend of the proprietor, drew his Eugenia from his character. A lady of considerable worth of character, and without great eccentricity, was closely allied to this family—we allude to the late Mrs. Margaret Wharton. This lady, whose habits were of the most saving kind as far as her own personal expenses were concerned, seemed a fortune of 200,000*l.* and amongst the rest of her oddities she chose to become her own executrix, and actually made a present, during her life time, of 100,000*l.* to her nephew, the present worthy possessor of Skelton castle. The church of Skelton is a neat modern edifice, dedicated to All Saints; and the living, which is a perpetual curacy, is in the patronage of the Archbishop of York. Population, 791.

SLINGSBY, (P.) in the wap. of Rydale; 6 miles WNW. of Malton; is situated on an extensive beautiful plain, and on an ancient Roman road, formerly a Roman station. This manor and castle formerly belonged to the noble family of Mowbray, who were succeeded by that of Howard: John, Lord Howard, was created Duke of Norfolk, by King Richard III. in which illustrious family the title still remains. The castle was partly re-built by Sir C. Cavendish in 1603, but not finished; it is now the property of the Earl of Carlisle. In the woods of Earl Carlisle there are nine or ten large tumuli, showing that some severe conflict has taken place here. Here is a school for ten poor children, endowed with 5l. per annum by Mrs. Ann Mann, of Stokesley. There is also a church, dedicated to All Saints; the living is a rectory, in the patronage of the Earl of Carlisle, and the Rev. John Cleaver, D. D. is the incumbent. Pop. 648.

Snappe Hall, formerly a seat of the Fitz Randolph's, Lords of Middleham, Earls of Exeter, &c. but now the property of Mark Milbank, Esq. M. P. is situated in this vil- lage. This ancient house is in a dilap- dated state, but sufficient remains to show its former extent and magnificence. It is probable, that the present mansion was built by the Latimers, not earlier perhaps than Henry VII. or VIII. but a house or castle of great extent must have before stood on the same site.

SPENNYTHORNE, (P.) in the wap. of Hang West, and liberty of Richmondshire; 2 miles NE. of Middleham. In this village was born and baptized on the 24th of October, 1675, the great hebraist, John Hutchinson, author of the "Principia," well known in the literary world as the advocate of the Plinian system, and the opponent of the Newtonian system (doctrine of gravitation,) and whose strenuous and particular of thinking, relative to the principles of the Mosaic history, has attracted many pupils, and established him the founder of a sect, called the Hutchinsonians. The church is a neat Gothic structure, dedicated to St. Michael; the living is a rectory, in the charge of Marmaduke Wyvill, Esq. M.P. Station 249.

Langbargh; 4 miles NW. of ; a small pleasant village. The dedicated to St. Peter, is an an-structure, but partly modernized

by having received great repairs about 14 years ago. It stands on elevated ground, at the western extremity of the village, with the vicarage house adjoining, which is a large and spacious mansion; the living is in the patronage of the Archbishop of York, and the Hon. and Rev. Henry Howard is the incumbent. In the chancel is the ancient sepulchre of the Pennyman family. Here is a small school, endowed with 5*l.* per ann. for the educating of six poor children of the township. Pop. 356.

Stainton Dale, in the parish of Scalby, wap. and liberty of Pickering Lythe:
8 miles NNW. of Scarborough. This manor, about the year 1140, was granted by King Stephen to the Knights Templar, on condition that a chaplain should constantly be retained by them, to perform divine service there daily, and to offer up intercession for the kings of England.—
Population, 294.

STAITHES, in the parish of Hinderwell, wap. and liberty of Langbargh; 11 miles NW. of Whithby; a fishing village, situated upon the coast, in a rugged creek, surrounded by lofty hills, and so completely is it secluded from the eye of the traveller, that he looks in vain for the town, till he arrives at the summit of the craggy hills by which it is immediately encompassed. The inhabitants live almost wholly by fishing; during the winter and spring seasons they go out to sea in small flat bottomed boats, called Cobles, each carrying three men, and so constructed as to live in very temper-ous weather; in summer they go out in large boats, of from ten to twenty tons burden, called, "Five Men Cobles;" they generally and on Monday, and, if the weather permit, continue at sea the whole week; on their return, the fish is cut up and salted by the women; and after passing through the brine, it is spread out to dry on the beach.—

The fishery is here carried on to a great extent, and, in the herring season, this village generally sends fifteen vessels to Yarmouth, a greater number than is sent from any other place on the Yorkshire coast. Besides fishing, the inhabitants here, and along the coast, during the summer months, are occasionally occupied in making Kelp, which is a lixivial salt, obtained by the burning of sea weeds, and consists chiefly of the fixed vegetable alkali, used in the process of making alum, glass, &c. The sea weed is cut at low water from the rocks, and when dry is burnt in heaps, being constantly stirred with an iron rake till it becomes condensed and caked together in large masses. Pop. included with Hilderwell.

STOCKTON-ON-THE-Forest, (P.)
In the wap. of Bulmer, a part in the liberty of St. Peter's; 4 miles NE. of York. On the 13th of January, 1792, a meteorous appearance was observed on the forest, near this village, (by several persons of credit and respectability) resembling a large army, in separate divisions, some in black and others in white uniforms; one of these divisions formed a line that appeared near a mile in extent, in the midst of which appeared a number of fir trees, which seemed to move along with the line. These serial troops moved in different directions, and sometimes with amazing rapidity.—(See a similar account in Clark's Survey of the Lakes, page 56.) A meteorous phenomenon, of the same kind, was seen in Heywra Park, near Harrogate, on Sunday, June 28th, 1812, between seven and eight o'clock in the evening, by Anthony Jackson, aged 45 years, and Martin Turner, a young man, the son of a farmer in the neighbourhood; both looking after their cattle, were suddenly surprised to see, at some distance, what appeared to them a large body of armed men, in white military uniforms; in the centre of which was a person of a commanding aspect, dressed in scarlet. After performing various evolutions, the whole body began to move forward, in perfect order, towards the summit of a hill, passing the spectators at the distance of about 100 yards. No sooner had this first body, which extended four deep, over an enclosure of 30 acres, attained the hill, than a second body, far more numerous than the former, dressed in a dark coloured uniform, appeared, and marched after the first, to the top of the hill, where they both joined, and passing down the opposite side of the hill, disappeared; when a column of thick smoke spread over the plain. The time, from the first appearance of this strange phenomenon to the clearing up of the smoke, the spectators suppose was little more than five minutes.

“When these prodigies do so conjointly meet, let not men say they are natural; for, I believe, they are portentous things unto the climate that they point upon.—Julius Cæsar.”

The church living here is a perpetual curacy, of which the Prebendary of Bugthorpe is the patron, and the Rev. William Noddin the incumbent. Here is a Methodist chapel, and a school with a small endowment, free to 10 poor children. Population, 357.

STOKESLEY, (P.)

In the wap. and liberty of Langbargh; 9 miles from Guisborough; 9 from Yarm; and 16 from Northallerton. A small market town of Cleveland, consisting chiefly of one broad street, running east and west, and washed on the south by a principal branch of the river Leven, which is a remarkably fine trout stream. The buildings are neat, and for the most part in the modern style. The market is held on Saturday, and is plentifully supplied with provisions on reasonable terms. Of the fairs which are held here, an account will be found appended to the first volume. The lands near the town are chiefly in grass, and occupied in small allotments. The surrounding lands are rich and fertile, and being a fine sporting country, the situation possesses all the advantages of rural sports and agreeable retirement. The beautiful and majestic chain of mountains, called the Cleveland hills, including Roseberry Topping, range at a distance of from four to six miles from the town, with a peculiarly bold and romantic outline, and form a sort of semi-circular amphitheatre, of which Stokesley is the centre. A considerable manufacture of linen is carried on here, and that trade is likely to be extended, by a mill, which Messrs. Thomas and John Meale are now erecting, to be worked by the power of steam. In the year 1818, a Society for the promotion of Christian knowledge was established here, under the patronage of the Archdeacon of Cleveland, when a depository of books was formed in the vestry of the parish church, from which 6000 volumes have already been dispensed. The establishment of a Savings' Bank is also in contemplation. The parish church is a rectory, deicated to St. Peter, in the patronage of the Archbishop of York. There are also three chapels; one for the Methodists, another for the Independents, and a third, on a small scale, for the Primitive Methodists. Here are also two schools, one for boys, and another for girls, in connection with the diocesan schools, and where Dr. Bell's system is adopted. The parish is of considerable extent, and comprehends an area of about 7 square miles. The population of the town amounts to 1897.

Stoupe Brow, in the parish of Whitby, wap. and liberty of Whitby Strand;
 8 miles SSE. of Whitby. The road from Robin Hood's Bay to Stoupe Brow, is along the sandy beach, under a high and steep cliff, to which the sea flows as the tide advances; and the passage is unsafe, unless there be, when the traveller sets out, a spacious area of the sand not covered by the water, or the tide be receding. The residence of Sunderland Cooke, Esq. is at Stoupe hall, in this township. The height of Stoupe Brow is 883 feet, and few appearances in nature are more awfully grand, than the view from its summit. As the declivity of Stoupe Brow is impracticable to carriages, the main road from Whitby and Robin Hood's Bay to Scarborough lies over the moors, in some places near the edge of the cliff. On this road, in the year 1809, there happened an accident, of which the circumstances, were they not so well attested as to leave no room for doubt, would appear absolutely impossible.—A lady and two young gentlemen, travelling in a post chaise to Scarborough, the driver, on some occasion, alighted, and the horses, being left to themselves, immediately struck into a gallop. Before they had proceeded far, both the horses and chaise fell over the cliff, down a tremendous precipice, of nearly one hundred feet high, and of which, about forty feet next to the bottom, is a perpendicular rock. In its fall, the chaise turned over three times, yet neither the horses, the chaise, nor the passengers suffered any injury, except that the lady received a trifling scratch on the face, and the party imme-

End Mines are worked by Messrs. Spence and Co.

Hurst mines are worked by Mr. Josias Morley. Summerlodge mines are worked by Messrs. Robinson and Co. and a number of small miners.

And several other small mines are worked by other individuals.

The estimated produce of these works is 6000 tons a year, of which the Swaledale mines yield one moiety, and the remaining 3000 tons are obtained by the other mining companies.

The Swale was in high estimation among our Saxon ancestors, by whom it was styled the Jordan of England, owing to Paulinus, the Roman missionary, and the first Archbishop of York, having soon after the introduction of Christianity, baptised in its streams in one day, ten thousand men, exclusive of women and children.

Swale Hall, in the parish of Rington, wap. of Hang West, and liberty of Richmondshire; 1½ mile SW. of Reeth; formerly the residence of a gentleman who subscribed himself "Sir Solomon Swale, of Swale Hall, in Swaledale, fast by the river Swale." This family held lands of the Crown, but had omitted for many years to renew their lease, which, being observed by a clerk in the exchequer office, he procured a grant from the crown, of this estate, for himself: many law suits ensued, but they served only to increase the misfortunes of Sir Solomon, who died a prisoner in the Fleet, in 1678, not, however, till his adversary had committed suicide.

The vestiges of antiquity found in this neighbourhood are various and numerous,

Mr. Danby has preserved some of these, particularly a large golden handle, which seems to be that of a shield; and the head of a Roman battle-axe, of brass or copper, &c. Population, including Warder-mask, 177.

Tanfield East, in the parish of Kirklington, and wap. of Halikeld; 5 miles NNW. of Ripon. The principal inhabitants of this village are Mr. Edward Horseman, farmer, and Mr. John Jackson, corn miller. Pop. 32.

TANFIELD WEST, (P.) in the wap. of Halikeld, and liberty of Richmondshire; 6 miles NW. of Ripon. William the Conqueror gave this village, and East Tanfield, to Alan, Earl of Richmond: they afterwards became the property of the family of Fitz Hugh. Robert, Lord Marmion, married the heiress of this family, and succeeded to these lordships. In the eighth of King Edward II. John, Lord Marmion, obtained a licence to make a castle of his house, called the Hermitage, situated in Tanfield wood, about the year 1300. In the reign of Henry VIII. the castle and manor passed by marriage into the family of the Marquis of Northampton, but by the attainder of William Parr, the Marquis, they escheated to the crown, and were conferred by James I. with other estates, on Edmund Lord Bruce, of Kinross, in right of descent from whom, they are now enjoyed by Charles Bruce Brudenell, Marquis of Ailesbury, who had a mansion in the parish, called Tanfield Hall, but which, having fallen into decay, was pulled down in the year 1816. On the banks of the Ure, which at Tanfield bridge is a fine broad expanse of water, stand the remains of Tanfield castle, but it is without history; its origin, and the time and the cause of its demolition being alike unknown. According to Grose, which information he draws from tradition, "when Tanfield castle was destroyed, the materials were purchased by several of the neighbouring gentry, and the Earl of Exeter's house at Snape, and the seat of Wandsworth, at Kirklington, were built with them. Little now remains of the ruin; but a handsome parsonage house, built by the Rev. William Baines, the present rector, as an expression of gratitude to the noble patron of the living, has risen up near on the site, and adds another embellishment to this delightful valley. The church, dedicated to St. Nicholas, is a venerable edifice, and contains many curious monuments of its ancient lords; adjoining to which is the chastry, called Mand Marmion, founded in the reign of Henry III. for a master, warden, and two brothers, charged with the duty of praying for the souls of Lord and Lady Marmion, and the progenitors and successors of this family. There is in this village a Methodist chapel; and also a school with a small endowment. The population amounts to 709.

THIRSK, (P.)

Is a small market town, in the wap. of Bird-forth; 9 miles from Northallerton, 10 miles from Easingwold, 11 from Boroughbridge, and 23 from York. This town is pleasantly situated in the vale of Mowbray; and is conjectured to derive its name from the ancient British words, Tre—a town, and Isk— a river, or brook. The market, which is on Monday, is well supplied with the necessaries of life, and fish is brought here from the coast in great perfection. A great quantity of poultry, butter, and eggs, are brought up here by dealers, and conveyed into the populous towns of the West-Riding, where they are re-sold. The fairs, which are numerous, will be found stated in the list of Yorkshire Fairs, appendant to the 1st. vol. of this work, and they tend considerably to enrich the town and its immediate vicinity. Of manufactures there are none, except a few coarse linens, owing probably to that important requisite in manufacturing establishments—fuel, being scarce and dear. There is here no established banking concern, but business is transacted for Messrs. Backhouse & Co. Darlington, by Mr. Story, in the Market-place; for Messrs.
Britain & Co. of Ripon, by Mr. Hansell, in Millgate; and for Messrs. Raper, Swann, and Co. York, by Mr. Arnett, in the Market place. This town had formerly a strong Castle, which stood at the south western extremity of the town. Thirsk castle claims a high antiquity; it is said to have been built in 969, by the family to whose lordship the neighbourhood was anciently subject. The first mention of this name in history, is, however, after the conquest, when we find Robert de Mowbray, a powerful Norman Baron, created Earl of Northumberland, in 1060. The castle itself was a noble pile of building, uniting the magnificence of a royal palace with the strength and security of a baronial fortress. It was here, that Roger de Mowbray conspired with the Scotch King, and began his rebellion against Henry II. The revolt was, however, speedily suppressed, and on the 13th of March, in the year 1175, the castle was assailed by Lord de Valence, in the name of the King, and surrendered, not without the show, but without the reality of resistance. Henry, who was then at Northampton, ordered all the castles that still remained in private hands to be destroyed, and this seat of feudal magnificence shared the common lot. So complete was the demolition here, that not a vestige of the castle now remains, but a high artificial mount serves to indicate the site on which the keep formerly stood, and the place still bears the name of the Castle yard.

The church, which is a handsome Gothic edifice, at the northern extremity of the town, was, it is generally supposed, built out of the ruins of the castle. Both the exterior appearance, and the interior arrangement of this structure are deservedly admired. From the steps leading up to the altar, the view is peculiarly grand, presenting to the eye a lofty and extended vista of Gothic arches, terminated by the organ, which corresponds in its decorations with that majestic order of architecture. The internal length is 160 feet, and the length of the cross aisle 60 feet.* This church is dedicated to St. Mary Magdalen; the living is a perpetual curacy, the Archbishop of York is the patron, and Matthew Butterwick, Esq. is the lay rector. In addition to the church, the Quakers have a meeting house, and burial ground, in Kirkgate; the Independents, a chapel, near Sowerby Flats, built in 1803; and the Methodists, a handsome new chapel, in St. James's Green, built in 1816, on the site of their old place of worship.

Thirsk is a parliamentary, but not a corporate Borough. Old Thirsk, as it is called, possesses the right of sending two members to parliament, by 50 burgage holds, 49 of which belong to Sir Thomas Frankland, who has the appointment of the ballif, and which ballif is the return officer. The present members are Robert Frankland, Esq. and Richard Greenhill Russel, Esq.

Old Thirsk consists of a long range of cottages on each side of the road leading to Yarm and Stoekton, and of a square, surrounded by the same kind of building, called St. James's Green. Upon, or near this square stood an ancient chantry, founded by William de Mowbray, in the reign of Henry I. but of which time has long since swept away every vestige. Till the year 1818, a venerable Elm, the wonder and the ornament of the Green stood here; but on the night of the 5th of November, 1818, a set of hickin boys, in their mischievous sports, set fire to this piece of vegetable antiquity; sufficient was left of it to make two substantial chains for John Bell, Esq. the lord of the manor. Under the spreading branches of this tree, the election of members of parliament for Thirsk had been conducted so long, "that the memory of man is not to the contrary" and here, it is said, fell Henry Pierey, the fourth Earl of Northumberland, then Lord Lieutenant of Yorkshire, a victim to popular fury, raised by oppressive taxation. The rivulet which divides the old and the new town, is called Cod-beck, over which there passes a substantial stone bridge, of three arches, of sufficient capacity to receive the floods which the heavy rains, and melting snows of winter frequently occasion. The new town stands within the precincts of the ancient castle of the Mowbrays: in the centre of the town is the Market-place, which, if the Toll-booth, now in a ruinous condition, with the Shambles, and some few dilapidated buildings were removed, would be one of the first squares for a public market in the kingdom.

The population of Thirsk has increased during the last ten years at the rate of about 15 per cent. In 1811, the total amount was 2,158, and in 1821—2,533. The air is generally considered pure and salubrious, and a fine spring of chalybeate water at a small distance from the town, resembling the Scarborough and Cheltenham waters, and used both for drinking and bathing, may contribute to the health, and consequently to the longevity, of the inhabitants. The surrounding country is rich and delightful; and all tourists concur in the opinion that the vale of Mowbray, of which Thirsk is pretty nearly the centre, is scarcely to be equalled by any tract of country in the kingdom, for fertility, expansion and picturesque scenery.

TOLLERTON, in the parish of Aine, wap. of Bulmer, and liberty of St.

Peter's; 4 miles S. of Easingwold. This village, situated on the verge of the great forest of Galtres, is supposed to be one of the places where travellers, on entering the forest, paid a certain toll, for which they were furnished with a guide, properly armed, to defend them from the attacks of robbers and wild beasts, with both of which that extensive forest is said to have abounded. Here is a Methodist chapel and Sunday school. At the western extremity of the village runs a small rivulet, which tradition says was once a navigable river, named Carr or Kyle, and, in digging for the foundation of a water mill, in 1815, part of a ship was discovered, at the depth of from ten to twelve feet below the surface. There is here a fair for sheep and cattle on the 15th of August. Population, 481.

Binforth; a part in the liberty of St. Peter's;

4 miles SSW. of Thirsk. In the time of Leland this was "a pretty uplandish town," and here stood one of the seats of the Percy family. It is now only a village, and the few vestiges of the baronial mansion that remain are called the "Maiden Bower."—Here Henry, the fourth Earl of Northumberland, then lord lieutenant of the county, was, on St. Vitalis's day, in 1590, seized by the populace, and murdered, for enforcing a ten per cent. tax, imposed in the time of Henry VII, by the advice of Empeon and Dudley. Here Thomas Percy, the succeeding Earl, conspired against Queen Elizabeth, and was beheaded at York, on the 29th of August, 1572. In this house Charles I. was a prisoner; and here the 200,000L was paid by the Parliament to the Scotch, for quitting the country, and delivering up the King. The church, which bears evident marks of antiquity, is a vicarage, in the patronage of the Dean and Chapter of York, and is dedicated to St. Colomb; the incumbent is the Rev. R. D. Waddilove, D. D.—There is here also a Free Grammar school, founded and liberally endowed in 1849, of which Mr. William Bell is the master.—Amongst the modern buildings, which are not very numerous, may be mentioned a Methodist chapel. The population amounts to 659.

A Horse Post arrives from Thirsk every afternoon, at 5 o'clock, and proceeds immediately to Boroughbridge.

 a pleasing view of Skelton castle, and the beautiful vale below. The hall is a neat and modern mansion, facing to the south and west, and sheltered on the east with thriving plantations; the rising grounds on the north are ornamented with clumps of trees, and the surrounding scenery presents a charming aspect of tranquillity and retirement. The chapel is a small ancient edifice,
 in the patronage of the Archbishop of York,
 and the Rev. T. P. Williamson is the perpet-

This village is said to derive its name from a famous well dedicated to St. Michael, which is supplied by a spring issuing from a rock, and which flows invariably at all seasons of the year. The church is an ancient edifice, dedicated to St. James; containing monuments of several of the Lords of Snape; the living is a vicarage, in the patronage of Charles Chaplin, Esq. the master of Well Hospital. Here is an hospital for sixteen poor persons, eight of Well and eight of Snape; and two free schools, one for boys and the other for girls; all founded and very liberally endowed by the Nevilles of Snape Hall and Middleham, in the 14th century. This place also contained a monastery, of which the residence of Richard Strangeways, Esq. is the remains. Pop. 370.

WENSLEY, (P.) in the wap. of Hang West, and liberty of Richmondshire;  $\frac{1}{2}$  mile W. of Leyburn. Wensleydale, the valley which derives its name from this village, is of considerable width, lying between two ranges of hills, is adorned with several villages, and watered by the river Ure.—The situation of Wensley is delightful; sheltered by a long ridge of hills, alternately wood and rock to the north, and gently elevated above the bank of the Ure, it overlooks a plain of high fertility, beyond which an irregular and pleasing tract of cultivated grounds, woods and pastures, ascends before the eye, and terminates in the bold and purple form of Penhill to the south: upward the landscape is at once soft and magnificent, and the opening of Bishopdale, where it falls into the vale of Ure, affords, by its depth and mountain character, a fine contrast to the luxuriant groves and meadows of the latter. Upon the whole, Wensleydale may rank with the first of our northern valleys. Besides its natural beauties, the parish of Wensley exhibits three most interesting objects; its parish church; the castle of its ancient, and the mansion of its modern Lords. The parish church is a neat structure, dedicated to the Holy Trinity; the living is a rectory, in the patronage of Lord Bolton. Richard Scroop, Lord of Bolton, formed the design of making this church collegiate, and in the 22d of Richard II. he obtained the king's licence for this purpose; but from some cause, not explained, it is believed that the foundation, which was meant to be very extensive, never took place. The bridge at Wensley is of considerable antiquity, and is thus noticed by Leland, near three hundred years ago:—"The fayre bridge of 3 or 4 acres that is on Ure at Wencelaw, a mile or more above Middleham, was made about 900 years ago and more, by one caullyd Alwine, parson of Wencelaw." To the regret of the lovers of antiquity, but for the benefit of trade, and for the safety of the inhabitants, this venerable bridge was widened and repaired by the North Riding in 1818. Population, 317.

WHITBY, (P.)

the wap. and liberty of Whitby Strand; 8 miles from Guisborough, 20 from Scarborough, 31 from Stokesley, and 47 from York; in 54 deg. 30 min. 24 sec. north latitude, and 35 min. 59 sec. west longitude. The town stands on two opposite declivities, the mouth of the Eake, by which river it is divided into two parts, which are connected by a draw-bridge, so constructed as to admit vessels of 32 feet wide. The Saxon name of this place, was according to Bede, Streamshth, or the Bay of the Watch Tower. It was afterwards called Prestebý, or the habitation of Priests; then Huytby; next Whiteby, (probably from the colour of the houses), and now Whitby. Owing to the northern aspect of the district and the rising of the land to a considerable distance into the country, the sun beams fall so obliquely on the town and its immediate vicinity, that its climate may be considered nearly on an equality with Shetland and the Orkneys. It is closely and irregularly built, though the houses of the opulent inhabitants are large and commodious; the streets in general are narrow and inconvenient, and the act obtained for paving, lighting and widening them has been very imperfectly carried into effect. Whitby owes its origin to a famous abbey, founded here in 657, by Osway, King of Northumberland, to redeem a vow that he had made previous to the sanguinary battle of Leeds, fought in 655—that if God would grant him victory over Penda, the Pagan King of Mercia, who had invaded his dominions, he would build a monastery, and consecrate his daughter, Ethelseda, then scarcely one year old, to the service of God, by a life of celibacy. The prayers of Osway were heard; Penda was slain with most of his nobles, and Osway in gratitude to heaven built the monastery of Streanshalh, for monks and nuns of the Benedictine order, appointing Lady Hilda, niece of Edwin, the first christian king of Northumbria, abbess. This lady was so famous for her sanctity, that she attained the name of St. Hilda, and the monastery, though dedicated to St. Peter, is generally called after her. The story goes, says Grose, that in her time, this place and its environs, were terribly overrun with serpents. These, by the prayers of St. Hilda, were deprived of their heads, and turned into stones, as the writer of her life very properly observes, to the great amazement of the beholders! In her benevolence, however, she kindly provided houses, for the snakes so petrified, all of whom are enclosed within a kind of stony matrix; these stones are still found in great quantities, in this neighbourhood, and are what the fossilists call ammonite. On the landing of the Danes at Raven's Hill, two miles to the west of Whitby, in 867, they destroyed this monastery, which lay in ruins till the conquest, when William, the Norman, assigned Whitby to Hugh de Abrincis, an expert soldier, who disposed of the place to William de Percy, by whom this monastery was refounded, and dedicated to St. Peter, and St. Hilda. In the reign of Henry VIII. this house shared the fate of the other monastic establishments, and its yearly revenues, according to Speed, were valued at 505*l.* 9*s.* 1*d.* The site of the abbey was granted in the 4th of Edward VI.

to John, Earl of Warwick, by whom in 1551, it was sold to Sir Edward Yorke; and in the 1st of Philip and Mary, by him to Sir Hugh Cholmeley, Knight, ancestor of the present proprietor. The ruins of this once famous abbey stand on a high cliff south-east of the town near the parish church, and the ascent to it from the town is by a flight of two hundred steps. A small distance south of the abbey Mr. Cholmeley has a splendid mansion, built probably with the materials from the monastery. This noble abbey has gone greatly to decay, but the rudest shock it received in modern times was from a storm of wind in the night of the 3d of December, 1763, when the whole western wing was overturned and thrown down to the very foundations, though supported by at least twenty strong Gothic pillars and arches, nothing being left standing thereon but the north wall of the cloisters and a part of the wall at the west end. Unlike the other great religious houses in this country, which were generally built in warm sheltered situations, Whithy abbey stands on an eminence eighty yards at least above the sea; but if the situation is bleak the prospect is commanding, and presents a view of the town and port of Whithy, with the frowning heights of the black moors, rising in the horizon in front, while in the rear is the vast expanse of the ocean, and the total ensemble is truly magnificent.

When the abbey of Whithy was in the zenith of its glory, the town was little more than a small fishing station, and so late as the year 1540, it did not consist of more than from twenty to thirty houses with a population not exceeding two hundred inhabitants. At that time it is probable there was not a single chimney in the town, the abbey chimney excepted, the common way then, even in towns and cities of much greater consequence, being, to have a hearth in the middle of the room in which was made the fire, the smoke ascending and passing through a large hole at the top of the building,* after the fashion of the smoke vomitory of an Irish cabin of the present day. It does not appear during the long reign of Queen Elizabeth, that there was a single vessel deserving the name of a ship that belonged to this port; but the important discovery of the alum mines at the close of that reign raised Whithy from its obscurity, and by opening a channel of commerce, elevated the town to a degree of maritime consequence. The successful progress of the alum works, established by Mr. Chaloner at Gulsborough, says Mr. Hinderwell, excited a spirit of emulation, and works of a similar kind were erected in the year 1611, near Sands end, within three miles, of Whithy. This also proved advantageous, and the vicinity of Whithy abounding with alum-stone other adventurers were induced to embark in these undertakings. In consequence of these extended speculations, two great branches of trade were opened at the port of Whithy—one for supplying the works with coals, the other for conveying the alum to distant parts. This infant commerce was gradually matured; the number of vessels was increased; ship building from the oak timber which the vicinity produced was commenced, and by the industry, the enterprise, and the successful speculation of its inhabitants, the town of Whithy rose to opulence, and became a place of considerable importance. Up to the year 1632, the piers were constructed only of wood, with a few loose stones put in the framing, but during that year the stone piers began to be built, through the influence and exertions of the early benefactor of Whithy, Sir Hugh Cholmeley, who, by favour of his relation, the Earl of Strafford, procured liberty for a general contribution throughout England, by which nearly 500*l.* was collected in aid of this public work.

Since that time the piers have been progressively extending with the increase of commerce. For the support and extension of these piers, there is paid a duty of a half-penny per chaldron on all coals shipped at Newcastle or its dependencies, except in Yarmouth vessels, and the sum raised by this duty, together with the perpetual duties levied at Whithy, in virtue of the acts of 1702 and 1739, on salt, grain, and foreign goods, landed here, and on butter and fish shipped hence, amounts to 2000*l.* a year. From the funds thus provided, the harbour has been wonderfully improved, and an effectual barrier interposed to protect the town from the fury of the German Ocean. Since the year 1702, the east pier, which extends six hundred and forty-five feet into the sea, has been entirely built; and the west pier has been enlarged and improved, and now extends to the distance of one thousand eight hundred and sixty feet from the shore. Besides these outer piers others have been formed within the harbour at sufficient distances to direct the current, to break the force of the waves, and thus to give a great security both to the shipping and to the premises abutting on the harbour. Rocks that formerly obstructed the mouth of the haven have been removed, and immense beds of sand that once filled a considerable part of the harbour, and even threatened it choke up the entrance have by the projection of the piers been all cleared away. A commodious quay from Hagersgate to the west pier has been recently erected, and forms, says Mr. Young, in his excellent history of Whitby, one of the finest improvements which the town and harbour have experienced. The entrance to the harbour between the heads of the two outer piers is about ninety-two yards wide; between the Burgess pier and the Scotch head the width is seventy-two yards: but the third entrance between the Fish pier and the Coffee-house does not exceed sixty-eight yards. The depth of the water in the harbour at high-tides is from ten to twelve feet, and at the spring tides generally from fifteen to eighteen feet. In stormy weather it is necessary for vessels to go above the bridge to escape the swell, but there is room in this inner harbour to accommodate a large fleet, and the water up to Boghall is of sufficient depth to receive them. A harbour master is appointed to direct the vessels to their proper mooring, and there are fourteen pilots belonging to the port who take charge of vessels entering into the harbour or going out to sea. The batteries are closely connected with the piers, and the cost of their outfit and support is defrayed from the same fund. When the west pier was lengthened in 1734, its circular termination was formed into a battery, with embrasures for five pieces of canon, which have since been increased to six; and since the erection of the quay, a battery, which before existed near the Scotch head, has been strongly re-built in the form of a crescent, with a small tower at each angle, and is furnished with eight eighteen pounders.

Whitby, in a commercial view, claims a superior rank among the minor ports, and, as far as the opulence of her merchants and the extent of her ship building establishments are concerned, she has some fair pretensions to aspire to the major class. The shipping of Whitby has increased amazingly during the two last centuries. In 1622, it is highly probable that the aggregate burthen of all the vessels belonging to this port did not exceed five hundred tons; in 1700, the vessels had increased to one hundred and thirteen, but their tonnage did not then exceed six thousand tons; and the number of vessels may now with safety be stated at three hundred, and their burthen at fifty-two thousand tons. These vessels are navigated upwards of two thousand seamen. The men of this port have long been distinguished for their courage, activity, and skill; and many of them have been eminently successful. Of one of this number, Captain

Thomas Pyeman, it is mentioned, that he was never shipwrecked or captured, nor did he ever lose so much as either an anchor or cable, during forty-five years that he was at sea! and it is proper to add, for the connection is worthy of remark—he was never intoxicated.*

The exports of Whitby to foreign parts are very limited, they consist principally of alum, whale oil, and dried fish. The imports are much more considerable; they are chiefly articles of Baltic produce, comprehending timber, deals, hemp, flax and ashes. The coasting trade is also considerable, and the shipments made hence to other parts of England consist principally of alum, saff cloth, butter, bacon, grain and leather.

The progress of the artificers of Whitby in ship building, has eminently contributed to the prosperity of the place. A number of ships have been built here for the ports of London, Liverpool, Hull, and Shields, and taken on an average, the ships built during the last twenty years may be about twenty a year. Boat building, rope making, and saff cloth manufacturing, are all carried on here, but in these departments, as well as in the demand for ships, the cessation of war has made a considerable reduction.

The Custom House here is situated in Sandgate, near the Market-place, and Christopher Coulson, Esq. is the collector. The business of the Excise Office is transacted at the Angel Inn, under the direction of John Brown, Esq. collector. Mr. George Clark, in Church street, is the distributor of stamps; and Mr. Richard Rodgers, in the Old Market place, is the post-master. The annual revenue yielded to the government by these establishments may be thus stated—

Excise.....	7,500
Stamps .....	3,500
Postages .....	3,000

One of the most lucrative branches of trade that this port has enjoyed is the whale fishery. The first ship sent from hence to Greenland was dispatched in the year 1753, by a club or community of enterprising men, but it was not till the year 1772, that the beneficial effects of this branch of commerce began to be sensibly felt, and not earlier than 1795, that they fully developed themselves. In former times a vessel was thought well fished, as it is technically called, with four or five whales, but within the last seven and twenty years the average has not been less than fifteen, yielding one hundred and twenty-seven tons of oil for each ship, and eight tons for each fish. The number of whalers dispatched to the Greenland and Davis Straits fisheries, from this port has of late amounted to about eight annually. Their success has tended not only to benefit the owners, but also to enrich the town, as will be inferred when it is stated that each full ship is estimated before its departure and on its return to spend in the place 3000*l.* Two recent discoveries however useful and agreeable in other respects have tended materially to impair the prosperity of our fisheries, these are—Gas Lights and Soft Stays—the former of which have diminished the demand for oil, and the latter for whale bone. The domestic fisheries of Whitby are on a very circumscribed scale. Though both the Eske and the Ocean are at hand, and both of them ready to afford their contributions for the supply of man, the distance from and the rugged communication between this place and the large towns of the interior, preclude the possibility of fishing here to much advantage.

When it is considered that the limits of the jurisdiction of Whitby comprise about forty miles of coast, extending from Huntcliff fort contiguous to the Tees to the north, to within a mile of Scarborough castle to the south, and that within this distance here are several extensive works, it will not be thought surprising that a great deal of business is done here on Saturday which is the market day. The two annual fairs which commence on the 25th of August, St. Hilda's day; and on Martinmas day, each last three days, but all the business done at them might very well be transacted in a much shorter time. The banks here so intimately connected with trade and commerce are five in number, stable in their character, and highly conducive in their operations to the prosperity of the place: they will be found enumerated in their proper place in the subjoined directory.

The alum works, the staple trade of Whitby, which comprehend no fewer than six separate establishments, employing in the whole six hundred work people, and producing two thousand eight hundred and forty tons annually,* claim a particular notice in the history of the trade and commerce of this place. The precise period when the art of alum making was introduced into this country is unknown, but the year 1595, is the earliest period assigned. It appears that Sir Thomas Chaloner, one of the ancestors of the worthy member for the city of York, in his travels in Italy, about that period visited the alum works of his Holiness the Pope, and having ascertained that the rock from which the Italian alum was made was of precisely the same nature as that with which his own estate at Guisborough in the North Riding of Yorkshire abounded, Sir Thomas engaged a number of the Pope's workmen to accompany him to England, and for secrecy conveyed them on board the vessel in which they embarked on hoardheads. With the assistance of these workmen, the Knight began his alum-works at Belman Bank, near Guisborough, and soon became a most formidable rival to the traders of the Vatican. The monopoly of the alum trade which had been enjoyed by the court of Rome for ages being thus destroyed, and a highly profitable source of revenue greatly impaired, his Holiness is said to have excommunicated not only Sir Thomas Chaloner, but also all the other persons engaged in this manufacture, and this ancient and terrible malediction may be found in Grose's Antiquities, vol. i. page 107, as well as in several other works. The profits made by Sir Thomas were more operative than the fears excited by the denunciation of the holy father, and hence several other works were set up in various parts of the country, and in time the competition became so severe that instead of alum being sold as it was in the Italian works for the sum of 53*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.* per ton, it was reduced to below one-half of that price. Up to this day the alum works on the Yorkshire coast are the principal establishment of the kind in England, and the noble Lords Dundas and Mulgrave, with three other manufacturing concerns already mentioned, are the great alum makers of England.

The neighbourhood of Whitby abounds with natural curiosities; and the various petrifications almost everywhere found in the alum rocks have long excited wonder and puzzled philosophy. Besides the petrified shells of sea-fish, others have been found in the scarr or cliff on the east side of the mouth of the Eske, which cannot be arranged under any class. In the early part of the last century, Dr. Woodward, dug up on the scarr the petrified arm and hand of a man in which all the bones and joints were perfectly visible. In 1743, the Rev. Mr. Borwick found in the alum rock the complete skeleton or petrified bones of a man, and sent it, though in a mutilated state to one of our Universities to enrich their museum. After this, in the year 1758, the petrified bones of a crocodile, an animal never known in this part of the world was taken out of the rock and sent to the Royal Society, in whose transactions at— In Vol. I. Part II. it is described; and about four years after the skeleton of a petrified horse was found in the alum works at Saltwick, at the depth of thirty yards underground, and sent as a natural rarity to the University of Aberdeen.* The ammonite or snake-stones, as already mentioned, are found in almost every place where the alum rock exists, and particularly in Whithy Searr, between high and low water mark.—The snakes are all inclosed in hard elliptical stones, which seem to have been struck within, being coiled up in spiral volutes, and every way resembling that reptile in their form and shape, save only in the head, which is always wanting. There are two different species—the round-bodied and the flat-bodied. The round-bodied are girt or encompassed from end to end with semi-circular channels or cavities: while the other have a ridge on their back, and are plated on the sides, as if they had been pressed together, the marks wherewith they are pitted, resembling the impression of a man's thumb on a soft substance. The snakes are all enclosed in hard elliptical stones, which seems to be of a different mineral from the snake itself, which may, by care, be separated from it. These ammonites are noticed by Camden and Leland, and both of them observe, that fame ascribes them to the power of St. Hilda's prayers. This is of course a vulgar superstition, which it is much easier to reject than it is satisfactorily to account for the phenomenon.

The parish church at Whithy, dedicated to St. Mary, is situated near the top of the hill on the eastern side of the town, near the abbey, and is approached from the bottom of the vale by one hundred and ninety stone steps. The architecture was originally gothic, but it has undergone so many modern alterations, that it retains little of its ancient form. The living is a perpetual curacy, in the patronage of the Archbishop of York, and the Rev. James Andrewes, is the incumbent. There is here also a Chapel of Ease, of the date of 1778, situated near the middle of Baxtergate, of which the Rev. Thomas

Holloway, is the minister. In addition to the episcopal places of worship, there are seven meeting houses in Whithy, two belonging to the Methodists, two to the Presbyterians, of different persuasions; one to the Independents; one to the Quakers, and one to the Roman Catholics.

The benevolent institutions of this place are the Seaman's Hospital, an establishment of the same nature as that at Scarborough; the Dispensary; the Female Charity for Lying-in Women; and the Charity for cloathing the aged Female Poor. There are besides Sunday Schools, and two flourishing Lancasterian Schools, the one for boys, and the other for girls. The religious societies consist of, the Whithy Auxiliary Bible Society; the Religious Tract Society; and the Missionary Societies.

The public institutions consist of a Subscription Library, in Haggergate, commenced in 1775; a Botanic Garden, begun in 1812, and situated on the east side of Grove lane; and a News Room, in Haggergate, built by subscription, in 1814. There is also a Subscription Theatre on a large scale, built in 1784, and situated in Skatelande, where there are dramatic performances in the winter season.

The population of Whithy, according to the parliamentary census has increased at the rate of about 20 per centum, during the last ten years. In 1811, the aggregate number of inhabitants including Ruswarp, was 8,067; in 1821, they are stated in the official returns, at 10,615.

Though the town of Whithy does not seem a desirable place of residence, its environs are romantic and beautiful, especially in the summer season, and the elegant mansions of the opulent inhabitants, mostly built on commanding situations, tend greatly to embellish the surrounding scenery, to which the shipping in the harbour and in the offing impart life and animation.

Whitwell, in the parish of Catterick, wap. of Gilling East, & liberty of Richmondshire; 6½ mls. E. of Richmond. Pop. 99.

WHITEWELL, in the parish of Crambe, and wap. of Bulmer; 6 miles SW. of Malton. This village takes its name from a singular well, the water of which is nearly the colour of milk. Pop. 182.

Letters are taken in at Whitwell Inn, and forwarded by the Mail every day.

Whorlton, (P.) in the wap. & liberty of Langbargh; 6 miles SW. of Stokesley. The church is an ancient structure, dedicated to the Holy Cross; the living is a perpetual curacy, of which the Marquis of Allesbury, is the patron; the Rev. William Deason, the incumbent, and the Rev. Thos. Brown, the officiating curate. Here are the remains of a castle supposed to have been erected about the time of Richard II.; little now remains of the ancient fortress, except the lofty gateway tower, on which may yet be seen the arms of D'Arcy, Meynell, and Gray; who seem to have been successively lords of this mansion.—Thomas, the son of Edward Bruce, of Kinlos, was created Lord Bruce, of Whorlton, by King Charles I. in whose reign this estate came into the possession of the ancestors of the Marquis of Allesbury, the present possessor. The church is remarkable for a beautiful ivy tree, which extends its branches along the interior in a curious and ornamental manner, covering nearly the whole of the east window. Population, 583.

WIDDALSHELL, in the parish of Ayswath, wap. of Hang West; 2 mls. SW. of Hawes.

Lodge Ottiwell, vict. Newby Head

Garforth William, Esq.

WIGGINTON, (P.) in the wap. of Bulmer, and liberty of St. Peter's; 4 miles N. of York. Here is a church, peculiar of Alne and Tollerston; the living is a rectory, in the patronage of the crown. Pop. 309.

Wilden Grange, in the parish of Coxwold, wap. of Birdforth, and liberty of Ripon; 7 miles ESE. of Thirsk. Pop. 29.

Wilton, in the parish of Ellerburn, wap. & liberty of Pickering Lythe; 4

mls. E. of Pickering. Here is a Chapel of Ease to Ellerburn. Pop. 203.

Wilton, (P.) in the wap. & liberty of Langbargh; 3 mls. NW. of Gushborough. At the western extremity of this village, formerly stood the ruins of Wilton castle, the baronial seat of the Bulmers, an ancient family of great reputation, and large possessions in Yorkshire, and the county of Durham, in which family this estate continued for many generations, till Sir John Bulmer, Knight, the last possessor, (of that family) engaging in "The Pilgrimage of Grace," was attainted for high treason; when this, and his other estates were forfeited to the crown. The castle has been re-built according to its ancient order of architecture, by the Hon. John Lowther, M.P. the lord of the manor, by whom it is now occupied. The church, dedicated to St. Cuthbert, is a perpetual curacy, in the gift of the lord of the manor, and the Rev. Thos. Saul is the incumbent. Pop. 405.

Winton, in the parish of Sigston, wap. & liberty of Allertonshire; 4 mls. ENE. of Northallerton. Pop. 188.

WITTON EAST, (Within & Without), (P.) in the wap. of Hang West, and liberty of Richmondshire; 2 mls. SE. of Middleham. There is here a very good school chiefly supported by the Marquis of Allesbury, who is lord of the manor, and who built a school room for its use in 1817, master's salary 60l. per ann. This place is noted for its excellent quarry of free-stone, in great repute for making grind-stones. The parish church, dedicated to St. John the Evangelist, is a handsome Gothic structure, built in a commanding situation at the sole expense of the late Earl of Allesbury, in commemoration of his Majesty George III. having lived to enter on the 50th year of his reign. This church, which was commenced in 1809, was opened on the 29th of March, 1812, under the authority of a license from Dr. Spark, Bishop of Chester, and consecrated on the 1st of Oct. in the same year, by Dr. Law, Bishop of that diocese. The living, which is in the patronage of the Marquis of Allesbury, is of the value of 100l. a year, exclusive of the vicarage and glebe. Population—parish within, 444; parish without, 303: total, 747.—Jerveaux Abbey is in this parish, for which see page 463.

 curacy, in the gift of Lord Bolton; here is likewise a Catholic chapel. There is immediately on the north side of this village a beautiful piece of ground, commonly called the Gill, situated on the side of a hill, surrounded by a natural walk or promenade, the highest part of which is finely sheltered by trees arising out of the rocky side of it, which have a grand and imposing appearance.
 About the centre is a small waterfall, which adds greatly to the beauty of the scene. Population, 519.

Wycliffe, (P.) "the cliffe by the water" is in the wap. of Gilling West, and liberty of Richmondshire; 5 miles SE. of Barnard Castle. The church is an ancient edifice, re-built in the reign of Edward III. The living is a rectory, in the patronage of the lord of the manor, but the patrons being Catholics it has been repeatedly presented by the University of Cambridge; the incumbent is the Rev. John Headlam, who resides in the rectory house at Thorpa. Here, it is said, that John Wycliffe, the reformer, was born; and Dr. Thomas Zouch, the late rector of his parish, has presented an original picture of this Morning Star of the Reformation, who he says, was a native of this parish, to the rectors of Wycliffe, as an heirloom. Heyland says, that John Wickliffe hereticus, was born at Spreswell, near Richmond; and that immediate neighbourhood is Willeliff pronounced exactly like the reformer's name, which Wycliffe is not. At all events the dispute is only about a few miles, and the aim of Yorkshire and even of Richmondshire to the birth of the Father of the Reformation is undisputed.* Pop. 152.

WYKEHAM, (P.) in the wap. and liberty of Pickering Lythe; 7 miles SW. of Scarborough, situated on the high road from Malton to York. The parish church, dedicated to St. Michael and St. Mary, is a neat and commodious structure, having been repaired and embellished by the liberality of the late Richard Langley, Esq.; the living is curacy, in the patronage of Mr. Hutchins, Dr. Whitaker's Richmondshire, p. 198.

and the Rev. John Cayley, is the incumbent. At this place was formerly a priory, of which some venerable Gothic ruins remain. It was founded by Pagan Fitz Osbert de Wykeham, about the year 1153, for nuns of the Cistercian order. The mansion-house, which is near the ruins of the abbey, and a little to the westward of the village, is an elegant modern building, and the plantations are judiciously dispersed. Pop. 582.

YARM, (P.)

In the wap. and liberty of Langbargh; 4 miles from Stockton, 15 from Guisborough, 16 from Northallerton, and 44 from York. The town is situated on a low peninsula, and is nearly surrounded by the river Tees, which winds round in the form of a horse shoe, and is here navigable for vessels of sixty tons burthen. The main street runs north and south and is very spacious. There is not much trade, and no manufacture of any importance. The commerce in the place consists principally in corn, flour, cheese, butter, and bacon, which are shipped hence to London. A great deal of salmon is caught in the Tees, and this place partakes with Stockton in the advantage of the fishery. The market day at Yarm is on Thursday, but from the vicinity of this place to the rising town and port of Stockton, it had considerably declined, but is again reviving owing to the erection of several corn mills in the town and neighbourhood. The fairs, of which there are four annually, are on the Thursday before the 6th of April; on Ascension Day; on the 2d of August; and on the 19th and 20th of October. The fair of the 19th of October is for horned cattle and horses, and that on the following day for sheep and cheese. The October fair is one of the most considerable in the north of England, and brings a great influx of money into the town and its vicinity. Some idea of the extent of the business done at it may be formed from the subjoined returns of the number of waggons and carts laden with cheese, exposed for sale that day for four successive years:—

..... 1819	367

Averaging about a ton and a half each, so that five hundred tons may be taken as the quantity sold, at each of these fairs, besides large supplies which are purchased by the merchants about the same time in the neighbourhood, and which never come into the fair. The new iron railway from Stockton to Darlington, and from thence to the collieries near Auckland, passes within a mile of Yarm, and a branch is completed from the main line to bring coals, lime, &c. down nearly to the bridge, which promises great advantages.

Owing to the peninsular situation of this town and to its slight elevation above the bed of the river, it is very liable to floods, the most memorable of which are those of the 17th of February, 1753, and the 16th and 17th of November, 1771. The inundation of 1753, was occasioned by a sudden thaw on the western hills, which laid the town seven feet deep under water in the higher parts, and which swept away great quantities of furniture, wares and live stock without occasioning the loss of any lives. The flood of 1771, at the time of the eruption of the Solway Moss in Cumberland, was more fatal and tremendous, the water in some parts of the town rose upwards of twenty feet in perpendicular height, and many of the inhabitants were taken in boats from the roofs of their houses: a great quantity of property and some lives were lost, and many more must have perished inevitably had they not been preserved by the active humanity and timely assistance of the people of Stockton and the neighbouring villages. Similar, though less awful visitations have taken place since, and in the flood of the 3d of February, 1822, the water was seven feet deep in the main street of the town.

To abate the violence of these frequent inundations, the bridge of five arches, built by Walter Skirlaw, Bishop of Durham, in the year 1400, has undergone several important alterations; the arch to the north has been made more capacious and built in a semi-circular form, and the bridge itself has been widened and rendered a substantial structure. In 1805, an elegant iron bridge consisting of one arch one hundred and eighty feet span, cast by Messrs. Walkers and Co. of Masbrough, near Rotherham, was erected here, but owing to some defect in the abutments it unfortunately fell down about midnight on the 19th of January, 1806, when it was just on the point of being opened. This bridge is stated by Mr. Graves, in his history of Cleveland, to have cost 8000*l.* and the weight of iron contained in it was 250 tons.

The parish church of Yarm, dedicated to St. Mary Magdalen, stands at the west side of the town, and was rebuilt in 1730.—The exterior is plain and rather homely, but the interior is much admired for its neatness and good order; it is, however, chiefly remarkable for a window of painted glass, beautifully executed, by Pecket, in which is exhibited a full length figure of Moses, delivering the law on Mount Sinai. This living formerly was a rectory, but it is now only a perpetual curacy, of which the Archbishop of York is the patron. The Methodists, the Independents, the Catholics, and the Primitive Methodists, have each a chapel here, and the Society of Friends have their Meeting-house.

There is here an ancient Free Grammar School, founded and endowed in the time of Queen Elizabeth, by Thomas Coryton, of Egglisciffe, in the county of Durham, and the benefits of which have been very essentially extended by the liberality of the late Wm. Chaloner, Esq. A National school, capable of containing 160 boys and girls, was built in 1816, by subscription, and is supported by voluntary contributions.

It appears, from Tanner's Notice, that there was, "here an ancient hospital, dedicated to St. Nicholas, founded by some of the family of Brus, before the year 1188," which continued till the dissolution, but not a vestige of it now remains, and even the site of it is unknown. There was also a house of "Blisefriers, said to have been founded by Peter de Brus the second, who died in 1240, but it has disappeared, and a commodious mansion has been erected upon the spot, called the Friar-gate, now the seat of Thomas Meynell, Esq. the grounds of which are delightful, and extend about a mile along the banks of the Tees. The population of the town has made a trifling advance during the last 10 years; in 1811 it amounted to 1431, and it now amounts to 1594, as appears from the parliamentary returns just published.

- 1635 †Sir William Pilkington, Chevet Hall.
 1638 †Sir Thomas Turner Slingsby, Scriven Hall.

AINSTY OF THE CITY AND COUNTY OF YORK AND OF
THE EAST AND NORTH RIDINGS.

(For the Seats of the Peers and Baronets see preceding Lists.)

To avoid swelling this List, Gentlemen's Villas in the Neighbourhood of large Towns are not inserted here, but will be found subjoined to the Name of their Occupiers, under their appropriate Heads.

The following enumeration comprehends a complete List of the Acting Magistrates of the East and North Ridings of Yorkshire, each of whom is indicated by an Asterisk to the left, and figures to the right of the line, the latter showing the year when the oath of qualification was taken; and to render the Magistrates' List complete, a few places, not situated in the County, are inserted.

Where a † is used it denotes a Magistrate of the Liberty of St. Peter's.

POPULATION

f all the Market Towns and Boroughs in England, with the Population of the Principal Towns of Scotland and Wales. From the Census, Printed by Order of the House of Commons, on the 2d of July, 1822.

The first Figures to the Right of each Town indicate the Distance of that Place from London; the initial Letters the Day on which the Market is held; and the last Figures in the Line shew the Total Amount of the Population of that Place.

And every House having more than 180 Windows must be charged with ONE SHILLING AND SIXPENCE for each Window above that Number, in addition to FORTY-

SIX POUNDS ELEVEN SHILLINGS AND THREE-PENCE.

No window or light is exempt from the duties, by reason of its being stopped up unless it shall be effectually done with stone or brick or with the same materials whereof that part of the outside of walls of such dwelling-house chiefly consists.

Windows opened after the commencement of the year to be charged the whole year, and no abatement is to be allowed for windows stopped up after the commencement of the year.

Every house which is left to the care of a servant is liable to the window duty.

In numbering the windows in a house, all sky-lights and windows or lights however constructed in staircases, garrets, passages, and all other parts of dwelling-houses whether they are in the exterior or interior parts of the house, or in any kitchen, cellar, scullery, buttry, pantry, larder, wash-house, laundry, bake-house, and brew-house, whether within, contiguous to, or disjoined from the dwelling-house are to be included.

Every window which gives light into more rooms, landings or stories than one is to be charged as so many windows as there are rooms, landings or stories, enlightened thereby.

When windows or lights are fixed in different frames, each window or light is to be charged, whatever be the breadth of the partition or division.

When a partition or division between two or more windows or lights fixed in one frame, is, or shall be of the breadth or space of twelve inches, the window or light on each side of such partition or division is to be charged as a distinct window or light.

* Houses having less than SEVEN Windows, if charged to the Inhabited House Duty, are liable to the Duty of FOUR SHILLINGS, and if not charged to that Duty, only to THREE SHILLINGS AND THREE-PENCE.—Distinct Chambers or Apartments in any of the Inns of Court or Chancery, or in any College or Hall in either of the Universities of Oxford or Cambridge, or any Public Hospitals; also Houses divided into different Tenements, being distinct Properties; where the Number of Windows does not in each case respectively exceed Seven, to be charged One Shilling and Ninepence for each Window, where the Number of Windows exceed Seven, to be charged as if the same were an entire House.

Every window or light, including the frame, partitions and divisions thereof which shall exceed in height twelve feet; also windows which shall exceed in breadth four feet nine inches, being more than three feet six inches long, is to be charged as two windows, except windows made of greater dimensions previous to the 5th April 1785: windows in shops, workshops and warehouses: windows in the public rooms of any house licensed to sell wine, ale, &c. such as the coffee room, tea room, &c. and windows in farm-houses.

Every public office for which the duties heretofore have been paid by his Majesty, or out of the public revenue.

Any hospital, charity school, or house provided for the reception and relief of poor persons, except such apartments therein as are occupied by the officers or servants thereof, which shall severally be assessed and subject to the same duties as an entire house.

The windows in any room of a dwelling-house, licensed according to law as a chapel for the purpose of divine worship, and used for no other purpose whatsoever.

Windows in shops or warehouses being parts of dwelling houses in the front or fronts, and on the ground or basement story; but if any such shop or warehouse, contain more than three windows, the exemption does not extend beyond three.

Windows or lights in dairies and cheese-rooms used by the occupier for keeping butter or cheese, being their own produce, for sale or private use, provided the words dairy or cheese room are painted thereon, and that the rooms are never used to sleep in, but are wholly kept for the purposes aforementioned.

Persons having three children born in lawful wedlock, and wholly maintained by them or at their expence, and not having more than six windows in their respective dwelling houses, which are not worth the annual rent of 5*l*.

Persons who receive parochial relief, or can obtain a certificate from the minister, churchwardens, and overseer of the poor of their inability to pay the duty on windows.

House Duty, Schedule B.—Houses worth 5*l*. and under 20*l*. a year, to pay annually in the pound, 1*s*. 6*d*. Twenty pounds to forty, 2*s*. 3*d*. Forty pounds and upwards, 2*s*. 10*d*.

These duties to be assessed on every inhabited dwelling-house which shall be of the annual value of 5*l*. and upwards, and in rating houses to these duties every coach-house, stable, brew-house, wash-house, laundry, wood-house, bake-house, dairy, and all other offices; and all yards, courts, and curtilages, gardens and pleasure grounds, occupied therewith are also to be valued, provided that no more than one acre of such gardens and pleasure grounds shall in any case be so valued.

All shops or warehouses attached to or having any communication with the dwelling house, are to be valued together with the dwelling house and offices.

Every house let in different stories, tenements, or lodgings, and inhabited by two or more families is to be assessed to these duties as one house, and the landlord or owner to be considered the occupier and charged for the same.

Exemptions from House Duty.—Every hospital, charity school, or house provided for the reception or relief of poor persons.

Every farm-house occupied by a tenant for the purpose of husbandry only.

Every farm-house occupied by the owner, and bona-fide used for the purposes of husbandry only, which, with the household and other offices aforesaid, shall be valued at less than 11*l*. per annum.

Every public office, the duties of which are payable out of the public revenue.

Every house left to the care of any person who is not assessed to the rates for the church or poor, and who resides therein, for the purpose only of taking care thereof.

No person to pay for more than two unmarried daughters.

Armorial Bearings, Schedule K.—Any person keeping a coach or other carriage, and using or wearing any armorial bearing, to pay annually 2*l.* 8*s.* Any person not keeping a coach, &c. but liable to the house and window duty, to pay annually 1*l.* 4*s.* and every other description of persons 12*s.* annually.

Game Certificates, Schedule L.—Not to be altered except making 3*l.* 13*s.* 6*d.* into 3*l.*

Notice papers to be returned within twenty-one days from the date under the penalty of 50*l.* and if the exemptions are not claims therein they cannot be allowed.

Persons who have entered into composition for these assessed taxes are entitled to keep any number of servants or articles of the same description, as they have compounded for free of duty.

Persons who have compounded for a two wheel carriage, may keep a four wheel carriage with paying the difference between a four wheel and two wheel carriage.

BILLS OF EXCHANGE.

A Bill of Exchange is an obligation, whereby the drawer directs the acceptor to pay a certain sum at the day and place therein mentioned, to a third party, or his order. Originally bills were drawn by a person in one country on his correspondent in another,* and they obtained the name of bills of exchange because it was the exchange, or the value of money in one place, compared with its value in another, that determined the precise extent of the sum contained in the draft. When parties to bills are of different countries, questions concerning them must be determined by the received customs of trading nations, but it is to bills of exchange drawn and negotiated in this kingdom that the following observations principally apply.

The drawer of a bill should either subscribe his name at the bottom, or it should be inserted in the body of the instrument; and it must be written either by the person purporting to be the drawer, or by some person authorised by him. If drawn or signed by an agent, it is usually signed in the following mode, "A. B. for C. D." and if such agent do not express for whom he signs, he becomes personally liable. If signed by one person of a firm, for himself and partners, it is usual, and perhaps necessary, to sign "for self and company." The obligation of the drawer to pay is absolute, and he becomes, whether the bill be drawn on his own account or that of a third person, upon its dishonour or non-acceptance, immediately, even before the time specified for payment in such bill, liable to an action, not only for the principal sum, but likewise, in certain cases, for damages and interest; as a consequence of the bill not being honoured. Exclusive of this obligation to pay he is further bound to indemnify the acceptor, if he has not effects in his hands to the amount, from any loss he may sustain in consequence of his acceptance.

The acceptor is that party who agrees, either verbally or in writing, to pay the bill, and previous to such acceptance he is called the drawee. The contract of the acceptor being absolute, he cannot insist, as a defence, on the want of the presentment of the bill at the precise time when due, or on an indulgence to any of the other parties. In a foreign bill, where the course of exchange has altered, the acceptor will, however, only be obliged to pay according to the rate of such exchange when the bill becomes due. If the holder of a dishonoured bill sues all the parties to it at the same time, the acceptor is the only person responsible to the plaintiff for the costs of all the actions. The acceptor of an accommodation bill, if obliged to pay such bill, may sue the drawer, upon his implied contract to indemnify him. If a person write his acceptance to a bill, he is answerable, although the name of the drawer should have been forged, because his engagement has relation to his own writing.

An indorser transfers or assigns his right to another, and this may be done either simply by delivery, where the instrument is payable to bearer, or by indorsement and delivery, where it is payable to order. Indorsements are of three kinds, namely, in blank, in full, and restrictive. The most usual species of indorsement is in blank, where no name is mentioned but the indorser's; and although it has been adjudged that such an indorsement does not transfer the property and interest in the bill without some further act, it gives the indorsee, as well as the other persons to whom it may be afterwards transferred, the power of making himself assignee of the beneficial interest in the instrument, by filling it up payable to himself, or by writing over the indorser's name, "pay the contents," which may, when an action is brought for recovery, be done at the time of trial. An indorsement in full is that in which the name of the person in whose favour it is made is mentioned; and this is also called a special indorsement, and may restrain the negotiability of the bill. A restrictive indorsement prevents the person to whom a bill is paid from making any further transfer of it, and may be expressed in these terms—"Pay the contents to A. B. only." No form is required for an indorsement; it is sufficient that the name of the indorser is written upon the back of the bill, which is most usual, or on any other part of it, either by the party making it, or by some other person duly authorised as his agent. The forgery of an indorsement in a bill transferable by indorsement only will convey no interest, and therefore any person coming into possession of a bill by a forged indorsement, does not acquire any interest in it, although he be not aware of the forgery, and consequently the original holder may, in such case, recover against the acceptor or drawer, although the acceptor may have paid the bill; and if the person attempting to derive an interest under such indorsement sues the acceptor, he will be admitted to prove that the indorsement was not made by the person purporting to have made it. If a bill be lost, and it comes into the hand of some person who was not aware of such loss, for a valuable consideration, (and without a forgery having been committed) previous to its being due, such person, although deriving his interest in the bill from the person finding it, may recover the amount of the bill from the acceptor, or other parties to it, and the person who lost it will consequently forfeit all right of action.

The holder of a bill, whether transferable by delivery or not, ought, in all cases of loss, immediately to give notice of such accident to the acceptor and all the antecedent parties, and also to give public notice of such loss, in order to prevent any person from taking it. The holder of a bill of above £6, expressed for value received and payable after date, may, in case of loss, demand of the drawer another bill, of the same tenor with the original one, upon giving security, and indemnifying him, in case the lost bill should again be found.

The holder of a bill, either by indorsement or delivery, or both, is entitled to receive payment from the acceptor. It is in some cases necessary, and in all advisable, to present a bill for acceptance, not only because another security is thereby added to the bill, but because by acceptance only the person on whom the bill is drawn becomes debtor for the amount to the holder, and responsible to him. If the drawee refuses to accept, or, having accepted, if he refuses payment when due, the bill is dishonoured, and the holder, in case of neglect to communicate notice to the drawer or indorsers, within a reasonable time, will not be at liberty to resort to these parties, who, by that neglect, will be discharged from their respective obligations. The right of a drawer or indorser to receive notice, in case of a bill's being dishonoured, is so strong a principle of law, and in all cases so indispensable, that nothing but what has been, by the act of God, rendered impossible, can excuse the want of it. If the parties reside in the same place where the bill was dishonoured, notice should be given on the same day; and by that day's post, if the parties are resident out of that place. In inland bills, protested for non-acceptance, if the notice or protest thereof be not sent within 14 days, the drawer or indorser will not be liable for damages.

The costs on a returned bill, that can be legally demanded, are, first, the notarial fees, namely,

NOTING.

If the acceptor reside within the city walls.....1s. 6d.
 If without.....2s. 6d.

PROTESTS.

Under Stamp.	In City.	Out of City and within limits
		7s. 6d.	10s.
A bill £20.....	2s.	7s. 6d.	10s.
£20—£100,	3s.	8s. 6d.	11s.

If beyond the limits, the additional charge of noting is to be added to the protest out of the city on each kind of bill.

In addition to these, the holder of a dishonoured bill may recover postage, commission paid to a banker, and interest; but no extraordinary expenses which any of the parties may incur by travelling, or by an advantageous engagement being defeated by want of punctual payment, can be legally demanded.

Where different parties to bills or notes have become bankrupt, the holder may prove the full amount against them all, in the same manner as he may proceed in different actions at law till he has obtained a full satisfaction. The costs and charges of protesting bills, before an act of bankruptcy, may be proved, but those which accrue afterwards cannot; nor is the holder of a bill or note entitled to any interest accruing after the date of the commission issued. The proof of the debt, arising out of the bill or notes, is to be made before the commissioners, at their sittings, as in case of any other debt. Any bill or note given by a bankrupt as a consideration for signing his certificate, or for withdrawing a petition against it, is illegal by statute, and such instrument is null and void.

Partnership Concerns.—In partnership concerns, where one partner accepts a bill for himself and partners, the firm is bound to pay it if it concerns the trade; and from a decision in the case of Sheriff v. Wilkes, it appears to be decided that the act of one partner, in the name of the firm, is obligatory upon the others, though it may be on his own separate account, unless the persons claiming the benefit of this responsibility received the bill with the knowledge of the circumstance, that it was only the concern of one party. One partner may pledge the credit of his copartners to any amount, by an act in the way of trade and merchandize, done in the name of the firm. One partner, however cannot bind another by deed, without the express authority of all the parties bound. An authority given to one partner to receive all debts owing to, and to pay all debts due from the partnership, on its dissolution, does not authorize such party to indorse a bill of exchange in the name of the partnership, though drawn by him, and accepted by the debtor of the partnership after the dissolution. In order to render the dissolution of a partnership legal, it is indispensably necessary that notice of such dissolution should be published once in the London Gazette, with the signatures of the parties affixed; it is usual also, in the country, to advertise such notice in the provincial paper or papers published where the business has been carried on, that the persons with whom they have traded may the better be brought acquainted with that circumstance; and it is further necessary, in order that the dissolution may be brought home to the knowledge of the holder of any bill, or other negotiable instrument, in which the firm is concerned, that the partners should give notice to all their individual correspondents; otherwise, notwithstanding the notice in the Gazette, and provincial papers, they will stand responsible for all bills negotiated, by one of the former partners, in the name of the firm.

AN UNIVERSAL INTEREST TABLE,

For finding the Interest of any Sum of Money, at any rate per Cent. and for any number of Months, Weeks, or Days; also showing what any Estate or Income, from £1. to £1000. per annum, yields per Month, Week, or Day.

RULE—First multiply the Principal by the rate per Cent. and then by the number of Months, Weeks, or Days required; cut off two figures on the right side of the product, and collect from the Table the several sums against the corresponding numbers, which, when added together, will produce the amount required.
